WOMEN AND THE FAIR.

What the Dear Things Will Have at the Exposition.

Mrs. Alexander Thompson, one of the Lady Managers of the World's Fair, from Maryland, has received the following particulars from Chicago, relative to the purpose of that body by which will be of interest to all ladies in the State.

The board of lady managers of the World's Columbian Commission, having been created and authorized by the concurrent action of Congress and the Columbian Commission to take entire charge of the interests of women at the coming exposition, desire to develop to the fullest extent the grand possibilities which have been placed within its reach.

The board wishes to mark the first participation of woman in an important national enterprise by preparing an object lesson to show the progress made by woman in every country of the world, during the century in which educational and other privileges have been granted her, and to show the increased usefulness that has resulted from the enlargement of her opportunities.

The board of lady managers invites the women of all countries to participate in this exhibit of woman's work, to the end that it may be made not only national but universal, and that all may profit by a free comparison of methods, agencies and results.

It is of the first importance that such a representative collection be secured from every country as will give an adequate idea of the extent and value of what is being done by women in the arts, science and industries.

WORK FOR BREAD-WINNERS.

We will aim to show to the bread-winners, who are fighting unaided the battle of life, the new avenues of employment that are constantly being opened to women, and in which of these their work will be of the most distinct value, by reason of their natural adaptability, sensitive and artistic temperaments and individual tastes; what education will best enable them to enjoy the wider opportunities awaiting them, and make their work of the greatest worth, not only to themselves, but to the world.

The board has decided that at the coming exposition it will not attempt to separate the exhibit of woman's work from that of men, for the reason that as women are working side by side with men in all the factories of the world, it would be practically impossible, in most cases, to divide the finished results of their combined work; nor would women be satisfied with prizes unless they were awarded without distinction as to sex, and as the result of fair competition with the best work shown. They are striving for excellence, and desire recognition for demonstrated merit. In order, however, that the enormous amount of work being done by women may be appreciated, a tabulated statement will be prepared and shown with every exhibit, stating the proportion of woman's work that enters into it. The application blanks now being sent out to manufacturers contain this inquiry:

The board of lady managers has been granted by act of Congress the great and unusual privilege of appointing members of each jury to award prizes for articles into which woman's work enters. The number of women on each jury will be proportionate to the amount of work done by women in the corresponding department of classification. The statement as to the amount of their work will therefore be of double significance, for in addition to the impressive showing of how large a proportion of the heavy labor of the world is being performed by the weaker sex, it will also determine the amount of jury representation to which the board is entitled.

NO SENTIMENTAL SYMPATHY.

Besides the extensive exhibit in the exposition building women will have another opportunity of displaying work of superior excellence in a very advantageous way in the Woman's Building, over which the board of lady managers will exercise complete control. In its central gallery it is intended to have grouped the most brilliant achievements of women from every country and in every line of work. Exhibits will be admitted only by invitation, which will be considered the equivalent of a prize. No sentimental sympathy for women will cause the admission of second-rate objects, for the highest standard of excellence is to be there strictly maintained. Commissions of women organized in all countries as auxiliaries to the board of lady managers, will be taken to recommend objects of supreme excellence produced by women, and producers of such successful work will be invited to place specimens in the gallery of the Woman's Building.

Not only has woman become an immense, although generally unrecognized factor in the industrial world, but hers being essentially the arts of peace and progress, her best work is shown in the numberless charitable, reformatory, educational and other beneficent institutions which she has had the courage and the idealism to establish for the alleviation of suffering, for the correction of many forms of social injustice and neglect, and for the reformation of long-established wrongs. These institutions exert a strong and steady influence which tends to decrease vice to make useful citizens of the helpless or depraved, to elevate the standard of morality, and to increase the sum of human happiness, thus most effectively supplementing the best efforts and furthering the highest aims of all government.

All organizations of women must be impressed with the necessity of making an effective showing of the noble work which each is carrying on. We especially desire to have represented in the rooms reserved for that purpose the educational work originated or carried on by women, from the kindergarten organizations up to the highest branches of education, including all schools of applied science and art, such as training schools for nurses, manual training, industrial, art and cooking schools, domestic economy, sanitation, etc. When not practically exhibited, the work of all such organizations should be shown maps, charts, photographs, relief models, etc.; but it is earnestly hoped that one, at least, the most representative institutions in each of these branches, will be shown from every country, in order that a comparison may be made of methods and results.

THEIR OWN BUILDING.

The Woman's Building is situated near one of the principal entrances to the exposition grounds and one side of the grand quadrangle around which the main buildings are placed. It will command from its balconies and roof garden a superb view of the exposition grounds, buildings and the lake beyond. The building is 400 feet long and 200 feet wide, and is being constructed for the board of lady managers by the directors, at a cost of $200,000. It is intended that this building and all its contents shall be the inspiration of woman's genius, and that it shall be provided with all convenience and comforts for women during the time of the exposition. The design was selected from a number of competitive sketches submitted by women architects. It has both land and water entrances, and from the vestibule at each of these entrances one enters the main gallery, which occupies the centre of the building, opening to the great sky light in the roof and surmounted by a colonnade on the second floor. This gallery will be devoted to showing the most distinguished work that has been created by women.

Distinct impetus has already been given to women's work in various directions by the helpful policy pursued by the board. Their work as architects has already been commented on and will have superb illustration at the time of the fair. A woman was employed to model the caryatides supporting the roof garden, and competition has been invited among women for the statuary above the roof line and the relief compositions in the main pediments of the building. Several large surfaces adapted to mural painting will be entrusted to such women as have had sufficient experience to warrant their being entrusted with so important a task. It is also hoped that they will furnish most of the interior structural decoration.

There will be an opportunity given to those desiring it to incorporate intended exhibits in the construction of the building in a manner both practical and artistic such, for instance, as carved wainscoting and balustrades for staircases, open carved screens, ornamental iron and brass work hardware, decorative tapestries, panels, etc.

The Woman's Building will contain ample social headquarters, parlors, balconies and roof gardens, reading, writing and committee rooms, a great congress hall, in which organizations and clubs of women may meet for the interchange of ideas and to hear addresses by distinguished visitors, headquarters for the press women, etc. These, with many other features of interest, are offered freely to all women.

One room will be reserved for a library for books by women, and another for the records and statistics of those employments in which women are engaged, which cannot be well exhibited. There will also be a model hospital, with women physicians, and trained nurses will be shown in the model hospital, which will be conducted by these training schools, each in turn. Lectures will also be given, and demonstration of the various details of the care of the sick room. The kindergarten room will also be assigned to the various associations which may desire to show their work, the time being divided equally among them.

There will be a model kitchen, with perfect sanitary appliances and ventilation, all modern conveniences and labor-saving devices. In this kitchen demonstration lessons in cooking will be given by various associations. The bills of fare will be put in the hands of the scientists and their cost, nutriment, etc., thoroughly discussed. For the artisans and designers there will be a loan collection of old lace, fans, jewels and silver.

A PATRIOTIC WORK.

Every person who is opposed to Free Trade Slavery and favors American Industrial Independence secured through the policy of Protection, should read the documents published by the American Protective Tariff League. As a patriotic citizen, it is your duty to place these documents in the hands of your friends. They are interesting and instructive, and embrace discussions of all phases of the Tariff question. The League publishes over 60 different documents, comprising nearly 600 pages of plainly printed, carefully edited and reliable information. Among the authors of these documents are: Hon. James G. Blaine; Wm. McKinley, Jr., Governor of Ohio; Senator R. M. Culham, of Illinois; Hon. Joseph N. Dolph, of Oregon; Hon. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Senator of New York; Hon. John D. Edwards, of Vermont; Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island; Hon. Thomas H. Dudley, of New Jersey; Hon. Robert F. Porter, of New York; Prof. J. R. Dodge, of the Agricultural Department at Washington; Commodore W. H. T. Rogers, of New York; Hon. John C. Spooner, of Wisconsin; Hon. David Hall Rice, of Boston; Hon. George F. Edmunds, of New York; Hon. Geo. Dwyer, of Massachusetts; Hon. Charles F. Edwards, of Texas; Judge Wm. Lawrence, of Ohio; Hon. D. G. Hartman, of New York; Hon. Geo. S. Boutwell, of Massachusetts; Hon. R. H. Anderson, of New York; Hon. Elmer E. Smith, of Tennessee.

This complete set of documents will be sent to any address, post paid, for Fifty (50) Cents. Address, William F. Wakeman, Sec'y., No. 70 West Twenty-Third Street, New York.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We should be very careful what we eat in the way of green vegetables to avoid cholera morbus, flux and dysentery, and parents should be particularly careful with the little ones. If you have any of these complaints it is not necessary to send for a doctor, when a 25 or 50 cent bottle of Lightning Hot Drops will cure you. Children like it. Mr. S. H. Wilson, Shumpton, W. Va., says: "Lightning Hot Drops is the best medicine for diarrhoea, summer complaint, cramps and colic. It can't be beaten. Will relieve in two minutes. For children it has no equal. For flux it is king." It is sold by every druggist.

Nine times out of ten when children are peevish and fretful they have worms. The next time your child is that way try a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and see if it does not help it. Mr. J. B. Knight, Knight, W. Va., says: "One of my customers bought a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and gave his in the girl two doses, and she passed 138 worms in the result. I cannot sell any other worm medicine since."

If you can't sleep, have no appetite and a dull, dull feeling, your kidneys and liver are out of order. Mr. C. B. Clinton, Liberty, W. Va., says: "About a year ago I had a severe pain in my back, which prevented me from working. I finally got my appetite and had trouble in urinating. At last I concluded to try Lightning Kidney and Liver Remedy. Used same according to directions, and now, after using only one bottle, I am enjoying good health, and am doing my day's work, and have an excellent appetite."

It is as necessary to keep the system pure and clean as it is to wear the best clothes. You can't feel well if the blood is not right. Mr. E. O. Richey, Hydrus, Ky., says: "My son contracted a severe case of blood poisoning last summer. His body was covered with rising all over. He was very near past going, and I lost all hope of him recovering. I purchased a bottle of Lightning Blood Purifier and gave him some according to directions, and after using only one and a half bottles he got entirely well, and is now enjoying splendid health. It certainly does all it is claimed to do. Druggists sell it."

Mitchell's Belladonna Plasters. Endorsed by every physician as a sure cure for Pain or Weakness in the Breast, Side, Back or Limbs; also for Liver Complaint, Weak Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Pleurisy, difficulty in breathing, &c. THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 15.

OAKLAND, MD., FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1892.

NUMBER 47.

NEWS OF A WEEK.

Happenings in and About Town told in Short Paragraphs.

Read THE REPUBLICAN.

A. G. Sturgis has recovered from an attack of the grip.

Andrew Shartzer is selling Cleveland hams at 10 cents per pound. 46-1f.

THE REPUBLICAN and the Pittsburgh Weekly Chronicle Telegraph for $2 per year, subscribe now.

Mr. Edward Hoyer's condition has very much improved and he is able to be about his room again.

Mason will sell shelled corn from car next week at 55 cents per bushel. Will sell 17 cars at same price.

Capt. Jas. A. Hayden has so far recovered from an attack of grip that he is able to be around again.

Since the death of Mr. John Whalley Samuel Lawton, Esq., is in charge of the Electric Light plant.

Mrs. Leah F. Sincell, who has been confined to her room ever since her mother's funeral, is about well again.

Ed. M. Heermans has sold his interest in the Kingwood Journal to D. M. Wotring, a prominent attorney of the Kingwood bar.

We are pleased to chronicle the improved condition of Mrs. Geo. W. Logge whose life was despaired of from an attack of the grip.

Andrew Shartzer is not only selling corn at 55 cents per bushel, but is selling corn and oats chop at $1.25 per hundred pounds. 46-1f.

David Shank, who was sent to jail two weeks ago for fighting, has fled a bond and been released. His case will come before the court in March.

B. E. West, Totten's old stand, serves the finest stew of oysters for 20 cents; the nicest fry for 25 cents. Give him a call when you want something good.

The revival in progress in St. Paul's M. E. church is becoming very interesting. The meeting, in all probability, will be continued during the remainder of this week.

Do you want XXX white envelopes, printed, of a superior quality, for $2.00 per thousand? If you are in need of envelopes place an order for them at THE REPUBLICAN office.

Rev. Dr. Henry Carrington Alexander will preach in the Garrett Memorial church, Oakland, next Sunday, both morning and evening at the usual hours of holding services.

The new postal cards have made their appearance. They are much handsomer than the old ones and do not have the blotter qualities of the latter which is a great improvement.

Can we furnish you one thousand and printed XXX white envelopes for $2, or one thousand printed amber envelopes for $1.90? If you want them speak quick; they are going fast.

Mayor Hart fell on the Alder street crossing at Second street Monday morning and received several severe cuts, the most serious one being a gash an inch long above the right eye.

It was not a bad illustration of the after effects of the grippe which an Albany coachman made when asked if he had recovered. "Yes," he said, "but I was sick sixteen days after I got well."

A movement is on foot among the members of Garrett Lodge, K. of P. to form a Uniform Rank. So far about twenty-five members of Garrett Lodge have signified a willingness to join the Rank.

After this date, Nov. 18, the office of the Board of School Commissioners will be open only on Saturdays until the close of the public schools. WM. HINERBACH, Secretary.

Samuel T. Davis informs us that he has purchased a large stock of boots, shoes and gents' furnishing goods and will have his stock open for inspection some time in February. We wish him success in this new departure.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

We are under obligations to Mr. S. D. White for copies of THE REPUBLICAN advertised for in last week's issue.

Also to Mr. Marion McKinney, of sell, W. Va., and Mrs. Mary Tasker of this place.

We are headquarters for oysters in every style. Patrons waited on promptly and with the best the market affords.

MASON & WILLIAMS, 46-31 Railroad Str., Oakland.

At the meeting of Garrett Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., Tuesday night Edward M. Spidden was elected Representative to the Grand Council. Frank Bolden was initiated into the mysteries of the order and declared a full fledged Mechanic.

The most successful and progressive towns are those which most liberally support their home papers. A newspaper well filled with home advertisements is one of the best advertisements in the world of the place where the paper is published.

A crowd of philanthropic inclined young men of Oakland went out to Mr. B. B. Green's farm Tuesday and chopped a great quantity of wood for him. Mr. Green and his whole family are sick in bed with the grip. Such acts have their reward.

Considerable ice has been cut from Wm. Broderick's lake in the east end. The ice is of superior quality. The lake is fed by numerous springs, which of necessity makes the ice pure and free from anything calculated to be injurious to the human system.

Cal. Pickett Nelson, colored, who claimed to be the tallest man in the world, died in Baltimore Tuesday. During life he measured eight feet one inch, but after death his body relaxed and he became four inches longer. Part of the front of the house had to be removed in order to allow the coffin to be conveyed to the street.

Many persons who have recovered from la grippe are now troubled with a persistent cough. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will promptly loosen this cough and relieve the lungs, effecting a permanent cure in a very short time. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayer, druggist.

We have bought 14,000 good quality envelopes, in amber and white, at an extremely low figure and are determined to give our patrons the benefit, and can furnish them the white goods at $2 per thousand or the amber at $1.90, neatly printed. Cash to accompany the order or sent C. O. D. Do you want a thousand?

Jacob S. Meyers, Clerk to the Commissioners, when asked where he spent Sunday, assumed a very mysterious air, but we have in our mind's eye a pretty little school mar'm teaching somewhere in the county who made Jake's Sunday seem all bliss. The aforesaid school mar'm attended the Institute here recently.

A man over at Washington, Pa., boasted that he didn't read the papers. This fact coming to the ears of two sharpers, they visited him and made it cost him $1,000 to learn how to play the three shell game. That sum would have paid for his county paper nearly seven hundred years besides saving him from being held up to public ridicule. He deserved what he got—Morgantown Dominion.

Six tramps have been arrested during the past week by Policeman Fleckenstein on the charge of vagrancy. Two of the number have been sentenced to three months in the House of Correction at Jessup's, the balance expressing a desire to be tried before a jury, which will be done at the March term. The two sentenced were taken to the Cut Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Fairall.

A sleighing party, amongst whom was Mrs. L. B. Hoff, were out on the Deer Park road Thursday night and met with quite an accident. When near Broad Ford the driver gave the reins to Mrs. Hoff and he went ahead to ascertain if the Ford was too high to cross. Whilst he was gone a bolt dropped out and this allowed the tongue to fall on horses heels which frightened them. Mrs. Hoff held on to the reins and was jerked over the dash board and in falling, one of the horses kicked, striking her in the face which bruised and cut it very much.

HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Movements of Prominent Persons Known to the Readers of "The Republican."

Mrs. R. J. West and Dr. E. Bartlett were called to Swanton Tuesday morning to see Mr. Richard Fairall, Mrs. West's brother, who is very ill with the grip.

John T. Sincell made a business trip to Barritt, Md., Monday and returned Tuesday evening.

G. A. Trump, a prominent merchant of Kingwood, passed through Oakland Tuesday on his way to Deer Park to inspect quantity of export timber.

Mr. M. L. Howe has been ill ever since her arrival here, a large part of the time being confined to her bed. At this time she is improving, much to the gratification of her many friends.—Dominion.

Attorney Waring Thomas and Ed. I. West, the liveryman, were over to Barritt Tuesday on business.

Mrs. E. M. Spidden was down at Deer Park two or three days last and this week ministering to the wants of her father and brother's family, who are all down with the grip.

John Shartzer went to Washington Monday on Annual Friend business.

Miss Nellie Dunn, of Rowlesburg, W. Va., was visiting at Lawrence Stanton's from Friday of last week until Monday.

Hon. John P. Jones, of Terra Alta, was in Oakland Monday and Tuesday on business.

Wm. Crim, formerly of Oakland, but now residing in Cincinnati, is home on a visit.

Clayton Arnold has secured a position in Sincell Bros. store as clerk.

Mrs. Isabelle Whetsell, of Cranesville, was in Oakland Monday visiting relatives and shopping.

Messrs. Michael and W. C. Garrett, both of Baltimore, but formerly of Deer Park, were in Oakland Monday and paid their respects to this office.

Go to A. D. Naylor's for your shoeing and save time and money. He has a fine lot of shoes sharpened—ready to nail on. Also a lot of logging grabs on hand, and a nice lot of steel soles for cutters and sleighs. All work guaranteed. 45-3t A. D. NAYLOR.

In consequence of the dust accumulating from the soft coal stoves used in the Garrett County Bank and the Commissioners office the books and papers have been injured to such an extent that new hard coal self feeding stoves have replaced the old stoves. The stoves were furnished by John M. Davis & Son, the hardware men. The cold air is taken from the floor and is discharged into the room from the top of the stove keeping the air in constant circulation and making all parts of the room equally comfortable. Circulating stoves are growing in popularity as their merit impresses, for, with the same quality of fuel a stove working on the circulating principle will heat a much larger room and make it more comfortable than one of the usual style.

L. A. Radisill, Supt., of Mountain Lake Park, returned from the Interstate Y. M. C. A. Convention, held at Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 14-17, inst., Monday. Mr. Radisill represented Oakland and Mt. Lake Park at the convention. There were 62 delegates present from the States of Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. By an enthusiastic vote it was resolved to hold an Inter-State Convention and Y. M. C. A. Training School at Mountain Lake Park July 26 to Aug. 5. This with the idea of developing this into a permanent feature of the Park. There will be a gymnasium and physical culture department under the charge of an experienced director. The entire program is in the hands of the State Executive Committee.

The dates now arranged for next season are: Camp meeting, July 2-11. Y. M. C. A. Convention, July 26, to Aug. 5. Chautauqua, Aug. 9-23.

The W. C. T. U. will announce their dates shortly. It is thought that they will take July 20-25.

Where Storms Coming.

Under date of Jan. 19th from Joseph, Mo., Foster, the weather prophet says: "My last letter gave forecasts of two storm waves, one to cross the continent from Jan. 18th to 23d, and the other from 24th to 26th."

"The next storm wave following these will be due to reach the California coast about January 31st, cross the western mountains by the close of February 1, the great central valleys from 2d to 4th and the eastern states about the 5th."

"This will be one of the fiercest storms of the winter west of the Mississippi river, especially on February 2d and 3d. It will sweep the and Denver and from Mexico to Minnesota. A snow storm, a blizzard, gales and drifting snows may be expected. The cold wave will enter the upper Missouri valley about the 3d, and its effects will be felt far into the southern states, causing cold weather, as it moves eastward, all over the country from Colorado to Maine. This cold wave will probably reach Florida about the 4th or 5th."

"After passing east of the Mississippi both the storm center and the cold wave will lose force. The cold, however, will be quite severe in the region of the upper lakes about the 4th or 5th, but not so cold in the northeastern states."

Asher Glade School Report.

In accordance with the by-laws for the public schools of Maryland, there was a public examination held in the above named school, of which the following is a correct report:

Spelling—Kimmel Thomas, 45; Hiram Umbel, 85; James M. Fike, 80; Emma Umbel, 90; Otha S. Fike, 85; Perry F. Fike, 50; George W. Fike, 95; Floyd C. Grover, 90; Chas. A. Fike, 100; Ida B. Fike, 85; Ida B. Thomas, 95; Amanda C. Fike, 95; Wilbert Watson, 95. Arithmetic, A Class—Amanda C. Fike, 90; Ida B. Thomas, 90; Wilbert Watson, 90. B Class—James M. Fike, 70; Floyd C. Grover, 80; George W. Fike, 90; Chas. A. Fike, 80; Otha S. Fike, 90; Hiram Umbel, 90.

Our physiology class being absent report is not given.

There were nine scholars present every day the first term. I had 44 pupils enrolled first term—27 boys and 17 girls. The average was 32.1-7. Our school is moving along very nicely. The parents deserve to be praised for their efforts to keep peace and harmony among their children. I can truthfully say I have not punished any scholar in any form whatever, and I hope the same spirit of love may dwell in the school the last as in the first term. The only thing that seems to cast a shadow over our school is the vaccination question. It seems there are some teachers that take no heed to that part of the school law. When such teachers teach a school one winter and the next winter a teacher is employed who lives up to the requirements of the school law, it causes some caviling among the patrons of the school to know why some teachers enforce vaccination while others do not. It does seem strange that all teachers are required to take the oath of office and they surely all clear that but some do not get their scholars vaccinated. I had one scholar to leave my school on that account, saying that other teachers did not get their scholars vaccinated and it was not necessary.

Submitting the above for the consideration of all those it may concern, I remain, Respectfully yours, JASPER BARNHOUSE, Teacher.

In the parish of a West Virginia town, a half-witted fellow was accustomed to occupy the front seat in the gallery, and on one occasion, when many of the hearers were falling asleep, he cried out: "Give it to them, old fellow, and I will keep them awake!" at the same time throwing several handfuls of fine bird-shot down over the people's head. In half a minute there was not a sleeper in the house.

HIS LAST SLEEP.

The Grim Messenger Comes in Awful Form to John Whalley.

The saddest death it has been our painful duty to chronicle occurred Sunday afternoon. The victim was Mr. John Whalley, the electrician in charge of the Oakland Electric Light and Power Company's plant. The cause of his sudden demise was gas escaping from a small gasoline stove which produced suffocation.

The particulars of this sad calamity are as follows, given us by Mrs. Samuel Lawton, at whose home both Mr. and Mrs. Whalley were residing at the time.

On Sunday evening, January 19th, son Abraham came to Mr. Whalley's room to call him to supper. He knocked on the door but received no response which fact he reported to me. I then went up stairs but met with the same success. Abraham and I both returned to the door and I opened it. The rush of gas from the room almost stifled both of us but we managed to get the windows up and as soon as possible to allow fresh air to enter. On the bed lying in an angular position was Mrs. Whalley and kneeling by the side of the bed I saw Mr. Whalley. His face was buried in the bed clothing and his arms were extended. My son Abraham took hold of Mr. Whalley's arm and felt his pulse but could detect no signs of life. Mrs. Whalley was lying on the bed with her face up which saved her life. As soon as possible we summoned Dr. McComas and some neighbors, and they worked manfully for two hours to resuscitate Mr. Whalley but without avail. Mrs. Whalley was carried across the hall into another room where she soon revived under the skill of Drs. J. Lee and H. W. McComas, and was able to tell the facts as to how the accident happened which are about as follows, tersely told: "I was reading a chapter in the bible and was suddenly taken ill and told Mr. Whalley to bring the slop jar to the bed at the same time handing him the bible. He took the book and laid it on the chair after he had arose to wait on me. No sooner had he straightened up than he fell forward on his knees by the bed side. His face was buried in the bed clothing. I told him if he did not soon get up, I would be compelled to call Mrs. Lawton. Almost instantly I lost consciousness and that is all I know."

An examination of the remains of Mr. Whalley was made by Dr. McComas and he stated that life had been extinct at least two hours before the discovery was made. The remains were prepared for burial by Undertaker Ault, encased in a neat walnut casket and sent to Cumberland (Mr. Whalley's former home) for interment. The funeral took place Tuesday.

Mr. Whalley was born in England about thirty years ago and came to this country with his parents and settled at Cumberland when but a mere lad. He acquired a thorough electrical knowledge and was assistant superintendent of the Frostburg electrical works, but resigned that position early last spring and came as electrician in charge of the Oakland electrical works.

On July 16, 1891, he was married to Miss Mary Thomas, of Frostburg.

Mr. Whalley was a Mason of the thirty-second degree and a Heptasoph, and was a member of the Reformed Episcopal church.

In his death, as every one who knew him will testify, Oakland loses a young man of ability, a perfect gentleman and a wife loses a devoted and loving husband.

We extend condolence for all his friends to his young widow and hope she may look for comfort to that One "who doeth all things well."

Notice.

All who have open accounts with John Shartzer are hereby notified that he will be at the Furniture store, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28, 29, and 30, for the purpose of settling. All unsettled accounts will be placed into the hands of the Commercial Agency for collection Feb. 1.

For burns and wounds we would recommend Salvation Oil. All dealers sell it at 25 cents.

Many cases have come under our notice where a single bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup relieved a sufferer from a severe cough, which had been treated for months by competent physicians. 25 cents.

Death of a Good Citizen.

Nathan Casteel was born June 8, 1821, and died January 10, 1892. He was a son of Nathaniel and Jane Casteel; was reared on the old homestead near Johnstown, Garrett county. His parents were among the early settlers in what was then the western part of Allegany county. They improved a large farm which is still known as the Casteel farm and owned by Mr. Wm. Casteel, a twin brother of the deceased.

Nathan and Jane Casteel raised ten children, seven sons and three daughters. The daughters and three of the sons are still living. Nathan Casteel was married to Sarah Brant, December 23, 1843. Their first home was a farm adjoining the old homestead where they lived until December 15, 1856, when they moved to their farm one mile from Oakland. They lived happily together until June 18, 1857, when separated by death. The good wife was taken and the husband left to struggle with the relatives of life alone. Both were faithful and consistent members of the Methodist Episcopal church, with which they identified themselves in early life. Their first home was open to welcome and administer comfort to weary itinerant ministers. To this class, and all other worthy persons, the door was never closed. Hundreds have partaken of the generous hospitality of this kind family.

The deceased served two terms as Judge of the Orphan's Court in this county. At the last election he declined to be renominated, in consequence of ill health. He had two children, Elizabeth J. and Truman W. The daughter died October 25, 1857, at the age of 13. Truman W., with his wife and four children, survive him and occupy the home near Oakland.

Much might be said in commendation of our deceased brother. All who knew him will say eulogy is unnecessary. He was a public spirited man, ready to assist in what he believed to be for the general good.

His counsel was frequently sought by those in responsible positions. As a father kind and affectionate; as a neighbor obliging; as a friend true to the last; as a christian, modest and unassuming.

During the last twelve months of his life Brother Casteel spent a good portion of his time reading his bible and making preparation for the change he felt was soon to come. During his protracted illness he was patient and expressed a willingness to give up this life with a bright prospect of a better life. One of the last things he took special interest in was the erection of the M. E. church in Oakland, to which he gave liberally. Financially his life was a success; being energetic and industrious he, with his son, became owners of valuable property.

The remains were interred in the cemetery at Oakland, January 11. A large number of friends and neighbors were in attendance. Appropriate services were conducted at the home by Revs. B. Isen, Geo. W. Kepler and J. M. Davis. D.

Parlez-Vous Français?

If you don't, there certainly have been times when you wished that you could; and if you are anxious to learn to read and speak French, you should have the splendid article "French Without a Master," by Prof. A. de Rougemont of Chautauqua University, published in Demorest's Family Magazine for February. With the definite and practical instructions given in it one cannot fail to acquire an accurate knowledge of French in an astonishingly short time. But this is not the only attraction of this superb number of this typical Family Magazine. The numerous illustrations, including a lovely phototint of "Cupid and Psyche," are simply splendid; the stories are of exceptional merit; "At the Home of a Florida 'Cracker,'" handsomely illustrated, will interest everybody; "The Home of a Specialist," with numerous illustrations, furnishes practical and artistic ideas for building and furnishing a home; and "A Small Garden, and What It Produced" gives just the information needed by those who have little ground and yet like fresh vegetables. As usual, there is something in this number for everybody, and everything is of the best; and this number is only a sample of what is furnished twelve times a year, for $2. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 E. 14th St., New York City.

Go where you will, you will find people using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and unanimous in its praise. I suffered most severely from rheumatism during winter. After using Salvation Oil two days the pain entirely subsided, and now I am a well man.

An unknown man was found last Sunday morning lying in the snow near the Red House, Md., who had evidently been out hunting as there was a gun by his side and he came out of the woods this side of Bayard. He was unconscious when found and when taken to the fire died in a few minutes. There were no letters or papers about him by which he could be identified or tell where he belonged.—Tucker Democrat.

The W. C. White Lumber Company, with offices at No. 30 Baltimore street, Cumberland, have just closed with the South Baltimore Car Works a contract for 1,000,000 feet of West Virginia dried white oak car lumber. The purchase amounts to $23,000, and will supply the oak for 500 cars. The White Company are cutting a large portion of the lumber along the West Virginia Central, shipping from Gorman and Scull. The remainder is brought along the 2nd and 3rd Divisions of the B. & O.

The adjutant-general in his recent report suggested the use of old Fort Frederick, near Green Spring Furnace, Washington county, as a permanent camping ground for the State militia. With the completion of the Potomac Valley railroad from Williamsport to Cherry Run, W. Va., the fort will be easily accessible. It was built in 1857 by Governor Sharpe at a cost of $6,000. The property is now in possession of the widow and children of Nathan Williams, a colored man, who bought it in 1857.

The Lonaconing Star of last week says that in its opinion the printers throughout the country should hold up the hands of Congressman Scott, of Illinois, who will introduce a bill prohibiting the Post office Department from printing envelopes and from engaging in business in competition with private concerns. The printing of envelopes by the government has made deep inroads upon the receipts of the printers of this country and they should be unanimous in supporting Congressman Scott's efforts. The Star suggests that a meeting of the printers be held at an early day, to adopt resolutions endorsing the Congressman's action.

Col. James Young, of Middleton, whose fame as the model farmer of the State is as wide as the Commonwealth, who owns twelve or fourteen farms, neither of which has a superior anywhere in the United States, has put up on one of his fine barns this inscription:

Col. Young not only believes in American farming, but in the protection of American manufacturers, hence his encouragement of the new tin industry which has sprung up among us since the McKinley bill went into operation.—Commercial.

No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of la grippe if properly treated. It is much the same as a severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed for a severe cold and a prompt and complete recovery is sure to follow. This remedy also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it during the epidemics of the past two years we have yet to learn of a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia, 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayer, druggist.

The Local Paper.

The city papers are all right if you want them, but it is the local paper that advertises your numerous societies, your churches, your schools, rejoices with you in your prosperity. In short, it is your local paper that mentions the thousand and one items in which you are interested during the year, and which you do not find in the city papers. It is the home paper that records your births, publishes your marriage, and chronicles your death. To the great journals—the forty page compendiums of the daily happenings of the world—you are not even a cypher. To get the least notice from them you must steal $100,000, commit an atrocious murder, or have a half dozen living wives. But your local paper watches over you with loving solicitude all the time. If you strike it rich in a lottery, it is glad, and says so. If you are sick it is sorry, and hopes you will soon be well. It tells when you come and when you go; when your house burns down, or you build a new one, when your Johnnie has the mumps or your Mary has the measles and how much the little stranger weighed on arrival. And when you require the whole street and both sidewalks to get home from lodge, it shuts both eyes and "mum's the word." Yes, take the big papers if you are interested in what is going on in Africa, but if you want to keep up with your own biography take the home paper.—Ex.

J. P. A. Eniler and daughter were here last week and closed up the contract with Mrs. Ballard for renting the Allegany House for next season. They also spoke for the Vance cottage for their own family.

Several of our people are quite ill yet. Caused principally by the grip.

Mrs. Dean has taken a relapse and is now quite ill. Her husband and father, A. C. Brooke, are still in the house.

There is a splendid crop of ice on the lake now and is being gathered.

We received, a few days ago, a friendly letter from Chicago, the writer being John W. Stanton, a former resident of Oakland and a son of our fellow-townsmen, Lawrence Stanton, Esq. We take the liberty to publish an extract from the letter and feel sure "Johnny" will pardon us for so doing: "I receive THE REPUBLICAN regularly and am well pleased with it. I see that you are after the Legislature for an appropriation for the World's Fair. Keep right after them. There are a great many Marylanders in Chicago and they want to see their state represented at the Fair as she should be, and as for 'camping on the prairie' as the State has had ground that would be required to 'camp' on would cost more than a building, for gold will be cheaper there ground to stand on in the neighborhood of the fair grounds when it opens. To illustrate: One man has paid or is to pay $28,000 for two lots, each 25x150 feet, ground rent from this time until the end of 1893. So you see if the people of old Maryland are thinking of renting a few lots and letting her sons and daughters get a glimpse of the fair over the fence at a distance they had better make a big appropriation or else the poor Marylanders who are here and those who carry will have to be contented with carrying the flag in miniature and gazing at it a few minutes when they think of 'Home, Sweet Home.'"

Died. STANLEY.—Nelson Savage was born in Allegany county (now Garrett) March 11, 1818, and died in Oakland, Md., Jan. 28, 1892. He was married to Elizabeth White, daughter of Richard White, of Selbyport, this county, April 15th, 1849, from which union five children were born, all daughters, two of whom are still living, Mrs. C. C. Michael and Mrs. J. A. Hayden, both of Oakland. His wife died in 1859, since which time deceased had made his home principally with the family of Mr. George O'Brien, of Glendale, this county. His death, which occurred at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Hayden, was caused by heart failure, after an illness of four weeks, during which time he was a great sufferer. He was converted at Mt. Lake Park in July, 1890, and died trusting in the Lord.

Services were held at the residence conducted by Revs. Geo. W. Kepler and Benjamin Ison, after which the remains were conveyed to the Odd Fellows' Cemetery and interred, in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

CUPPET.—Jacob Cuppet was born in Bedford county, Pa., April 3, 1803, and died at his son's residence, Thomas H. Cuppet, near Hoyes, Jan. 23, 1892, being almost 89 years old. He came with his parents to Preston county, W. Va., and afterwards removed to Garrett county, Md. He joined the Evangelical church when a young man and remained a member until his death. His mind being impaired for about three years, we could not tell much about his spiritual condition at the time of his death. He was one of those genial men free from care and anxiety and of wonderful strength. His remains were placed by the side of his companion last Sunday in the Johnstown cemetery to await the general resurrection. The funeral will be preached at some future time.

G. E. B. Hoyes. We can only name a few of the many sick. E. Custer is suffering with erysipelas on his head and face. Mrs. Joseph Dewitt has been an invalid for years and at this writing is very low. Wm. Enlow is still in a critical condition. Daniel R. Smith is making himself useful by waiting on the sick. Cap Run school closed last week for want of scholars. This week eleven is the highest in attendance. Brison Welch has bought the Samuel Specht property at McHenry and will move there next spring. His son-in-law, Upton Cuppet, will occupy the old homestead. Charles Enlow has bought his father's farm. S. K. Welch will move back to his farm as soon as school closes. The Dewitt school, taught by Edwin Friend, is at a standstill for want of scholars. Mrs. Rev. M. Knotts passed through here to Friendsville to join her husband and a part of the family, occupying the M. E. parsonage.

THE FARMERS AND THE ROADS.

Some Significant Facts and Figures from I. B. Potter's Book.

The League of American Wheelmen has performed a public service in issuing, through its committee on highway improvements, two pamphlets on the roads of this country, their condition and their cure. The second pamphlet, entitled "The Gospel of Good Roads," is a direct appeal to the American farmer by Mr. Isaac B. Potter, the chairman of the wheelmen's committee, and it deserves the attention of every countryman and of not a few dwellers in towns and cities.

Mr. Potter's purpose is to show to the farmer that the greatest remedy for the cure of unprofitable farming lies in the farmer's hands. The common road, he points out, is a part of the machinery of agriculture, as much so as the farm wagon, and any improvements in the roads reduce the cost of getting farm produce to market, and thus save to the farmer more of the value of those products.

"A bad road," says Mr. Potter, "is an expensive thing. To maintain the 16,000,000 horses of this country—the figures are those of the census of 1880—costs $4,000,000 a day, so that every day that a horse stands idle when he might work is a waste to be checked. Furthermore, every unnecessary horse is a waste of material, and Mr. Potter estimates that 2,000,000 horses not absolutely necessary are used on American farms, a needless expenditure of $500,000 a day, exclusive of the original cost of the horses. On the smooth surface of a macadam road one horse will haul twice the load that the same horse could haul on the best dirt road, and from five to ten times as much as can be hauled by a single horse when the dirt road is covered with soft mud and ruts.

"The average rainfall in the United States is something over forty inches per year. The dirt road absorbs these forty odd inches of water, freezes and thaws, dries, pulverizes, changes from paste to powder and back again from powder to paste, and for weeks at a time is practically impassable. Farm traffic is tied up. You have produce to sell, purchases to make, grain to grind, timber to haul, bills to collect and obligations to meet, but all these must wait because your only avenue of travel is taking its annual soak. A dozen times a day you look out of your barn door with the hope of seeing some struggling vagrant of whom you can inquire, 'How is the road?'"

The first cause of the bad roads is the system of roadmaking that prevails in this country, that relic of the feudal system which requires all persons living on a road to devote so many days a year to "mending the road," to scraping the dirt from the sides into the middle, and then trusting to Providence and the passers by to beat the upturned streak of dirt into something like a wheel track. A detail of this chief is the absence of drainage. "The great destroyers of common earth roads," says Mr. Potter, "are water and narrow wheel tires." The narrow wheel tires furnish the second cause of our bad roads.

European farmers use much broader tires than we use here, and the gauge of their front wheels is less than that of their hind wheels, so that the two sets of wheels do not "track." In Bavaria, for instance, a stringent law is enforced against the use of narrow wheel tires, and the width of tire to be used is laid down as follows:

Two wheel wagon with two horses, 4 inches. Two wheel wagon with three or four horses, 6 inches. Four wheel wagon with two horses, 2 1/2 inches. Four wheel wagon with three or four horses, 4 inches. Five wheel wagon with five to eight horses, 6 inches.

Carts having more than four horses and wagons having more than eight are not allowed upon the public roads, except by public permission obtained from the authorities of the province.

The roads of Europe are vastly better than ours. France has 130,000 miles of good roads, though her territory is only about four times as large as that of New York state. The French government spends $18,000,000 a year to keep them in repair—about as much as it costs to keep the horses in New York state for four months.

Not only do good roads diminish the cost of farming, but they increase the value of the farms. In all of New Jersey there are several hundred abandoned farms; in Union county, where of late years some 600 miles of improved roads have been built, there is not a single farm lying idle.

The changes thus described are certainly worth the cost of building good roads. And it may be said here that Mr. Potter quotes with approval and belief the remark of a countryman, that the roads were not well paved because rich people had come into the country, but that rich people had come because the roads were well paved.

As to the method of obtaining improved roads, Mr. Potter has decided ideas. The state, he says, must build them and maintain them. Some states have already taken steps to secure competent supervision of road improvements, an admission of their right and duty to maintain the entire highway system. The cost to the farmers of New York of a state system of roads would be only 7 per cent. of the total, and in other states it will not vary much from this percentage. As bonds can be issued for building roads, the cost in any one year of good roads would be infinitesimal to the farmer, and he would profit abundantly by his investment.

Mr. Potter's pamphlets are illustrated with photographs showing half loaded carts and wagons stuck in the mud of our spring roads, some of them within the limits of the largest cities of the Union, while other pictures of country roads in France, Italy and Belgium indicate what good roads are. One or two pictures show that American roads may be made as good as those of Europe. It is to be hoped that Mr. Potter's collection of pictures of this last class may be rapidly increased.—New York Sun.

Death of Rev. Joseph Dewitt.

Rev. Joseph Dewitt was born Jan. 19, 1818, and died Jan. 13, 1892, hence aged almost 74 years. He was married to Mary J. Thayer June 13, 1843. She only lived about three years afterward. His second marriage was to Julia A. Robinson March 28, 1848, she still surviving him but in a very feeble condition. He joined the M. E. church when he was about 20 years of age and dates his first religious impressions to the kind and earnest words of Mrs. West, a faithful Sunday-school teacher, living in the Flatwoods. He was licensed as a local preacher January 5, 1861, and afterwards local deacon and elder in the church. He continued abundant in labors up to the very last, even marrying a couple only two days before he died. His council was sought by ministers as well as laymen, and was one of the most self-sacrificing of God's servants; never sought his own comfort but comfort and happiness of others. His love for the church was intense and he invariably showed his love by giving to it his hearty support. He served the county as Magistrate a number of years and also as a Judge of the Orphans' Court twelve years.

His remains were placed by the side of his parents in the Johnstown cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of people. The funeral services were not preached on account of many of the friends not being able to attend.

District No. 115—Savage.

Our sleighing snow has vanished. Chas. Merrill and sister, Miss Ida, who were visiting relatives in Pennsylvania, have returned home. We are glad to have Charlie back with us.

Wm. Merrill, of Pea Ridge, has been sawing shingles on the mill operated by J. Broadwater.

Jonathan Broadwater and Frank Ogg, of Minnesota, are on a visit to their relatives.

Walter Warnick and G. L. Broadwater still visit brother Merrill's occasionally.

J. H. Gregg, who has been very ill with an attack of the grip, is able to attend to business again.

Edward Wiland, of New Germany, has returned home from a visit to friends in West Va.

GOVERNMENT OF COUNTIES.

Members of Twenty Boards Discuss Roads, Official Terms and Taxes.

The commissioners from the counties of Maryland, who met in convention, last week, at the Young Men's Christian Association Hall, Baltimore, had a lively discussion over various matters requiring legislative action. The meeting was more for the expression of views than for definite action on any one subject. The subjects were therefore well ventilated, though in some cases the questions were passed over without the taking of a vote to obtain the sense of the meeting.

About sixty commissioners and several clerks to the boards were present. The body was an intelligent one and was mainly composed of farmers. Several showed a marked aptness for debate.

Ex-Judge Douglas, who is counsel for the Washington county commissioners, was present by request and took an active part in the discussions.

Mr. Shalleross, of Kent county, was called to the chair, and said:

"This meeting was called to exchange views and opinions for the better management of affairs of Maryland counties. There should be some uniformity of action. It is apparent, in the matter of a road law, that what would suit the Eastern Shore counties would not suit the Western Shore. On the Eastern Shore there is a light soil and no heavy hauling. Shells are found to be a good material for road making. We have pretty good roads in my section and they are well drained. Wide roads and good drainage are what the Eastern Shore wants. On the Western Shore, where there is heavier travel, stone is the best material.

"County commissioners should serve as the boards of control and review, if a new assessment is made. In Baltimore county this would not do, but in most counties of the State it would suit. We used to have collectors of taxes in Kent county; now we have a treasurer, who gets $1,800 a year. He gives bond for $40,000."

The various topics of government for the counties were then discussed ably and intelligently.

The question of cash payment of all county indebtedness and selection of Road Supervisors and the manner of keeping roads in good repair received liberal consideration; a resolution offered that "we recommend our respective delegates to urge the passage of a new assessment law," was unanimously adopted without debate.

The term of office of the County Commissioners was then taken up. There was great diversity of opinion as to the propriety of action, some suggesting that it looked very much like arguing their own case, while others thought there were none better qualified to pass upon the subject, and the only consideration should be, what is best for the taxpayers.

Col. Douglas took an active and leading part in this discussion, and among other things said the law was very adroitly drawn. If the Legislature should pass no law to carry out the provisions of the amendment to the constitution relating to county commissioners, as ratified at the last election, then the present boards will serve only for the time for which they were elected—two years. It was a question to be determined, perhaps, by the Court of Appeals as to whether the constitution extended the time of those elected at the time the amendment was ratified or whether it applied to future elections. Nothing can be done until the Legislature passes a law in conformity with the constitutional amendment. As to electing all members at the same time," he continued, "that ought to be changed. There should always be one or more old members in the boards."

He then submitted the following: "It is the sense of this convention that the election of members of boards shall not all be at one time, and they shall not all go out at the one time, or that the terms of the members shall not begin and end at the same time."

A resolution, that a committee of one from each county be appointed by the boards to confer with the State Senators and members of the House as to the feasibility of extending the term of office of the commissioners, was offered, and then withdrawn.

It was moved and recommended the office of county commissioners be for six years, and D. H. Staley moved the appointment of a committee of five to frame a bill to carry out the constitutional amendment. Finally, on motion of Mr. George C. Snyder, of Washington county, the subject was dropped.

The Township system levying taxes was then in a cursory manner disposed of, the next subject, the number of commissioners a county should have was passed over, public highways, their present condition and what should be done, the best system for repairing them, was discussed, one of the members declaring that he represented a county "where they don't have any roads."

Upon this subject Judge Douglas said: "Each county has its own system, according to the soil. No general system can be adopted that will do all over the State. I favor macadamizing where it can be done, and I believe it will not be long before it becomes the system in Washington county. They have plenty of rock there."

Fowls live ten to twenty years and are then sold as spring chickens to young housekeepers.

Owing to the heating capacity of the furnace in St. Paul's M. E. church not being sufficient to warm the building no service was held Tuesday night.

Chas. W. Mason has bought Eli Williams interest in the firm of Mason & Williams, Railroad street, and will conduct the business at the old stand.

A petition, which has numerous signers, will go before the Council at their next meeting asking that an act be placed at the corner of Alder and Main streets.

"The Lord watch between me and thee when we are absent from another."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR COLUMN.

EDITED BY REV. AND MRS. W. L. LEISLER.

PRAYER MEETING TOPIC, JAN. 31.

Christ died for you. Are you living for Him?—C. E. Day.

Isa. 53: 4-9; Rom. 12: 1.

It is most fitting that during this week, in which occurs the anniversary of the birth of our Society, we should consider the foundation fact of salvation and the foundation principle of Christianity. Death and resultant life are embodied in our theme. Christ died in the body. We live in the spirit. This is our true source of life. Our spiritual life quickens with newness of life even our physical organism, so that we may be said to consecrate our bodies unto Him who bore our sins in his own body on the tree. Let us take the two parts of our topic in their order.

1. Christ Died for You (Isa. 53: 4-9). In our comments upon a similar topic we dwelled specially on the death of Christ. Now we place the weight of the accent upon the final word "you." He did not die because he could not help himself. He did not die as a matter of heroism. He was not slain fighting for anybody, though we are sometimes inclined to use that figure when taking a martial view of redemption. He simply came to the altar of sacrifice as a pure lamb, voluntarily laying himself upon the prepared place of offering. Why? As an atonement for sin. Whose sin? Yours, mine, a whole world's. Here is where many have experienced the greatest difficulty. They cannot understand how the death of Christ eighteen hundred years ago, and over, can affect their condition in the sight of God. They do not see how their gratitude can be kindled through contemplation of that mysterious act. They find nothing to pin a personal faith to. I sometimes think they do not try very hard to understand. Are any of my readers among the number? Suppose you were a property owner in the city of Boston. Suppose, on account of some great service done the city, your grandfather had received, half a century ago, a special document from the civic authorities, granting him exemption from taxes on his property for all time to come. Would you, as heirs and present owners, not understand pretty clearly that no assessment should be made annually on your real estate, no matter how much it had increased in value during all these intervening years? Christ paid all your debt, whenever it should occur, by his most precious blood. Believe that, because God says so in this sacred document he has given you, the Bible. Act on your belief, and you are saved.—Rev. W. H. G. Temple in The Golden Rule.

We should be very careful what we eat in the way of green vegetables to avoid cholera in this, flux and dysentery, and parents should be particularly careful with the little ones. If you have any of these complaints it is not necessary to send for a doctor, when a 25 or 50 cent bottle of Lightning Hot Drops will cure you. Children like it. Mr. S. H. Wilson, Shomstown, W. Va., says: "Lightning Hot Drops is the best medicine for diarrhea, summer complaint, colic and cholera. It can't be beaten. Will relieve in two minutes. For children it has no equal. For flux it is king." It is sold everywhere.

Nine times out of ten when children are peevish and fretful they have worms. The next time your child is that way try a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and see if it doesn't help it. Mr. J. B. Knight, Knight, W. Va., says: "One of my customers bought a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and gave his little girl two doses, and she passed 138 worms as the result. I cannot sell any other worm medicine since."

If you can't sleep, have no appetite and a dull feeling, your kidneys and liver are out of order. Mr. C. B. Clinton, Liberty, W. Va., says: "About a year ago I had a severe pain in my back, which prevented me from working. I finally got my appetite and had trouble in urinating. At last I concluded to try Lightning Kidney and Liver Remedy. Used same according to directions, and now, after using only one bottle, I am enjoying good health, and am doing my day's work, and have an excellent appetite."

It is necessary to keep the system pure and clean as it is well the flowers. You can't feel well if the blood is not right. Mr. E. O. Richey, Hydrus, Ky., says: "My son contracted a severe case of blood poisoning last summer. His body was covered with rising all over. It was very near past going, and I lost all hope of him recovering. I purchased a bottle of Lightning Blood Elixir and gave him some according to directions, and after using only one and a half bottles he got entirely well, and is now enjoying splendid health. It certainly does all it is claimed to do. Druggists sell it."

Send us your Job Work.

Assorted Weather.

First its slippery;
Then its sloppery;
Now you melt
And then you freeze;
Now you cough
And then you sneeze;
Watch the mercury
Hop and skip;
It's not strange
We have the grip.

Can we furnish you one thousand and printed XXX white envelopes for $2, or one thousand printed amber envelopes for $1.90? If you want them speak quick; they are going fast.

The passengers and crew of the wrecked steamer Bider, which stranded on the rocky coast of England, had a fortunate escape in being rescued, the steamer having been abandoned together with a valuable cargo.

Philip G. Lane, ex-judge of the St. Mary's County Orphans Court, is dead, aged 67 years. He was judge of the Orphans' Court for three terms, and part of the time its chief. In the recent election he was a candidate but was defeated.

Daniel Chisholm, Esq., has secured the Totten lot adjoining the electric light and power house and will open up a coal yard. The B. & O. R. R. Co. have consented to put in a switch on which cars will be run and unloaded in the yard.

J. W. Argenbright has been employed by Samuel T. Davis, the boot and shoe merchant, who will conduct the business of repairing making shoes at Mr. Davis' store. Mr. Argenbright is a good workman and we recommend him to all who need work in his line.

The best cure for rheumatism or neuralgia is Salvation Oil, used according to directions. 25 cents.

The news from the seat of war is constantly contradictory; but not so from Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; every report concerning it proves it to be the best Cough Syrup known. Only 25 cents a bottle.

Many persons who have recovered from la grippe are now troubled with a persistent cough. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will promptly loosen this cough and relieve the lungs, effecting a permanent cure in a very short time. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayer, druggist.

The official statistics of the Cumberland coal trade was published in the Daily News last Thursday. The total number of tons mined and shipped from the Cumberland region during the period between the years 1842 to Jan. 1, 1892, was 71,024,318. Given in car loads this vast amount would fill nearly 6,000,000 cars of 12 tons each, making a train, supposing the cars to be 30 feet long, that would reach one and a-half times around the earth.

We have bought 14,000 good quality envelopes, in amber and white, at an extremely low figure and are determined to give our patrons the benefit, and can furnish them the white goods at $2 per thousand or the amber at $1.90, neatly printed. Cash to accompany the order or sent C. O. D. Do you want a thousand?

Lakin, the 6-year old son of Mr. G. B. M. Friend, a tenant on T. W. Casteel's farm, near Oakland, met with a serious and what might have been a fatal accident, Tuesday evening. From what we can learn it seems that the child was playing with a pocket-knife and fell on it, the blade penetrating the abdomen. Dr. H. W. McComas rendered surgical aid and nothing serious is anticipated from the effects of the accident.

John V. Mansfield, the sixteen year old son of Capt. Mansfield, of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad, was fatally injured at Piedmont about 2:30 o'clock Monday, while attempting to board a moving freight train in the Baltimore and Ohio yards. Both legs were terribly mangled by the cruel wheels and Mrs. Parsons and Shury, who were immediately summoned, were compelled to resort to amputation. At half-past eight Monday evening the youth died.

The Secretary of War has transmitted to Congress the annual report of the Adjutant General as to the militia of the different States. It contained the following statistics in reference to Maryland: Generals, 2; general staff, 46; Infantry—officers, 93; non-commissioned officers, 276; musicians, 125; privates, 1,512; aggregate, 2,074. Number of men available for military duty morganized, 125,000.

HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Movements of Prominent Persons Known to the Readers of "The Republican."

C. H. Stuck, of Selbyspoor, went to Alexandria, W. Va., Monday, to work, returned to Oakland Wednesday reporting everyone in that place and business, in sequence, at a standstill.

E. H. Sincell, Esq., was down Washington last week on business.

Mrs. Mary Brady and daughter Percie and Miss Emma Miller on Thursday night of last week went to Washington, D. C., to visit Daniel Miller, who is employed in the Government Printing Office.

Miss Minnie Smith, of Deer Park, is, we are happy to note, out again after a prolonged illness. She paid Oakland a visit on Saturday.

R. R. Henderson, a prominent attorney of Cumberland, made Oakland a professional visit Thursday last. While here Mr. Henderson paid his respects to THE REPUBLICAN.

Wm. Wright, one of Swanton district's enterprising citizens, made us a pleasant call on Thursday of last week.

Benj. H. Sincell spent several days in Pittsburgh and Allegheny City last week.

Joseph Lashorn, Esq., of Deer Park, was in town Tuesday and made THE REPUBLICAN an agreeable call.

Miss Mattie Adair, of Terra Alta, was in Oakland a few days since our last issue visiting Mrs. King Delawder.

Jonas E. Gnagey, of Grantsville, who went west to Los Angeles, California, about six weeks ago, returned home Thursday night. Mr. Gnagey was accompanied west by his daughter, Miss Cora, who remained in California, and will return home in the course of a year.

Rev. J. B. Shoup, one of THE REPUBLICAN'S Southern writers, has removed from Mt. Tabor to Mikesville, Florida.

Harry Sincell was in Cumberland Monday on business.

Gus Bolden, of the Terra Alta Oracle, as usual, spent Sunday with his parents in Oakland.

Superintendent Rudisill the past two weeks visited Cincinnati and St. Louis in the interest of the Park. This week he is in Washington and Baltimore consulting with President Baldwin and Supl. Davidson, of the Mountain Chautauque.

Editor Litzinger John W. Hart and Charles F. White went down to Baltimore on Thursday of last week.

G. A. Trump, of Kingwood, was in town a few hours Tuesday.

C. M. Miller, of Swanton, was in Oakland Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Washington Taylor, of Friendsville, came up to Oakland Monday and went to Cumberland Tuesday morning. Mr. Taylor informs us that he has about completed arrangements with parties in Cumberland and will take charge of the Elberon Hotel in a short time.

Mr. John Cornelius is home on a visit to his family.

Messrs. D. E. Offutt, G. W. Delawder, G. S. Hamill and R. T. Browning departed for Annapolis Tuesday morning.

T. J. Peddicord, Esq., went to Baltimore Tuesday morning to attend a meeting of the Fraternal Circle.

O. Z. Gibson, of near Valley Point, W. Va., is here learning the art of photography with G. H. Pritchard, Esq.

Eddie Sharps, son of Rev. W. J. Sharps, who has been here since his parents moved to W. Va., departed for Buckhannon Monday, where he will fill a position as drug clerk.

We had a pleasant call, Wednesday, from Mr. Joseph F. Lewis, of Cranessville.

Emory E. Hinebaugh, formerly of Accident, but who has been clerking in a store at Thomas, W. Va., was in Oakland Tuesday, on his way to Accident to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hinebaugh.

Messrs. Henry E. Kahl and Frank

Hinebaugh, of Accident, brought a load of produce to Oakland Tuesday. They returned to Accident Wednesday morning.

Dr. J. Lee McComas went to New York Monday night to attend a meeting of the New York Medical Association, of which he is an honorary member.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Thayer, of Thomas, were here visiting relatives and friends since our last issue.

A banquet was given Tuesday evening by the members of the Allegany County Bar Association at the bench. A sumptuous menu was gotten up by Mr. W. W. Tabor, steward of the Queen City Hotel. The banquet was served in the large parlors. Toasts and impromptu speeches were responded to. Judge Alvey and Ex-Judge Douglas were unable to be present on account of previous engagements. Hon. Lloyd Lowndes presided at the table, with Judge H. W. Hoffman on his right and Judge Edward Stake on his left.

The Columbus (Ga.) Sun is responsible for this story: An Augusta furniture dealer, in a recent advertisement, offered a handsome bed room suit to the first couple that would marry in his display window. Col. A. M. Carpenter, the thirty editor of the Lincolnton News, wrote that if the dealer would furnish the bride and pay his expenses to Augusta he would buy the license and pay the preacher. The dealer accepted the offer and the lady is said to be young, handsome and finely educated. Carpenter is a little dazed by his good luck but will be on hand.

Manager Gillam, of the advertising department of Wananake's store, says: "For a general business I believe there is but one perfect, satisfactory advertising medium—the newspaper. No matter what the nature of a community is, if the paper has a chance at the people; it sorts them out as certainly as if they were put through a mental sieve. The progressive, enterprising, wide-awake, money-spending, life-enjoying citizen, wherever he is, is always hungry in the head—he wants a paper; he'll get one if he can. The pinch-penny, slow-going, yesterday man; the poor man or the too mean to buy, are never in the newspaper procession. Put an advertisement before the readers of a paper and you take the cream of any population. You go straight home to the people who can buy and are ready to buy."

No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of la grippe if properly treated. It is much the same as a severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed for a severe cold and a prompt and complete recovery is sure to follow. This remedy also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it during the epidemics of the past two years we have yet to learn of a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia, 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayer, druggist.

The Sunday American of January 24th contained the following article about Max Lausenberg, who was sentenced to the penitentiary from this county about ten years ago:

Max Lausenberg, of Somerset, Pa., who has been in the penitentiary since 1883 for horse stealing, and will shortly be released, has made, within the past three years, as many hundred dollars through the sale of striped articles of marble, which he made at odd times. Max is not gifted with "all his buttons." His province it is to clean up the central yard of the penitentiary and to do odd jobs. In his intervals of labor he makes paperweights, rolling-pins, and door bricks of different shades of marble, which he first fastens together with cement, and after this is dry, he cuts and polishes it in a wheel. Max also makes beautiful pin-cushions and watch cases of common clam shells. These are susceptible of the highest and most delicate polish. After rubbing them down to translucent finish, Max fastens them together with cement, ornaments them with silk ribbon and velvet, and furnishes each object with a base of polished marble. Max's sentence expires on Jan. 24th, he having obtained twenty months off his ten years' sentence for good conduct while in durance vile.

GROWTH OF GARRETT.

How Our Sister County is Going to the Front.

The rapid growth of our sister county of Garrett is attracting attention everywhere. Small as this offspring of the loins of old Allegany is, it contains 670 square miles of territory, with a population of 14,213 in 1890. In 1880, it was 12,175. The Great Savage mountain, the backbone of the Alleghenies, crosses the county from north to south, on the east side of which is the Maryland coal basin, one-third of which is in Garrett county.

West of the backbone and lying between that and Meadow Mountain, at an elevation of 2,500 feet above tidewater, is a vast table land covering an area of 400 square miles, one-third of which is glade land, the finest part of the State for grazing and stock raising. There is no county in the State which contains such valuable mineral deposits in coal, iron ore, fire clay and limestone of superior quality. The soil is a dark, rich loam, very productive, and yields readily twenty-five bushels of wheat, forty bushels of corn or 200 bushels of potatoes per acre without fertilizers. The soil, naturally good, is easily improved and a coat of lime acts like a charm on it.

The county is very sparsely settled and there is a great deal of uncultivated land which may be bought at from $3 to $10 per acre, while the improved farms command $10 to $30 per acre.

In later years, however, the farms are being opened up, and a number of the most intelligent citizens of the county are turning their attention to farming as a business, and are raising, in addition to the crops grown by their predecessors, large amounts of wheat and corn, wool, and making sugar and butter. Facilities for reaching the markets are ample to all parts of the county, as the Baltimore & Ohio runs through the southern portion from east to west for a distance of thirty miles.

On the Southern border the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh runs for more than thirty miles, and on the East is the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad, and the National turnpike traverses the northern portion of the county for twenty miles. The northern part has access to the Pittsburgh and Connellsville, a branch of which runs to Salisbury, located near the Maryland and Pennsylvania line. The large number of towns along the railroads, especially along George's creek, in the mining region, furnish good markets for nearly all the produce raised in the county.

Improvements in labor-saving machinery and farming implements are keeping pace with the general advance along the agricultural line, and nearly every farmer is provided with reapers, mowers, grain drills, as well as improved plows, harrows and other utensils. Stock-raising is one of the leading industries, and the farmers are constantly introducing new breeds of animals for the purpose of improving their stock.

Manufactures in Garrett county do not amount to much, and are limited to two or three woolen factories, tanneries, a few lumber mills, etc. Its future lies in its capacity for agricultural products, and not in the prospect of becoming a manufacturing community. The time is not far distant when it will be a great agricultural county. The amount of mercantile business done annually in the towns would, probably, reach $300,000.

Nowhere is her prosperity more cordially estimated and generally desired than in old Allegany. Cumberland Times.

Marriage Licenses.

Since our last report Clerk E. Z. Tower has issued marriage licenses to the following named persons:

Taylor Pugh and Louisa Stemple.

Walter Coddington and Nettie A. Frazer.

Orin Greathouse and Icy May Jenkins.

Andrew J. Burgess and Amanda C. Fike.

Geo. W. Feik and Martha Ellen Camp.

Samuel A. Hill and Ella Richardson.

Christian C. Orendorf and Annie Beitzell.

Thomas E. Haigh and Fannie Browning.

Frederick E. Beane and Nannie Saville.

Two with request not to publish.

Ground Hog Day.

The ground hog had to root Tuesday.

He can remain in his burrow for six long weeks, for on Tuesday, that fateful day, he did not have to travel very far to see his shadow.

Now Oakland has a fair opportunity to verify the efficacy of the most potent of all potents, for the ground hog is as infallible as increased taxation. For the last week or two Oakland has shaken icicles from its ulster and donned a macintosh by turns, and if the ground hog formula holds good the town can continue so to do for six weeks longer.

Long before the ground hog rooted, weather or no, February 2 was a day of solemn observance in the Roman Catholic church. It is known as Candlemas Day. On this day the candles in the church are blessed and also many families have candles blessed and burn them on feast days.

In the church Candlemas Day is known of the purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary. On this day the church solemnly celebrates the presentation of Jesus in the temple, and therein the obedience and humility both of Mary and her divine Son, who, though not subject to the law in regard to purification and presentation, yet subjected themselves to it.

Married.

WILSON—RICHARDSON—On Jan. 28, 1892, at the Elkins House, Gorman, by Rev. L. Rexrode, Harry Wilson and Ella Richardson, both of Wilson Mills, W. Va.

ORENDORF—BEITZEL—On Jan. 25, 1892, by the Rev. George W. Kepler, at the M. E. parsonage, Christian C. Orendorf and Annie Beitzell, both of this county.

FEIK—CAMP—January 27, 1892, in New Germany, at the residence of Wm. Camp, by the Rev. Jonathan Broadwater, of Fillmore county, Minn., George W. Feik and Miss Martha E. Camp, both of Accident.

The topographical map of Anne Arundel county has been completed, and was submitted to the Maryland World's Fair executive committee at their meeting Tuesday. The map was made from surveys of a commission from the Maryland Agricultural College, John Hopkins University and the United States geological survey, and shows the roads, elevations, streams and other physical features as they actually appear, but upon a reduced scale. The map will be taken to Annapolis next week to show the legislators what can be accomplished by carrying out Governor Brown's suggestion of having such a representation of the whole State on the walls of the Maryland Building at the World's Fair. The maps will be accompanied with pamphlets descriptive of the different counties of the State. The cost of maps and pamphlets is estimated at $25,000. Messrs. Baldwin & Pennington submitted plans for the Maryland Building, which will cost $35,000. The building is to be a reproduction of the State House, with the difference that both fronts will be similar to the principal front of the State House. The dome will be made of glass and will be illuminated by electric lights. The building will be 80 by 120 feet, and on the lower floor there will be an exhibition-room 41 by 77 feet for the display of the agricultural and mineral products of the State.

The Preston County Journal says: "The new station, Ruinar, on the Baltimore and Ohio, one and a-half miles east of Terra Alta, is the point of connection with the Baltimore & Ohio of two steam railroads. The one on the north side of the road is the Snowy Creek and Cranessville railway, and extends to within one mile of Cranessville, a distance of about eight miles. It carries the timber (spruce) from that section to Ruinar, where it is cut four feet long and is placed in B. & O. cars by means of machinery. It is sent to Cumberland and Harpers Ferry for manufacturing into pulp. Another road, on the opposite side, carries their timber a shorter distance, and have a saw-mill to cut it into lumber. These are the first tram roads on which steam engines are run in this part of the country, and are proving a success. Their principal uses to convey timber and other heavy freight for distances of a few miles. When well built they will pull a large load up a considerable grade, and are cheaply constructed, no ties being necessary for the double flange wheel, but simply the railing is put down."

IN CONFIDENCE.

The sea heard, and the deep and sea
Throbbled with one bitter secret more,
But set no answering rumor free
By wind or bird to ocean shore.

The stars sang, but no trembling star
Of all the white less daring train
Has ever whispered from afar
The story of this loveless pain.

The night knew not the tender night
Civels on tears, but saw no gleam
She wraps a wing from sound and sight
Despising hearts and watching eyes.

What if the night and stars and sea
Should but for once their pledge forget,
And softly in the silence there
"She loved thee then, she loves thee yet!"

Reverent Taste of the Eagle.
In California, where eagles had an luxuriant supply of food in the land fortresses of the plains—a curious commentary on the story of the death of Aeschylus, caused by a tortoise laid by an eagle—they are not only common, but exceedingly tame, building their nests near roads and houses. One nest was found in a small live oak near a road, only thirty feet from the ground, built of sticks of the poison oak and sage brush. A nest was also found with a large "snap root" by way of ornament, and the nest was the same bird built close by, and also procured a "snap root" to place on the side of its nest, which showed some individuality in taste.

A third eagle had a fancy for sacks, and after its old nest, which contained a corn sack, had been blown out by a storm, it built a fresh one close by, and in this was found another and a new sack. The eagle seen to be, at any rate in some parts of California, almost as common as the kite in England, and to have the same propensity for carrying their nests into any object which strikes them as ornamental or interesting.—London Spectator.

Tale of a Pawnbroker.

One of the hardest things to realize on is a violin. I never make much of an advance on such an instrument. Not long ago a man brought in one, and I asked him what I would give him on it, and I told him five dollars. He turned white. He asked me if I knew what that violin was worth. I told him I did. I knew it was worth about $200. But I told him that it did not look any better than a violin that was worth ten dollars. No one but a musician would ever know the difference. I told him I never could make any one but an old musician believe it was worth any more than a poor violin.

I had rather advance a man ten dollars on a fifteen dollar overcoat than five dollars on a $100 violin, unless I happened to know where I could get a purchaser for the violin. I might sell the overcoat for what I advanced on it, but I never could get the money or anything near it on the violin.
A violin in a pawnbroker's shop is a noo-do.—Interview in Chicago Tribune.

Selecting Quotations.

Care must be taken in the selection of quotations. One is very apt to copy a fine passage, and find on reading it a month later that it is really quite commonplace, because, apart from its setting, taken away from the glowing phrase which led up to it, without the mind in a state of receptivity it is not all that it seems. One way of avoiding this is by not copying the quotations as they are found, but making a pencil mark on the margin opposite and writing the number of the page on the fly leaf. Then, when the book is finished, the quotations may be taken up and sifted before writing them down.—H. A. Heydrick in Brains.

One Way of Paying the Priest.

In some parts of India an extraordinary marriage ceremony is performed. The bridegroom, bride and priest drive a cow and a calf into the water, and then all three lay a hand on the cow's tail, while the priest pours some water on it from a brass vessel, by which act the couple are joined forever in the bonds of matrimony.
The priest claims the cow and calf, together with all the money the happy pair may give to the idols to propitiate them, as a recompense for his trouble.—San Francisco Examiner.

St. Patrick's Well.

At the foot of Antrim hill, by the side of the Clane road, near the town of Coleridge, Kildare, Ireland, is St. Patrick's well.
"This blessed well," says a recent visitor,
"is circular, built around with masonry and partially covered with a large flag stone. Some ancient ivy clad thorn trees overhang it, and to judge by the numberous pieces of ragged ivy and bushes and briars around it, is still held in high veneration in the district."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Growing Up with the Country.

Lieutenant Maxwell, of the United States army, says the Dakota climate adds to one's stature. When ordered to that country he was over twenty-one years old and had reached the age when growth is supposed to stop, but during a residence there of over a year he grew 2½ inches.
Dakotans say the climate often has that effect.—El Paso Herald.

Why Epileptics Are Dangerous.

Many epileptics, though perfectly sane at other times, show a destructive impulse during that form of the disease in which the patient does not fall in convulsions.
They may attack and kill a stranger toward whom they have not even a cause of animosity, and a few moments afterward be wholly unware of the act.—Exchange.

Paper Made of Corn Husks.

Corn husks boiled in caustic soda are being utilized for the manufacture of paper. The cooking process results in the formation of a spongy, glutinous paste, which is subjected to heavy pressure so as to eliminate the gluten, the fiber remaining being made into paper in the ordinary way.—Yankee Blade.

The custom of throwing obstacles in the pathway of the bridegroom is of a primitive origin. Mythology has its tales of women whose courtesies and still were tested before they were allowed to take their brides in certain remote districts, even in Christian lands, some form of such usages still exists.

In some sections of this country there is a superstition that when a death occurs in a house the mirrors in the different rooms must be carefully covered until after the funeral, lest the face of the corpse be photographed in the glass.

South Carolina produced more than one third of the entire amount of phosphate rock mined in the world in 1890, the output being 600,000 tons.

Above all, study, study, study! All the Bag Butter.

Numerous specimens of ancient butter are to be seen in the Irish museums, which were discovered during the past century by peasants engaged in digging peat. Some of them were dug from depths of ten, fifteen and even eighteen feet below the surface of the ground, and considerable antiquity must be allotted to the finds, although no absolute date exists by which the average increase of bog soil may be calculated. Examples of this butter weigh as much as thirty and forty pounds and upward, and are identified by the numerous hairs of reddish color as being the product of the cow.

The butter is found packed in hollowed vessels of wood and in masses of irregular form. The latter are usually surrounded with a layer of moss and at times have an additional covering of linen cloth. The object of this burying butter in peat or immersing it in bog water would appear to be its preservation under circumstances and in districts where salt could not be procured.

Chemical examination still demonstrates the presence of those acids obtainable from ordinary butter and the absence of common salt. This is characteristic, for in the County Cork butter is still made with the subsequent addition of salt. The practice has long passed into oblivion and even the tradition is forgotten by the descendants of the race who must in former times have employed it as an ordinary and familiar proceeding.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Russia's Home for Foundlings.

The czar and general government of Russia shelter and provides well for least one portion of its subjects, and the Russian army will never lack recruits so long as the present system of foundling houses is kept up, as each day many bring additions to this great army, who pass musters in these institutions, where they are tended with the most perfect care, not infrequently by the very mothers of the orphans themselves. These mothers, having no way of providing for their unfortunate children, bring them to the home, secure the number placed around the neck of the child and then apply for the nurse's position, thus securing the care of their own babies, while many bring them here and never see or hear of them again.

The government of Russia greatly encourages these institutions by providing for them in a most substantial and comfortable manner. We visited the home in Moscow, where we saw 1,000 of these little soldiers, none of them ten days old, two in each cell or in the nurse's arms, all out in the sunshine, and struggling for a life that had been so ruthlessly thrust upon them.
They are brought into the institution at the rate of sixty per day. That number was in waiting in the ante-room to have their names and numbers entered in the book of fate for a home within its walls.—Denver

The Two Blarney Stones.

Five miles west of the city of Cork, where two streams meet, is the little valley of Blarney, with its castle, whose fame is world wide, for high on the northeastern side is set the famous "Blarney stone." It is said that he who is adventurous enough to reach it and has faith enough in it to kiss it will henceforth have a gift of marvelous efficacy. Honeysuckle words will flow from his lips and persuasive powers hang on his utterances. He will win his way everywhere and with everybody, and when marking, and much more, woman-kind, are taken captive by the witchery of his tongue people will say, "He has kissed the Blarney stone."

There are two stones, however, each of which are claimed to be the real talisman,
the other being on the summit of the castle.
The stone last named is about two feet square and bears date of 1793. The one mentioned in the opening as being set in the wall on the northeastern side of the castle bears date of the building of the structure, which is 1440. To kiss this the visitor must be let down from the top of the building some twenty feet by means of ropes. This is the effect of making most every one believe, or pretend to believe that the stone on the roof of the castle is the true "Blarney stone."—American Notes and Queries.

Equals.

Every incident should be welcomed which, in a country where "honour" must be satisfied by questionable means, tends to make the practice of duelling absurd. Many a sensible man has escaped the lifelong remorse attendant on "bringing down his man" by the simple method of throwing cold water on the person's injured sensibilities in the beginning.

One day a distinguished notary, while breakfasting with a friend at a cafe in Paris, indulged in some stinging comments on the public acts of Marshal Marmont.
Suddenly another gentleman, dining at a neighboring table, arose and approached them, his mustache bristling with anger.
"Sir," cried he, tragically, "you shall give me satisfaction."

"Are you Marshal Marmont?" quietly asked the notary.

"I have not that honor," was the reply.

"Give me your card, then, sir," said the notary. "I will send you my head clerk."

—Youth's Companion.

It Was Loaded.

A sad case was that of a friend of mine who went to a gunsmith's to buy a revolu-ver previous to going abroad. The man behind the counter handed him a number of new revolvers to choose from, and my friend kept on trying the pulls, when one of them went off, killing the salesman instantaneously. At the inquest it appeared that the revolver was one of a number that had been sent on approval to a gentleman, and before sending them back he had evidently overlooked a cartridge in one of the chambers, with this dire result.—London Tit-Bits.

Doctors and Lawyers' Mistakes.

While cross examining Dr. Warren, a New York counsel declared that doctors ought to be able to give an opinion of a disease without making mistakes. "They make fewer mistakes than the lawyers," responded the physician. "That is not so,"
said the counsel, "but doctor's mistakes are buried six feet underground, a lawyer's are not." "No," replied Warren, "but sometimes lying as many feet above the ground."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Spinsters.

Among our industrial and fringed forefathers it was a maxim that a young woman should never be married until she had spun herself a set of body, table and bed linen. From this custom all unmarried women were termed spinsters, an appellation they still retain in all our law proceedings.—London Tit-Bits.

Consecrated a Bishop.

Returned Traveler—How do you do, my little dear? Is your father still the rector of this church?
Little Girl—Oh, no, sir—not now. He's been consecrated a bishop.—Good News.

IN THE IRON BRIGADE.

THE HEROIC DEEDS OF THE TWENTY-FOURTH MICHIGAN.

It Was Recalled in Ten Days, and After Being Seized by Veteran Commanders, Made a Record Second to No Other in the Army.

AME is inexorable. Yes, she never ceases to take up one loss in her pitiless neglect of the rights of the outside when honors are passed around. Inevitably her extraneous awards to the lucky dogs who chance to be on the inside. For instance, her richest laurels are for the men who held the "Bloody Angle" at Gettysburg, July 2, 1863. They repelled Pickett's charge. They held Cemetery Ridge. They fought with Hancock. They lost back rebellion's tide at "High Water Mark."

Very good. Hurrah for them! But how came they to be on Cemetery Ridge that lucky day and hour? Lee wanted that stretch of plateau as a vantage ground to buffet Meade. A. P. Hill's corps dashed for it. The Confederates of Heth, Pettigrew and Pender struggled and died to seize it on July 1.

Why didn't they take it? Ask Reynolds. He is dead, but his deeds talk. Ask Doubleday. He is dead, but his record. Ask Gray-haired Robinson. He is dead, but his record.

Yes, ask the Twenty-fourth Michigan men, who should know a little about it. That regiment lost more men killed at Gettysburg than any other of the 400 Union regiments engaged there.

It lost more killed mortally wounded than any other Union regiment. More killed and wounded altogether, and more killed, wounded and captured than any other.

The captured didn't figure very heavy, by the way. The Confederate general, Ewell, tried to take all of them and walked, at one stage, and commencing on his experience to the color command, Henry A. Morrow, after the latter had been wounded and made prisoner, he said that the Twenty-fourth Michigan was foolish in not surrendering before it was so badly cut up.

"Gen. Ewell, the Twenty-fourth Michigan, came here to fight, not to surrender," was the reply.

The sound men who surrendered numbered 57; the sound men that stuck to the flag and carried it out for another day, 90. The killed and mortally wounded were 90 and the wounded in addition, 238. Gen. Ewell thought such fighting was foolhardy. That was because his men faced it. The opposing generals had different views.

Wadsworth, who commanded the division to which the Twenty-fourth belonged, said to its leader: "Col. Morrow, the only fault I find with you is that you fought too long. But God only knows what would have become of the Army of the Potomac if you had not held your ground as long as you did."

It will be idle, of course, to look any further than Gettysburg to get a good account of the Twenty-fourth Michigan in the war, but back of every grand deed lies a cause, and back of Oak Ridge, Gettysburg, lie some important factors in the making of the history of that day.

The regiment was raised with a hurrah in ten days, in Detroit and Wayne county, and an incident that led to its formation gives a clue to its makeup. When Lincoln called for 300,000 men in the summer of 1862 there was riot and talk of resistance in Detroit. To rouse loyalty it was proposed to raise a regiment on the spot, and after some delay Governor Blair, yielding to his wife's solicitation, gave authority for a new regiment where there were several others in the state still short of men.

The ranks were filled speedily by the best blood in the county, 343 of the men being Michigan born, 337 Americans born in other states and 330 foreign born. Its colonel was a Virginian by birth and had fought in Mexico. He was a judge in the recorder's court. The lieutenant colonel was a sheriff, a man standing 6 feet 4 inches in his boots.

The regiment went direct to the Army of the Potomac, reached there after Antietam and had its baptism of blood at First Fredericksburg. Previous to that fight the regiments brigaded with it shunned its camps. They were the old, war worn, battle battered, victory winning Iron Brigade of the First Army corps. The Twenty-fourth men were fresh faced, clean and polished, and their trousers were sky blue and innocent of Virginia mud. The trouple of the Twenty-fourth Michigan joined the army. The boys were rehearsing admirably for Gettysburg.

The Iron Brigade answered Reynolds' call for infantry at Gettysburg and went in at double quick, fixing bayonets and loading their muskets on the run. Over Seminary Ridge they dashed, into the woods, past Reynolds as he stood on a knoll pointing out the way. His words of command died on his lips. A Confederate brigade—Archer's Tennesseeans—was coming at full speed across Willoughby run to seize the woods. The Iron Brigade swung into a new enemy. Sgt. Abel G. Peck, who took the regiment's presentation banner out of Detroit, promising to bring it home or fall with it, was the first man killed in the regiment, and now to save blotting this record with figures the reader may count up the color guard heroes of that day. Big six foot Col. Larnigan lost a leg, and the adjutant was wounded in this affair.

The first line of battle of the brigade after it changed from was attacked right and left and Col. Morrow told his men to hold their fire. They did so, but the enemy didn't and down went another color bearer, Belmore, who received the flag from Peck, killed; acting major, Capt. Speed, killed, and other officers and many other men wounded. The Confederate Twenty-sixth North Carolina, the only regiment to dispute the honor of the Twenty-fourth Michigan on that field, cut into its line and it retired to form a new one. Then occurred the well known incident of the Confederates crying out in surprise at the way the Union boys fought: "Here are those black fellows again! This is no militia."

The Twenty-fourth had worn the polish from its shoes, belts and uniforms, and was quite as grimy though not so ragged as the rest of the Iron Brigade and the Army of the Potomac.

A second line of battle was formed and the Twenty-fourth stood on it until the windrow of fallen marked its position. Overwhelmed it retired to a third line of battle. Here Private August Earnest, who picked up the colors when Belmore fell, was killed. Col. Morrow handed the flag to Color Corp. Andrew Wagner, the last of the color guard, the others having been shot down. Wagner planted the staff several times under the color's directions to rally the men, until he, too, was shot. Col. Morrow then took the staff into his own hands, for there were none left of his chosen color guard to bear it. When Morrow formed this guard he called for volunteers who were "Ironclad," so that the bullets would roll off like hail from a roof. Alas, the bullets struck in McPherson's woods on July 1 were not of that kind.

A fourth line of battle found less than half of the Twenty-fourth coming to rally. Its major had lost an eye on the last line and three lieutenants had been killed, and the complement of officers was fast thinning out. Col. Morrow planted the flag with his own hands, when Private William Kelley reached for them with the thrilling protest: "The colonel of the Twenty-fourth Michigan shall not carry the colors while I am alive."

Brave Kelley fell dead before he could redeem his word and the flag passed into the hands of another private. During all of this bloody work around the colors soldiers were constantly volunteering to act as color guard in place of the guards shot down, and next in glory went in danger to that color bearer. In that capacity Corp. William Ziegler was killed, Sgt. W. J. Nagle, Corp. Thomas Suggett and Private Thomas Ballou were mortally wounded between the opening of the fight and the fifth line of battle, which was formed at a rail fence on Seminary Ridge near the seminary.

About this time old John Burns, the veteran hero of Gettysburg, gravitating among the men of the Iron Brigade toward the hottest fighting and the best company, fell in with the Twenty-fourth and fought with it until he had three bullets in his person.

Before the sixth line of battle could be formed Col. Morrow, still carrying the colors, was hit in the head. He turned the command over to Capt. A. M. Edwards, and soon fell into the enemy's hands. The flag was found by Capt. Edwards in the hands of a mere boy—unknown—who lay dead or dying and hanging the staff in his bosom. Edwards avenged the banner and rallied the remnants, and led the way slowly back to Cemetery Hill, where the cook had time to form the line that was to save Gettysburg.

Capt. Edwards found 19 to answer roll call out of 99 that entered the fight that morning. The killed and mortally wounded were 90; the total killed and wounded, 316; prisoners taken, 57; prisoners paroled, including some wounded, 38; all killed, 8; wounded, 14; captured, 3; remaining, 3.

The color bearers killed were Peck, Belmore, Ziegler, Earnest, Kelley and unknown color guards mortally wounded, Nagle, Suggett and Ballou.

The Twenty-fourth was not permanently laid up for repairs and pensions after Gettysburg. It charged with gallant worth in the Wilderness, where the fall, it sound its charges no more. It fought with Warren at Spotsylvania and lost 5,000 rounds in the "Bloody Angle." It marched 220 miles in front of Petersburg in June and took part in the assault there.

The dead of the regiment on the field and in prison numbered, all told, 221; the killed and wounded, 280. To analyze its battle record further would be superfluous, for this is not a catalogue of horrors but a knuckle bit of history.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

At the next crossing of the Rappahannock to attack Fredericksburg, April 20,

1863, the Twenty-fourth and one of the old crack regiments of the brigade were selected to dislodge the enemy from his rifle pits on the south bank of the river by polling across in pontoon boats and storming the works hand to hand. The deed was done with a rush and with such inspiring gallantry that impulsive old Wadsworth swam his horse across and riding him up the bank all dripping, swung his legs and cried out, "God bless the gallant Twenty-fourth Michigan."

This was the Chancellorville campaign, the second after the Twenty-fourth joined the army. The boys were rehearsing admirably for Gettysburg.

The Iron Brigade answered Reynolds' call for infantry at Gettysburg and went in at double quick, fixing bayonets and loading their muskets on the run. Over Seminary Ridge they dashed, into the woods, past Reynolds as he stood on a knoll pointing out the way. His words of command died on his lips. A Confederate brigade—Archer's Tennesseeans—was coming at full speed across Willoughby run to seize the woods. The Iron Brigade swung into a new enemy. Sgt. Abel G. Peck, who took the regiment's presentation banner out of Detroit, promising to bring it home or fall with it, was the first man killed in the regiment, and now to save blotting this record with figures the reader may count up the color guard heroes of that day. Big six foot Col. Larnigan lost a leg, and the adjutant was wounded in this affair.

We should be very careful what we eat in the way of green vegetables to avoid cholera, m-ris, flux and dysentery, and parents should be particularly careful with the little ones. If you have any of these complaints it is not necessary to send for a doctor, when a 25 or 50 cent bottle of Lightning Hot Drops will cure you. Children like it. Mr. S. H. Wilson, Stumptown, W. Va., says: "Lightning Hot Drops is the best medicine for diarrhoea, summer complaint, cramps and colic. It isn't to be beaten. With relieve in two minutes. For children it has no equal. For flux it is king." It is sold by everybody.

Nine times out of ten when children are peevish and fretful they have worms. The next time your child is that way try a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and see if it does not help it. Mr. J. B. Knight, Knight, W. Va., says: "One of my customers bought a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and gave his little girl two doses, and she passed 138 worms as the result. I cannot sell any other worm medicine since."

If you can't sleep, have indigestion and a bad cold, your kidneys and liver are out of order. Mr. C. B. Clinton, Liberty, W. Va., says: "About a year ago I had a severe cold in my back, which prevented me from working. I finally got my appetite and had trouble in urinating. I lost 11 pounds in trying Lightning Kidney and Liver Remedy. I used same according to directions, and now, after using only one bottle, I am enjoying good health, and am doing my day's work, and have an excellent appetite."

It is necessary to keep the system pure and clean as it is to weed the flowers. You can't feel well if the blood is not right. Mr. E. O. Richey, Hyattsville, Ky., says: "My son contracted a severe case of blood poisoning last summer. His body was covered with rising all over. It was very near past going, and I lost all hope of him recovering. I purchased a bottle of Lightning Blood Elixir and gave him same according to directions, and after using only one and a half bottles he got entirely well, and is now enjoying splendid health. It certainly does all it is claimed to do. Druggists sell it."

We were misinformed last week when we stated that Mr. G. V. Dixon had purchased the Corinth store. Mr. Anderson, of the Oakland Coal and Coke Co., purchased it, and as soon as possible it will be merged into a co-operative store.

A birth day party, in honor of Miss Annie Schlossnagle's sixth anniversary, was given to about thirty of her little friends Wednesday afternoon. A bounteous repast, consisting of fruits, ice cream, cake, etc., was served and to which all did ample justice.

A despatch says that a silver-smith in Monterey, Mexico, is engaged on a work in silver, which, when completed, will be an exact reproduction of the Agricultural Building now being built on the Exposition grounds, Chicago. It will be eight feet wide, will contain a quantity of silver valued as bullion at $10,000, and when finished will be valued at $20,000.

A bill has been introduced in Congress with the aim of doing away with cigarette smoking. It is proposed to make the revenue so high on this article that but few can afford to use them. This habit is one of the very worst in the country, many thousand young men dying each year from its effect, or worse yet destroying the mind and leaving them helplessly insane.

In the beginning the world was without form and void, and darkness walked upon the face of the great deep. After the creation of animate nature there was some refuse mud left, too poor to work up into snakes and turtles. Out of this refuse material was made the dry goods box loafer and politician, the fellow that lets his wife do the work while he expectorates tobacco juice and wisdom, whittles up dry goods boxes and reputations and ensues the government and the pension department.

Mr. Thos. Carr, supervisor of tract on the P. M. & P. R. R., was stricken with apoplexy about ten days ago, and is now in a very dangerous condition. United States Commissioner Henderson, of Cumberland, was here from Monday until Wednesday taking testimony in the suit between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the town of Oakland, involving the town's right to limit the speed of railroad trains within the town limits to six miles an hour. The ordinance is resisted by the company on the ground that it is in conflict with the clause of the federal constitution relating to commerce between the States. The town claims the right as an exercise of police power on the ground that trains are run at a dangerous rate of speed, making them a nuisance to the community. Quite a large number of witnesses were examined.

HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Movements of Prominent Persons Known to the Readers of THE REPUBLICAN.

Miss Martha Hinebaugh, daughter of the Steiding school, spent Sunday at her home in Oakland.

Mrs. E. M. Spedden was en route to Piedmont since our last issue visiting her father, E. C. Spedden, Esq., whose condition remains unchanged.

Wm. Sharpless, Esq., of Washington, was in Oakland a few days on business Tuesday.

Jacob S. Meyers spent Sunday at Swanton visiting friends.

L. E. Townsend went to Garden, W. Va. Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Daniel Chisholm, who has been in Cumberland since last fall, returned to Oakland Tuesday and will remain here.

Miss Susie Ryan, of near town, visited Miss Ettie Dewitt, teacher of Paradise school, one day last week. Miss Susie is a young lady of many good qualities, and, no doubt, when her musical education is finished, she will make her mark.—Deer Park Correspondent.

Daniel O'Brien, of District No. 1, was here Wednesday on business.

P. M. Stemple, the merchant, of Floyd, was in Oakland a few hours Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sinclair were in Annapolis and Philadelphia since our last issue. They returned to Oakland Tuesday evening.

H. H. Mansbach, Esq., of Cumberland, was here Tuesday on business. This was Mr.'s first trip in three months, he having been confined to his bed since before the holidays with the grip and pneumonia.

Mrs. D. E. Offutt and daughter, Nellie, are visiting relatives and friends in Baltimore.

Miss Annie Spedden was visiting at Terra Alta since our last issue.

S. Rodchever, of near Deer Park, was in town Tuesday and paid THE REPUBLICAN an agreeable visit.

Daniel Chisholm, Esq., spent Sunday in Cumberland among friends and relatives.

Mrs. M. L. Howe will return to her home at Mt. Lak Park the latter part of this week. Sorry she is not a permanent resident of Morgantown.—Dominion.

School Commissioner Samuel C. Howe, of Deer Park, was in Oakland Wednesday.

Rev. Thos. J. Stanton, of Cumberland, son of Mr. Lawrence Stanton, of this place, was home on a visit Tuesday.

W. D. Nydegger, of Washington, was in Oakland on business this week.

We had pleasant calls, Saturday, from Jonas E. Gnagay, Esq., and Dr. Clarence Getty, both of Grantsville.

Mrs. A. G. Ross, who had been on a visit to her parents at Johnstown, returned to Oakland Thursday last week.

Mrs. E. Droegge, of Deer Park, was a visitor in Oakland Tuesday.

Miss Ida Head, of Deer Park, was visiting Mrs. E. M. Spedden Wednesday.

Chester C. Crane, of Terra Alta, was in Oakland Wednesday, as was also Pat Garrett, of Deer Park.

Miss Cora Jones, of Terra Alta, was visiting her brother, Cashier S. T. Jones, a few days this week.

No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of la grippe if properly treated. It is much the same as a severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed for a severe cold and a prompt and complete recovery is sure to follow. This remedy also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it during the epidemics of the past two years we have yet to learn of a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayer, druggist.

Garthright, at Mt. Lake Park, Md., has just received the largest, prettiest and cheapest stock of dry goods and notions ever brought to this county and will be sold at very low prices. All winter stock consisting of boots, overcoats, men's and boys' suits, flannels, blankets and gum goods are to be sold at cost. Nine (9) months credit will be given on all bills of ten ($10) dollars and over with 6 per cent. interest from date.

The Spring Tooth Harrow, known as the farmer's friend, is offered at a reduced price. The Oliver Chilled Plow, decidedly the lightest running and most durable plow made, will be sold at a reduction of $1.50 from old price. All parties owing interest and close up old accounts. Come at once and save cost. I must have money to do business with and my books must be closed up. Best family flour $5.65 cash. 51-31.

Orchilla Guano.

J. M. Davis & Son have just received a car load of this valuable fertilizer. Orchilla needs no recommendation in this county. The tests made by good farmers during the past six years have demonstrated the value of these goods. They are sold at less price than mixed fertilizers and give better results. This is not only shown by the testimony of those who used the guano but by the increased demand. The lasting qualities of these goods cannot be surpassed by any in the market. The second crop is often better than the first. For spring crops Orchilla should be applied early. 51-31.

Married.

DENT—JAMISON.—A very quiet wedding occurred on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Rev. Romanus Mattingly on Fourth street. The contracting parties were Mr. Harry Dent and Miss Elizabeth Jamison, daughter of Sheriff Edmund Jamison. Only a few of the intimate friends were present. After the ceremony the bride party drove over to Gorman where they will spend a week among friends.

Died.

FRIEND.—Nora Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Friend, died Feb. 18th, 1892, after a brief illness in the 11th year of her age. Her parents have lost an affectionate, obedient and promising child; her teacher (the writer) a bright, studious and interesting pupil and her schoolmates a peaceable and loving companion. Her amiable disposition has won her many friends—to know her was to love her. She was patient and prayerful during her suffering. Her remains were interred in the Sang Run cemetery. Undoubtedly her death leaves a vacancy which can never be filled to the parents. But let this be a consolation: that she rests safe in the arms of Jesus and that their loss was her gain. The bereaved have the sympathy of the community.

We cannot tell who next may fall beneath this chilling rod: One must be first, so let us all Prepare to meet our God. D. A. S.

SMITH.—Mrs. Susan Virginia Smith, wife of Mr. George William Smith, who is one of the largest farmers of Frederick county, died at her home in Frederick on Saturday, aged about 61 years. Death resulted from pneumonia. Mrs. Smith was a daughter of the late Edward Howard, of Frederick, and leaves a husband and nine children, among them Mrs. Wood P. Johnson, of Norfolk, Va. Mrs. Smith left four sisters surviving her, Mrs. Kessler and Mrs. James W. Penre, of Howard county. Mrs. Cookson, of Washington city, and Mrs. Col. J. W. Veitch, of this place.

SMARK.—George Stark died at his home near Bittering Wednesday, Feb. 17th, and was buried Friday, Feb. 19th. He was aged 79 years, 11 months and 11 days. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Royer, pastor of the Lutheran church.

Deceased was born in England, but emigrated to this country when very young. He was one among the oldest settlers of his community and was respected and beloved by all that knew him. During his stay upon earth his greatest endeavor was to consecrate his life to the service of his blessed master, and in death all was serenity and peace. Mr. Stark leaves a wife who will cherish the memory of a kind and generous husband, and children who will ever mourn the loss of a dear and loving father.

MAPLE SUGAR.

Who is Entitled to the Bounty—When and How Application is Made Therefor.

Any licensed sugar producer having sugar or syrup on hand from the previous year must, previous to commencing business under his new license, report the same to the deputy collector, acting as weigher, for the district in which he is located, stating the number of packages and the weight or quantity of each.

The sugar produced upon which bounty is so claimed must be put in packages containing not less than ten pounds each. Each producer should have the packages as nearly uniform as practicable, in order that the net weight of the sugar may readily be ascertained.

The packages put up by each producer must be numbered serially, commencing with No. 1.

The package must be marked with the producer's name and the serial number of the package.

The weight of the empty package to be deducted as tare should be plainly marked upon each package before it is filled.

Covers of packages must be unfastened so as to be easily removable by the weigher.

PRODUCER'S RECORD.

Every licensed producer of sugar from maple sap is required to keep a record of operation, in duplicate, showing the number of trees tapped, the quantity of sugar produced and the quantity of syrup produced and not made into sugar. Blank forms can be obtained from the collector of internal revenue.

All the data required under the various headings of this record must be entered daily during the season, beginning with the first day on which maple trees are tapped.

If the form furnished by the collector is for any reason insufficient to contain all the data required, the same may be kept on blank leaves properly ruled and attached to the record and made to constitute a part thereof.

For the purpose of this record a day will be considered as beginning at 4 o'clock a. m. of the date specified; for example, the entries for any given date should include all operations between the hours of 4 a. m. of the day for which the entry is made and 4 a. m. the following day.

When the record is completed at the close of the season, and the columns footed, it should be verified by affidavit, and both copies forwarded, with the claim of the bounty, to the collector of internal revenue of the district. The copy of the record will be retained by the collector and the other forwarded with the claim for bounty to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Care should be taken to keep the record properly and in the manner prescribed in order to facilitate consideration and action upon the claim for bounty.

If the producer keeps, for his own convenience, books containing a more extended record of the operations of the factory, shall be open for inspection by the internal revenue officers as well as the official record.

APPLICATION FOR WEIGHING AND INSPECTING MAPLE SUGAR.

When the sugar producer is ready to have his sugar weighed and inspected, he will make application to the collector or the proper deputy collector on the following form:

Collector Internal Revenue,

Sir: I hereby notify you that I have manufactured at my factory at— the following described packages of maple sugar upon which bounty is to be claimed, and I request that the same may be weighed and inspected at— (Here follows a description of the packages).

The work of weighing sugar will be performed by deputy collectors under instructions from the collector either upon the producer's premises or at designated places for weighing.

Upon sugar testing 80 to 90 degrees by the polariscope, the bounty will be 12 cents per pound, and upon sugar testing 90 degrees and above, 2 cents per pound.

There is no bounty on syrup which is not made testing less than 80 degrees by the polariscope—that is, containing not less than 80 per cent. of sucrose of pure sugar.

No bounty is payable upon maple sugar which is adulterated by addition of cane or other sugars.

No bounty payable on sugar made prior to July 1, 1891, or upon sugar made after July 1, 1891, from syrup made before that date.

To entitle the maple sugar producer to the bounty the product must be made entirely from sap produced within the United States since July 1, 1891; with no mixture or addition of other materials.

Any person not entitled to the bounty who shall apply for or receive the same becomes guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both.

Claims for bounty will be made on the sugar producer's record, Form No. 321, at the close of the season and presented to the collector of internal revenue.

Off For Chicago.

An enthusiastic crowd of national legislators and newspaper men passed through Oakland Friday afternoon and evening for Chicago—guests of the World's Fair city. The excursion had for its object dissemination among Congressmen of facts as to the big Exposition. In order that none of the facts may escape observation the invitations were made to include the wives and daughters of Senators, Representatives and correspondents. There will be no time wasted in Chicago. The special train, which was of four sections, left the B. & O. depot at Washington at 2:30.

On Monday the World's Fair grounds were subjected to special inspection, and on Monday evening there a banquet of the first description. As soon as possible after the banquet the special train started for Washington over the Pennsylvania tracks.

Epworth League.

We have been furnished the program of the Epworth League, which will appear regularly hereafter. The program for the meeting Monday night is as follows:

Scripture lesson—Eph., 2d Chap. Hymn from Epworth Hymnal. Hymn No. 165, "What a friend we have in Jesus."

The Cumberland Postoffice.

Postmaster J. W. Shuck has been suspended from duty on the charge of misapplying funds of the Money Order Division of the U. S. Post Office Department. Ex-County Commissioner John Schiller, has been appointed postmaster, temporarily, and will conduct the affairs of the office until the charge against Mr. Shuck is settled.

Rumors of irregularities in the post office have been prevalent for several days, but the matter was not settled until Friday last when Postmaster Shuck appeared before U. S. Commissioner Henderson on the charge of embezzling the sum of $400 from the money order funds which were in his charge. District Attorney John T. Ensor, of Baltimore, was present to take up the case for the government. Mr. Shuck waived an examination and was released in the sum of $2,000 bail for his appearance at the next term of the U. S. District Court in Baltimore. Messrs. George L. Wellington and Wm. R. Percy are Mr. Shuck's sureties.

England is a great shoe making country. Massachusetts is a great shoe making State. In England, under free trade, skilled employees in boot and shoe manufacturing establishments get $6.50 per week. In Massachusetts, under protection, the same class of workers get $15 per week.

The appropriation asked for by the World's Fair bill recently introduced in the Legislature, has been cut by the Senate Finance Committee from $100,000 to $50,000. A contingent fund of $10,000 is added to be under control of the Governor.

There was a high time in the Democratic Congress Friday when the Democratic majority tried to prevent Mr. Hartley, a Democratic member, from speaking his mind. He fiercely denounced fraudulent or free silver coinage. This was bad enough, but, to add to the embarrassment of the Democratic majority, he also declared himself openly for free trade, regardless of the demands of American workmen for protection against the products of Europe's pauper labor. Mr. Hartley was bound to speak his piece, and spoke it. It may not feel better, but it made the Democracy feel worse.

The history of a state, if a creditable one, is a treasury of inspiration for creditable achievements in the present and future. Maryland's past is one of which she ought to be proud, but unfortunately it has been allowed to remain in obscurity. Our national historians have been chiefly northern men. Every little circumstance connected with their own States has been dwelt upon by them at length. Trivial incidents have been magnified into memorable episodes, and have come to be regarded by all the world as the representative deeds of the American people. Persons reading their histories would form a wholly inadequate idea of the part which Maryland and other Southern States, with the sole exception of Virginia, have played in the great national drama. It behooves the General Assembly, therefore, to heed the memorial of Prof. Herbert B. Adams asking for an appropriation of $5,000 to the historical department of the Johns Hopkins University to aid it in the publication of a complete history of the Maryland Line in the Revolutionary Army.—Ex.

Under the above caption an article which we reprint below and which should meet with the unqualified approval of every patriotic American citizen.

The celebration of patriotism in this Republic should never be suffered to relapse into "innocuous desuetude," and the prevalent demand for a more liberal display of the American flag should meet with cordial response.
Patriotic enthusiasm should be early instilled into the hearts and minds of the youth of the American Union, and the national emblem floating over the school houses of the land will furnish an object lesson to them, reminding all of the glorious career and proud record of our country.
This display will be a stimulus to national pride and an incentive to love and venerate republican institutions. For the benefit of the rising generation, wherever practicable, let the flag of the Union float over every school house in the land.
Here in Oakland, the county seat of Garrett, the teachers should be taken and by the deft fingers of our fair ladies let a Star Spangled Banner be fashioned to float over the Public School House and—
"Forever to wave."
Over the land of the free, and the home of the brave."
To this we make a suggestion: First place the bible in the schools and enforce its reading both in school and evening, then hoist the Stars and Stripes, for morality and patriotism go hand in hand.

A Vote Getting Bill.

Apart from the plainly partisan character of the bill, the evidence shows that it is a mere vote getting scheme. The bill, as originally drafted and printed at the office of the evening paper, a copy of which we have, fixed the period of the jurors at $2.00. This reduction was made for the purpose of inducing the support of the tax-payers on the ground of economy, and the usual Democratic clap-trap about their pretended reduction in expenses. When, however, some of the older and shrewder managers of the Democracy in this county, pointed out to the six wet nurses, that this would make the measure unpopular with the labor-organizations, because it was a reduction of wages there was much consternation, and the wet nurses nearly fell over one another in their haste to amend the bill and put the per diem back to $2.50.

In other words the economy of expense was a good thing to prate about to the people, but when it came to the danger of losing the vote of the labor organizations that was another matter.

Nevertheless this little trick with the figures will serve to show the laboring man how much sincerity there really is in the pretenses of their Democratic leaders. All of the six legal wet-nurses stand high in place in the Democratic party machinery, two or three of them have been prominent candidates in recent times for the snuffages of the people, and all of them last fall went about making heart-rending speeches about the oppressions of the down-trodden people, and yet the first measure of any kind they prepare to be enacted into law, strikes a blow at the pitiful wages of even a jurymen, and seeks to reduce his pay here fifty cents below what it is in Washington county, in Frederick county and other counties of the State, and they are only scared out of their pitiful skimping of the poor man's per diem by a dose of political wisdom from the practical bosses.

The bill as originally drawn and printed put the pay of a juror down to $2.00 a day, but as offered in the Senate it is put back to $2.50. In this condition the bill is a vast complication of useless and costly machinery. At present the juror is drawn by the Court without any extra cost to the tax-payers whatsoever. But by the bill three new offices are created at $5 a day for the people of the county to pay; to be filled like the Election law and a Maryland functionary.

The bill further provides that in every case, even a little appeal from the court may be heard by five jurors, or an assize case where the fine may be a dollar, either party can demand and have the tales jurors drawn from the box and summoned from the four ends of the county at an enormous expense and the still more costly matter of the delay to the Court. And again, all these talesmen drawn from Orleans, or Frederick, or Westernport, must be paid their mileage and per diem, whether they serve on the case or not, a proceeding which is always very expensive, tedious and inconvenient, and only resorted to under the present practice, in any of the counties, in very important cases, such as murders, etc.

Very cumbersome and expensive indeed to the tax-payers, but not a bad vote getting plan, since it will enable a large number of people to take a lot of trips to Cumberland from all over the county at the expense of the tax-payers.
But the cost to the county will not stop here. The bill being rankly partisan and a political job on its face, the litigants will of course have no confidence in the impartiality of the jury when drawn and the consequences will be that half of the cases will be removed out of the county for trial, incurring not only immense expense to the litigants but a largely increased expense to the county. This every petty brawl and suit will cost the county fifty times its value at hand, and every important case, half its value abroad.
As a scheme to spend a lot of the people's money in increased ex-

penes and bigger lawyer's fees to purchase a rotten and partisan administration of justice, the bill has many merits. Likewise, as a getter of Democratic votes, its undoubted object, it apparently has much to commend it to the average ward politician. Still, whether after all a boomerang remains to be seen.—Cumb. News.

GORMANIA, W. Va., Feb. 20. To the Editor of the Republican.
Dear Sir:—In the announcement of the death of Mrs. Deakins, of Fort Pendleton, it is stated that her death was from the effects of chloroform administered in extracting a tooth. This is a false statement. I had been attending deceased for three years. She was subject to convulsions, but the extracting of the tooth may have been the exciting cause of the convulsions this time. I have administered chloroform several times with effect. This time the convulsions continued from nine o'clock in the morning until two o'clock in the afternoon, with intermission, and it was during my absence, when visiting a patient half-mile away, when three convulsions came on and when I arrived she died before anything could be done.
Yours truly,

A DEBATE CEMETERY.

The Tomlinson Burying Ground at Little Meadows.

The following is copied from the Cumberland Courier and will be of interest to many of our readers:

"Upon a beautiful elevation looking down on a lovely view of more than 100 acres near the stone house at Little Meadows, Garrett county, stands the Tomlinson family cemetery, with its strong stone wall enclosure, and commanding marble monuments, memorial of a great and good family. Many times in the remote past we have visited this revered spot; more than once to drop youthful tears at the burial of dear friends of self or family, but still more frequently, and alone in after years to contemplate and adore upon the monuments and little mounds, but mately told who were there. It is now full 40 years since the last of the kindred went to rest in the cemetery. LASOING CONDORS.

EXCITING PASTIME OF THE CHIL-IAN PLAINS YEARS AGO.

How the Stock Herders of South America Used to Get Sport Out of Killing the Monstrous Vultures of the Lofy Andes—Gigantic Birds.

"Chasing the condor with the lasso was the leading sport on the Chilian plains when I was in that country years ago," said a New Yorker who went to South America with Harry Meliga, the great railroad contractor. "But I am told that this great bird has become so wary that the sport is now almost unknown. Twenty-five years ago the condor had developed no evidence of cunning that I ever heard of. There was then, as there is now, I believe, a government bounty of five dollars a head paid for the killing of the condor both in Chili and Peru. If the birds are as plenty as they were when I went to that region, wide awake hunters ought to make plenty of money."

"The condor, unlike many other members of the vulture family, doesn't wait for something or somebody to die in order that he may have his dinner, but if he doesn't find a ready-made carcass convenient on the plain when he is hungry, he proceeds at once to provide that carcass himself. At least, that used to be his habit, and I presume he hasn't changed any in that respect, providing the material for carcasses is as plenty now as it was then."

"The herds of cattle that pastured on the undulating plains between the impenetrable wall of the Andes and the Pacific white crested line of surf, offered the condor uninvited facilities in his line in those days, and he seemed to be in a state of chronic hunger, this king of the feathered race level constant tribute on the grazing herds."

"Twenty-five and thirty years ago it was no uncommon thing to see hundreds of these winged freeloaders hovering over the plains, each one a ravenous and determined thief rather than the herds below, to which the shadow of a condor's wings carried as much terror as the appearance of a hawk does to a herd of chickens."

TRAINING NO VULTURES.
"The condor was the greatest enemy the stock raisers in that part of South America had to contend with, and it was his persistent and destructive raids on grazing cattle that made him an outlaw, with a price on his head, to be relentlessly hunted even among the crags and cloud capped peaks where he made his home."

"When a day's old time sport at condor lassoing was to be had the carcass of a steer, a dog or a horse was carried out on the plain. Strong stakes were driven into the ground five or six inches apart, about the carcass, until a roofless inclosure six or seven feet high and twenty feet square, with a gate at one side, was made. Long before the work of making this inclosure could be finished condors were seen floating down from the clouds, far above which they have their haunts. As long as the workmen were busy at the inclosure
the birds would call high overhead."

"The instant the work was clear down the great vulture would drop in and in a few seconds he would be tearing at the dead body in the inclosure. It is no uncommon thing for a mature condor to have a twelve foot spread of wing, and I have known them to measure fifteen feet from tip to tip of wing. Their bodies are heavy and on the ground the bird is clumsy."

"It cannot rise for flight without maneuvering rapidly for a long distance, to give it the necessary momentum, especially if it is gorged with food, which it never fails to be if any food can be obtained. As a consequence, when a condor alighted in one of those inclosures, he was as much of a prisoner as if he were chained down to the ground, and the sportsman kept him there to serve his purpose."

LEaving THE LARIAT.
"When he wanted to ride after a condor the owner of the pen generally with a friend or two similarly equipped, mounted a fleet horse, fastened his lariat to the saddle and rode to the inclosure. An attendant opened the gate of the pen, and let out a condor for each rider. When the condors found themselves at liberty, they at once started at the top of their speed on the long run that would enable them to take wing."

"After they had run probably one-quarter of the distance the hunters put spurs in their horses and dashed after the birds.
As the condors arose from the ground with great wings spread, the lassos were thrown. An expert handler of the lariat would send his rope over the condor's head, and so manage it that it was slipped down until it touched the shoulders of the wings before it would be tightened on the bird."

"The condor was then a prisoner, but able to use his powerful pinions, breathe freely and lead the horseman in wild chase across the plain, turning in all directions in his frantic flight, but unable to rise higher than the length of the lasso. When the rider tired of the sport he would turn his horse about and lead the chase inside, forcing the unwilling bird along until it tumbled spent to the ground and was dragged to death at the horse's heels."

"I never could understand why a condor, captive like that, did not turn on both man and horse and attack them, as he would a steer, but I never knew one to do so. One inevitable lariat would break while the horseman was leading his horse against some desperate sweep of a mighty condor, and then both horse and rider would be tumbled violently to the ground, and the suddenly released bird would shoot up ward like a cannon ball and soon disappear among the clouds. Condors with several feet of somebody's lariat hanging to them were frequently seen among those that swooped down on the herds."—New York

Carbonic Acid Gas in Liquid Form.
At the Guinness brewery in Dublin no attempt is being made to utilize the carbonic acid gas liberated during the process of fermentation. As some 25,000,000 gallons of this gas are produced annually in the breweries of the United Kingdom, a great saving will be effected if the new enterprise proves a success. In a commercial way, the gas is to be condensed into the liquid form, in which form it sells at eight cents per pound. The makers of soda water, mineral waters, wines "with a pop" and other like drinks will rejoice in the prospects of cheap carbonic acid gas in a convenient form.—New York Tele-

Plenty of rain and mud.
Bro. Gidron Ferguson, of Hayes, filled the pulpit in the Selbysport
M. E. church last Sunday.

Nathan R. Selby and Lucretia Collins, both of this district, were married at the parsonage in Friends-ville on Saturday evening, the 20th inst. After the marriage ceremony was performed the bridal party started for Selbysport to attend the protracted meeting now in progress at this place, but before reaching the church the buggy occupied by the bride and groom collided with a large rock by the roadside and completely demolished it, the occupants escaping with a few slight bruises and footed it the rest of the way.

The appointment of Jas. Guard instead of Jasper Guard as Justice of the Peace, caused quite a commotion among the local politicians of the Democratic party. Messrs.
Jasper Guard and Franklin Welch were the aspirants for the appointment; both failed and now there is somebody mad. Take your medicine, boys; it will do you good; remember the typhus is in America.

Messrs. John Matthews and Morgan Arnett, of Markleysburg, were here last week on business.

Mrs. Chas. M. Camp, who has been confined to her room with rheumatism for about three months, is reported worse.

It was rumored last week that Jonas Frazee was dead. On passing his place of business, instead of seeing crepe attached to the door we saw a large placard with the following prices thereon: One Oliver Chilled Plow, No. 40, $9.50; three Oliver plow points, $1; one barrel sulfur, $1.10; $1 worth of Granulated Sugar. Total, $12.60, for a $10 bill:
Watch out, brother merchants, you will hear something "drap."

B. F. Savage, the stock dealer of this place, brought home a fine drove of two-year old steers last Saturday.

It is reported that there will be a new stove mill set up or near Sand Patch mill on Buffalo run by a new firm from Oil City, Pa.

Messrs. Echard & Hoge, of Mc-Henry, arrived in town with a full complement of men declaring themselves ready to do the saw mill act on a large scale.

We noticed the Hon. D. P. May,
the noted mineralogist of Occola, Pa., pass through our town Friday on the train en route to Friends-ville, where he has a large interest in mineral lands.

The church steeple, oh! where is it? And the committee, are they dead, or has the grip taken place of the steeple fever?

Why don't some one say something about the condition of our roads? Surely some one could offer a suggestion that would, if followed, lead to the betterment of our public highways.

Jot A. Turney, of Markleysburg, has moved to Selbysport again.

Calvin Lent, Esq., will move to Selbysport soon.

visiting Augustus Durst and family last week. Also paid the Silver Bell a visit.

formed church, delivered an interesting sermon on Sunday last.

Augustus Durst and C. J. Otto attended the funeral of the late George Stark, of Bittinger last Friday.

Rumor has it—a wedding this week.

Miss Rhoda Robinson, of Salisbury, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Compton.

Tuesday evening Misses Ella
Turney, Amanda Compton, Rhoda Robinson and Ernest Compton spent a very pleasant evening with Mr. Ralph Engle and family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sigler, of Westernport, accompanied by his sister, Miss Anna Sigler, are visiting Mrs. S.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Warnick, also friends in and about New Germany.

We are glad to learn that Miss Tena Warnick is still improving.
She has been moved home from Bittinger.

Messrs. C. C. Durst, H. M. Miller and R. L. Crowe spent Sunday evening at Mr. Ross Compton's.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We should be very careful what we eat in the way of green vegetables to avoid cholera morbus, flux and dysentery, and parents should be particularly careful with the little ones. If you have any of these complaints it is not necessary to send for a doctor, when a 25 or 60 cent bottle of Lightning Kid Drops will cure you.
Children like it. Mr. S. H. Wilson, Stamphdown, W. Va., says: "Lightning Kid Drops is the best medicine for diarrhoea, summer complaint, cramps and colic. It can't be beaten.
Will relieve in two minutes. For children it has no equal. For flux it is king." It is sold by everybody.

Nine times out of ten when children are peevish and fretful they have worms. The next time your child is that way try a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and see if it does not help it. Mr. J. B. Knight, Knight, W. Va., says: "One of my customers bought a bottle of Lightning Worm Killer, and gave his child the old two doses, and she passed 138 worms as the result. I cannot sell any other worm medicine since."

If you can't sleep, have no appetite and a bad dull feeling, your kidneys and liver are out of order. Mr. C. B.
Clinton, Liberty, W. Va., says: "About a year ago I had a severe pain in my back, which prevented me from working. I finally got my supplies and had trouble in obtaining
At last I concluded to try Lightning Kidney and Liver Remedy. Used some according to directions, and now, after using only one bottle, I am enjoying good health, and am doing my day's work, and have an excellent appetite."

It is as necessary to keep the eyes pure and clean as it is to weed the flowers. You can't feel well if the blood is not right. Mr. E. O.
Richey, Hydrus, Ky., says: "My son contracted a severe case of blood poisoning last summer. His body was covered with rising all over. I was very near just giving up, and I lost all hope of him recovering. I purchased a bottle of Lightning Blood Elixir and gave him some according to directions, and after using only one and a half bottles he got entirely well, and is now enjoying splendid health. It certainly does all it is claimed to do. Druggists sell it."

"Get up and dust"—parlor maids.

S. T. Davis roasts daily the finest peanuts that grows.

Hot, hot; red hot, hot; red hot peanuts daily at S. T. Davis'.

Call and see the only steam peanut roaster in the county at S. T. Davis'.

A great amount of freight is being handled by the B. & O. at the present time.

Come in and hear the wonderful Phonograph and all the latest music of the day at S. T. Davis'.

When you feel tired, without special cause, that indicates the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Andrew Nelson has sold his meat store to John Mackin, who will continue the business at the old stand.

Judging by the weather we had the first part of this week the ground hog seems to understand his business.

During the illness of Merchant Geo. O. Miller, J. C. Peddicord has been filling a position in his store.

The tramp has reached the hay-day of his prosperity when he is allowed to sleep in the barn.—Texas Siftings.

Now for your red hot peanuts fresh roasted every day by S. T. Davis' steam peanut and coffee roaster.

Our friend, Lewis H. Karn, Esq., we are sorry to say, was confined to his room several days last week with a severe cold.

Call at S. T. Davis' and try the peanuts that are roasted daily and compare them with the stale, damp peanuts that are sold in town.

Andrew Shartzer is not only selling corn at 55 cents per bushel, but is selling corn and oats chop at $1.25 per hundred pounds. 46-11.

Samuel T. Davis, the hustling Main street merchant, has added another fixture to his store in the way of a steam pea nut roaster.

A marriage license was issued in Cumberland one day this week to John T. Rowan, of Bloomington, and Mary J. Tierney, of Piedmont.

We have received from Cassius C. Smith, Denver, Colo., a handsome book entitled "Utah." For sale by all newsdealers at 25 cents per copy.

B. E. West, Totten's old stand, serves the finest stew of oysters for 20 cents; the nicest fry for 25 cents. Give him a call when you want something good.

Hardware Merchant Charles S. Davis was housed, a few days since our last issue, with a severe cold, which settled on his chest and he was threatened with pneumonia.

After this date, Nov. 18, the office of the Board of School Commissioners will be open only on Saturdays until the close of the public schools. WM. HINEBAUGH, Secretary.

There was quite a crowd of people from all sections of the county in Oakland Tuesday attending the sale of live stock, etc., which was held at West's stables. Some very good bargains were secured by the purchasers.

Mr. John A. Jenkins, residing near Kittanahville, was thrown from his horse recently and sustained some very painful injuries, the most serious being two broken ribs and a cut in his head. He is still in a very precarious condition.

The gay young bicyclist he's in his bed. Not for him is the spring sun shining. He has been flung and is sore in body and head.

But Salvation Oil will make him smiling. "I've got it at last," said the fellow who found his cough subsided by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Judge Hoffman came up to Oakland from Cumberland Monday and caused a jury of inquisition to be summoned to enquire into the sanity of Aunt Caroline Dandridge, who has been demented for several months. After the witnesses had been examined the jury returned a verdict of insanity. On Tuesday morning she was taken to Sylvan Retreat, Cumberland, where she will receive medical attention.

The Oakland Public School will give its annual entertainment in Offutt's Hall on the evening of March 17. The doors will open at 7 o'clock. These entertainments have always been largely patronized and much enjoyed and this one is expected to be the best of all, owing to new features to be introduced. Everything will be entirely new and up to the times. An invitation is extended to every one to be present.

A good chance to obtain a paying situation is offered by Hoops, 110 & Thomas, Nurserymen of West Chester, Pa., who need men to cultivate for the sale of their superior nursery stock. They have the largest nurseries in the state, and grow all the popular new fruits and ornamentals. See advertisement in another column.

Messrs. Gage & Sherman, of Alexandria, Texas, write us regarding a remarkable cure of rheumatism there as follows: "The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the postmaster here, had been bed-ridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured by its use. We refer any one to her verify this statement." 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers.

A curious statistician has computed that if all the locomotives in the United States were coupled together, they would make a train of solid iron and steel over three hundred miles long. Add the passenger cars, and we would have three hundred miles more of wood and iron; this would give us a gigantic passenger train six hundred miles in length, counting both engines and cars. Should we want a huge "mixed" train, we might add the "box," "flat" and every other kind of freight car, and our train would then have a total length of over seven thousand miles! The passenger cars in this gigantic train would be capable of seating 1,500,000 people, and upon the freight cars could be loaded the weight of all the pyramids of Egypt, and all the state capital buildings in the United States besides.

Garthright, at Mt. Lake Park, Md., has just received the largest, prettiest and cheapest stock of dry goods and notions ever brought to this county and will be sold at very low prices. All winter stock consisting of coats, overcoats, men's and boys' suits, flannels, blankets and gum goods are to be sold at cost. Nine (9) months credit will be given on all bills of ten ($10) dollars and over with 6 per cent interest from date.

The Spring Tooth Harrow, known as the farmer's friend, is offered at a reduced price. The Oliver Chilled Plow, decidedly the lightest running and most durable plow made, will be sold at a reduction of $1.50 from old price. All parties owing notes must renew them and pay up interest and close up old accounts. Come at once and save cost. I must have money to do business with and my books must be closed up. Best family flour $5.65 cash. 51-31.

Prosperity to the farmer means similar conditions to all who labor; but prosperity must first come from the farm, and though the farm to the factory. The farm stands at the threshold of production, and if the farmers' labor goes unrewarded success cannot come to those who base their hopes upon what he produces. The vast interest represented in manufacturing, transportation, mining, and the minor industries must look to agriculture as a basis for all calculations for the future. It then follows that the home market is the market worth our safeguarding and the political party that aims to impair its commanding power should be denounced as a common enemy, publicly arrayed against prosperity.

All perishable products must find a market near home to be valuable. It is far easier to bring the factory with its employees to the vicinity of the farm than it is to transport the perishable product to the great centers of trade. The increase of farm property within a radius of ten or twenty miles of a large factory can be used to demonstrate this truth. —E.

Mr. P. J. Bonnehier, of Oakland, was in town yesterday.—Mrs. Rena Robinson, who has been visiting Mrs. A. H. Dowden, of this city, returned to Oakland yesterday.—Cumb. News, Saturday.

"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days for the first attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers.

Oakland's Inventor Secures a Patent The Scientific American of last week has the following mention of an invention by a well-known gentleman of Oakland:

"Pulling or Lifting Machine.—John Cornelius, Oakland, Md. In this machine a base or bed supports a pulling mechanism in which, combined with a main wheel provided with a worm wheel, is a main worm meshing with the wheel and provided with a worm wheel which meshes a drive worm, a worm wheel formed of sections being arranged on opposite sides of a chain wheel, and the invention including various other novel features. The machine is adapted to be easily convertible to either an elevated wrecking machine or a flat pulling machine, and arranged for extraordinary power or a medium power, and a higher or lower speed, and may be advantageously used to remove wrecked cars from a track, in pulling stumps, in quarries, in bridge building, etc.

The Bachelors' Ball. Perhaps the most enjoyable ball ever given in Oakland occurred Monday night at the Glades Hotel. The ball was given by the young gentlemen of Oakland to their friends, and was a very enjoyable affair. The ladies wore some elegant costumes and looked lovely. The music was from Cumberland. The ball room was gaily decorated with red, white and blue bunting, over which evergreens were artistically arranged. At about midnight the guests assembled in the dining room and were served with an elegant lunch.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John M. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Crogan and Miss Nyra Watson, of Kingwood; Miss Nettie Brook, of Piedmont; Mr. and Mrs. Bonnehier, of Cumberland; and from Oakland, we note the following: Messrs. Hyde, Duff, Robinson, Bartlett, Bonnehier, Green, Hamill, Stuehl, Dunlap, Messrs. Spedden, Carro, and Hattie Bartlett, Maudie and Lizzie Weber, Elsie and Florence Fay, Sallie Belle and Nellie Jarboe, Nettie Michaels, Jennie Johnson and Mary Bonnehier. There were also a large number of younger people.

The gentlemen present were: Dr. E. H. Bartlett, Bowie Johnson, D. E. Offutt, Jr., E. H. Bartlett, Jr., A. K. Bonnehier, W. Weber, F. Felty, P. J. Bonnehier, R. Bartlett, Elwood Offutt, H. Sincell, H. J. Mayers, J. Grant, Chas. Tower, W. L. Dunlap, J. B. Fay and G. S. Hamill.

They are the class most interested in the Reform Movement.

The Reform Movement, after commencing the good work done by the bicyclists in starting the road reform agitation, says:

"But this matter of good roads should not be left to bicycle riders, who of course are somewhat interested. It should be a farmer's movement, for they are the class most interested. If they produce crops, they must have roads to get them to market. Many farmers are ignorant and uneducated, and do not know about the various methods of raising money for the improvement of roads, and to them the matter is a mysterious one."

"Only a very small proportion of farmers are or can be located close to shipping points, and nearly all have to haul their crops to greater or less distances in order to reach their markets. The cost of hauling is great as a rule, and principally so because at the seasons of the year when marketable crops are ready for sale the roads are seldom in good condition. A French or English farmer will haul a load of two tons or more with a single span of horses all to twelve miles to the nearest market town and think nothing of it.

"A western New York farmer thinks his team is a remarkably good one if he can haul thirty bushels of potatoes at one load to a market four miles away and get back in half a day. A year ago last fall he did well if he hauled twenty bushels at a load, or less than one-third the load which a French or English farmer would take. Bicycles cannot be ridden over roads when the mud is deep, but there are fifty farmers interested in the roads of the state to one bicycle rider.

"The great difficulty in dealing with this question is how to make better roads at a reasonable cost to all interested. Under our present tax laws the farmers now pay altogether too great a proportion of the taxes. An additional tax large enough to amount to anything in making better roads would fall most heavily upon land owners, and although the benefit would be great to them the extra burden would be beyond present resources. Farmers naturally object under the circumstances to anything of which the entire costs or nearly so will fall on their shoulders. They feel that the merchants, tradesmen and forwarders are as much benefited by good roads as the farmers themselves, because the handling, moving and marketing of the farmers' crops furnishes them the means of subsistence.

"But if the roads are to be improved by the state, as Governor Hill suggested, or by the national government, as is planned by the westerners, who are circulating petitions for a law appropriating $500,000,000 to be divided among the states pro rata with the road mileage in the states, nearly all the money must come out of the farmers' pockets, and hence they object to government roads.

"The question of good roads is not alone a matter of good grades, or proper covering or surface material, or good foundation. These details are essential, but so is skilled supervision. The 'path-master' provision of our present law is a prime cause of poor roads, and until skilled supervision is provided for, there is no use in making a good piece of road. The new path-master the next year would tear it up to make it over according to his notion, not his knowledge, for he has none, or he would let it go because it is now good, and devote his work to some other part of the district, letting the rains and wheels make and inroads into what might be kept a good road with small but timely repairs. The gist of the matter is that both the tax laws and the road laws need great amendment before we may expect to see good roads, even though the wheels men do their level best.

The Lenton Season.

Wednesday ushered in the season of fasting and prayer, apropos of which the Lutheran Observer says: "Christians should always be ready to be in a devotional frame of mind, and yet it is in the order of Providence and of human experience that there are special seasons more appropriate than others for every purpose under the heavens. In accordance with this fact in human experience, the season of Lent was observed in the early Christian church as a time of special devotion, in which Christians should examine themselves, confess their sins, and with penitence and contrition of heart renew their devotion and spiritual strength, and thus become more ready to face and meet the trials of life."

"This season is now at hand, and it will be profitable for all who profess the name of Christ to improve its sacred associations and opportunities by renewing their vows of obedience to Him whom they profess to serve. The most acceptable way to demonstrate their obedience is by deeds of kindness, helpfulness and mercy to others less favored than themselves. The poor, the sick, the sorrowing and the distressed call for their ministrations of succor and relief, and with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

Resolutions of Respect.

At a meeting of Oakland Division, No. 1, Ancient Order Hibernians, held Feb. 28th, the following resolutions of respect were adopted: WHEREAS, He has pleased Almighty God, in His wisdom, to call from earth to His final account, Michael D. O'Donnell, late a member of this Order and Division, be it

Resolved, That in the death of our late brother, his family has sustained the irreparable loss of a kind husband, a loving and provident father and an affectionate brother; this community has lost a peaceable and industrious citizen and this order a faithful member.

Resolved, That we deplore the sad event which plunged a large and helpless household into unavailing tears and deep distress, and we tender to the stricken widow and orphaned children our sincerest sympathies in their great affliction, while we fervently trust that all may realize the consoling significance of the benediction, "Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted."

Resolved, That the meeting room of this Division be draped in mourning, in memory of our deceased brother, for the period of thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the county newspapers; that a copy of same be transmitted to the family of deceased, and that they also be inscribed upon the minutes of proceedings of this Division.

Orchilla Guano.

J. M. Davis & Son have just received a car load of this valuable fertilizer. Orchilla needs no recommendation in this county. The tests made by good farmers during the past six years have demonstrated the value of these goods. They are sold at less price than mixed fertilizers and give better results. This is not only shown by the testimony of those who used the guano but by the increased demand. The lasting qualities of these goods cannot be surpassed by any in the market. The second crop is often better than the first. For spring crops Orchilla should be applied early. 51-31.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate have been recorded in the office of the Clerk in the Circuit Court since our last report:

Cornelius S. Hensley and wife to Christian S. Hensley, 100 acres and 133 perches of land: $5,200.

George W. Lingo and wife to Jeremiah M. White, 75 acres of land: $150.

Joseph R. Anderson and wife to Haran Duckworth, 701 acres of land: $100.

Same to Mary O'Brien, 30 acres and 134 perches of land: $155.

John R. Kerfoot to Elizabeth A. Myers, 150 acres of "Sportsman Field": $450.

John O'Donnell to John T. and Harry C. Sincell, 22 acres of land: $425.

Thomas J. Peddicord to David O. Roth, 78 acres of land: $800.

MARION, THE SWAMP FOX

THE BOLD CAREER OF SOUTH CAROLINA'S GREAT PARTISAN.

WAMP FOX, the nickname of South Carolina's famous Revolutionary soldier, is a story of one man's life. "Little Mac," "Fighting Joe," and "Uncle Billy," originated in an incident and was taken up by the populace as being a good fit. Romance and tradition have extended the fame of those wonderful exploits of Marion in regions of fog and haze which drew from his baffled enemy, Tarleton, the expression, "As for this swamp fox, the devil himself couldn't catch him." And it is the widely credited stories of those exploits that are not true in every detail, or are too highly colored, they are characteristic and deal with a strong and picturesque side of the life of one of the most sublime and daring heroes of the south.

Marion at a certain stage of his career was a "Swamp Fox" and conducted an irregular warfare, but his methods were suited to the region of his campaigns and to the nature of his enemy. In point of fact he passed but an insignificant portion of his service in independent warfare, and was almost constantly acting in the regular ranks of the Revolutionary army.

Before the Revolution Marion distinguished himself as a soldier, and in the Cherokee war victoriously won a battle by leading a force of 20 men to storm the key point of the Indian position. After that he served in the provincial congress, and in the first regiment of Revolutionary volunteers organized in his district was elected captain. In the desperate battles around Charleston and Savannah and in the campaign of the south, from 1775 to 1779, he won promotion step by step until he became colonel and was for a time second in command to Gen. Lincoln, the American leader in the south.

By a fortunate accident in Charleston before the British lines closed around it, he broke one of his legs and went away to his home in the interior, and so escaped capture when the city fell, in May, 1780. Other military disasters soon followed the surrender of Charleston and in a few weeks there was not an armed body of Americans in the field in South Carolina. Meanwhile Marion had recovered from his hurt, and Governor Rutledge placed him in command of a district that was rising to arms against British oppression. The oppression was not imaginary but real; it was not the menace of laws passed away over the sea, but the hand of tyranny felt daily at home. The king's officers, after prevailing upon the inhabitants by peaceful proclamations to lay down their arms as patriots, demanded that they take them up again as British soldiers and fight against their brethren. The people of a large district known as Williamsburgh, learning that Marion was under way to head an uprising, boldly refused to obey the king's summons and secretly organized four companies under the title of "Marion's brigade."

It was this force, afterward increased or depleted according to luck or necessity, that Marion handled with distributing effect on the British, using the swamps of the central river region now as an ambush, now as a lair. With these men, dispersed in crises of grave danger and summoned to arms again at the moment of opportunity, Marion cut off supplies from the foraging armies in South Carolina, broke up the haunts of Tory adherents of the hateful rule, captured scouting parties and dispatched messengers, and in a dozen ways convinced the enemy that conquest of the south included the subjugation of the people. Marion's brigade undoubtedly gave the British ample cause to stagnate it as a band of outlaws, at least ample from a British point of view. The men were not uniformed and were armed with rude weapons, their clothing was ragged and of rags taken from mills lying in the enemy's districts. Marion himself had no regiments until he secured them by the recapture of some supplies at a British post. The warfare he waged was embittered by the activity of the Tory inhabitants, who, backed by the king's forces, were guilty of numerous cruelties toward all patriots and their families. Marion's brother was brutally murdered by Tories who captured him, yet the great partisan was slow to retaliate for Tory excesses. In one of his later campaigns, long after his military fame had been established, and the Tories had lost waste the hopes of patriots who expected the cause of liberty to be maintained to prevent Tory reprisals from the vengeance of their captives, William Lenoir, a member of Light Horse Harry Lee's army, fell into Marion's hands, and Marion, without delay, learned that some of Lee's men were having certain of the captives. Without stopping for formalities he rushed to the scene of execution sword in hand, saved the life of one man who was about to be strung up, and threatened to kill the principals in the affair should they attempt further reprisals of that nature.

The turning point in Marion's career was his retirement to Snow's Island, after several bouts with the enemy that taught them to respect the "Swamp Fox" and be always alert and active while within his reach. Snow's Island was a fortress surrounded by water and swamps, offering shelter and bearing provisions and live stock. Marion destroyed all the bridges, obliterated roads and pathways, removed all boats and craft from the rivers in the vicinity and insulated his camp completely. His position was on the lower Pedee, opposite the chain of British forts on the line of the Santee river that covered Charleston on the north. From this stronghold his hand sallied forth, directed by scouting parties that kept watch upon the movements of the British, and harassed and annoyed the enemy more than an army would have done.

The British at length attempted to break up "Mr. Marion," as he was known in their official dispatches. Col. Tarleton, the leader of the southern Tories, tried to pursue the band after one of their wild incursions within the British lines. He failed, and two parties were sent out from the forts on the Santee line, one led by Col. Watson and the other by Doyle. Watson started in March, 1781, with 500 regulars and Tories and marched from Fort Watson, on the Santee, in the direction of Snow's Island. Marion had exact knowledge of Watson's progress and by a swift march met him in the swamps, between the Santee and Black rivers. A spirited fight took place, and Watson's advance body of Tory cavalry was driven back upon the infantry supports. Marion then retired before Watson, frequently laying in ambushes for the British, and at Black river made ready for a decisive combat.

A bridge on Watson's route was thrown down and a body of riflemen was placed in the low swampy border on the east bank. Watson boldly opened with field pieces from the high ground on the west bank, but Marion's sharpshooters cut down the British artillerymen on sight and a forlorn hope party that tried to storm the passage was driven back with the loss of its leader and all the men who rallied around him. Watson declared that he "had never seen such shooting in his life." Finally he gave it up in despair and sent a letter to Marion imploring him to go back to regular methods of warfare and fight in open field. Marion took no notice of this, but pushed his harrying swamp fighters across the stream up to the very outpost of the British camp, drove them from place to place, and at last got them into a corner where Watson was glad to accept from his opponent permission for the wounded to pass on to the main British lines. Before the British escaped they were compelled to fight for the roadway. Watson's horse was killed under him and he saved his head by a narrow chance. This was at Sump's bridge, on the road to Georgetown, on the lower Pedee. The failure of an ambushing party to do the work out by Marion alone saved Watson from destruction at that time.

"GO, AND BRING ME THEIR ANSWER." But disheartening news reached Marion's ears while on the return from Sump's bridge to his lair at Snow's Island. The swamp band numbered less than 300 men, and after drawing off a force large enough to harry Watson and the scouting parties needed for the bridge, there had been only a handful left to guard the camp. This handful had been overcome by Doyle, who had crossed over from the Wateree to the Pedee country, north of the scene of Marion's and Watson's encounter, and swooped down on the island with a relentless hand. Everything of value to the patriots was destroyed—stock, provisions, ammunition and arms. When the scouts brought this word to Marion's bivouac no time was lost in mourning and the band, led as usual by feet cavalry, started to take vengeance on Doyle. Doyle, however, soon put the deep waters of Lynch's river between his column and the hot pursuers and avoided battle, although forced to take some of the patriots' sharpshooters at long range, and prepared to retreat toward the British lines at Camden, on the Wateree.

This spring campaign of 1781 put Marion upon his mettle not only as a planner and fighter, but as a leader of men. The hot chase after Doyle, the despoiler of his island camp, had led him far to the north, and while thus engaged his vigilant scouts brought word that Watson, whom he had escorted to Georgetown on the jump, had been reinforced and was moving rapidly toward the Pedee to try the issue over again. There was still a third party in the field against Marion, and at that hour the swamp band was the only armed body of patriots in South Carolina. Marion was anxious, if not perplexed. In a private interview with his faithful lieutenant, Major Hurry, he gave voice to his thoughts and desired to know whether, in the event of his being compelled to take to the mountains, the officers and men of his band would share his fortunes and carry on the war. "Go, and bring me their answer!" he exclaimed to Hurry.

The answer was soon returned and was a hearty "Aye, aye," over which, says Hurry's chronicles, the "Swamp Fox" was "glorified" and declared, "I am satisfied, one of these parties shall soon feel his." Tradition says that the band was then drawn up in a circle and sworn with drawn swords to follow Marion, to never yield to the British, and to fight until liberty should be won.

The pursuit of Doyle was again taken up, and Marion crossed Lynch's river to attack him, but found that he had fled to Camden in a panic. Marion then turned to meet Watson, and by rapid marching struck his camp on the Pedee. Watson's forces were routed and Marion's army struck. The patriots had lost two-thirds of their ammunition to a man. In this crisis Marion's somber haughty news that an American army under Gen. Mifflin was on the march from the north, and Light Horse Harry Lee was at hand with his legion to co-operate with Marion. The bivouac of the patriots was astrid in a twinkling, boats were hauled from their secret moorings and Lee's horsemen were ferried across the Pedee to join forces with the swamp band. Watson also heard the news, and imitated Doyle in a hasty retreat, burning his stores and baggage and sinking his cannon in the swamps. Marion and Lee then marched against the British forts on the Santee, captured Forts Watson and Mott and ultimately the fort of Georgetown, breaking the hold of the British upon the river line of defenses and forcing them back toward Charleston. This was the beginning of the end, and Marion's band fought on until South Carolina was reclaimed for liberty.

Last Wednesday Chris Folk purchased Sol Beachy's farm for $7000; $1000 down and the balance in payments—possession to be given next spring. Now, Chris, prepare yourself with sole leather, nails, plows and harrows, as Urias Yoder says it costs lots of money to farm on Keiser's Ridge. He says he was up there once for a few months and although he had his soles full of nails, yet they wore out.

David Byler bought a mare of N. E. Yoder for $100.

Ralph Kagle bought a two-year-old colt of J. W. Winterberg for $100. J. S. Miller on Monday shipped a few barrels of apples to Gungey & Hershberger, Pittsburgh, Pa.

D. D. Hershberger, C. S. Beachy and C. J. Swartzentruber finished loading their cars on Monday and on Wednesday they left for Virginia. L. J. and N. J. Swartzentruber accompanied the party. N. is going to stay all summer, but L. will return again soon. They altogether shipped four cars.

Jonas Keim is successfully operating an incubator of his own make.

Valentine Bender is rapidly recovering from the injuries he recently received in a coal mine.

Some of the farmers in this locality are scolding their sugar keelers and getting ready for sugar-making. Some, however, do not intend to open their camps this spring on account of sugar being so cheap.

Well, what do you think of the sugar bounty by this time? It looks as though a man has to have a clerk to keep account of the sugar business. I guess you had better not put in sand and other stuff as a man might get into trouble according to the papers the farmers are getting now.

Mrs. Hershberger and Mrs. C. J. Swartzentruber are improving in health. They are both at N. E. Yoder's and will stay there until they are well enough to go to Virginia.

Elias S. Beachy left for Arthur, Ill., to-day, with the intention of staying there all next summer and working for his brother, David Beachy.

Louis Maust returned to his mountain home last week. He had been in Iowa for some time. Two young gentlemen came with him from Iowa, one Vann and one Hochstetler.

Mrs. Jacob Kinsinger is on the sick list. She has dropsy. About everybody around here has a bad cold.

The roads are in a very bad condition now—mud all the way.

What is the world coming to? First it was docking horses' tails, and now some Pennsylvania farmers have begun the practice of docking cattle, in other words, sawing off their horns. They claim that the horns are dangerous, that the operation is not cruel, being performed in a few seconds. A number of farmers were arrested for cruelty to animals, but were released on trial and the prosecutors had to pay the costs. Nature went a step too far by putting horns on cattle. They must come off.—Ex.

Mr. Daniel E. Offutt, President of the Garrett County Bank, and one of the largest tax payers in this county, has had prepared and forwarded to Senator Getty a bill providing for the issue of bonds to purchase a lot and erect thereon a new court house. The vaults in the present building are not large enough to protect the records of the county and should it continue to be used they will have to be enlarged at a heavy cost. The old building needs repairs every year and it is argued that the amount that must be annually expended on it will more than pay the interest on the bonds for a new building. The old building can be utilized for public school purposes, and save the rent of buildings for that purpose.

THE LATE COL. TILLSON.

The Loss of One of Garrett's Useful Citizens Deplored by his Associates—An Interesting Sketch of His Life Carefully Prepared for "The Republican's" Readers.

At a regular meeting of the Deer Park Band of Hope, held on Saturday night last, the following resolutions referring to the late Col. Edward C. Tillson, mayor of Deer Park and President of the Band of Hope, were adopted by a rising vote:

WHEREAS, The Great Ruler of the Universe has, in His infinite wisdom, removed from our midst our worthy and esteemed president.

WHEREAS, The intimate relations held by him for the past eight or nine years as the senior member of this organization and honored president, makes it fitting that we record our appreciation of him. Therefore,

Resolved That the wisdom and ability he has exercised in aid of the cause we represent, by counsel, services and means, from early manhood to the time of his death, will be held in grateful remembrance.

That the removal of such a man from our band and from the town where we delighted to honor him, and where he has held the leading position for years, leaves a vacancy and casts a shadow that will be deeply realized by all as a grievous and irreparable loss.

That with sympathy to the afflicted relatives and friends of the deceased we tender our condolence and sympathy and express an earnest hope that even so great a bereavement may be overruled for their highest good, and that they may ever emulate the good example he has left for their guidance.

That a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the minutes and copies furnished to our county papers, the Piedmont Herald, the Cumberland Times and to the bereaved family.

That the members of this society wear the temperance badge (a white ribbon) for thirty days as a token of respect for our lamented president and the cause he has spent his life in advocating.

WM. D. HOYE, REV. J. C. RODEHEAVER, REV. E. J. MEESSE, E. J. LAUGHLIN, M. D., MRS. LAUGHLIN, Committee.

THE SKETCH.

Col. Edward C. Tillson was born in Thomaston, Maine, March 15, 1807. His ancestors came from England. Those on his mother's side being traced to Mayflower Pilgrims by a pewter plate which was handed down through the different direct lineal descendants, each one having her name engraved upon it until it came into his mother's keeping.

Mr. Tillson, after receiving a common English education, learned the ship carpenter trade and engaged in that business until attaining his majority. He then traveled for some years, making a tour of the Southern States and the West Indies. In 1845 he moved to Massachusetts and pursued his trade in Boston and adjacent cities until 1852, when on account of ill health, he gave up his business in New England and accepted a position with a coal company of Maryland, in which State he remained until the time of his death, with the exception of three years spent in Missouri during the civil war.

Mr. Tillson having served as a captain in the Maine militia was in 1832 commissioned Colonel of the Fourth Regiment and took part in the difficulty on the frontier known as the Aroostook war.

In 1829 he was initiated and took the several degrees in the Orient Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at Thomaston, Me. On removing to Massachusetts he was admitted, by letter, to King Solomon's Lodge, of Charlestown, and was at the time of his death a retired member of that lodge.

During his travels in 1830-31 he encountered perils in the Gulf of Mexico and had some exciting fights, and once while sailing as a passenger yellow fever broke out on board the vessel, reducing the crew to one man besides himself. Having some knowledge of navigation they managed to keep the vessel afloat for eighteen days until they reached Mora Castle, Havana, Cuba.

In early life Col. Tillson was trained in the Calvinistic and Congregational doctrines, but in mature reflection he accepted the doctrine of Universalism.

His first vote was cast for John

Quincy Adams and he has voted at every presidential election since that time.

He married Mary P. Sawyer in 1833. They had eight children, three of whom are now living. The eldest son was wounded in the Seven Days battle before Richmond, from the effects of which wound he died.

Col. Tillson has lived in Deer Park since 1866, as chief manager of Davis Bros.' lumber interests. His long continuance in that capacity proves his faithfulness and efficiency. He has been postmaster in Allegany and Garrett counties; also justice of the peace and county surveyor. In 1878 he was president of the board of county commissioners of Garrett county. In 1884, upon the incorporation of the town of Deer Park, he was chosen mayor and was again elected in 1890, holding that office at the time of his death. He was a temperance worker for 65 years and for the last eight years he was the honored president of the Band of Hope, a temperance organization.

By his death Deer Park has lost one of its best and most honored citizens.

Arbor Day.

As required by joint resolution of the General Assembly of 1884 Gov. Brown has designated Wednesday, April 6, as Arbor Day, and by proclamation issued Wednesday of last week recommends that the same be observed by the people of Maryland in planting trees, shrubs and vines, for the promotion of forest growth and the culture and adornment of public and private grounds and ways. The proclamation especially recommends to parents and teachers in public schools that they encourage their children, or those under their influence, to plant or transplant at least one forest or shade tree on the day named by the side of some public road or about their school-houses or homes. While the day is not a legal holiday, the Governor hopes the authorities will cause it to be observed in all the public schools and teach an important lesson to the children of the State.

In Their New Home.

The Knights of Pythias, of Terra Alta, celebrated the completion of their new castle hall Wednesday night of last week in an appropriate manner. More than one hundred knights were in attendance and participated in the exercises. Visitors were present from Keyser, Newburg, Kingwood, Grafton and Oakland. A special feature of the evening was the presentation to the lodge of a handsome carved made from a stick of cherry grown at Mr. Vernon.

After the exercises in the lodge room the knights repaired to the banquet hall where an elegant supper was laid. The lady friends of the knights having excelled themselves in its preparation. The Terra Alta society band furnished excellent music for the occasion.

A Word to Republicans.

The hope of the party lies in the expansion of a strong Republican press. The Republican who reads or otherwise helps to support a Democratic journal to the exclusion of one of his own party newspapers is untrue to the Republican cause. Unanimously subscribed to by the National Republican League.

J. S. CLARKSON, President.

A. B. HUMPHREY, Secretary.

New York, Nov. 19, 1891.

THE SUN (of Baltimore) innocently asks, "Does the Democratic party own itself?" To which we of the country over which the Sun so beneficently shines, respond—No!

The sale was consummated some time ago, to a syndicate composed of Messrs. Hill, Gorman and Brice. Until further notice it will be run as a sole corporation.—Montgomery Press.

LOCAL elections were held in many counties of New York on Tuesday last, the principal officers chosen being Boards of Election Supervisors. The results almost universally gave large Republican gains. In Dutchess county, the seat of the iniquitous theft of a State Senator by Governor Hill and his co-conspirators, the Republicans elected eighteen and the Democrats eight Supervisors. Last year the Board of eighteen Democrats to eight Republicans. Hill was also terribly rebuked in his own home, Elmhurst. The Democrats have held unbroken power in that city for twenty years, but on Tuesday a Republican and Citizens' candidate for Mayor was elected over the candidate of the Hill Democracy by a majority of 1,248. The same combination elected a majority of the members of the Common Council also.

FOUR years ago the two great political parties were engaged in the business of making up an issue on which to go before the people in the then impending contest.

The Democrats made the fight, under the leadership of Cleveland and lumber, on the issue of free wool, free lumber, and a general reduction of duties all along the line, regardless of any effect it might produce on the various industries of the country.

The Republicans declared in favor of a revision of the tariff on protection lines, taking the duty off of what did not compete with American products, and increasing it wherever necessary to build up any industry that might be profitably prosecuted in this country.

With this issue they went before the country.

The result is known. The Republican policy was sustained. For the first time in many years the Executive and both branches of Congress belonged to the same party, and when Congress assembled, they went to work to execute the will of the people who had commissioned them to revise the tariff as promised in the platform.

The McKinley bill, as finally adopted and passed, was the result of many months of careful and painstaking investigation and research.

Representatives from every industry, trade and calling were invited to go before the Committee of Ways and Means and make known the conditions and requirements of their business.

The importers and agents of foreign manufactures were also allowed to represent their side of the question. The McKinley bill is the result of the McKinley bill, as finally adopted and passed, was the result of many months of careful and painstaking investigation and research.

fabrics, it was made higher, to compensate for the difference in the price of wages between this country and Europe. This new tariff has been in operation now seventeen months, and although violently opposed by its enemies, it has withstood the test and has vindicated the most sanguine hopes and expectations of its friends.

The calamity howlers have been silenced and the wisdom of the McKinley bill is completely demonstrated. No article of general use has increased in price, but everything is cheaper to-day than ever before. The labor of our own people has been furnished employment and the money has been kept in the country.

Now, another general election is imminent.

The two great political parties are again about to join issues in a presidential contest.

The Republican party stands on its record.

Unlike the Democrats, the Republicans all believe in the same principles, in the same doctrines and beliefs. The same Republican doctrines are current all over the country wherever the flag floats. Republicans all believe in protection, in reciprocity, in honest money, and in honest elections. They want to interfere with the McKinley tariff, at least until it shall have time to develop its full measure of usefulness. On these questions the Republican party is a unit, but not so with the Democrats.

The Democratic party has to make up its issue, and as it represents all possible phases of public sentiment on all possible questions, it has a most difficult task to perform. The party being made up of the malcontents of all factions and parties, it is impossible to build a platform and to place thereon a candidate that will be acceptable to all.

No two prominent leaders stand for the same thing. Cleveland, who is the idol of the Democratic masses is eclipsed by Hill, is known and acknowledged to be the most daring and the most accomplished political villain of the times.

A majority of the exponents of Democratic belief favor a platform and a candidate pledged to what they are pleased to designate "Tariff Reform," which means Cleveland and Free Trade. But the leaders—the platform builders, the managers of the party, Gorman, Hill, Crisp, Vest, &c.—mean to put up a candidate that will represent nothing in particular, a platform of the regular elastic type, that can be interpreted to suit the different degrees of latitude.

The people will have the opportunity of choosing between a Republican candidate standing on a Republican platform, which says what it means and means what it says, and a Democratic candidate, selected on account of his availability as a straddler, on a platform pledging all things to all men—until after the election.

Obviously the business of this Democratic Congress is to enact laws for the government of the country, but the real business is to make an issue for the coming election.

Two Aged Men Gone to Rest.

Two aged and well tried citizens of Garrett county died lately almost at the same time—both high up in their eighties. They are Jacob Tarlitz and Solomon Sbert.

Garlitz was born a few miles south of Grantsville and resided all the days of his life in what is now Garrett county. A farmer or laborer or farmer throughout life, at least as long as his sturdy limbs held out physical ability held out. He was honest, direct and positive in every way and seldom failed to do the right or proper thing. He always mounted to do this. His deceased wife was a daughter of Gen. John Griffith as he was habitually called. There were a number of children, sons and daughters. Two of the sons, John and George, were soldiers in the great war. John was fearfully wounded in front of Lynchburg. Some months after the battle he came hobbling into the office of the writer on crutches as he has been from the dead, as it were, he has been counted one of that noble Jacob Garlitz was the oldest son of Christian Garlitz, a mighty hunter in this day and brother of H. P. Garlitz, sheriff of Allegany county in 1887. The last time we met this strong man, about ten years ago, he was splitting rails. It was something wonderful to notice Jacob Garlitz, a sturdy timberwolf, and change into feeble material by the powerful blows from his immense mallet upon the iron wedges and he was then an old man. Much more of a creditable material could be said of this hard, honest workman if space would allow.

Sbert, the companion of Garlitz in his hunting and a long life, was his senior by something and his brother-in-law, married to sisters. Sbert was a farmer and laborer; died poor and alone in a small house on a creditable mountain near Bittinger. Like Garlitz he lost his wife many years ago, with only two or three children. He was the oldest son of David Sbert, a soldier of the Revolutionary war, the war of 1812 and some of the Indian wars. He was truly a man of war. He was brought here by Lafayette from France in the early part of that war. He was certainly in it as he was a pensioner for many years. He was a man of great energy and enjoyed it with a "gay unspokeable" and full of glory. He lived for heaven and in assurance of a better life. His record is on high; his life is a story, but his light fingers upon the shores of time. His end, like David, perfect and upright man, was peace.

Two Aged Men Gone to Rest.

Two aged and well tried citizens of Garrett county died lately almost at the same time—both high up in their eighties. They are Jacob Tarlitz and Solomon Sbert.

Garlitz was born a few miles south of Grantsville and resided all the days of his life in what is now Garrett county. A farmer or laborer or farmer throughout life, at least as long as his sturdy limbs held out physical ability held out. He was honest, direct and positive in every way and seldom failed to do the right or proper thing. He always mounted to do this. His deceased wife was a daughter of Gen. John Griffith as he was habitually called. There were a number of children, sons and daughters. Two of the sons, John and George, were soldiers in the great war. John was fearfully wounded in front of Lynchburg. Some months after the battle he came hobbling into the office of the writer on crutches as he has been from the dead, as it were, he has been counted one of that noble Jacob Garlitz was the oldest son of Christian Garlitz, a mighty hunter in this day and brother of H. P. Garlitz, sheriff of Allegany county in 1887. The last time we met this strong man, about ten years ago, he was splitting rails. It was something wonderful to notice Jacob Garlitz, a sturdy timberwolf, and change into feeble material by the powerful blows from his immense mallet upon the iron wedges and he was then an old man. Much more of a creditable material could be said of this hard, honest workman if space would allow.

Sbert, the companion of Garlitz in his hunting and a long life, was his senior by something and his brother-in-law, married to sisters. Sbert was a farmer and laborer; died poor and alone in a small house on a creditable mountain near Bittinger. Like Garlitz he lost his wife many years ago, with only two or three children. He was the oldest son of David Sbert, a soldier of the Revolutionary war, the war of 1812 and some of the Indian wars. He was truly a man of war. He was brought here by Lafayette from France in the early part of that war. He was certainly in it as he was a pensioner for many years. He was a man of great energy and enjoyed it with a "gay unspokeable" and full of glory. He lived for heaven and in assurance of a better life. His record is on high; his life is a story, but his light fingers upon the shores of time. His end, like David, perfect and upright man, was peace.

Grantsville, Md., Feb. 20, 1892.

Accident.
Mrs. Amelia Fitzwater, of Idaho, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Daniel Hinebaugh.

Rev. Royer and wife, who spent a few days with Mrs. Royer's parents in Pennsylvania, have returned home.

Quite a number of the young people of Accident attended a spelling school recently given by the Fair View school. They report a very pleasant and profitable time.

Mr. Will Englehart, who has been attending school here, has returned to his home in West Virginia.

Miss Virgie Hinebaugh, who has been seriously ill for the past few days, is improving.

Mr. Harvey Speicher has gone to New Germany to assist Mr. Yost in making sugar.

Mr. Adam Goring and sons are busily engaged in preparing to build a large barn next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Boyer, Jr., spent Sunday with relatives in this place.

Mr. James Harden has been confined to the house for a few weeks on account of sickness.

Mr. William Bidingher has gone to Grantsville to work during the sugar season.

Selbyport.

Our merchants are doing a first-class business this spring.

Geo. W. Mesphorn and H. C. Haffner, of Philadelphia, were among our merchants last week.

Dr. Samuel Hileman, of Hileman Ridge, was called to our town on professional business last week.

H. Haners, representing Brook, Rodgers & Co., of Baltimore, was on our streets the 5th inst.

We think Garrett county is not the loveliest place in the world. A number of young men came here some two years ago from the State of Ohio, and we are glad to say all the good boys are staying right with us in District No. 2. Some of them have engaged in business near our town.

We cannot help saying that Jasper Frazee has smiled more in the last ten days than any two girls in town. It's no boy, no girl and it's no "what is it?" but it is the large church bell that weighs one-half ton. Bro. Jasper has been working hard for over two long years to raise the dust for this bell and that is not all the brother has done; he has raised almost enough money to pay for erecting the belfry. We hope the building committee will push along and get up the belfry so all good brothers and sisters can be called to church and Sabbath-school by the tone of the beautiful bell that has so long been sought for.

James H. Spears, Esq., had the pleasure of riding the Jr. O. U. A. M. goat at Victor Council, No. 34, on the 3d inst. Our goat is well fed and cared for and had not had any bridle and saddle for about one month and it kept the boys all busy to hold Bro. James on.

Mr. and Mrs. Baybrook, of Manor Land, spent Sunday, the 6th inst., with friends in West Selbyport.

McHenry.

The beautiful snow has come and gone and in its place mud, mud, mud.

The grip has left us and we hope it will never return.

S. A. McRobie, we are glad to say, is still improving.

A number of our young people attended the protracted meeting one night last week, which is being held at Jonnstown.

Brison Welch, who purchased Samuel Specht's farm, is preparing to move on it shortly.

J. L. Wilburn and wife were the guests of D. McLean last Sunday.

R. B. Durst, who has been very low with mumps and la grippe, is better at this writing.

M. D. Miller moved to town on Monday of last week. He is going to work for D. McLean.

Mrs. Jonas Glatfelter spent a few days last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Brison Welch, of near Hoves.

William Shank was visiting his sister, Mrs. R. B. Durst a few days last week.

D. McLean is preparing to burn a large kiln of lime.

Where is our Deer Park correspondent? Is he dead?

Rebidding Hoods.

Flatwoods.

Last week we had the best sledging of the season. Our farmers made good use of it hauling coal, limestone, etc.

J. W. Keller, who was working for Wess & Jaminger, near Lastonsburg, Pa., came home last Saturday and on Tuesday left for West Virginia, where he expects to work in a woolen factory this summer.

While at home he made several pleasant calls in our vicinity.

A. J. Alexander likes his new home better than ever at Mr. Jonas Glatfelter's.

There will be preaching at Flatwoods next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock a. m.

Our school, in charge of Miss Lizzie Kahl, is progressing very nicely.

A. J. Alexander made a pleasant visit to Mr. Jeremiah Beeghler's last Sunday and returned very early Monday morning. He wears a smile ever since.

George, youngest son of Henry Feik, was married to Miss Martha Camp, of Hileman Ridge, and brought his bride to Flatwoods on Sunday evening to spend Monday with James E. McGettigan. The boys gave them a serenading on Monday morning.

There was a re-union in Accident Feb. 25 and 26. Messrs. John Bowman and Henry Camp, Commanders. Boys and girls, what is nicer than a beautiful valentine?

Thomas Wilburn and family spent Wednesday night and Thursday at Wm. Alexander's.

There is talk of the new railroad going up Bear creek to intersect the B. & O. We hope it may be a standard gauge road.

Several of our young folks took a grand sleigh ride to Jonnstown last Tuesday night.

Boys, don't be bashful when you come in with your girls. Don't come half way.

John Bowman expects to open his sugar camp soon.

Let us hear from McHenry.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption (Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections); also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful cures in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it this recipe in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noves, 83 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Asher Glade.

More snow.

Alf Glovee is hauling cross-ties to Markleysburg.

Several teams are engaged in hauling logs to Umbel's saw mill.

Elkworth Thomas, of Uniontown, Pa., and B. F. Thomas, of Youngstown, Pa., are in this section visiting their mother, who has been ill for some time.

Among those who are sick we note the following: Ida B. Barnt-house, Michael C. Thomas and Ellen Christ—all with pneumonia.

Our boys are already at work at the stove timber.

Sheridan Hunter and his mother, of near Confluence, Pa., are here visiting Mrs. Hunter's sister, whom the doctors say is incurable.

The wife of Thurmian Umbel is piling up lumber has the appearance of a new house.

J. A. Feik talks of going to the World's Fair.

You ought to see Mathias Frazee—it's a girl.

F. T. Fike is moving things lively with the assistance of his new son-in-law.

Let us hear more about good roads for we surely need some improvements, at least, in our county.

A couple of young men came before Squire Fike recently to comply with the law for fighting on Sunday—a pretty dear way of settling a dispute, boys, is it not?

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Has no equal for the prompt relief and speedy cure of Coughs, Croup, Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Preacher's Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe, and other derangements of the throat and lungs. The best-known cough-cure in the world, it is recommended by eminent physicians, and is the favorite preparation with singers, actors, preachers, and teachers. It soothes the inflamed membrane, loosens the phlegm, stops coughing, and induces repose.

taken for consumption, in its early stages, checks further progress of the disease, and even in the later stages, it cures the distressing cough and promotes refreshing sleep. It is agreeable to the taste, needs but small doses, and does not interfere with digestion or any of the regular organic functions. As an emergency medicine, every household should be provided with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Having used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, I can confidently recommend it for all the complaints it is claimed to cure. Its sale is increasing yearly with me, and my customers think this preparation has no equal as a cough-cure."

—S. W. Parent, Queensbury, N. B.

ACME BLACKING is cheaper at 20 cents a bottle than any other Dressing at 5 cents.

A LITTLE GOES A LONG WAY because shoes once blackened with it can be kept clean by washing them with water. People in moderate circumstances find it profitable to buy it at 20c. a bottle, because what they spend for blacking they save in shoe leather.

It is the cheapest blacking considering its quality, and yet we want to sell it cheaper if it can be done. We will pay

$10,000 Reward for a recipe that will enable us to make VOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. This offer is open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

The suppressed subjects of European governments turn to this country for free homes, free laws and for the free use of Salvation Oil for their pains.

It is a slight cold frequently contracted that finally undermines the system. Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the beginning stage and be cured.

Dr. Henry W. McComas was out on the Hoopole road Tuesday evening in his cart when his horse became frightened and away. The doctor was thrown from his seat and wedged between the wheel and body of the cart and dragged a considerable distance before he succeeded in checking the horse. Fortunately he received no injuries. His cart was damaged to some extent.

Some of the finest maple sugar it has been our good fortune to receive was sent us by J. B. Miller, Esq., of Grantsville. The sugar was produced on Cornucopia Farm, owned by Mr. J. J. Miller, of near Grantsville.

Rev. E. J. Meese, who has been pastor of the Deer Park U. B. church for two years, has been transferred to Westernport. We wish the reverend gentleman the success in his new field of work he so richly deserves.

A lively contest is being made for the post-office at Deer Park, by Samuel P. Specht and Wilber C. Jones, to succeed the late Col. Ed. C. Tilton, deceased. Both the gentlemen named are merchants, and want to keep the office in their stores.

The attention of our readers is called to the adv. of L. H. Bell & Co., which will be found in another column of this issue. Mr. Bell is a first-class workman and the firm employs no hands in their shop that cannot be measured by his standard. Give the new firm a trial.

A meeting was held here on Saturday night for the purpose of making an effort to reorganize the Masonic Lodge which existed here some years ago. Amongst the prominent Masons interested in the movement are Messrs. D. E. Offutt, G. S. Hamill, S. L. Townsend, Geo. A. Spedden, J. M. Jarboe and Dr. J. Lee McComas.

Steps have been taken to incorporate the Snowy Creek Coal and Coke Company, at Corinth, W. Va., six miles west of Oakland on the B. & O. The parties interested in forming the new company own a large tract of coal land and have already commenced mining and manufacturing and have the plant in working order. The authorized capital is one million dollars.

Jacob McKenzie, an old soldier from Garrett county, who, by the way, is one of the tallest men in this section, being six feet three inches in height, came to town last Saturday to cash his pension check and then went out on the turf. He painted things red and was arrested and fined $4.95, which he paid and was released. He then returned to his rural home a sadder but wiser man.—Cumb. News.

Messrs. Gage & Sherman, of Alexander, Texas, write us regarding a remarkable cure of rheumatism there as follows: "The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the postmaster here, had been bed-ridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured by its use. We refer any one to her verify this statement." 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers.

"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days for the first attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers.

Every small town has a class of people who are smart people that belittle every thing and every one's business in their neighborhood; find fault with the stores, because they do not compare with stores in larger places; with the mechanics, because they are not (they think) like mechanics at some other place; with the doctors, because they have a patient occasionally that dies of some incurable malady; with their neighbors, that ever may be their calling, they find fault; the greatest amount of their windy ammunition they fire at the local paper, because they cannot compete with the metropolitan journals. Nine out of ten of these smart alecks are as far below the objects of their criticism as the moon is below the sun. They have not "gumption" enough to keep their credit up and are not straight on the books of the very man they criticize, and are not able to write a grammatical sentence nor spell half the words correctly.—Ex.

FLORIDA LETTER.

Our Southern Correspondent Discovers an "Enchanted Princess."

There has been a great rush of northern and western visitors to Florida this winter. Some come seeking health, some to escape from the ravages of the grip and others pleasure seeking and sight-seeing. Florida is censured for depending too much upon the large sums left within her borders by her thousands of visitors and not sufficiently developing her own resources. It does seem that with such a climate and with a soil which, if properly fertilized, produces crops of various kinds every season in the year fair Florida should take the lead. Large luscious strawberries, at the reasonable price of thirty-five cents a box, have been in market several weeks.

It sometimes strikes me as being uncanny to live in a country where there is no winter and I can't divest myself of the idea that I must begin to prepare for storms and cold.

The votaries of Ike Marvel fully enjoy their favorite sport, as the lakes around afford unlimited supplies of fine perch, mullet, etc. A party of us formed a little picnic a short time ago (think of it, ice and snow bound Oaklanders, a jolly picnic in February!) and went down to Lake Harris where the gentlemen took a boat (it was rather rough for the ladies to venture) and caught some fine fish for dinner. We made a fire on the beach, boiled coffee and fried the fish, and with addition of canned meat and pickles we dined royally.

Willie is a good shot and enjoys hunting. Some weeks ago he and two friends camped out over night on an island and he succeeded in killing ten fine ducks, several other birds and a rabbit. He has also killed an alligator about six feet long.

While sojourning in a little town, which shall be nameless, I came across a romantic incident. I was told that there was an invalid living on a certain street, who was always glad to see visitors, and I determined to call. The house was a one-story cottage, embowered in an orange grove and nearly covered with vines. The doors and windows were tightly closed and there was no sign of human habitation. I knocked long and loud, but no response. I then walked to the rear of the building and again knocked. Soon a window was raised a little and a key pushed out, while a feeble voice said, "Unlock the door and come in." All this savored a little of the "Red Riding Hood" story of my childhood days, and it was with a feeling of awe that I inserted the key; the door creaked and swung slowly open and I found myself in a small ante-room. Which way to turn or where to go I knew not, but I believe my first impulse was to run away, when a voice out of the semi-darkness called, "Walk straight on." I did so and found myself in a room with closed blinds and windows and so dark I could not discern objects for awhile. On a bed in the corner of the apartment lay a woman young and almost beautiful, a round dimpled face and complexion dazzlingly white, dark blue eyes and with masses of golden hair scattered on the pillow. Was I in an enchanted palace and was this the "Sleeping Beauty" waiting for the Prince? A white hand was extended and a soft voice said, "You are welcome. I have been an invalid for two years; cannot use my limbs. I am alone most of the time. My neighbors are very good; they come in and assist me. I have to keep the doors locked for security." "Are you not very lonely?" I asked. "Do you read much?" "No, I am not lonely and I seldom read. My nerves cannot stand the light," she replied. I lingered only a short time and was glad to escape from the close warm room into the free sunshine and air. I looked the door was lifted, the key taken in by the shapely white hand, the blinds closed and darkness and silence reigned in the little cottage. My impression is that she lacked will power and needed sunshine, air and cheerful company instead of darkness and seclusion. If I ever go that way again I shall certainly call to see my "Enchanted Princess."

Died.

ALLEN.—An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Allen died on Sunday and was buried Monday.

TUREL.—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman F. Umbel, who reside at Asher Glade, died and was buried on the 6th inst.

ENGLEHART.—Alvin, the two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Englehart, residing in Accident, died Sunday and was buried Tuesday afternoon.

STAHL.—Mrs. George Stahl, aged about 30 years, who resided near Sunnyside, died on Monday. The cause of her demise was peritonitis. The interment occurred in the Yutz family burying ground on Wednesday.

HAHN.—John Hahn, aged about 50 years, died at the residence of Moses Wensell (with whom he has made his home for a number of years) near Oakland, on Saturday. The funeral occurred on Sunday. Interment at the Jenkins grave yard.

CASTEL.—At her home near Oakland Sunday morning, March 13, 1892, Sidney M., beloved wife of T. W. Castel and daughter of Judge Hamill, of this place, aged 41 years, 1 month and 8 days. Mrs. Castel was taken ill with fever one week prior to her death, and her sudden demise was quite a shock to her immediate friends and the entire community, in which she had many warm friends. She leaves a devoted husband, three sons and one daughter to mourn their irreparable loss. Her remains were interred in the Old Fellows' cemetery on Monday, the 14th inst., Rev. G. W. Kepler officiating, assisted by Rev. J. M. Davis. Mrs. Castel was a devout member of St. Paul's M. E. Church.

Married.

JOHNSON—SPIKER.—March 13, at Grantsville, by Rev. J. M. Evans, John L. Johnson and Lydia Spiker, both of Grantsville.

JOHNSON—HILEMAN.—On Mar. 9, 1892, by Rev. Wm. E. George, at his residence in Deer Park, James Henry Johnson and Martha Ann Hileman, both of this county.

Court Visitors.

Don't forget the old stand-by (you all know who he is) F. G. Hyde, the leading jeweler and music dealer, and not the peanut roaster. I will give you some splendid bargain during court. This is the season of the year when I reduce my stock to make room for a large summer supply. In order to do this I have the following inducements to offer: Anything in my line from 25 to 50 per cent. discount. DURING COURT ONLY. Just mark it down that I will give you a bargain. No misrepresentation is my motto. I don't meddle in everything. This is no hash house. I make all my promises good and no person can say I don't.

Very truly yours,

F. G. HYDE.

Highway Robbery.

It is a very rare occurrence for a man to be assaulted and robbed on the public highway in this "neck of the woods," but such was the case on Monday evening.

A stranger, ostensibly an American, fell in with some of the Italians working at McKaig's stone works while they were in town Monday and became very friendly. He squandered some of his hard cash for fire water and in other ways made himself solid with the natives. Late in the evening he with one of the Italians, named Michael Charine, started for the shanty at the stone works. After they had gotten a short distance out of town the American demanded the Italian's money which he declared he had none. He then drew a knife and began cutting and slashing at the Italian. The knife penetrated the Italian's right hand and nearly severed one of his fingers. He grabbed the Italian's watch and skipped. So far nothing has been seen or heard of him.

WIND SWEEP HEADS.

A Physician's Scheme for Detecting the Presence of Insanity.

Dr. Peter McQuibben, of Philadelphia, has found that by placing a stethoscope to a person's head he can distinctly hear the sound of an air current within, and by the character of the sound can tell whether a person is sane or insane, and he positively avers that in the cranium of a big-headed idiot this wind current can be distinctly heard loudly whistling.

The doctor is convinced that the brain breathes as well as the lungs. For many years he has been investigating air as a mechanical agent in the human body, and about a year ago conceived the novel idea of a rubber tip to the ordinary stethoscope, whereby the instrument can be fitted so exactly to the subject's head that the sound of this brain respiration cannot escape, but may be unambiguously heard. That it differs in sane and insane persons, the doctor is convinced, and by means of this stethoscope he feels sure that he can distinguish, as a rule, between healthy-brained people and those who are insane or idiots.

The little rubber tip which Dr. McQuibben's discovery is a novelty, and the story was unfolded by Dr. McQuibben himself.

"My general theory," declared Dr. McQuibben, "is that the great mechanical agent employed by all the animate world, animal or vegetable, to permit of growth against the continual resistance of the atmosphere, is heated air. Within the interstices of the tissue of the body, and this air, by coming heated by the processes of life, exercises a greater expansive force than the outer atmosphere, and thereby enables the animal to grow against it. You can squeeze this air out of tomato and pepper under water and see it come up in large bubbles. In the tissue and hollow organs of men this air is used as the direct mechanical function. The expansive force in spitting, coughing and sneezing we know to be air.

"A free supply of air to the brain is just as necessary as a free supply to the lungs, and any interference with this brain respiration will cause serious disturbance of the cerebral functions, even insanity. In sanity may be caused by a tumor or by congestive blow, but post mortem almost invariably disclose no residual cause of insanity. That people become insane and are permanently restored and that there is a recurrent insanity points to a functional derangement.

"This disturbed function I claim to be the cranial respiration. Air taken into the lungs passes to and from the brain through minute pores at the base of the skull. The normal circulation of blood through the brain depends upon this normal air current. If from any cause these tiny pores become closed or stopped to an abnormal degree, the current is impeded or destroyed. The air that is sent to the brain overheated and congests the brain."

By means of the doctor's rubber tipped stethoscope wonderful things come to light. In the head of a healthy person two distinct sounds can be heard, coincident with the inhalation and exhalation of air by the lungs. These sounds are practically of the same tone in all healthy heads, but are altered or absent in all classes of insane or idiots. The sounds of the heart and voice in these mentally weak and deranged individuals are also different from those in sane persons. As these are grades of insanity so there are degrees of sound.

As a rule the noise of the wind current of an insane or idiotic brain is more marked perceptible than that of a sane organ, and in big-headed idiots it whistles loudly. The major portion of insanity is caused by derangement of the cranial wind apparatus. Where it is not due to a tumor, a blow or some kindred direct injury to the brain or its covering, insanity is traceable to this "ill wind," and the rubber tipped stethoscope may be the champion insane expert in the world. —Newark Journal.

Greek Stories.

The controversy on "Compulsory Greek" in the universities has received a characteristic contribution from Mr. Labouchere, who says: "Once the late Mr. Peter Rylands hazarded a long Latin quotation in the house I got up after him, when I said, 'My honorable friend evidently knows dead languages. I will therefore reply to his arguments in Greek—a language, no doubt, familiar to him.' Then I recited aloud the only line in the 'Iliad' that I knew. No one (Mr. Gladstone was absent) liked to admit that he did not understand my Greek, and consequently accepted the fact that I had replied correctly to Mr. Rylands' arguments. So much for the knowledge of the dead languages possessed by the members of the august assembly at Westminster."

Mr. Labouchere was about as audacious and unscrupulous as that Welsh preacher who settled down among a congregation in a small town in the western states. A stranger dropping in to the meeting house one Sunday heard this ingenious preacher giving string after string of "the original Greek" of the pure passages bearing on his subject, all in pure and sonorous Welsh. The stranger, being a Welshman, was visibly amused, whereupon the preacher addressed him directly in Welsh, saying, "Don't give me away. They think it's Greek, and it's just as good for them." —Yorkshire Post.

The Silk Threads Not Always Sure.

It is a mistake to suppose that the presence of two threads in paper money is absolute evidence of genuineness, for while it is practically impossible for counterfeiters to get hold of paper with the threads running through it, it is quite common for them to split open paper, insert threads and then join the sections together again. An expert can easily find traces of this process, but it is done so neatly that the average eye is easily deceived. An expert cannot bank teller can feel the difference between paper which has been split and rejoined, and he can also detect a little roughness at the edges. For all that a split note is occasionally passed off among others, and a man not accustomed to handling money paper, money will take it without question. —Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Not Hard to Find.

New Girl—Phooey, mum, while you're down town, would ye be so kind as to order me a pair of shoes?

Mrs. De Style—I—er—do not know your size.

New Girl—Nor I, mum, but I think if ye get them about the size of yours they'll do.

Mrs. De Style—(sighing)—Do you think you could wear them?

New Girl—Oh, yes, mum. After new shoes is wet they shrink. —New York Weekly.

When One Club Dines.

At a dinner of the London Thirteen club every visitor was told that they "must conform to the rules of the club, and, if requested, must walk under the club hall, spill salt, cross their knives and forks, shake hands across, wear a peacock's feather, open an umbrella in the dining hall, and do other things deemed unbecoming and evil even."

There are several superstitious individuals who say that it is unlucky to move on Friday, while others claim the day is too far advanced to the end of the week and makes it inconvenient. April 1st comes on the imagined unlucky Friday this year.

"What we want," shrieked a Farmers' Alliance speaker, "is something that will benefit the farmer."

"Then, why in thunder," snuggled out a man on the back seat, "don't you adopt some brains and go into the Republican party?"

"We shall have a new assistant cashier here in a few days," said Teller Fraley, of the Garrett County Bank, to THE REPUBLICAN Monday.

"I think the fellow," in Terra Alta and weighs ten pounds." Congratulations, Artie; may he live long and prosper.

A farmer says that this late spring is the finest thing we've had in weather for a long time. Vegetation is retarded, so that when spring comes upon us warm and balmy there will be no danger of later frosts to nip fruits and other growths in the bud. That is what so frequently occurs here.

David Engle, of District No. 3, who served so faithfully during the entire four years of the late war, has received an increase of pension from $2 to $12 per month, through the efforts of his attorney, Jacob Brown, Esq., of Cumberland. "Dave" is now a little over three score and ten, badly broken down from war exposures, always true to his country and many friends.

Rev. L. A. Rindisill, general manager of Mt. Lake Park, will give a lecture in Fairview Hall next Monday night under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Admission free. All cordially invited. Mr. Rindisill is a broad-minded, intelligent gentleman, quite equal to entertaining and instructing an audience, and everybody should turn out and hear him.—Piedmont Herald.

Mr. Samuel J. Miller, of New Germany, Garrett county, who is the manager of the works of the Silver Bell Mining Company, states that a vein of copper was recently found which shows a good percentage. He claims that in silver they have struck a bonanza. They will ship a consignment of ore to the Ambleside Nickel and Silver Works in Pennsylvania, where it will be tested alongside of ore from Canada.—Meyersdale Commercial.

The suit between Maryland and West Virginia to determine the exact boundary of the two States along a certain portion of the south branch of the Potomac river, came up in the Supreme Court Monday. West Virginia was represented by Attorney-General Caldwell, ex-Senator George E. Prentiss, of Mineral county, and Hon. Samuel L. Flournoy. Attorney-General Roe represented Maryland. After a short argument the court set October 17th for hearing the case.

At noon on Tuesday of last week the first canal boat of the season was landed at the Consolidation Coal Company's wharf, in South Cumberland. The name of the boat is "Victor," and it was consigned to Victor Cushman & Son, of Williamsport, and carried 103 tons and 7 cwt. This is an old boat and has in its time carried over the peaceful bosom of the canal many thousands of tons of coal.

Until further notice Feltz & Co., Railroad street, will sell at following prices:

FRITZ & CO.

Messrs. Gage & Sherman, of Alexander, Texas, write us regarding a remarkable cure of rheumatism there as follows: "The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the postmaster here, had been bed-ridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured by its use. We refer any one to her verify this statement." 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers.

Mr. J. H. Layman, of Frostburg; C. J. Otto, of New Germany; Geo. W. Moon, of Gorman; J. W. Beighley, of Accident; John H. Roth, of Dobbin.

We were very sorry to hear of the painful accident which happened to Mr. Otho Barnard, a neighboring farmer. While felling trees near Watson's saw mill he was struck by a falling limb, tearing his forehead and extending down around and under his left eye, lacerating the face badly. Assistance was promptly rendered by Dr. Kallbaugh, who with his usual skill and the aid of sixteen stitches, repaired the damage and we soon expect to see Otho as handsome as ever.—Bloomington Coir. Piedmont Herald.

Newspaper patrons discriminate outrageously between the city and a country publisher. The city paper is paid for in advance while the local paper is not paid for until a year's subscription is due, and nine out of ten times not then.

The country subscribers to city papers will please throw a stone through our window when they find an obituary notice of departed loved ones in their cash in advance city paper, or see heralded in the great metropolitan chaff catcher the arrival of a ten pound shoot of humanity at their domicile. If the paper puffs your town or business, you may drop around and stick your finger in our eye.—Joliet Journal.

Mr. James Murphy, of Idaho, formerly of this community, now on a business and pleasure trip east, paid our village a flying visit the other day. Mr. Murphy is engaged as a foreman in the Bunker Hill silver mines, Wardner, Idaho. He gave an interesting account of that region, its inhabitants, customs and peculiarities, but more interesting was his description of the silver mines and mining. The Bunker Hill mines employ many hundred men who take out from 800 to 1,000 tons of ore daily, and transport it over a cable railway elevated on piers 90 to 100 feet high for considerable distance to the reducers.—Bloomington Coir. Piedmont Herald.

"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days for the first attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

RENE, H. SINGLET.

Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 1892.

Labor and a Protective Tariff.

In 1880 the number of laborers employed in American woolen goods factories was 161,556.

In 1890, owing to the growth of the woolen goods industry, under protection, the number was 221,032.

This is low protection takes care of the American laborer. But if the Democrats could make a law of the free wool bill, now before the House of Representatives, employment for a large number of laborers would be destroyed, and the wages of the rest reduced.

Is one week the people of Maryland will be taking a much-needed rest—the Legislature will have adjourned.

When you hear something kicking the stuffing out of the dark horse stalls in the Democratic stable for '92, that's Brice.

It is not free wool that makes low-priced common clothing in England. It is, instead, shoddy goods and pauper labor. Do we want them here.

The farmers of this country should be warned by the conceded fact that free trade, or a tariff for revenue only, has ruined the agriculture of England.

The Democratic party, in effect, proposes to reduce the wages of our labor to the foreign pauper standard and then pay it in dollars worth only seventy cents.

Free wool and its concomitant may cheapen the imported fabrics of the rich man's garments a little, but it will not benefit the masses of our people in the least, while it will destroy our wool industries, rob our labor of employment, and take millions of money out of our country.

If the Democrats must have "dirty-cheap" clothing, why don't they provide for its manufacture by our convict labor, instead of sending our money abroad to pay foreign pauper labor for the work? The Republican party is opposed to labor competition with either convicts, paupers or slaves.

The South Carolina Senator, who, just before the war of the rebellion, denounced Northern laborers as "mind sills," "greasy mechanics" and "small-fisted farmers," ran against the Republican party as the champion of the dignity of labor not long after his denunciations, and found that he was being monkey-witted by a buzz-saw.

Slavery abolished, free home-stocks provided, industry easily developed, and new employments opened, the dollar of the working-man and bondholder exactly equalized, high wages maintained and protection almost perfectly adjusted are some of the salient points in the labor records of the Republican party that no laborer can afford to forget or ignore.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating." Any fairly intelligent and unprejudiced comparison of the results of free trade in England and protection in this country during the last thirty years must convince every honest man that protection is the wiser policy, especially for this country.

The people of England have been the victims of many Englishmen from the grip of prejudice is making such comparisons very odious to Cabbie Club free traders.

Many thousands of laborers in England have lost their employment on account of the McKinley law, and the tendency of their loss is to depress an already low standard of wages. As many thousands of laborers in this country have received the employment thus lost in England, and the tendency of their gain is to support and extend a high standard of wages, plainly protection assists and sustains a high standard of wages and furnishes industrial employment.

The policy of the Democratic party on the wool tariff question means the immediate annual transfer of over one hundred millions of dollars a year of our money to foreign hands to pay for foreign cheap labor on manufactured wool products and wool raised by cheap labor on sheep lands in South America and Australia, taking a like amount away from our enterprising manufacturers, well-paid labor, and not too prosperous farmers. The excuse for this hideous and criminal folly is the falsehood, demonstrable in every clothing store of the land, that the tariff is a tax upon the necessary clothing of people. There are thousands of living witnesses in the land to-day who will testify that the most enormous taxes upon clothing were paid to foreign manufacturers under free trade or tariffs for revenue only. Protection has been steadily decreasing the price of the people's clothing during the last twenty-five years, until now it is anywhere from one-half as low as it has been at any time.

NO. IV.

KINDS OF DUTY.

There are three ways of levying duties:

1st. An ad valorem rate, or a certain per cent. of the declared value, as, for instance, the duty on goods is thirty-five per cent. of their value at the time imported; on boots and shoes twenty per cent. of their value.

2d. A specific rate, or much per yard, ton, gallon, bushel, &c., regardless of value; for instance, the duty on eggs is five cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

3d. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In computing the rate per cent. a specific duty must be reduced to an equivalent ad valorem rate. For instance, the duty on eggs is 5 cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

4th. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In computing the rate per cent. a specific duty must be reduced to an equivalent ad valorem rate. For instance, the duty on eggs is 5 cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

5th. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In computing the rate per cent. a specific duty must be reduced to an equivalent ad valorem rate. For instance, the duty on eggs is 5 cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

6th. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In computing the rate per cent. a specific duty must be reduced to an equivalent ad valorem rate. For instance, the duty on eggs is 5 cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

7th. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In computing the rate per cent. a specific duty must be reduced to an equivalent ad valorem rate. For instance, the duty on eggs is 5 cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

8th. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In computing the rate per cent. a specific duty must be reduced to an equivalent ad valorem rate. For instance, the duty on eggs is 5 cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

9th. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In computing the rate per cent. a specific duty must be reduced to an equivalent ad valorem rate. For instance, the duty on eggs is 5 cents per dozen, on steel rails six-tenths of one cent per pound, or $13.44 per long ton of 2240 pounds.

10th. An ad valorem and specific rate combined, as, for instance, the duty on Brussels carpets is 44 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. of their value; on Cologne water $5 per gallon and 50 per cent. ad valorem.

THE FARMER'S BURDEN.

Bad Roads Responsible for a Good Deal of It.

If an advance in freight rates were to be made, which would increase the cost of getting grain to market by from two to five cents a bushel, decrease by that amount the profits of the farmer and proportionally lower the value of his land as an investment, a great cry of remonstrance would go up from every quarter of the country. Yet the farmer bears such a burden in the shape of ordinary highways that make the transport of his grain to the nearest market points a tedious and costly job.

And this burden is not one that may be lifted by the competition of railroads or other corporations. It will rest upon him just as long as he fails to join the agitation for highway improvement. There is no subject on which it would profit the agriculturist more to bring to bear the whole power of his influence and that of the associations to which he may belong. There is none to which he has shown more single-minded indifference.

It is only lately that general interest has been awakened in the improvement of country roads. But it has been actually done in a few counties show what the whole country might do for itself if it chose. A professorship has been established in one of our colleges, and much valuable matter is being collected by those who have made a study of the question. The best of it is contributed by Mr. Isaac Potter, whose recent work on the subject is followed by an article in the latest issue of The Forum, in which he appeals to the self-interest of the farmer to provide them with good country roads.

As Mr. Potter says, "With the enlargement of concentric circles surrounding every American citizen, it is to be feared that the farmer is to be found an apparently undue diminution of agricultural produce, wealth and thrift." While railroads and canals have closed by the freight rates have been reduced to a figure undreamed of a few years ago, the dirt road, "that only avenue of communication which connects the farmer socially and commercially with the world at large, is the same road that was used a hundred centuries ago by the naked savage when he was overtaken by a storm to the sheltering cave."

No better statement of its importance and its average condition than that of Mr. Potter can be given. "Measuring a million miles or more in its various ramifications, dissolving the rains of April, baking and pulverizing the dust of summer, and appearing in the whirlwinds of November, and presenting at all times but little more than a roughened track of mud to serve as a land highway for the great volume of internal traffic, the time seems to have come when the American countryman can be given the same as the most expensive and by all odds the most extravagantly maintained of all the public institutions."

The complaints of the decay of agriculture, the abandonment of farms in many communities and the charge of a slower relative progress in this country than in Europe may all be referred, in considerable degree, to the condition of our country highways. The traffic carried by our roads exceeds vastly the freight tonnage of all our railroads combined. Yet this has to be carried under difficulties and at a cost which increases immensely the cost of living to the consumer, while they strip the producer of most of his rightful profit. The difference between the transport of country produce over existing roads and its carriage over such roads as are to be found in England and France is a difference of tens, probably of hundreds of millions of dollars every year. And this is only one side of the question, for, in addition to the argument from economy, there is the social argument.

Nothing contributes so much to make the farmer's life barren of interest to help along the efforts of civilization to the detriment of the old delight in rural life into a dreary of an unbearable isolation, as the condition of its avenues of communication, which practically shuts up the inhabitants of the farm during several months of the year, and those just the months when they have most need of refreshing outings, to the routine and confinement of the farm itself. The country highway is the great factor in the life of the farmer. It is the bridge between the material and intellectual, for the agricultural population.

Now it is an unknown problem with which we are faced. However, methods of roadmaking are thoroughly well ascertained. The approximate cost is known. Great Britain has done the work which has helped to inspire so many of her people with a passionate love for country life, and to maintain British agriculture in a struggle with the superior productiveness of America, but for which aid it must have succeeded in the long run. We have only to set to work in earnest, and the next generation will see this country far ahead of the rest of the world in the thrift and prosperity of its farming communities. Will those who are most vitally interested take up the cause?

The problem of cost is not entirely an easy one. Yet all that is required for its solution is an enlightened self-interest. We doubt the advisability of attempting to thrust the great labor upon the shoulders of either the nation or the state. It will cost more in the long run, with endless possibilities of jobbery and favoritism in the meantime. It is the local community which will be best benefited. It is the local community that should take the first step.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

School Report.

Please allow me space in your columns for a brief report of the Johns Hopkins School.

Number of pupils enrolled 23. Average attendance for the term 16. Some pupils who were present every day: Frank Jacobs, Bertha Meyers and James Norris.

On Tuesday, March 15, an examination was held with a general average per cent. in the A and B classes as follows:

A CLASS.—Stanley Jacobs, 90; Ollie C. Hannell, 75; Frank Jacobs, 75; Christian McMillen, 75; Maggie Hansell, 80; Laura McMillan, 80.

B CLASS.—Maud McMillan, 70; Lillie Norris, 60; George Green, 65; Mollie Norris, 60; Clara Myers, 60.

The first term of the year has been taught here in 1889, the children have certainly made rapid progress and I find among them some very bright minds.

Thanking the school and patrons for the deep interest manifested and wishing them success in life, I remain,

Their friend and well wisher,

WIND SWEPT HEADS.

A Physicist's Scheme for Detecting the Progress of Insanity.

Dr. Peter McAlister, of Philadelphia, has found that by placing a stethoscope to a person's head he can distinctly hear the sound of an air current within, and by the character of the sound can tell whether a person is sane or insane, and he positively avers that in the cranium of a big-headed idiot this wind current can be distinctly heard loudly whistling.

The doctor is convinced that the brain breathes as well as the lungs. For many years he has been investigating air as a mechanical agent in the human body, and about a year ago conceived the novel idea of a rubber tip to the ordinary stethoscope, whereby the instrument can be fitted so exactly to the subject's head that the sound of this brain respiration cannot escape, but may be unobscuredly heard. That it differs in sane and insane persons the doctor is convinced, and by means of this stethoscope he feels sure that he can distinguish, as a rule, between healthy brains and those who are insane or idiotic.

The little rubber tip, which is Dr. McAlister's discovery, is a novelty, and its story was unfolded by Dr. McAlister himself.

"My general theory," declared Dr. McAlister, "is that the great mechanical agent employed by all the animal world, animal or vegetable, to permit of growth against the continual resistance of the atmosphere is heated air. Within the interior of the tissue of the body is air, and this air, being heated by the processes of life, exercises a greater expansive force than the outer atmosphere, and thereby enables the animal to grow against it. You can squeeze this air out of tomato and pepper under water and see it come up in large bubbles. In the tissue and hollow organs of men this air is used as the direct mechanical function. The expansive force in spitting, coughing and sneezing we know to be air."

"A free supply of air to the brain is just as necessary as a free supply to the lungs, and any interference with this brain respiration will cause serious disturbance of the cerebral functions, even insanity. Insanity may be caused by a tumor or by a congestive blow, but post mortem almost invariably disclose no resident cause of insanity. That people become insane and are permanently so, and that there is a recurrent insanity points to a functional derangement."

"This disturbed function I claim to be the cerebral respiration. Air taken into the lungs passes to and from the brain through minute pores at the base of the skull. The normal circulation of blood through the brain depends upon this normal air current. If from any cause these tiny pores become closed or stopped to an abnormal degree, the current is impeded or destroyed. The air that is shut in becomes overheated and congests the brain."

By means of the doctor's rubber tipped stethoscope wonderful things come to light. In the head of a healthy person two distinct sounds can be heard, coincident with the inhalation and exhalation of air by the lungs. These sounds are usually of the same tone in all healthy heads, but are altered or absent in all cases of insane or idiotic. The sounds of the heart and voice in these mentally weak and deranged individuals are also different from those in sane persons. As these are grounds of insanity so there are degrees of sound.

As a rule the noise of the wind current of an insane or idiotic brain is more markedly perceptible than that of a sane organ, and in big-headed idiots it whistles loudly. The major portion of insanity is due to derangement of the cerebral wind apparatus. Where it is not due to a tumor, a blow or some kindred direct injury to the brain or its covering, insanity is traceable to this "ill wind," and the rubber tipped stethoscope may yet become the champion insane expert in the world.—Newark Journal.

Best Cure For

All disorders of the Throat and Lungs is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has no equal as a cough-cure.

Bronchitis.

"When I was a boy, I had a bronchial trouble of such a persistent and stubborn character, that the doctor pronounced it incurable with ordinary remedies, but recommended me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take a bad cold, and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time, not considering it safe to be without it."—J. Cough.

"For more than twenty-five years, I was a sufferer from lung trouble, attended with coughing and severe attacks as to cause hemorrhage, the paroxysms frequently lasting three or four hours. I was induced to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after taking four bottles, was thoroughly cured."—Franz Hoffman, Clay Centre, Kans.

La Grippe.

"Last spring I was taken down with la grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breast seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I begun taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid and the cure so complete."—W. H. La Grippe is still with us.

Mrs. Merrill, the mother of Mr. Elias Merrill, is lying very low with the grip.

Elias Merrill's family are confined to the house with the measles.

Benton Broadwater is home on a visit.

We had a quiet little wedding in our town on the evening of the 13th inst.

The contracting parties were Elizabeth Knox and Annie Broadwater. They were joined together in holy matrimony by Rev. D. Merrill.

We wish them success in life. James H. Broadwater made a business trip to Frostburg selling stock for Silver Bell.

The Silver Bell is working very brisk. There are three boarding houses—the third being kept by James Whitezel.

"Zeechn" would like to know what has become of the correspondent from No. 11. He took his trip with the ground hog, and thinking spring is at hand, he has come to the surface again.

Thomas J. Miller still makes his weekly visit to Louisa county.

H. S. Crowe and Israel Duckworth visited the Silver Bell last week and brought home with them some very fine ore.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, cured many patients having lung disease in his hands by an easy and reliable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption in its early stages, and all forms of Lung Affection; also a positive and reliable cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to all suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, a copy of my German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using, sent by mail in plain wrapper, naming this paper.

The funeral of Mrs. B. F. Harvey took place from her late residence in Deer Park on Sunday, Rev. W. E. George officiating.

FOR RENT.—We have for rent a house on Second street containing nine rooms, cellar, etc. The lot is large and on it is a well of never failing water. Apply to this office.

The attention of the health officer is called to the pool of stagnant water and rotten pieces of timber on Liberty street near the depot. If there is a place in Oakland that will cause an epidemic of disease it is at this spot.

Sunday was a typical spring day and the streets were full of ladies and gentlemen out in light suits. A balmy breeze, just breezy enough to waft hot air away, blew through the city all day and made promenading pleasurable.

Judge Hoffman and all the lawyers engaged in the Luteman murder trial left for their homes on the afternoon accommodation Saturday to spend Sunday. Judge Stake remained in Oakland, also a number of the witnesses in the case.

A preliminary meeting was held Saturday night by the newspaper men of Cumberland with the view to organizing a press club. A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws, also one to secure rooms. At the next meeting (April 9) the officers of the club will be elected.

Rev. F. M. Cain, of Cranesville; S. D. Tamblin, of Terra Alta, and J. N. Sharp, of Deer Park, were in Oakland Monday making preparations to hold the annual district conference of the M. E. church. The conference will be held at Cranesville June 14th to 19th.

The necktie making and hat trimming race, under control of the Social Committee of the Lutheran Y. P. S. C. E., Oakland, will be held in Hamill & Little's Hall, on Thursday evening, April 14. Doors open at 7 o'clock. Admission, 5 cents for all.

If you've a pain or ache or a brimise Salvation O I will reach the case instantly. Price 25 cents.

Attention Voters.—By resolution passed by our Legislature, all good citizens are requested to use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and recommend same as the people's remedy for coughs, colds, etc. 25 cents.

Our genial friend, Sol Yoder, of Garrett county, Md., was a pleasant caller at The Star office on Monday. Mr. Yoder is greatly interested in raising fine sheep and says he has thirty of the finest Oxford lambs he ever owned. Three of them at their birth weighed 124, 13 and 134 pounds respectively.—Star.

Garthright will offer one car load of flour for $5.10 a barrel or two barrels for $10.00. This is guaranteed to be the best family flour ever brought to Garrett county. One car load best steel nails at $2.20 per keg for 10s to 20s, $2.50 for 4s, $2.25 for 5s, 6s, 8s and 9s. One car load seed oats at 48 cents per bushel. 5-2t

The indications are that the Oakland Normal School will be largely attended. Arrangements have been made for a model department. Another pre-eminent feature of the school will be the teachers' training class. In addition to home talent prominent instructors from abroad will at stated times give instruction on methods. Good boarding can be had very cheap. The school will be in charge of E. R. Sumner, assisted by Miss Mamie Weber.

Mr. J. P. Blase, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blase had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blase sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blase regards his cure as simply wonderful. 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers, Druggist.

HERE AND ELSEWHERE

Movements of Prominent Persons Known to the Readers of "The Republican."

Misses Minnie Smith and Ida Head, of Deer Park, were visiting at Mrs. E. M. Spedden's Wednesday.

Samuel Gnagey and John H. H. of near the Red House, were in town Tuesday and made THE REPUBLICAN pleasant calls.

Messrs. Frank and Howard Debaugh, accompanied by their wives, Misses Virgie and Emma, of Accident, passed through Oakland on Thursday of last week en route for points on the West Va. O. R. R., where they will visit friends a few weeks.

T. W. Ashby, of Elk Garden, was in Oakland Monday on business.

Jas. M. Wagner, of Deep Creek, was into see us on Monday.

Editor Litzinger was on a business trip to Grafton Monday.

J. Ed Kildow has returned from Grafton where he had been engaged for a few weeks.

W. Lee Phillips, Esq., of Washington, D. C., spent last week here fishing. The result of five days' fishing was four very small brook trout.

Superintendent G. D. DeShields and Manager Cologne, of the B. & O. hotel service, were here Saturday.

Mr. J. N. Sharp, of Corinth, started for Pittsburgh and other points in Pennsylvania Tuesday.

Henry J. Mayers returned from Wheeling Monday morning.

Misses Lizzie Kahl and Maggie Miller, of Accident, who were in Oakland Friday on their return home from a visit to friends in Allegany county, made THE REPUBLICAN office a pleasant call.

Charles Getty, of Grantsville, has taken the position lately held by George E. Pearce, telegraph operator at the C. & P. station. Like his predecessor, he is an expert keyman.—Mrs. Frazee, of Friendsville, Md., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Williams.—Mining Journal.

Mrs. William Kontner is visiting friends near Grantsville, Garrett county.—Review.

Miss Lizzie Little is on a pleasure trip to Baltimore and other cities in the east.

E. B. Fuller and Clarence Getty passed through our town this week en route for Meyersdale.—Salisbury Star.

Misses Lizzie Kahl and Maggie Miller, of Accident, are visiting Mrs. Adolph Reichelt, of this place.—Review.

L. M. Alderman, of Pennsylvania, was on a visit to his father-in-law, Mr. Isaac Bolyard, since our last is ne.

Dr. and Mrs. D. T. E. Casteel, of Buckhannon, W. Va., were visiting relatives in Oakland a few days recently. They departed for Buckhannon Monday morning.

G. J. Walter, the Deer Park blacksmith, was in Oakland Saturday on business. While in town Mr. Walter made us a visit and placed an order for a quantity of job printing.

Mr. Henry Finzel, of Frostburg, was in to see us Thursday morning.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Lutheran church of Oakland lately spent a very pleasant social evening at the parsonage. Among the many other pleasant things spoken of the new church had its place. The pastor spoke of the decision to veneer in brick. Every one was urged to do something for it. The plans contemplate a rectangular two-story structure, with entrance from Alder street to first story and from Third street to the second story. At the entrance on Alder street there is to be a gable with a large window in the second story. This window the young people have chosen to make their memorial if allowed. Each one who calls upon the president for it has a talent and ways of working given them. After about six months the talents and what they have gained will be called for. This society would like to hear from other young people's societies of their workings either through the papers or by correspondence with the corresponding secretary, Miss Lizzie Leary, Oakland, Md.

He Preferred Something Else.

Snuggs (to his son)—Johnny, read the paper to me. I'm too tired to read myself.

Johnny—Here's an article on "The Hog in Politics." Shall I read that?

Snuggs—No; I don't care to hear the biography of David Bennett Hill.

Obituary.

Mrs. Ella Friese, beloved wife of Bernard Friese, and daughter of Mr. Jas. W. Crapp, of Gorman, departed this life at her late residence in Oakland on Tuesday night, March 29, 1892. The deceased lady was ill but a short time and her sudden death was quite a shock to her friends and relatives, as none were prepared or expecting so sad a termination of her illness.

She was in the twenty-fifth year of her age and had been married nearly seven years.

She was a loving wife and a kind mother and leaves a husband and three children to mourn their loss.

The funeral services were conducted at St. Paul's M. E. church Thursday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. G. W. Kepler, officiating. The interment was made in Odd Fellows' Cemetery.

The Real Pioneers.

It has been urged by weak argumentarians that "roads are for the rich, schools for the poor."

But the truth is—there is no competition between roads and schools.

Both must enjoy public support and maintenance.

Which comes first is a philosophical rather than an economical question.

Without affirming that roads are of necessarily paramount importance, the Journal does contend that in the order of causes and effects and the precedences of civilization the necessarily go before all else.

To them the Star of Empire is the pillar of cloud by day and of fire by night.—Frostburg Journal.

Killed at Corinth.

Saturday, while a man named Kelly, employed as a teamster by Gates Bros. & Sharp, at the Snowy Creek & Coal Company's works at Corinth, about six miles west of Oakland, was walking on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad from Terra Alta to his home, he stood on the railroad track to watch some boys fishing at Snowy Creek curve. A freight train from the east was coming and he stepped to the other track to let it pass and in doing so he stepped right in front of No. 6, which was coming from the west. He was instantly killed. His body was taken to Corinth. He leaves a widow and one child.

To Millions of Free Acres via B. & O. Railroad.

Early in April 3,000,000 acres of land of Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservations in Indian Territory will be thrown open to settlers. Those contemplating availing themselves of this opportunity to secure free homes will find the Baltimore and Ohio railroad the quickest route from any point in the East to Indian Territory. Four trains daily from New York, Philadelphia, Chester, Wilmington, Baltimore, Washington, Cumberland, Pittsburgh, Wheeling, and all intermediate stations. All persons contemplating settling at any point in the West, however distant, are requested to write to Chas. O. Scull, General Passenger Agent, B. & O. R. R., Baltimore, Md., for full information as to rates, time of trains and sleeping car accommodations from any point East to any point West.

Selling at Cost.

I will sell for the next thirty days my entire stock of goods, commencing Saturday, March 26, 1892. 4-3t G. W. LANGE.

Dentistry.

Dr. D. O. McKinley will visit McHenry, April 18; Hoxey, April 19; Elder, April 20; Friendsville, April 21 and 22; Mineral Springs, April 23. 6-2t

Christian Endeavor Social.

The Social Committee of Lutheran Y. P. S. C. E., Oakland, invite a number of sociable young people of the place to spend a social evening together.

The attraction of the evening is a race in making gentlemen's neckties by the ladies and trimming ladies' hats by the gentlemen.

Those especially invited take part in the contest. All others, young and old, are invited to be judges. It is going to be interesting. Come!

THE FUTURE OF OUR ROADS.

Interest in Their Improvement is Rapidly Developing.

The interest in our public highways, if less developed than the interest in American railways, is rapidly increasing. It has been pointed out that if the vacant farms are to be rehabilitated one factor in their successful cultivation will be a better system of common roads, by which the agricultural products can more easily reach the local market. The movement for these improved highways has received the attention of the governors of quite a number of our states, who have asked their several legislatures to make provision for better systems of roadmaking, and it is proposed by Mr. Clappole, a civil engineer writing in the Engineering Magazine, that professional roadmaking companies shall be organized, who will contract for the construction of highways, as contracts are now taken for the building of railroads. It is evident that if the highways in the rural districts are to be improved upon and made into useful thoroughfares they must be constructed by people who know how to make them. At present the working out of the highway tax by individuals, or the transfer of this duty to the town roadmaster, is not a method that amounts to anything more than a system of costly repairs. The rains of one season wash away the roads that have been required, and there is no wise method employed in their construction which limits the constant damage of storms and floods. This wasteful system has gone as far as it ought to. The plan now more in vogue is to place the roadmaking in the hands of the state or the county, and to have highways laid out with reference to the convenience of the largest number of the people. It appears impossible so secure proper roads in the sparsely settled towns in any other way, and if good wagon thoroughfares are desired between important localities it is no more than right that the more important towns should contribute largely for their construction.

It has been demonstrated that the roads which cost the most are usually the cheapest, because there is very little expense required for them after their first cost has been met. Unquestionably the country is prepared to put its wagon roads in a better condition, and people who look at agricultural interests and the development of the large towns are regarding the wagon roads in a different light from what they once did. The present pope, when bishop of Perugia, began his administration of the church by mapping out a system of road improvement for the whole province, and it was by these improvements that he first became known as an organizer that the Church of Rome could justly place in its highest office. He was not content to build a single great road, but he united one road with another, so that the whole province was infused with new life. The French and the Swiss are the great European masters of highways. In Switzerland the people have made their fortunes by providing good common roads for the tourists of the world, and in France, where the best wagon roads in the world are to be found, ever since Napoleon organized a method of roadbuilding, the government has kept control of this public service and managed it in such a way that the rural people of France have been able to take their products, however perishable, cheaply and quickly to market, and make the most of their industries.

Larger ideas should prevail in the making of our wagon roads, and, as a near and forcible illustration of the value of good wagon roads in the development of property, we refer to the highways in Brookline and in the towns along the North Shore. Wherever the highways have been thoroughly improved the property has rapidly increased in value, and has been purchased by those who have built up the community in which they have decided to live. The two great principles which affect the building of wagon roads are business and pleasure. The first necessity is that good roads shall bring neighborhoods close together and the producer within easy access to his market, and the second is that the people in towns and cities shall be able to use the highways for social and family driving. Wherever in town or country good roads exist the prosperity of the community seems to be assured, and with the more intensive cultivation of the land the importance of better facilities for wagon communication is greatly increased.—Boston Herald.

"W. D. H.'s" Criticism.

To the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN.

Please tell Mr. H. for me that I said he is a gentleman.

Many folks may doubt it who read his article in your last issue, since a gentleman would not write such an article and especially without having just cause for the same. But circumstances alter cases, hence (notwithstanding my extreme illiteracy) I'll see if I cannot demonstrate the cause of his unjust criticism and prove him to be a gentleman still.

1st. Mr. H. is a gentleman because he did not know that we talked down here at Accident think as much of Mr. Hinebaugh as he does and appreciate his labors in the interest of our public schools just as much. My suggestion was not intended to criticize Mr. Hinebaugh or anyone else in the least. But I think we all feel to congratulate him with Mr. H. for his increasing energy and interest manifested—surely no one can say he has not done his best and who can do more?

2d. Because Mr. H. did not know that I am no aspirant for the office, neither am I seeking it for a friend, and have nothing more in it than every citizen should have.

3d. Because Mr. H. does not know that I am fully well enough informed as to details of school work in Garrett county to know to a certainty that any man who is competent to do it at all can do all the work which our examiners have been doing in six months of actual service since our schools are only open from three to five months in a year. However I referred to his ample time, not to Mr. Hinebaugh's indolence or neglect of duty.

4th. Because he does not know that I am not of that class who complain at the salary. But I claim it is just and reasonable and that he should be paid a reasonable annual salary and give us a year of actual service in return.

5th. Because Mr. H. does not know that I do not profess to be a graduate, neither to be perfect in knowledge or grammar. Hence, certainly if I conclude to take a normal course it will be as a pupil, but since my business is farming I beg leave to differ as to the investment being a judicious one; I'd rather buy a Jersey cow.

6th. Because Mr. H. does not know that the most popular journals in America have spoken of even presidential aspirants as presidential timber. If he had he would not have objected to my term "material" for school examiner.

7th. Because Mr. H. took many entirely wrong views from my suggestion and these views stirred up his ire and he wrote before he knew he was wrong. Here allow me to suggest, Mr. H., that you be careful; don't devour your prey until you are sure you have it.

Now, Mr. H., I am certain had you been fully aware of all the above facts you would have been more mild in your criticism. Yet for my part I have no offense from it whatever, knowing that you misunderstood my purpose. So let us drop personal abuse and come down to the question. Really, Mr. H., now in good humor, tell me can you see any good reason why our examiner should not teach our Normal? At some other time I may give some reasons why I think he should.

I beg your pardon, Mr. Editor, for my lengthy article, but justice to myself and Mr. Hinebaugh, as well as to Mr. H., demand an explanation.

J. W. B. Accident, Md., April 5, 1892.

Law Books for Sale.

Will sell the Law Library of the late Wm. P. Townsend, of Oakland, at private sale, in part or as a whole, on reasonable terms, the purchaser or purchasers getting note with approved security. A rare chance for young lawyers needing a library.

MARTHA J. TOWNSEND, S. L. TOWNSEND, Executors.

A traveling man who chanced to be in the store of E. V. Wood, at McKees Rocks, Pa., says while he was waiting to see Mr. Wood, a little girl came in with an empty bottle labeled Chamberlain's Pain Balm and said: "Mamma wants another bottle of that medicine; she says it is the best medicine for rheumatism she ever used." 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers, Druggist.

Manassas Ridge.
This is the garden spot of Garrett county, and seeing no item from the place I think a few words of interest to the readers of your valuable paper.

Weather very fine.
Sugar makers busy reboiling their trees.

Miss Ida Bittinger, of this place, and Mrs. Anna Camp, of New Germany, were visiting relatives and friends at Bittinger last week.

Henry Yommer is employed by S. C. Broadwater. Henry is a good hand.

Bush Beyans lost a valuable mare last week.

The people of this section escaped court this spring. They don't believe in the kind of courting that was going on in Oakland last week.

Wm. Junkins talks of buying Joel D. Brennenman's farm on Keyser's Ridge. The people here will miss their good old veterinarian very much.

D. J. Brennenman made a trip to Lonaconing last Saturday with a load of produce.

M. Custer talks of going to Salisbury soon.

Miss Katie Durst, of New Germany, is visiting relatives in this section.

SOMEbody.

Popeville—Delayed.

The weather has been very changeable the past week.

Mrs. Catharine Smalley has not been well for some time.

Geo. L. Pope has been working at Shade Mills for the past week.

Thomas Layman is home again from court.

Albert Michaels is busy engaged hauling lumber.

Lewis Pope is as happy as the day is long, and of course it's a boy.

Miss Mollie Blocher is home from the west.

We are glad to say that the M.E. church is going to be re-painted. We hope it will prove more successful this time than before.

Mrs. Sarah C. Pope is on the sick list.

Rosenbarger Bros are not running their mill so steadily now.

Peter Pope is engaged making fence.

The knowing ones prophesy a wedding in the near future. We sincerely hope it will not prove a failure.

Miss Mand Pope's horse became frightened at a buggy along the roadside recently and threw her, but she escaped uninjured.

ROVER.

Cove.

The farmers are busily engaged in plowing and burning their lime kilns.

William Lohr lost a valuable cow last week.

Peter Brown is working for Fred Camp, near Engles Mill.

Mrs. Mary Mosser and family left for Sabetha, Kansas, the 30th ult., where they expect to make their future home.

William Daniels and family will soon leave for their new home near Somerset.

Sunday School was held in the Ev. Lutheran church last Sunday at 9 a. m., and the following officers were elected: Superintendent, Wm. M. Lohr; assistant superintendent, Emory Fisher; secretary, Miss Clara Speicher; treasurer, Miss Emma Daniels; president, Jesse Frazee.

Marshall Beachy was in the Cove last Sunday to see his best girl. Come again.

SLEEPY NANCE.

McHenry.

We have been having fine weather the past week, but at this writing we are having plenty of rain.

Mrs. George H. Fulmer and little daughter Florence, of Oakland, were visiting relatives and friends here the latter part of last week and first part of this.

Rev. I. Thompson, of Ryans Glade, and Rev. Taylor Sines, of near Swallow Falls, held a series of meetings here Saturday night and Sunday. The meetings were largely attended.

The public sale of Samuel Specht's was well attended.

Rev. John S. King, of Bakers Summit, Pa., was here on a visit recently. He took home with him a very fine colt which he purchased at Mr. Specht's sale.

Mumps are all the rage in this community. Quite a number of children have them.

Let us hear from more correspondents.

RED RIDING HOOD.

District No. 11.

Rev. Evans, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, preached an eloquent sermon last Sunday.

Messrs. Charles and John Merrill were visiting in New Germany last Sunday.

D. W. Crowe, of New Germany, paid the people on Savage a flying visit recently.

Michael Broderick and Tuck Murphy, who are employed in the Silver Bell mine, were through here last week.

John Ross and Witham Durst, of Middle Mines, passed through here recently.

Henry and Samuel Duckworth were very successful. They captured thirteen of the cat species this winter.

Millard Durst has purchased a fine buggy.

A great many of our young men talk of working for the Augusta company this spring.

MIXER'S DELIGHT.

New Germany.

We are having fine weather after the severe March storms.

John W. Wiland has commenced work on his new farm near the silver and lead mines on Black run.

J. L. Fresh was visiting in Frostburg last week.

Webb Crowe and Israel Duckworth are engaged in the shingle business.

A party of young folks spent Sunday evening at Commissioner Fresh's and passed a pleasant evening in singing.

Misses Sallie and Nora Warnick were visiting here last week.

George Feik moved to Salisbury last week.

Will Camp purchased a fine horse of Samuel Broadwater.

ZACHUS.

Mountain Lake Park.

L. S. Carr, of Fairmont, spent a day in the Park last week.

Among the classes taught at the Park this summer will be one of type writing and stenography by Miss Viola Hubbel, an expert, from Cincinnati.

John DeWitt Miller, one of the leading Chautauqua lecturers, will appear on our Mountain Lake Chautauqua this summer. He is jolly.

A. T. Young, of Wheeling, rented a cottage last Friday.

Zay Dawson rented one of the "Stone" cottages a few days ago.

Merchant Garthright received one day last week a car load of nails and one of flour.

Several students from the Philadelphia School of Oratory will accompany Miss Orum to the Park this summer to continue their studies.

There is some prospect of a bakery being put in operation here this summer by Cincinnati parties. They will be on the ground to look around next week.

Some of the boys will get themselves into trouble for trespassing upon the private property of the Park and hunting and fishing in and about the lake. It seems that they pay no attention to the trespass notice lately published in THE REPUBLICAN. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

The yards sown in blue grass begin to look fresh and green, the robins and other birds are singing their spring songs and the April showers—all indicate that spring is here.

Miss Swan has rented Briarland Seminary for a boarding house, possession to be given June 1.

We learn that three persons went to Oakland last Saturday to have their teeth pulled. A good day for toothache.

The Oakland meat wagons are making regular trips to the Park. Why not the grocermen?

Mrs. Thatcher and children went to Monroeville Saturday on a short visit.

The children enjoyed "April Fool Day," if some of the older people did not.

Rev. Kepler was compelled to withdraw his appointment for last Sunday, on account of a funeral service, but will preach next Sabbath at 3 p. m.

Mrs. Bullard, her mother and her daughter returned to the Park a couple of our Park ladies called on a lady friend a few afternoons back and became so interested that they forgot supper, the passing away of daylight, etc., and when awakened to the fact that night was at hand, hastily left to "get supper."

Rev. J. M. Davis and wife visited the Park Monday and carried home a bucket full of white sulphur water.

Rev. Hopkins visited the Park Saturday last.

A young clerk from Oakland spent Sunday just beyond here. Although he is a Methodist, it is said he was holding a love feast.

Mrs. Sawyer visited the county seat Tuesday morning.

Supr. Rudisih is busy, with a force of hands, cleaning up, opening up streets, burning leaves, etc., taking advantage of the fine weather and getting ready for the coming season.

Mr. Ault drove through the Park Monday, happy as a king.

Our meat market will open up shortly, and the Mountain Lake meat wagon may in the near future visit Oakland with choice meats, fresh and tender. It is fortunate for Oakland that it is one of our suburbs. Come this way, buy, eat and be happy.

The antique school desks, which graced our school room the past winter, have been taken to Oakland and stored away for safe keeping. They are a rare specimen of school furniture and should be photographed, for fear that this ancient relic of past ages might be consumed by fire, or be stolen by seekers after rare curiosities. Possibly they are to be boxed up and shipped to the World's Fair. Did they come over in the Mayflower, or were they a gift of Columbus? Who can answer? They are rare anyway.

Father Spitzer and wife are among the new arrivals at the Park. Lost, strayed or stolen—two or three of our public roads. Where they used to be is a mud hole—some places almost bottomless. The finder of any of these roads will be liberally rewarded by notifying the advocates of good roads.

HEMLOCK.

Grantsville.

Spring is here and also the pond orchestra.

A great day for tomfoolery—the first of April.

H. S. Nicholson, of Meyersdale, was in this section several days the past week in the interest of the Commercial.

Geo. W. Shaw had public sale on the 29th ult., Jos. Blocher on the 30th and Samuel Baker on the 31st.

Jos. Blocher, who intends to remove his family to Hyndman, Pa., where he is to engage in planing mill work, has temporarily moved into Mr. Getty's house east of A. L. Grange's store.

Miss Lillie Kurtz intends to take a trip to Pittsburgh this week to restock her millinery establishment.

S. J. Beachy, our able auctioneer, has been quite busy at his professional work. The past week he cried five public sales.

The contemporaries in the neighboring towns north of the Mason & Dixon line are evidently awake to the merits of THE REPUBLICAN and also aware of the importance of this county judging from the many compliments and flattering articles published in those organs.

BOB WHITE.

Saturday, April 2.

Davis Mills.

After a few weeks silence we again appear in your columns.

Spring has made its appearance. We hope it will stay.

Rev. F. M. Cain did not fill his appointment last Sabbath on account of sickness.

Henry Jordan is still confined to his bed.

Misses Lillie Garrett and Lucretia King, of this place, are visiting at Deer Park.

Miss Belle Chisholm, who has been at Romney, W. Va., during the past winter, returned home on Saturday.

J. R. Kimmell has moved his saw mill further back in the timber and expects to cut a large amount of lumber this spring and summer.

Mr. H. W. Hesen has a pig on his farm that is a natural curiosity. The pig in question has four perfectly formed front feet and is lively and playful.

Thaddeus Minebaugh, son of Examiner Minebaugh, who has been quite ill for a long time, was able to be in town Tuesday.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Has no equal for the prompt relief and speedy cure of Colds, Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, Loss of Voice, Proust's Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe, and other derangements of the throat and lungs. The best-known cough-cure in the world, it is recommended by eminent physicians, and is the favorite preparation with singers, actors, preachers, and teachers. It soothes the inflamed membrane, loosens the phlegm, stops coughing, and induces repose.

taken for consumption, in its early stages, checks further progress of the disease, and even in the later stages, it cures the distressing cough and promotes refreshing sleep. It is agreeable to the taste, needs but small doses, and does not interfere with digestion or any of the regular organic functions. As an emergency medicine, every household should be provided with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Having used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, I can confidently recommend it for all the complaints it is claimed to cure. Its sale is increasing yearly with me, and my customers think this preparation has no equal as a cough-cure."

—S. W. Parent, Queensbury, N. B.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25c; six bottles, $1.50. Prompt to act, sure to cure.

The little machine called the printing press, made presidents, killed poets, furnished battles for beauties and punished geniuses with criticism. It has curtailed the power of kings, graced the pantry shelves and busted banks. It converted bankers into paupers and made lawyers out of college presidents. It has educated the homeless and robbed the philosopher of his reason. It smiles and cries and dies, but it can't be run to please everybody, and the man is a fool who tries it.—Ex.

The Normal School at Accident will be organized on Monday, April 25th, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. Recitations will begin the following Tuesday at 9 a. m. Let every friend of education who is interested work for its success. Due attention will be given to the requirements as given in the curriculum of the State Normal for life certificates for the advantage of those whose aspirations are higher than merely to obtain certificates. An assistant will be employed if necessary.

Respectfully,

A. S. TEATS.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers, Druggist.

Mr. A. B. Howard, Jr., chief of the State Industrial Bureau, has fitted up his office in the Robinson building, Charles and Saratoga streets, Baltimore, and has entered upon the duties. Mr. Thomas C. Weeks, his predecessor, as chief of the old Bureau of Labor Statistics, conducted the business entirely at his law office, and there has never before been an office especially equipped for this work in the state. Every possible facility will be added for the successful administration of the office. Mr. Howard cordially invites the co-operation and assistance of all who feel sufficient interest in the work to aid him. It is his desire to give careful attention to all of the material interests of the state and especially to make agriculture and the industrial condition of the country's leading features of his reports. There is a great deal of preliminary work to be done as a groundwork for the first report before its actual compilation can be commenced. Mr. Howard has appointed as his assistant Mr. George C. Thomas, who at the time of his appointment was in the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, and whose experience there will fit him for valuable service.

MOVEMENT FOR BETTER ROADS.

It Began in New Jersey But Has Extended in All Directions.

The movement toward highway improvement has probably attained greater proportions in New Jersey than in any other state of the Union. In speaking of it the New York Times says:

"The movement for improved roads began in Union county, N. J., under the influence of Dr. Chauncey B. Ripley, of Westfield. Dr. Ripley has worked twenty-five years toward the attainment of this important project, and he is said to have expended $100,000 in objects lessons for improved roads. The movement has spread rapidly and Union county today has improved roads from Elizabeth, the county seat, extending in all directions. The experiment, if it may be so called, has been a most successful one, and the science of maintaining and equipping these roads is gradually being perfected. One of the most significant outgrowths of the improved road project is the hearty sympathy accorded it in the New Jersey state legislature. Fortunately the friends of the project were enabled to secure the enthusiastic interest of the members of the legislature irrespective of political influence, and being thus freed from what so frequently embarrasses and impedes legislative co-operation the improved road project was endorsed by all the state authorities. Governor Abbott is one of the most hearty supporters of the system."

The movement has by no means been restricted to New Jersey. On the contrary, a widespread interest has been developed in nearly every state in the Union, as is evidenced by the recommendations made in the annual messages of the governors of several states advocating improved roads throughout all parts of their commonwealths. Governor McKinley, of Ohio, in his message, referred to the improved road idea as a necessary part of the benefits that might be secured to all classes, and particularly to the farmers. Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, endorsed the project in two annual messages, as have also Governors Abbott, Hill and Bulkeley.

The last and by far the most important move in the direction of improved roads is the interest manifested by the general government. A few months ago letters were sent from the department of state to every American consul all over the globe instructing each one to investigate the history and methods of the system of roads employed in the country in which they were situated, and to make a report on the subject to the department of state. The consuls responded in a way that has given great satisfaction to every friend of the improved road idea. Their reports have been carefully arranged by the department and bound in a volume of 400 pages, forming the finest encyclopedia of roads that has ever been compiled. It may be had upon application at the state department.

Among the countries that have contributed chapters to this interesting volume are Australia, the Fiji Islands, Philippine Islands, Japan, Ceylon, China, the West Indies and South America. The information obtained from these countries consists of answers to a number of carefully prepared questions which cover the subject in its most comprehensive form.

It is noticeable that the roads throughout Europe are far superior to those in the United States; indeed, a gentleman was heard to say yesterday that nothing struck him so forcibly in his travels on the continent as the superiority of the roads. He explained that the reason for this advanced movement is due to the fact that the countries in which he traveled have a civilization extending back a thousand years, while that of the United States embraces but a hundred.

One of the most important statements made in the report in question is the marked increase in the value of agricultural land situated on the improved roads. It is estimated that farm property thus benefited increases in value from 6 to 15 per cent., which is surely sufficient commendation to establish the necessity for co-operation in the movement that has been started in New Jersey. One frequently hears it said that history furnishes no instance of the rapid recovery of a country from disturbance so rapid and complete as that of France, and the recovery in this instance is said to be due directly to the condition of the roads, which are in such a high state of improvement as to place nearly all agricultural classes within reach of the markets, thus facilitating the transportation of farm produce and lessening the cost of it. The good roads which form so distinguishing a characteristic of the French system were originally created by Napoleon I., who planned a most elaborate project in this direction for the purpose of moving his army with ease and dispatch. Napoleon III carried out the plans thus originated by his uncle, and in this way there was perpetuated a monument of Napoleonic sagacity that will endure through generations.

"The active workers for the project of improved roads in New Jersey believe that if they can impress upon the people the fact that good roads pay for themselves the battle will be won."

In Memoriam.

Sacred to the memory of our loving mother, Mrs. Mary Waltz, who died December 25, 1891, aged 86 years and 23 days.

Death has robbed us of our loving mother, whom we loved and cherished dear—I was mother, yes, dear mother—can we help but shed a tear?

Yes, we miss her, oh, we miss her. When we see her vacant chair, but how sad the room without her. For there is no mother there.

How we loved her, yes, we loved her. Oh, no earthly tongue can tell, but the angels they have called her 'Up to heaven there to dwell.

But cheer up, we know she's waiting. For her dear ones ever more, and is singing with the angels on the bright and happy shore.—From her children.

Republican Primaries.
Pursuant to a call by the chairman of the Republican County Committee primary elections will be held on Saturday, April 23, 1892,
at 2 p. m., at the usual voting places
in the various election districts of the county, to elect five delegates to a County Convention to be held in Oakland on Wednesday, April 27, 1892, at 2 o'clock p. m. At the County Convention delegates
will be elected to the Sixth Congressional District Convention to be held at Hagerstown, April 28, 1892.

E. E. SELLERS,
Chairman.

He isn't quite as bland as he was.
The wage-earners constitute the corner stone of this Republic.

Even before he is a Democrat
Mr. D. B. Hill is a politician.

The Republican party believes in honesty in dollars as well as in other things.

FARMERS will make a note of this:
Exports of breadstuffs for February
of this year amounted to $23,850,990
as against $8,349,967 for the same time last year.

Now that the people in lockram
are beginning to disclose themselves
on the silver question, Rufus Hill
may be expected shortly to declare
"By the gods! I know as well as I know myself" and join in with the anti-silver cry.

When the Democratic House discusses silver the Sergeant-at-Arms
is powerless to preserve order.
But it only needs Tom Reed to get up to discuss a parliamentary question for the Democrats to come to order, so that they may hear what he says.

PATRICK WALSH, of Augusta,
Ga., introduced Senator Hill as
"one of the ablest, purest, highest and best exponents of Democracy in the country." Of course he is,
and it takes the kind of a man
Dave Hill is to be that kind of an exponent of that kind of a political faith.

Two Republicans changed the rules of the House to prevent a minority filibustering so as to obstruct business, but the Democrats have fixed them so that an anti-silver minority has throttled a free coinage majority inside their own party and that, too, without the trouble of filibustering.

TAKING a broad view of the working of protection since 1816, it appears that the principal products
the farmers sell have advanced in price an average of 144 per cent.,
while on the other hand, the principal articles they have to buy have fallen an average of 79 per cent.
Yet Democrats with checks of tripled
tariffs declare that the tariff is a tax and a particularly heavy burden on the farmers.

A LARGE edition of the speech of General Bankhead (ex-Congressman)
on the House in denunciation of Union pensions is being printed for circulation in the South. This is the speech in which Bankhead denounced a dissection of the Union if the South is not relieved of the pension tax. According to Bankhead the South must pay the entire amount of the pension tax
or prepare to face another rebellion.
The South will not submit much longer, he says, to paying a part of the pensions.

Whatever the Republican side
of the House looks in numbers is made up by a full supply of courage, brains and clear-sighted determination. The splendid conduct of the Republican minority during
the fight over the silver bill extorted expressions of admiration from such a red-necked Democrat as Cassin
Tamm. "I couldn't help," said

Mr. Crain, "but admire the magnificent discipline displayed by the Republican minority. It was equal to that of a German regiment."
They advanced, retreated, wheeled,
faced about, marched, counter-marched and charged like trained veterans. It was magnificent, and it was politics." Several hundred thousand Republicans say ditto to that. The Republican minority has done nobly.

SPRINKLES and writers in enumerating Maryland's material resources are wont to deal in glittering generalities which make but a small impression on the mind. They speak of the border grounds between the North and South, a beautiful climate bathing the hills, fertile fields which bring forth abundance, the great oyster beds as a source of import wealth, with mines and quarries ample to supply the wants of the world. Particularly in agriculture Maryland is the information given in post-prandial speeches of a very meagre variety.

But Maryland is a productive
state, comparing favorably with others in the quantity and quality
of its agricultural commodities.
Referring specifically to the two staple crops, corn and wheat—a number of interesting facts can be presented. For instance, the Terrington State produced 18,881,000 bushels of corn in 1891, of which only 8,874,000 bushels were "on hand" on March 1. Some 13,215, 000 bushels were consumed in the counties where it was grown and 5,664,000 bushels were sold and shipped out of said counties. In other words, 70 per cent. of Maryland's corn crop is required for home consumption and 30 per cent.
can be spared for commercial purposes. Good merchantable corn
having sold during the year at 49
cents per bushel, it is seen that the portion of the crop disposed of brought the farmers $2,875,500.

The wheat crop in Maryland for 1891 was 8,107,000 bushels, of which only 1,861,000 bushels remained "on hand" March 1. A trade over 3, 729,000 bushels were consumed in the counties where it was grown,
while 4,377,750 bushels were sold
and shipped away, the proportion being as 16 to 54. The average price of wheat for the season being 83 cents per bushel, that part of the crop sold was worth $3,633,000.
The average price of corn, therefore, is certainly not as high as that of wheat, and it takes the kind of a man Dave Hill is to be that kind of an exponent of that kind of a political
faith.

Certainly such an income is not to be despised, and it shows that the agricultural interests of the Terrington State are as valuable,
if not more so, than any other industries.—Baltimore Herald.

New Tariff Documents.
Three admirable documents have just been issued by the American Protective Tariff League.
No. 10, "Farmer and the Tariff,"
is a complete revision of an article,
which proved very popular in 1888.
No. 53 is entitled "Free Trade England and Protection United States."
No. 54 embraces the reports of the Minority of the Ways and Means Committee on the bill to put Wool, Woolen and Cotton Bagging on
the Free List.
The document publications of the League now embrace fifty four numbers all of which will be sent to any address for 50 cents.
Address: Wilbur F. Wakeman, Gen'l Sec'y, 135 West 23d Street,
New York.

Free-Trade tell us that if we do not buy we cannot sell, that a Protective Tariff strangles foreign commerce. But, as usual, their statements are contrary to fact and figures.

Everybody buys where he can do so most advantageously. We are now exporting nearly a thousand million of dollars' worth annually,
more than ever before in our history
and more per capita.
We are importing more than ever before, too, but with this difference:
Our free imports have largely increased, while our dutiable imports have decreased, both of which are to the advantage of American labor
and industries.

Our balance of trade has for some time been on the right side, and is constantly increasing.
For this the McKinley Tariff and reciprocity are in a large measure responsible.
We are now making and export-
ing the goods we need to buy.
Uncle Sam is doing a larger business at home and selling more goods abroad. This is just the sort of "strangulation" we like.
We are importing industries now
instead of goods, and our laborers
and farmers are reaping the benefit.
And our Tariff is what has brought
it all about.
On the other hand, Free-Trade would have, and has had, just the opposite effect. Then there would be an adverse balance of trade. We would buy abroad instead of producing at home. Our mills would be closed and our workmen idle. We

Free-Trade tell us that if we do
not buy we cannot sell, that a Protective Tariff strangles foreign commerce. But, as usual, their statements are contrary to fact and
figures.

Everybody buys where he can do so most advantageously. We are now exporting nearly a thousand
million of dollars' worth annually,
more than ever before in our history
and more per capita.
We are importing more than ever before, too, but with this difference:
Our free imports have largely increased, while our dutiable imports
have decreased, both of which are
to the advantage of American labor
and industries.

Our balance of trade has for some time been on the right side, and is constantly increasing.
For this the McKinley Tariff and reciprocity are in a large measure
responsible.
We are now making and export-
ing the goods we need to buy.
Uncle Sam is doing a larger business at home and selling more goods
abroad. This is just the sort of
"strangulation" we like.
We are importing industries now
instead of goods, and our laborers
and farmers are reaping the benefit.
And our Tariff is what has brought
it all about.
On the other hand, Free-Trade
would have, and has had, just the opposite effect. Then there would be an adverse balance of trade. We
would buy abroad instead of producing at home. Our mills would be closed and our workmen idle. We

that. The Republican minority has

SPRINKLES and writers in enumerat-
ing Maryland's material resources
are wont to deal in glittering generalities which make but a small impression on the mind. They speak
of the border grounds between the North and South, a beautiful climate bathing the hills, fertile fields
which bring forth abundance, the
great oyster beds as a source of import wealth, with mines and quarries ample to supply the wants of the world. Particularly in agriculture Maryland is the information
given in post-prandial speeches of a very meagre variety.

But Maryland is a productive
state, comparing favorably with others in the quantity and quality
of its agricultural commodities.
Referring specifically to the two staple crops, corn and wheat—a number of interesting facts can be presented. For instance, the Terrington State produced 18,881,000
bushels of corn in 1891, of which only 8,874,000 bushels were "on hand" on March 1. Some 13,215, 000 bushels were consumed in the counties where it was grown and 5,664,000 bushels were sold and shipped out of said counties. In other words, 70 per cent. of Maryland's corn crop is required for home consumption and 30 per cent.
can be spared for commercial pur-
having sold during the year at 49
cents per bushel, it is seen that the
portion of the crop disposed of
brought the farmers $2,875,500.

The wheat crop in Maryland for 1891 was 8,107,000 bushels, of which only 1,861,000 bushels remained "on hand" March 1. A trade over 3, 729,000 bushels were consumed in
the counties where it was grown,
while 4,377,750 bushels were sold
and shipped away, the proportion
being as 16 to 54. The average price of wheat for the season being 83 cents per bushel, that part of
the crop sold was worth $3,633,000.
The average price of corn, therefore, is certainly not as high as
that of wheat, and it takes the kind of a man Dave Hill is to be that kind of an exponent of that kind of a political
faith.

Certainly such an income is not to be despised, and it shows that
the agricultural interests of the Terrington State are as valuable,
if not more so, than any other industries.—Baltimore Herald.

New Tariff Documents.
Three admirable documents have just been issued by the American Protective Tariff League.
No. 10, "Farmer and the Tariff,"
is a complete revision of an article,
which proved very popular in 1888.
No. 53 is entitled "Free Trade
England and Protection United States."
No. 54 embraces the reports of
the Minority of the Ways and Means Committee on the bill to put Wool, Woolen and Cotton Bagging on
the Free List.
The document publications of the League now embrace fifty four numbers all of which will be sent to any address for 50 cents.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.
HENRY H. SELLERS,
Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY, APRIL 13, 1892.

Republican Primaries.
Pursuant to a call by the chairman of the Republican County Committee primary elections will be held on Saturday, April 23, 1892,
at 2 p. m., at the usual voting places
in the various election districts of
the county, to elect five delegates
to a County Convention to be held
in Oakland on Wednesday, April 27, 1892, at 2 o'clock p. m. At the County Convention delegates
will be elected to the Sixth Congressional District Convention to be held at Hagerstown, April 28, 1892.

E. E. SELLERS,
Chairman.

He isn't quite as bland as he was.
The wage-earners constitute the corner stone of this Republic.

Even before he is a Democrat
Mr. D. B. Hill is a politician.

The Republican party believes in honesty in dollars as well as in other things.

FARMERS will make a note of this:
Exports of breadstuffs for February
of this year amounted to $23,850,990
as against $8,349,967 for the same
time last year.

Now that the people in lockram
are beginning to disclose themselves
on the silver question, Rufus Hill
may be expected shortly to declare
"By the gods! I know as well as I know myself" and join in with
the anti-silver cry.

When the Democratic House discusses silver the Sergeant-at-Arms
is powerless to preserve order.
But it only needs Tom Reed to get
up to discuss a parliamentary question for the Democrats to come to order, so that they may hear what
he says.

PATRICK WALSH, of Augusta,
Ga., introduced Senator Hill as
"one of the ablest, purest, highest
and best exponents of Democracy
in the country." Of course he is,
and it takes the kind of a man
Dave Hill is to be that kind of an exponent of that kind of a political
faith.

Two Republicans changed the rules of the House to prevent a minority filibustering so as to obstruct business, but the Democrats have fixed them so that an anti-
silver minority has throttled a free
coinage majority inside their own party and that, too, without the
trouble of filibustering.

TAKING a broad view of the working of protection since 1816, it appears that the principal products
the farmers sell have advanced in
price an average of 144 per cent.,
while on the other hand, the principal articles they have to buy have fallen an average of 79 per cent.
Yet Democrats with checks of tripled
tariffs declare that the tariff
is a tax and a particularly heavy
burden on the farmers.

A LARGE edition of the speech of General Bankhead (ex-Congressman)
on the House in denunciation of Union pensions is being printed for circulation in the South. This is the speech in which Bankhead
denounced a dissection of the Union if the South is not relieved of
the pension tax. According to Bankhead the South must pay the entire amount of the pension tax
or prepare to face another rebellion.
The South will not submit much longer, he says, to paying a part of
the pensions.

Whatever the Republican side
of the House looks in numbers is made up by a full supply of courage, brains and clear-sighted determination. The splendid conduct of the Republican minority during
the fight over the silver bill extorted
expressions of admiration from such
a red-necked Democrat as Cassin
Tamm. "I couldn't help," said

Mr. Crain, "but admire the magnificent discipline displayed by the Republican minority. It was equal
to that of a German regiment."
They advanced, retreated, wheeled,
faced about, marched, counter-
marched and charged like trained veterans. It was magnificent, and it was politics." Several hundred thousand Republicans say ditto to

The Oakland Republican is one of the State's most valued exchanges. It is always full of interesting news from our old native county.—Somerset County Star.

Farmers! it will be to your interest to consult me if you need good fertilizer. Analysis guaranteed and prices right.

H. WEBER.

Just received a car load of Pillsbury's Best XXX Flour. Will sell it lower than any other store in Oakland.

D. E. OFFUTT.

For RENT.—We have for rent a house on Second street containing nine rooms, cellar, etc. The lot is large and on it is a well of never failing water. Apply to this office.

Deputy Collector Sincell informed us last week that he weighed nearly one hundred thousand pounds of maple sugar during his recent visit to the sugar districts of Garrett county.

Second Lieutenant E. M. Spedden, of Co. B., Second Battalion, has resigned. His resignation has been forwarded to Adjutant-General Douglas and will doubtless be accepted.

At the late meeting of the County Commissioners the bond of Treasurer Lawton was approved and entered for record. Mr. Lawton will probably take charge of his office Monday.

Trim up the trees, vines and bushes, clean up the back yards and front ones, too, and have everything neat and clean for the spring season. But keep on your flannel till the 15th of May.

George Miller, aged about nineteen, son of Elias Miller, residing a few miles from Deer Park, died on Wednesday morning from injuries received Tuesday afternoon by a tree falling on him.

On Monday Capt. P. A. Chisholm shot a black hawk near Mt. Lake Park, which measured five feet and a-half from tip to tip. The claws of the bird, which were very sharp, were an inch and a-half long.

Dr. A. L. Wagner has located in Oakland and will practice both in town and country. Calls promptly answered, either day or night. Office, one door west of St. Paul's M. E. church. 8-lyr.

Conclan, of Cumberland, and Miss Mary Rindard, of Rindard, W. Va.

The unpaid accounts of those who subscribed to the building fund of St. Paul's Met. odist Episcopal church are in the hands of the pastor and of Col. A. G. Sturgis. All persons who have not settled their accounts are respectfully requested to do so at once, either by cash or note.

If you want a good first-class iron shovel plow be sure and get one of A. D. Naylor's make, as he makes the best. Examine his extra heavy plows for breaking up new ground; they cannot be beat. He also keeps a stock of good hand-made mauls on hand. Give him a call. All kinds of blacksmithing promptly done. 7-3

The Elkins, W. Va., National Bank building, a very handsome as well as substantial structure, is completed, and the institution was opened for business on Saturday, the 2nd inst. The structure is 32x80 feet, is two stories with mansard roof and built of native blue stone from the Huddix quarries, owned by the company on the line of the West Virginia Central railroad.

Since our contemporary just across the border, the Oakland Republican is receiving such flattering press notices from all points, we wish to add our note to the "general fund" by mentioning that the above weekly is among our most valuable exchanges. Mr. Sincell, the editor and proprietor, is making the Republican one of the best weekly papers in the State of Maryland.—Oracle.

A traveling man who chanced to be in the store of E. V. Wood, at McKees Rocks, Pa., says while he was waiting to see Mr. Wood, a little girl came in with an empty bottle labeled Chamberlain's Cough Balm and said: "Mamma wants another bottle of that medicine; she says it is the best medicine for rheumatism she ever used." 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers, Druggist.

Over at Oakland a fisherman recently caught four small trout in five days. Just wait till Silas Wagner and the editor of this paper get after the trout, and if we can't beat that record we will shrink all the water in Piney Run. That is if we have nothing better with us to drink.—Somerset County Star.

A little advice: It is safer to drink the water of Piney Run than some of the "pizen" you purchase nowadays.

An underground city has been discovered in Turkistan, on the right bank of the Amou Darya. According to reports found the city dates back to about two centuries before Christ. It is very evident that a high degree of civilization was attained by the inhabitants from the fact that they built their places of business several stories high, and their streets and squares are marked by symmetry.

Our sportsmen will have to be very careful not to trespass on the fields of our farmers when the hunting season opens again, as the Maryland Legislature has passed a bill which provides that any one who shall enter the premises of any person to hunt with dog or gun, without permission of the owner of the land, shall be subjected to a fine of $5 and imprisonment in jail in default of payment.

THE TOWN ELECTION.

Three of the Four Republican Candidates Elected.

The election for Mayor and three Councilmen to serve for a term of two years came off Monday. The fight was between a straight Republican and a straight Democratic ticket.

Following is the result:

REPUBLICAN TICKET:
A. G. Sturgis, Mayor.....110
Daniel E. Boyer, Councilman.....95
Geo. L. Boley ".....50
Alonso D. Naylor ".....90

DEMOCRATIC TICKET:
J. S. Jackson, Mayor.....80
Wm. H. Brown, Councilman.....40
Geo. L. Boley ".....30
Alonso D. Naylor ".....20

Dr. H. W. McComas, J. O. Cleveland and D. E. Bolden, who were elected a year ago, are all Republicans, and sold over for another year.

The new council will be composed of five Republicans and one Democrat.

Hurrah for "old Garrett." Under an act passed at the last session of the legislature of this state, a special school fund for Garrett county has been appropriated, which enables us to have seven months of school, beginning this fall, each year. Our able member of the House of Delegates, of this place, Hon. T. H. Bittinger, was mainly instrumental in securing the passage of the bill referred to; an honor to Grantsville and well may we be proud of this achievement.—Grantsville Corr. Meyersdale Commercial.

The pastor of the Lutheran congregation of this place has an appointment for preaching in Davis, W. Va., on April 24. His regular preaching service in Oakland and Deer Park Lutheran churches will therefore be omitted. In two weeks, i. e., May 8, however, the regular appointments will again be filled (D. V.) He is taking contributions for the new Lutheran church here, for which ground will soon be broken on the lot recently purchased and trying to organize Lutheran congregations in Davis and neighboring towns.

The recent visitation of postoffices by county seat postmasters, has resulted in thousands of valuable suggestions and recommendations, which are now being considered in all their details by the different bureaus of the department. This more intimate familiarity with the needs of the service, will enable the proper officers to decide many important questions, such as the establishment or discontinuance of offices, the curtailment or increase of star route service, etc. The service in many small offices has been greatly improved by the personal suggestion of the visiting official, and wherever the experiment has been tried, more intelligent and more faithful work naturally follows.

Mr. J. P. Blaise, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaise had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaise sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaise regards his cure as simply wonderful. 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers, Druggist.

Uncle Sam as Job Printer.

Job printers have just cause for complaint against government interference with their calling. Ordinary competition in business is sharp enough, but when in addition to this the printer has to contend with the cut rates of amateur blacksmiths on the one hand, and the competition of the government printing office on the other, he is literally between the devil and the deep sea, in a business sense.

If a fair rate were charged by the government the case would not be so bad. But when both envelopes and printing are furnished practically free and the buyer pays only the usual rate for the stamps, the outrage is manifest. The whole thing is as wrong in principle as the government were to embark in other private business and offer a bonus to purchasers.—Ex.

The Easter Ball.

Easter Monday night was the scene of one of the grandest full dress balls ever given in Oakland. It was an occasion that will long live in the memories of those who participated in the truly enjoyable assembly.

As the great number of ladies and gentlemen marched into the beautifully decorated ball room of the famed Glades Hotel, the scene that met their eyes was an enchanting one and words are too poor to convey an accurate appearance of the hall. A profusion of handsomely festooned lighting, with color and artistically arranged ferns and evergreens adorning the walls, all brilliantly illuminated, carried one into fairy land.

The orchestra strikes up the music and flashing eyes of diamond beauty guide the tripping feet of lady and of knight and not until morning dawned did those engaged in the dizzy whirl realize the lapse of time.

When good nights were said, the guests departed and dreamed of the good time they had at the Easter ball of 1892.

Our limited space will not permit us to give a description of the costumes worn by the ladies, but they were rich and elegant and exhibited many varieties of style.

Following is a list of those in attendance:

Mrs. P. J. Crogan, Mrs. J. M. Crane, Misses Florence Vickery and Letitia Parks comprised the Kingwood, W. Va., contingent of ladies; Miss Rindard, of Washington Grove, W. Va.; Miss Fannie Sweet, Beaver county, Pa.; Mrs. Ressler and Miss Regina Conclan, Cumberland; Mesdames Mayers, Bouchier, Grant, Hoff, Hyde, West, Dunlap, Cornelius, Bartlett, Robinson and the Misses Bouchier, Elsie and Florence Fay, Hattie and Carrie Bartlett, Jennie Johnson, Sadie Spedden, Sallie, Nellie and Belle Jarboe, Sophia, Rose, Kate and Ella Cornelius, Nettie Lizzell, Jennie Porter, Mamie and Michael Weber.

Among the gentlemen were Col. John Swan, Baltimore; W. G. Brown, P. J. Crogan, F. M. Thomas, J. M. Crane and Felix Elliott, Kingwood, W. Va.; F. S. Deekens, Mt. Savage; H. K. Moberly, Frostburg; James B. Brady, Brady's Mill; L. M. Stanton, Grantsville; Walter Yost, Morgantown; L. C. Ressler, Cumberland, and of Oakland, Messrs. P. J. and A. K. Bouchier, Waring Thomas, J. B. Fay, H. J. Mayers, J. A. Grant, F. G. Hyde, D. E. Offutt, Jr., Elwood and Will Offutt, B. H. and Harry Sincell, Ed. and Richard Bartlett, Fred Felty, Will Weber, Chas. Tower, W. L. From "J. W. B."

To the Editor of The Republican.

Is it not a most notable feature in this controversy between Mr. H. and myself that upon what seems to be the most objectionable part we are a unit. That is, we both commend Mr. Hinebaugh in the highest terms. From this it is evident that we misunderstand each other; hence I write again to explain.

He asks what I did intend and I will try to answer as plain and comprehensible as possible and with due regard to all parties concerned.

I suggested that our Examiner be required to give us a free Normal school and as a reason for the same I gave that because of our short term of school our Examiner would have ample time to teach it.

I think the manner in which I gave that reason in my suggestion has probably been the paramount cause of the whole controversy from the fact that it certainly has conveyed an idea to some at least, and probably to many, which I never intended to convey. I should certainly have made my meaning more comprehensible then. It would have saved much easier to prevent a wrong idea than to correct it now that it has already gone out.

My true meaning of "the never done six months' work in a year," was that the duties of his office do not require more than one-half a year of actual service owing to our very short school term.

Mr. H. differs and thinks they require all of his time. We may possibly both be a little on extremes.

However, be that as it may, and be my true meaning right or wrong, I think it is now comprehensible. And now, Mr. Editor, if at last I am understood, I think that all parties concerned will be relieved of all unjust and unattended reflections.

Accident, April 19, 1892.

Some of the...
While at Mountain Lake Park I learned the following peculiarities of that summer resort:

It is remarkable that the past year had in it three Mays. While the community can boast of no seas or rivers, it has Brooks. This spring they are Arm-odd, but next summer they will be Young (from Wheeling). Goose and ducks there are none, but there is a Swan, refined, educated and accomplished. The people seldom go wrong, but are always Garth-right. Boys and women are not allowed in the army. It is commended by a Sher-man. No guns, spears or canons are used as weapons of war—only a Bow-man. The inhabitants travel by Way-man in a Phe-bus(s). The work is laid on a Rad-i-sill. Mechanics are scarce. Of course one ought not to expect to see at a summer resort a shoemaker, a carpenter, a tailor, for mechanics seldom go to such places, yet there is a Smith or two and a Sawyer, but no saw-mill. Farmers there are none, but a very good Baum-gartner. There is a lack of brushes, but you will find plenty of Combs. Girls are scarce; on the other hand you will find a Daw-son or two a Hin-son, a David-son and a Richard-son. The writer saw no cans, but did see a Jar-bie. The people never ask why? but How(e), or enquire of the daughter, How-ell. They are not high-minded, but very En-low. The musical talent is scarce, but they expect next summer a Fry-singer. The mothers at present do their own work, but the W. C. T. U. will provide a Cook next July. The place is advertised as strictly temperate—no intoxicating drinks allowed—yet I notice one of the attractions for the coming season is O-rum. While there is no mill in the Park a Miller has been engaged for August. There is no complaint for extravagance for it is Close. We heard of no wounds, but saw a Rath-burn. The color is White. It was Brown, but it is brown no more; it wore off. There is no fear of a soap factory being built in the Park. While there is plenty of Hips-ley there is no grease. The meaning will be done by a straight line. All feel secure because of a Pol-lock. One thing the people are to be complimented for is that they are Sharp and the foundation is good Stone. I forgot to mention there is a Weaver. He has a cottage on I street. Front and shade are scarce, but you will find along in June Herring. Silver and gold they have but little, but they possess Clay-ton and are satisfied. I am glad to say that the citizens are not headstrong, as in some places, but are Arm-strong; never cross, but Good. In Cozy Row there is a Grove, and yet no woods around. There is not Much-more to tell of. The language spoken next August will be French. You will see, they say, a Wee-den, not a large one; also a Hay-den. The price of admission to the Chantanooga meetings will be a Vin-cent. If the superintendent is arrested he has a Ransome to offer. It seems so Sperry funny that Pat Morpheus is Baldwin there are so many kinds of hair restoratives in the market. The Town-send(s) their best wishes to the citizens of the U. S. and hope to have a large number try the climate. We weigh a Clay-ton. Mr. Editor, if you come here they will put you in a Sin-cell, or give you Tar(r) or Hay-den you will feel badly.

Having learned these items of news I packed my grip and went my way.
"On Train." DRUMMER.

MT. LAKE PARK.
The April number of the Mountain Chantanooga is a very interesting one and is brim full of information about the coming season at this place. From the announcement we are led to believe that never in the history of Mt. Lake Park has there been so great attractions offered to the public as is presented this season, and yet we are informed that the program is not yet completed, that "there is more to follow." The season will open June 11th, with appropriate opening exercises. I would recommend your readers to send their names and addresses to L. A. Radisill for a copy of the beautiful mid-summer edition to be issued next month.

Messrs. David Enlow and Capt. Hayden visited the Park a few days ago.

Considerable work is being done throughout the Park which will add to the comfort and pleasure of those spending next summer in our midst.

Supr. Radisill has sold about 30 cords of wood to cottagers.

Work is progressing on Mrs. T. E. Hinebaugh's three store, twenty-five room boarding hall. It is located on the road from Oakland to the Park, joining the northwest line of the Park. It will be a comfortable, convenient home for tourists. Mrs. H. has ten acres of ground which will be improved and made one of the most attractive places of this section.

The day is coming when the road between your city and this growing health and summer resort will be lined with neat cottages, occupied by visitors from all parts of the country; when from Oakland to Deer Park, will be a continuous summer city, with its electric light system, telephone and electric light system. Then will the farmers of Garrett county find a home market for all the produce they can raise. Give us good roads, good schools and taxable property will shortly be doubled.

By the way, we congratulate the Oakland merchants for the liberal advertising patronage they give the Mountain Chantanooga. They seem to want our trade and know how to secure it. The wise advertise.

There is some prospect of saving a telephone line connecting the Park with Oakland. If there is, it will be through the energy of H. J. Mayers, Esq., of your city.

The Mountain Lake Park management will issue nearly 500,000 pages printed matter next month, advertising the approaching season. Verily Garrett county will "get a good send off."

Misses Jennie Smith and Addie Sherman spent the latter part of last week in the Park, including Easter Sunday.

Mr. David Enlow killed six foxes one day last week—a profitable day's work.

Jacob Kisher, from near Skip-nish, with his son Joseph, from Iowa, spent last Friday evening with friends in the Park.

Mr. Chisholm, of your city, shot a hawk near the lake, measuring from tip of wing to tip of wing over five feet.

Mrs. Lizzie Hubbard, of Cincinnati, is visiting the Park, with a view of renting here.

HEMLOCK.
Corinth, W. Va.

Not seeing any news from our little town through your many correspondents I would ask space for these items. I will begin full aware that the people of Garrett county and Preston county would snub the citizens of Corinth by asking the question: Where is Corinth?

We will endeavor to toe the line and speak of life and prospects of Corinth. Lying on the B. & O. railroad and watered by Snowy Creek, a fine clear stream of pure water, a fine location for manufactures.

The operators in coal are Robert Anderson, who represents the Oakland Coal & Coke Company, with facilities of 150 tons of coal and coke daily. These mines lie on the south side of the railroad. The Snowy Creek Coal & Coke Co., represented by Gates Bros. & Sharp, gentlemen that no one need be sorry of meeting. They are operating two mines, haul their coal with an engine and load it from one tippie.

With a switch on either side of the railroad, depot, postoffice, and soon a telegraph office, we are coming to the front and confidently believe the time is not far distant when our town site will be filled with factories and summer cottages as we have one of the finest views between Washington and Wheeling.

Our town is only three years old and numbers forty houses—eight now under construction, and before snow closes work the coming fall, there will be at least twenty-five more.

Our town is laid out with good sized lots, fine, broad streets and is on the north side of railroad and is sold by Gates Bros. & Sharp on terms to suit all. Lots selling now from $25 to $300.

Two fine elevated knobs overlooking the railroad and the picturesque valley of Snowy Creek make it one of the most desirable locations for summer boarders.

Fishing is good; rabbits, pheasants, squirrels and turkeys are plentiful, and sportsmen will find a cordial reception at the Fuller Hotel, when completed.

The Misses Bolyard were the guests of H. Low. They were en route to their new home at Beck-hannon.

Miss Estella Fuller was visiting at David Durr's, of Oakland.

H. Low, James Deberry and others were at Mt. Lake Park last week looking up building material at Radisill & Co.'s.

Miss May Fuller has gone back to Grantsville to attend normal school.

E. R. Fuller, of Grantsville, is here and has broken ground for a hotel.

We are now in need of a blacksmith and shoemaker.

Come and see Corinth and be convinced.

ROBERT CRUSE.
Bittering.

We have plenty of rain and mud again.

We notice that F. L. Snyder wears a very pleasant smile—a boy. Miss Jennie Miller, of Keyser, is visiting friends and relatives here. Samson Bittering is preparing to move to Corinth. All regret to see him leave.

John Englehart, of Accident, paid this place a visit last Saturday night and Sunday.

Our communion service last Sabbath was well attended.

Isaac Bowman, who has been in Iowa, will soon return to Bittering again.

George E. Ralston is doing a good business in his blacksmith shop. Give him a call when you want work done.

J. E. Enrick will move to Meyersdale next week.

T. B. Wiley is on the sick list.

Albert Wiley has returned home from near Grantsville where he has been working for some time.

Mrs. B. E. Stark, who was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Weitzell, near Pea Ridge, has returned home.

Miss Katie Durr was in our vicinity last Sunday. GUESS WHO.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.
Mud and rain.

Mrs. Stark has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Weitzell.

The series of meetings that have been in progress for some time past ended on Sunday when the Holy Communion was celebrated and six persons admitted to membership in the church. Some of them were young and some in the prime of life. May God keep them safe.

Miss Marya Custer, of Manadler's Ridge, was visiting here.

We think J. W. B. made a mistake when he tried to call Mr. Hinebaugh down. We do not want a change made in that office. Even the smaller scholars were glad when he visited our school and where, by his smiling countenance and kind words, he made a friend of every pupil in the school. We do not think another man would suit as well; but one thing we do want is a new school house. We need it and we respectfully ask the school board to furnish us one.

Mrs. Royer has been on a visit of several days duration in our vicinity.

Hoyes.
We are just coming out from a snow and rain cloud which lasted about three weeks.

Easter services were held in the M. E. church Sunday night. We had a pleasant, and I hope, a profitable time.

Rev. M. Knotts will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 9 a. m.

Wm. Maffitt expects to open a school for small scholars about May 1.

Ex-Sheriff Casteel and family returned to their former home last week after a stay of over four years at Oakland. He and his brother, F. B. Casteel, are farming the Wm. Casteel farm.

Rufus Enlow is making a specialty of bee culture.

Colfax Dewitt has returned from Markleburg.

Cattle buyers have been plentiful in the last two weeks. They purchased freely and gave fair prices.

F. D. Dewitt was at Oakland last week attending business relative to his father's estate.

Ayer's Pills
Are better known and more generally used than any other cathartic. Sugar-coated, purely vegetable, and free from mercury or any other injurious drug, this is the ideal family medicine. Though prompt and energetic in their action, the use of these pills is attended with only the best results. Their effect is to strengthen and regulate the organic functions, being especially beneficial in the various derangements of the stomach, liver, and bowels.

Ayer's Pills
are recommended by all the leading physicians and druggists, as the most prompt and effective remedy for biliousness, nausea, costiveness, indigestion, sluggishness of the liver, jaundice, drowsiness, pain in the side, and sick headache; also, to relieve colds, fevers, neuralgia, and rheumatism. They are taken with great benefit in chills and the diseases peculiar to the South. For travellers, whether by land or sea.

Ayer's Pills
are the best, and should never be omitted in the outfit. To preserve their medicinal integrity in all climates, they are put up in bottles as well as boxes.

"I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for several years, and always found them to be a mild and excellent purgative, having a good effect on the liver. It is the best pill used."

50 PER CENT INCREASE!
Not in PRICE, But in TRADE.

We have, for the past two years, saved no pains to make our Paint, Oil and Varnish trade one of the largest in the State and to so increase our business to enable us to sell at jobbers' prices. This we have accomplished and this year we intend to still further enhance our trade and to eclipse all previous records. In order to do this we have secured one of the best brands of

in the market which we can guarantee in price and quality. We invite contractors or owners of houses to write for color cards and prices.

We have sold out our large wall paper trade in order to make more room for our paint material and in our large new ware-room we are able to meet all demands.

Remember we keep a full supply at wholesale or retail of Ready Mixed Paints, Oils, Varnishes, White Lead, Turpentine, Dry Paint, colors ground in oil, Paint and White Wash Brushes. Besides our low prices we give a special reduction of 5 per cent for cash.

We use Alcohol

Wolff's Acme Blacking. Alcohol is good for leather; it is good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and all the well known face washes. There is nothing too costly to use for a leather preservative.

Blacking retails at 20c.
That price sells readily. Many persons accustomed to buying a dress-blackening at 5c and 10c, a bottle of Wolff's Acme Blacking at 20c. We want to most cheaply sell it to you, and in so doing we offer a reward of $10,000.

FOR RENT.—We have for rent a house on Second street containing nine rooms, cellar, etc. The lot is large and on it is a well of never failing water. Apply to this office.

England and Wales pay out $20,000,000 a year for their roads. At the rate of expenditure in a New York town where the roads are dirt and bad at that the annual cost of keeping up 130,000 miles would be more than $70,000,000.

Michael Durst, Esq., of Preston, Minn., in renewing his subscription for the ensuing year says: "You will find enclosed money order for subscription for the old favorite paper for another year." This is the kind of encouragement we like to receive. Can't some more of our patrons do likewise?

It is now Mayor Sturgiss, he having been sworn in Monday by Clerk Tower.

Many a man would be a success in life if his time was not altogether taken up by keeping books for his wife who takes in washing.

The dwelling, with nearly its entire contents, belonging to George Dewitt, of Johnstown, this county, was destroyed by fire Friday of last week.

Jake Meyers is a crack shot with a Winchester rifle. On Saturday he fired fifteen rounds at a four-inch bull's eye, one hundred yards, and missed it every time.

If you want the latest styles in either derby, crusher or straw hats, Townshend & Son have them. Best and cheapest found in the county. No "taffy" in this. 9-3t

At a meeting of the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical Faculty, which was held in Baltimore Friday of last week, Dr. J. Lee McComas was appointed a delegate to the West Virginia State Medical Society.

A. L. Gnagey, the popular Grantsville merchant, was a welcome caller at our sanctum to-day. Liuk looks as fat and "sassy" as ever and reports business good in Grantsville. —Salisbury Star.

Dr. A. L. Wagner has located in Oakland and will practice both in town and country. Calls promptly answered either day or night. Office, one door west of St. Paul's M. E. church. 8-1yr.

We have a great respect for religion and believe in praying with faith, but we think no one would be more astonished than the petitioner sometimes, should their prayers be instantly answered.

One of our correspondents sends in one of the worst far-fetched puns we ever heard. He wishes to know which of the Oakland druggists was elected Mayor and which one was not elected Mayor.

Sincell Bros. have just opened the most complete and attractive line of dry goods ever brought to Oakland. All grades of cashmeres from 19 cents per yard up to the finest silk wharps Henrietta. Call and examine our stock.

Harry West the Railroad Street confectioner, fell on the wet pavement in front of his store, Friday night, and sprained his left knee severely. He was confined to the house for three or four days on account of the mishap.

Mr. Andrew Shartzer has set a good example which will pay his brother farmers to follow. He has placed two large ear loads of lime in his fields and we are sure he will be doubly repaid when the time of reaping is at hand.

The dead body of the four-year-old child of Samuel Mosser, was found in a small glade about three quarters of a mile from its home Sunday. It will be remembered this child became lost some time early last fall, and although every effort was put forth to find it, nothing could be learned.

Now You're Shoutin'. Little drops of Grover. Little grains of Dave. Make their busted party Mighty hard to save.

GOVERNOR MCCREARY OF LOUISIANA.

The election in Louisiana is over and the anti-Lottery men won the fight. Every self-respecting man who cherished the good name of the State was for Mr. Foster, and though there was unlimited money used to defeat him, and the vicious classes to a man opposed him, he was elected by 30,000 plurality. Mr. Foster has long been a conservative leader in Louisiana and he has the confidence of all the men who have labored to free the State from the disgrace of the lottery and the good wishes of all right thinking men of the country.

Trouble Over the Germania Post-office.

On April 15th inst., George W. Moon, postmaster at Germania, was removed, and L. L. McCrum appointed in his stead. The charges against ex-Postmaster Moon were that he was a resident of Maryland and could not hold the office in West Virginia. When it became known that Mr. McCrum had been appointed a genuine postoffice war was declared against him. Petitions have been gotten up and unanimously signed, asking the Postoffice Department to remove Mr. McCrum and appoint S. C. Baker. The charges against Postmaster McCrum are many, and to designate them would require several columns, hence they are withheld for the present. Mr. McCrum was appointed upon indorsement of John W. Mason, United States Internal Revenue Collector, Wm. M. O. Dawson and others of West Virginia. These gentlemen are being severely criticized by the patrons of the office and the public generally. Many good Republicans say they will never vote the Republican ticket again if McCrum is retained in the office. Some will not go to the office at all, others mail their letters on the train. Mr. McCrum does not reside here himself but is in business at Washington, D. C. The office is left in charge of an assistant, whom the people also object to. The people declare McCrum shall not hold the office, and are prepared to fight to the end. Postmaster McCrum's removal is looked for at an early date.

Obituary.

Joel Willard was born Jan. 26, 1825, and died at his home at New Germany April 24, 1892. He was converted when quite young and joined the M. E. Church, in which he lived a consistent life for more than forty years. Deceased was a great sufferer for years with heart disease. During his last illness he was confined to his room for three months, but through all, he had strong faith in God, and when visited by his pastor his testimony was "all is well." He lived to see his large family follow his example, and one of his chief delights was to have his sons and daughters return home and join with him around the family altar in prayer and song. His funeral was preached by his pastor in Mt. Beulah church to a large and attentive congregation. We laid him to rest in the church grave-yard to await the resurrection morn. The large and sympathetic congregation manifested the regard and high esteem by which he was held by his neighbors and many friends. "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord." The bereaved friends have the sympathy of the community.

Notice.

C. R. Savage & Bro. will re-open their meat market at the old stand on or about May 20, 1892. They will deal in nothing but first class beef, veal and mutton. Soliciting a share of the public patronage, we remain,

Very respectfully, C. R. SAVAGE & BRO.

I ROKE INTO THE CHURCH

The Ecclesiastical Strife at Oakland Grows in Bitterness.

The fight between Rev. Hipkins and the vestry of St. Matthew's parish, for possession of the church building, continues with unabated interest. Last week the vestry carefully nailed up the church in tending to maintain their canonical rights by keeping Mr. Hipkins from officiating. On Sunday last the reverend gentleman took a crowbar and broke open the doors and held service as usual.

The action, so contrary to expectation, so angered the vestry that the most vigorous methods would have been used had they not received a letter from Bishop Paret asking them to refrain from further legal action for a week or so, he giving them to understand, if not promising, that in the meantime he would bring about what they were striving for.

The vestry having no other object in view than the removal of Mr. Hipkins, have waived any action and will await developments. It seems that Mr. Hipkins has induced Mrs. Tucker to assert her rights over the property, and since there are now two deeds, the matter can only be settled by adjudication.

A suit in ejectment would settle the right to the property but both sides are hesitating about entering such a suit. The feeling on both sides is intense and by their action seemingly of a most questionable character. Both Mr. Hipkins and the vestry are gaining an unenviable notoriety and the church a great injury.

A Literary Society was organized by the Normal students at the public school building on Friday evening last and the following officers elected:

Wm. Culp, president; John Gnagey, vice-president; Miss Grace Lehr, secretary; Howard Nethkin, treasurer; Miss Bessie Browning, editors.

Following is the program for this (Friday) evening.

Musical. Select reading—Mr. Leighton. Recitation—Annie Grant. Solo—Madge Veitch. Essay—E. B. Hanger. Select reading—Martha Hinebaugh. Duet—Grace Loar and Nettie Kepler. Recitation—Daisy Grant. Select reading—Prof. Sanner. Musical. Debate—Resolved, that the hope of reward has a greater influence over man than the fear of punishment. Affirmative, Messrs. Culp and Nethkin. Negative, Messrs. Gnagey and Mosser.

Died.

FRIESE.—On Friday night, April 29, Annie Elizabeth, oldest daughter of Bernard Friese. Annie was born Dec. 23, 1882. The cause of her demise was pneumonia. Her remains were laid to rest Saturday afternoon by the side of her mother in the Odd Fellow's cemetery, who died only a few weeks ago. The bereaved father has the sympathy of all who knew him. Annie was a bright and loving child, very beautiful and was a great favorite among her acquaintances.

Corinth.
Since our last, the Snowy Creek Coal & Coke Co. have organized by electing Mr. Gates, President, Mr. Sharpes, Treasurer and Dr. Plummer, Secretary, and a board of Directors. They are thoroughly equipped for business, and being gentlemen of high standard, we believe the future of Corinth looks bright.

Thomas J. Peddicord was attending business at our town on Friday. He means business when he gathers up his grip sack and starts toward the depot.

Our merchant S. Thompson was at Oakland on business last week. Sanford carries a fine stock of goods, with a store-room 24x35 and packed from floor to ceiling. Yet, it is no easy matter to compete with the Corinth Store Company, as Mr. Dixon is a live merchant and keeps the ball rolling.

Our post office has been changed from Thompson's store to Dixon's. Robert I. Anderson is postmaster.

Our next move must be to have a new township, with Corinth as the polling place. The town is strongly Republican—40 to 4.

Two Baptist ministers are holding a series of meetings here and are in a fair way of getting a congregation and a church built in the near future.

Jeremiah Koontz has his house completed in Jim Town, (DeBerry addition to Corinth) and will move in this week.

Ervin Jennings bought a lot in Holmes addition and is now engaged in building a foundation for a dwelling house. Chas. Boquet is doing the work.

James DeBerry has commenced the erection of a fine meat stand on Main street.

Mrs. Lakel is moving into the Anderson Row and has rented one double house, as her business, that of keeping boarders, was too large for the room she had in the house vacated.

E. B. Fuller has his cellar dug for the hotel and will commence the stone work immediately. He has been retarded by sickness in his family. He has two cases of fever, and others of the family are sick.

George Hileman, the noted fisherman and hunter, brought in today twenty of the speckled beauties, and presented them to Mr. Anderson, who wishes to stock a pond.

Miss May Fuller has returned from the bedside of a sick cousin to attend the sick at home.

Our operators here are men of business, very liberal and will lend a helping hand to any one. Come and see. ROBINSON CRUSOE.

New Germany.

Pleasant weather.
The farmers are very busy preparing to sow oats and plant potatoes.

Oliver M. Durst, of Connellsville, Pa., been visiting his parents. Christian Fresh spent Sunday at home.

Communion was ministered in the Trinity Reformed church last Sabbath. Eight persons were added to the church by confirmation.

Just at this writing the sad news was received of the death of Joel Wiland. The funeral took place on Tuesday at 2 p. m. Interment in Mount Bala cemetery.

Mrs. Alice Durst and daughter, we are glad to say, are improving.

Mrs. Martha Swanger is convalescing.

Louis Stevens is happy—a girl. Louis Brennenman, of Bittinger, is driving team for C. J. Otto.

H. S. Crowe informs us that the silver mine is booming.

Mr. Michael Smith, of Elk Lick, Pa., passed through here soliciting stock for the oil well at that place.

Mrs. C. V. Otto is on the sick list.

The young people of the M. E. congregation have purchased an organ for the church.

Jacob Gnagey, road supervisor, has commenced work on his road.

Swanton.

The body of the young son of Daniel Mosser who was lost in the woods last October, was found about three-fourths of a mile from Mosser's house on last Sunday afternoon by James and Geo. Fitzwater. Last week the guide was burned over and on Sunday a few of the neighbors formed a search party with the above result. The body was in a good state of preservation. The funeral took place on Monday, Rev. J. N. Sharp, of Deer Park, conducted the services. The bereaved family have had the sympathy of the entire community in this sad affliction.

Miss Etta Frantz, in company with her brother Reuben, two of Garrett county's school teachers from Sang Run, were visiting here Saturday and Sunday.

Sweet, the nurseryman, is now busily engaged with his spring delivery of trees.

Albert Sharpless, one of District No. 1's most enterprising young men, has gone into the mercantile business with S. P. Specht at Deer Park.

John Mancus has bought the Rudolph Beckman place near Swanton, for which he paid $1,300. Success, John.

Robert Brown, of Elk Garden, was visiting his father-in-law, Jos. F. Friend, Saturday.

HOOSIER.

"W. D. H." Has the Last Word.
To the Editor of The Republican.

I believe it is courtesy in a newspaper controversy for the one who opens a question that calls for a reply to concede the one replying the privilege of having (like that mythical personage "Rip Van Winkle's" wife) the last word.

So I will in the language of "Rip" give my friend J. W. B. a "cold potato and let him go." He has banded around so much from the natural inference that all intelligent readers of your paper constructed his suggestion which called forth the replies I have made to his reflection on the competency of the present incumbent of the office of secretary, treasurer and examiner.

In his suggestion, as published in your columns of March 25, I again quote his classic phrase: "We could have it for the asking by requiring the public school examiner to be a thorough graduate and teach the normal." From this we inferred that it was not only a thrust at the competency of the present incumbent, but also a reflection on the school commissioners who elected him to the responsible position of examiner. And not only did we construe his meaning as personal to our examiner, as well as to the school commissioners, but as before stated, all intelligent readers of your paper so construed it, as is evidenced by one of your correspondents from Manidier's Ridge signed "Somebody," also by one from Bittinger. And we feel assured that not one save J. W. B. but construed his meaning as we did. Although in his reply to my suggestion he parades himself before the public and spreads himself like a "green bay tree" to prove me a gentleman, "because I did not know," &c. Now, Mr. Editor, we can only judge a correspondent by what he writes. It would be impossible to read his thoughts, and if he fails to make his meaning clear as a correspondent he is a failure.

But now to this last display of his ability as a writer. We rather sympathize with him as the "green bay tree" seems to wilt.

But he yet tries to shield himself and, in an egotistical way, vindicate his ignorance of the law governing his own state and county and don't yet understand the impossibility of an examiner teaching a normal school, even if his time was only occupied for "six months of the year," without special legislation and a general revision of the school laws of the state. He don't realize that a board of school commissioners have no power to say to the examiner, "You must in connection with your office teach the different normal schools of the various counties that have normals," and he is of the opinion still that as we have but short terms of schools therefore the examiner has nothing to do the rest of the year.

J. W. B. I would advise you to pay a visit to the office of the school board and the examiner will take pleasure in reciting to you the various duties he has to contend with in this position of "secretary, treasurer and examiner," and I feel sure you will go away a wiser man in the workings of the school system, and especially when he calls your attention to the immense correspondence of the 107 schools and the various wants of the patrons, &c. And also the arduous task of making out the annual report to State Board of Education and the care that it requires, the keeping of all the accounts from various sources and attention to the library, handling and ordering books and distributing to the different agents, making out plans and specifications, locating school houses and keeping his finances in shape, auditing reports, &c., &c.

The time during the active school terms contains the least work to the examiner—three positions in one—and you have thought of but one, that of examiner. The duties of secretary and treasurer seemed as a sinecure to you. But, my friend, unless I am mistaken in your ability, judging you from the construction of your correspondence, you will pardon me when I say it is my opinion that the duties of secretary alone would occupy your time not "six months" but all the year.

You say in your last effusion, in which you think the readers of THE REPUBLICAN ought to comprehend your meaning, as you have made it so "comprehensible." And you say your true meaning, &c., was that the "duties of the office, owing to our very short school term," &c., and that "Mr. H. differs and thinks they require all of his time, and possibly both may be a little on an extreme."

I wish to inform you, J. W. B., that Mr. H. knows exactly what time the examiner has and as stated in a former answer to you, "it requires every working day of the year."

Mr. Editor, I believe J. W. B. fully realizes his blunder, and what a serious reflection he has cast on an old neighbor and friend, and I could excuse him if he would have come out and gracefully acknowledged his fault, caused by conceited ignorance of what he was doing, instead of bandying around, and now at the close of this discussion on his part to say he has "now made it comprehensible."

I comprehend that he did not mean to reflect on Mr. Hinebaugh's competency, but not from his pigmy efforts as a writer, and I hope he may profit by my criticism and receive it in the light it was intended—for his good. And remember my advice to him in my second reply (April 15) "that fairness in criticism, accuracy in expression and courtesy in reply, either from gentlemen or commoner, will do more to benefit a cause or establish a reputation," &c.

And had not J. W. B. attempted to conceal his blunder by what he thought was sarcasm in trying to "prove me a gentleman," &c., although by my (in his estimation) ungentlemanly reply, but "Somebody" did not think with him and I feel assured that you, Mr. Editor, and all your readers, save J. W. B., did not think with him.

But in conclusion let me say to you, although you thought you were casting no reflection on the examiner and the school officials that gave him the position, but by your hint in the way of a suggestion to the incoming board, "get a classical examiner; don't do as your predecessors who placed in this office an illiterate man who has not the qualifications to teach a normal school."

This is what the suggestion said to every intelligent reader.

But let me say to you: Mr. Hinebaugh, in point of a common business education, will compare with the man or men you had in view.

With your lack of knowledge you were impressed with the idea they were classical scholars. Do you know, J. W. B., that there never has been but three or four gentlemen that were classical scholars teaching the normals in this county since its formation, viz., Prof. Mordough, Long, Newman and Sumner; and never but three members of the school board, viz., Brydon, Miller, and Bartlett as examiners.

Yet it is not altogether the classical men that move the world. However much we may admire them for their attainments and culture, they have often proven failures in positions of trust and business qualifications.

And "Somebody" pays a graceful compliment to Mr. Hinebaugh (who makes no pretensions to be classical) illustrative of this fact: When he speaks of the improvement of the schools for the past three or four years under the management of the present school officials.

Now, Mr. Editor, fearing I am overtaxing your patience and space and yet for the benefit of my friend J. W. B. I could illustrate in many ways for his enlightenment of school management, but suffice it to say, in conclusion with this little newspaper controversy, that I have no feeling of ill-will toward J. W. B., and hope if we should ever meet and find out each others initials or "non de plumes" that we will meet as friends and give each other the christian hand of fellowship and brotherly love in trying to disabuse the minds of the public against a wrong impression going out, which, had it been corrected, would have had a tendency to injure a good pure man to those who did not have the pleasure of a personal acquaintance.

And now in the language of the dying Emmett, noble patriot of the Green Emerald Isle, "I have done." Dear Park, April 27, W. D. H.

NOTICE TO ROAD SUPERVISORS

TAKE NOTICE: That the roads under your charge shall be worked on such days as it can be done to advantage between the first day of May and the 31st day of July, of the current year, and every supervisor keeping the books enough to open side ditches in October from two to five dollars. In working said roads it is incumbent upon you, wherever practicable, to cut ditches on either side and work high in middle, breaking some very fine where stone are used, removing all large stones if possible. You are also requested to notify all persons traveling the roads with steam threshers, or other heavy machinery, that they will be held responsible for all damage done to roads and bridges, and no supervisor will be paid until work is done for which he claims payment for, and upon filing his duly certified report and itemized account.

The Treasurer will not be authorized to pay any supervisor unless he produces a statement from the Clerk of Commissioners under and by order of the Board.

To Preserve

The richness, color, and beauty of the hair, the greatest care is necessary, much harm being done by the use of worthless dressings. To be sure of having a first-class article, ask your druggist or perfumer for Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is absolutely superior to any other preparation of the kind. It restores the original color and fullness to hair which has become thin, faded, or gray. It keeps the scalp cool, moist, and free from dandruff. It heals itching humors, prevents baldness, and imparts to a silken texture and lasting fragrance. No toilet can be considered complete without this most popular and elegant of all hair-dressings.

"My hair began turning gray and falling out when I was about 25 years of age. I have lately been using Ayer's Hair Vigor, and it is causing a new growth of hair of the natural color."—R. J. Lowry, Jones Prairie, Texas.

"Over a year ago I had a severe fever, and when I recovered, my hair began to fall out, and what little remained turned gray. I tried various remedies, but without success, till at last I began to use

USE

Ayer's Hair Vigor, and now my hair is growing rapidly and is restored to its original color."—Mrs. Annie Collins, Dighton, Mass.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for nearly five years, and my hair is moist, glossy, and in an excellent state of preservation. I am forty years old, and have ridden the plains for twenty-five years."—Wm. Henry Ott, alias "Mustang Bill," Newcastle, Wyo.

50 PER CENT INCREASE!

Not in PRICE, But in TRADE.

We have, for the past two years, saved no pains to make our Paint, Oil and Varnish trade one of the largest in the State and to so increase our business to enable us to sell at jobbers' prices. This we have accomplished and this year we intend to still further enhance our trade and to eclipse all previous records. In order to do this we have secured one of the best brands of

in the market which we can guarantee in price and quality. We invite contractors or owners of houses to write for color cards and prices.

We have sold out our large wall paper trade in order to make more room for our paint material and in our large new ware-room we are able to meet all demands.

Remember we keep a full supply at wholesale or retail of Ready Mixed Paints, Oils, Varnishes, White Lead, Turpentine, Dry Paint, colors ground in oil, Paint and White Wash Brushes. Besides our low prices we give a special reduction of 5 per cent for cash.

We use Alcohol

pure alcohol to make Wolff's ACME BLACKING. Alcohol is good for leather; it is good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and the well known face washes. It is the only thing there is nothing too costly to use as a good leather preservative.

Acme Blacking retails at 20c.
and at that price sells readily. Many are so accustomed to buying a dressing or blacking at 5c and 10c a bottle that they cannot understand that a blacking can be as cheap as 20c. We want to meet them with cheapness if we can, and to accomplish this we offer a reward of

for a recipe which will enable us to make Wolff's ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c a bottle. We hold this offer open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

Perry Fezenbaker, of Lonaconing, was killed in the Koontz mine on Saturday. A quantity of coal from the roof of the mine fell upon him and broke his neck. The young man was married less than two weeks ago. A coroners inquest was held.

At a late hour Saturday night the jury in the case of Dr. George I. Garrison, on trial at Wheeling W. Va., for killing Dr. George Baird, reported that no agreement could be reached. This is the second trial, the first resulting in a verdict of murder in the second degree.

The Oakland Normal Academy is booming. Mr. Sanner informed us a few days ago that new students were coming in daily, many from a distance. He expects the number of students to reach sixty this week. Quite a lively interest is taken in the Literary Society.

According to the statistical reports presented at the Methodist Quadrennial Conference, there are 2,292,000 communicants of that church in the United States, and the number is growing at the rate of 110,000 a year. Surely the Methodists are a power in this country.

Waste paper thrown upon the streets which is left to be blown around, marring the tidiness of the front of many a house and causing horses to run away, is a practice indulged by some that is not altogether agreeable to the many citizens and also dangerous to the traveling public.

A traveling man who chanced to be in the store of E. V. Wood, at McKees Rocks, Pa., says while he was waiting to see Mr. Wood, a little girl came in with an empty bottle labeled Chamberlain's Pain Balm and said: "Mamma wants another bottle of that medicine; she says it is the best medicine for rheumatism she ever used." 50 cent bottles for sale by H. J. Mayers.

Upon the application of William C. Spruance, attorney, says the Wilmington (Del.) Judge Grubb on Saturday granted a charter to the Delaware Society of the Colonial Dames of America. The membership is composed of women whose ancestors rendered some service either as a military or civil hero by aiding the United States in the American Revolution.

The annual conference of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland will be held in St. Paul's M. E. church on Tuesday evening, May 15. A program has been prepared consisting of music, literary and addresses. The address of Rev. J. H. Hess on "Our Work" will be the leading feature of the evening. The lady friends of the League will serve refreshments at Offutt's Hall immediately after adjournment. All are cordially invited.

THE NEW WEST, Malvern, Iowa. Every body excited. Sample free. 10-14

T. JEFFERSON COOLIDGE, Who has just been appointed our minister to France, is a resident of Boston, Mass., in which city he was born August 26, 1831. He is a graduate of Harvard University and has also studied in Europe. He founded the firm of Gardner & Coolidge and became the head of several large manufacturing companies. He then became President of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. Mr. Coolidge is a very rich man and has resided abroad sometimes for years at a stretch. He has never been an active politician, and has evinced a leaning to the Mugwumps. He is at the head of many local charitable organizations in Boston and has given near $150,000 to his alma mater, the Harvard University. The new minister speaks French fluently.

THE 11TH PENN. RESERVES.

Some Interesting Facts About the Old Regiment.

We clip the following from the Cambria Herald, published at Ebensburg, Pa., which may be of interest to our readers:

"In this grand old regiment was Company A, of Ebensburg. The company left this place June 12, 1861, with the following officers: Captain, Robert Litsinger; First Lieut., Andy Lewis; Second Lieut., Robert A. McCoy. The following facts were taken from the National Tribune:

"The 11th Pa. Reserves sustained the heaviest loss of any regiment in the Pennsylvania Reserves, while its percentage of loss is among the largest of any in the war. It was recruited in Western Pennsylvania, and arrived in Washington July 26, 1861, and was assigned to Mead's Second Brigade. At Game's Mill the 11th held its position in the face of a terrible fire until the other troops had been forced to fall back, when, being surrounded by the enemy, it was obliged to surrender. C. B. escaped the fate of their comrades, having been detailed on fatigue duty just before the fight began. The captured officers and men were exchanged August 5, 1862, and rejoined the army of the Potomac before it left the Peninsula. Resuming their place in the First Corps they took part in the battles of the Second Bull Run or Manassu and South Mountain, and when they entered the field at Antietam the 11th had less than 200 men in line of battle. A few recruits were obtained and some of the wounded returned, so that the 11th went into action at Fredericksburg with 394 officers and men—and of these 211 were killed and wounded. After a few months needed rest at Washington the 11th was assigned to the Fifth Corps, in which they served at Gettysburg and in the Wilderness campaign in McCandless' Brigade, Crawford's Division. The 11th was relieved from duty May 11, 1864, and ordered home for muster out, the veterans and recruits being transferred to the 190th Penn. The 11th is reported among the 300 fighting remnants by Col. Fox, having lost 11 officers and 135 men, killed or died of wounds, and one officer and 112 men died of disease, accidents, in prison, etc. Out of a total of 1,177 men the regiment had 681 killed and wounded in its three years service, which would emphatically indicate that they were 'stayers from away back.'"

Daniel and Thomas D. Jones, brothers of Hon. J. P. Jones, of Terra Alta, enlisted in Co. A as privates at the organization of the regiment. Daniel was promoted to captain, and was killed while leading his company in the battle of the Wilderness. Capt. James A. Hayden, of Oakland, was captain of Co. F in the same regiment and was at the head of his company in the fight when Captain Jones was killed.

JAMES—GRAY.—May 8, at Grassy Run, Elk Lick township, Pa., by Rev. J. M. Evans, Wm. Albert James and Miss Amanda Ellen Gray, both of Grassy Run, Pa.

BARNES—WILAND.—May 5th, 1892, at the M. E. parsonage, Barton, by Rev. G. W. Steele, Mr. Benj. Barnes and Miss Ariminta Wiland, both of Garrett county.

McComas Favors Wellington.

"It has been ascertained to-day from the most authoritative source that Hon. Louis E. McComas will not be a candidate for Congress this fall. Mr. McComas is favorable to the candidacy of Mr. Wellington, and he is at present in Washington, where he has been engaged by Mr. Porter, of the census department, to represent the government as counsel in a large case which will be shortly tried in New York."—Hagerstown Dispatch to Baltimore American.

He Didn't Read the Papers. I had long noticed on him a few minutes when I happened to mention a recent occurrence noted in the paper.

"I hadn't heard of it," he said. "Why," I replied in surprise, "it's in all the papers and has been for a week."

"But I don't read the newspapers."

I actually jumped the confession startled me so.

"Well, what kind of a man are you?" I blurted out.

"A Democrat," he said, with a blush; and I hadn't another word to say.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

1. Anyone who takes the paper regularly from the postoffice—whether directed to his name or another, or whether he subscribed or not—is responsible for the payment.

2. If a person order his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher will continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the postoffice or not.

3. The courts have decided that refusing to take the newspapers or periodicals from the postoffice or removing and leaving the same uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud, punishable by a fine and imprisonment the same as for theft.

Communicated.

To the Editor of The Free Address. My! Who would have thought it? I would not, I am sure, if I had not seen it in the Democrat. Can it be as the editor of that paper states that the father of the average family is robbed of $60 yearly by the wool tariff? Let us see—we are told to prove all things and hold fast to that which is good.

Population 65,000,000.
Divided into average families of five persons 13,000,000.

Tax by wool tariff (Democratic figures) $60.

Total amount derived from wool tariff alone (Democratic figures also) $780,000,000.

Revenues from Customs duties for year ending September 30th, 1891 $196,302,066.96.

If the Democrat is correct we paid as a tax on our clothing alone $583,697,933.04 more than the entire receipts from customs duties.

A rather slight discrepancy, is it not? And this tariff was imposed "to keep revenue out of the treasury," etc. Well, if I mistake not, it is only a short time since that the Democrats were howling about a "surplus" and the Cleveland administration did not seem to know what to do with it, but Harrison met the difficulty. And you may howl all you please about the Billion Dollar Congress, but the fact remains that the debt has been reduced from $24.50 per capita, where Cleveland left, to $12.87 per capita, and this was done in two years and four months under Harrison's administration.

Again, in regard to clothing, in the next column to the article on "How we are robbed by this terrible tax," appears the advertisement of a firm in Baltimore offering suits of clothing for $15 as good as can be bought elsewhere for $30. Is the Democrat wrong, or is the merchant lying? Why, under the new tariff the entire customs revenue for the first year amounted to $3.07 per capita, or $15.35 per family. After paying the entire amount received as customs duties there still remains $44.65 for each family to be accounted for. Now, please, Mr. Editor, don't be too strong on this matter of clothing or there will not be any chance for any more yarns about tin-plate, etc. If you have not got the correct figures send over to THE REPUBLICAN office and I am sure Mr. Sincell will let you have them, and if you want to post up a little send for the American Economist; it would be quite a help. Your Free Wool bill will not become a law for several days yet. The farmers will not forget this thrust at them and will return the compliment in November, when they will vote for the party that has stood by them, and not for the party which has tried to ruin more than one of their interests.

HOOSIER.

Swanton, Md., April 26, 1891.

Cheap Excursion to Gettysburg Battlefield.

For the dedication of the Monument on June 2nd on the Gettysburg battlefield, designating the "High Water Mark" of the Southern Confederacy, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company will sell one-third of all tickets at the low rate of one fare for the round trip. The President of the United States, members of his Cabinet, two Governors of twenty-five States, members of their staffs, and other distinguished persons as well as several military and civic organizations will participate in the imposing dedicatory ceremonies. This will afford an excellent opportunity for a cheap excursion to the historic battle ground by veterans and others desiring to visit the scenes of the greatest conflict of modern times.

THE FACT

That AYER'S Sarsaparilla CURES OTHERS of Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions, Boils, Eczema, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, and Catarrh should be convincing that the same course of treatment will cure you. All that has been said of the wonderful cures effected by the use of

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

during the past 50 years, truthfully applies to-day. It is, in every sense, The Superior Medicine. Its curative properties, strength, effect, and flavor are always the same; and for whatever blood diseases AYER'S Sarsaparilla is taken, they yield to this treatment. When you ask for don't be induced to purchase any of the worthless substitutes, which are mostly mixtures of the cheapest ingredients, contain no sarsaparilla, have no uniform standard of appearance, flavor, or effect, are blood-purifiers in name only, and are offered to you because there is more profit in selling them. INCREASE!

Not in PRICE, But in TRADE.

We have, for the past two years, saved no pains to make our Paint, Oil and Varnish trade one of the largest in the State and to so increase our business to enable us to sell at jobbers' prices. This we have accomplished and this year we intend to still further enhance our trade and to eclipse all previous records. In order to do this we have secured

one of the best brands of

READY MIXED PAINTS

in the market which we can guarantee in price and quality. We invite contractors or owners of houses to write for color cards and prices.

We have sold out our large

JOHN A. WOLF,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

Oak Street, East End, Oakland.

The W. Va. Central Extension.

GRAFTON, W. Va., May 9.—The

Baltimore and Ohio railroad company to-day began the erection of the abutments of a fine steel truss bridge of two spans across the mouth of Three Fork creek in this city. The new bridge will be erected a few rods below the one now used by the Grafton & Greencubrier

railroad company, and will be wide enough to accommodate two railroad tracks and a footway, and will be used to make connection of the Grafton and Greencubrier company's tracks, lately bought by the Baltimore & Ohio company, with the Baltimore & Ohio. These will cross the Baltimore & Ohio tracks between the B. & O. platform and bridge, and will enable the Baltimore & Ohio to land its passengers at the west side of the depot without transfer. The Grafton

& Greencubrier track is being widened and will be completed within ten days, when will have the regular Baltimore & Ohio train service from this city to Belington, Elkins and Beverly and all points on the West Virginia Central railroad.

A very clear traffic agreement

now exists between the West Virginia Central and the Baltimore &

Ohio, and it is thought that the greater part of the traffic of the former road will come by way of this city, by reason of the grade of road between here and Elkins being much better than by way of Piedmont. It is said that one engine can draw 100 loaded cars from Beverly to this point.

Mr. C. R. Dorsey, of the Baltimore & Ohio bridge service, is in charge of the construction, and the citizens of Grafton are anxious for its completion, as they regard this railroad extension as valuable to the business prospects of the town.

this spring. Mr. B.'s improvements will help set East Selbyport off in good shape.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Frazee were gathering wild flowers on their vacant lot in the West End Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Bowling, of Manor Land, were visiting their many friends here Sunday last.

We are anxious to know what has become of the "New Comer"

for the last two weeks.

Mr. F. A. Riley's buggy is in good shape now and one of our wide awake girls was out showing

Mr. R. the way to Blooming Rose church last Sunday.

There are five REPUBLICANS come to our office to one of any other kind. Our farmers and readers want to patronize Garrett county's industry.

Mr. Editor can't you persuade

J. W. B. and "W. D. H." to drop their old chestnut and turn their minds to better school houses?

Rev. W. C. Ford, of Watson, Pa., is teaching select school here this summer and the reverend gentleman thinks we are imposed upon very much by having to send small children to such a poor school house.

E. Holbrook, general superin-

dent of the B. & O. R. R., of Pittsburgh, passed through our city the 7th and 9th in a special car. We are told he will locate an agent in this place in the near future.

One party says Buffalo will get the agent and not Selbyport.

There will be a general store go up with the depot.

Mt. Lake Park.

J. A. Entler, late of the Sims

House, Piedmont, moved into the the Allegheny house Monday, and is now ready for boarders.

Garthright sold twelve suits of clothing last Saturday and his cash sales were over $400.

Mr. Sharps and wife, of New

Philadelphia, Ohio, are now occupying their cottage. They expect to make considerable improvements.

Miss Sarah Harris, of Va., arrived at the Park, the latter part of last week.

Four gentlemen from Baltimore,

one from Grafton and a gentleman and wife from Wheeling were guests at the Assembly house part of last week.

P. T. Garthright visited Cumberland last week.

L. A. Rudisill visited Terra Alta

Saturday and Sunday.

The fire on the mountain tops

south of us, afforded a pretty sight

Monday evening.

After a pleasant visit of two weeks, Mr. Howe and son, James, returned Monday evening.

Miss Gen. Brown, of Wheeling, has moved into the Marsden cottage and will take boarders for the season.

The tabernacle is being white-washed and otherwise improved.

There is not an idle man about the Park or vicinity. The improvements being made has given work to all applicants.

Major Alderson visited the Park

last week and was the guest of the Assembly House.

Messrs Ryland and Hoye visited the Park last week and were charmed with its beauty and its development.

Strangers are seen on our streets almost daily, which indicates that the season will open at an early date.

Geo. T. Cecil was here this week and will make some improvements on his property.

Deer Park.

Rev. Samuel Evers, of Hazers-town, U. B. Minister, of Deer

Park circuit, preached his first sermon here Sunday evening to quite a large audience.

Mrs. Nevins, of Philadelphia, is having a very handsome cottage erected. When finished it will make quite an improvement to that part of the town. Mr. A. F. George

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY, MAY 20, 1892.

HON. W. E. WALSH died in Cumberland Tuesday morning and was buried to-day.

It is natural for the patriotic citizens of a Republic to be Republicans.

"MARYLAND will cut a proud and glorious figure at the World's Fair, where the eyes of the world will be upon her," patriotically remarks the Frederick News.

The next Presidential election will be held on Tuesday, November 8th, and the electors then chosen will meet at the capitals of their States on Tuesday, January 10th, 1893, to vote for a President and Vice-President. The electoral votes will be counted by Congress on Wednesday, Feb. 8th, and he inaugurated on Saturday, March 4th.

SHORT TARIFF SERMONS.

NO. XII.

FREE-TRADE PERIODS.

Free-Trade has five periods of relative prevalence in the history of the United States—i. e., there have been five distinctly marked periods when foreign competing imports were free from at any others to enter our ports, to the subversion and overthrow of domestic competing industries. These were:

The colonial period ending with throwing over the tea in Boston Harbor and the battle of Lexington in 1775. The British Parliament forbade us by law to manufacture in order that they might monopolize our markets. This chiefly impelled us toward the war of independence.

The "peace under confederation" period from 1783 to 1789, when no national duties on imports existed. This chiefly impelled us to adopt the Federal Constitution.

The period of so-called reciprocity treaty with England in 1816 to 1824, culminating in the financial crisis of 1817-18.

The Compromise Tariff period of 1833 to 1842, including the unparalleled crisis of 1836-39.

The Walker Tariff period of 1846 to '57, intensified by the further reduction in '57 and thus prolonged to March 3, 1861. This period was marked with general poverty and "hard times," setting in the summer of 1854, continuing into a bankruptcy crisis in England in 1856, and this reacting produced the bank crisis in America in 1857, after which the country was in a papered condition until 1861.

Without a single exception, our every approach of Free-Trade brought disaster, particularly to farmers and working people.

Do we want any more Free Trade?

George W. Griffith was taken ill while visiting his son-in-law, Mr. Mattingly, last Sunday, but we are glad to state that he is able to be out again.

Misses Etta and Ida DeWitt are on the sick list this week.

Misses Olin and Bernadett Mattingly are recovering from scarlet fever.

Farmers are busily engaged in plowing and planting corn.

H. H. DeWitt has just returned from a visit to his son, J. A. DeWitt at Connelville.

Our preparatory school is progressing finely under the management of W. A. Moffett. There are thirty-four pupils enrolled.

The Dr. O. F. A. M.'s are having a grand time on July 3d.

Wm. DeWitt has just returned from a visit to his son, J. A. DeWitt at Connelville.

Our school house and town hall presents a good appearance since it was painted.

MARYLAND AT THE FAIR.

Description Of Our Headquarters.

In the Maryland State Building yet to be erected on the grounds of the Columbian World's Fair, if built in strict accordance with the elevations which have been prepared for the purpose by Messrs. Baldwin and Pennington, architects, Maryland will have no cause to be ashamed of her headquarters at the national exposition.

The building, which will be constructed of frame and "clad"—a kind of cement—is designed in the free classic, or so called, colonial style. Its length will be 110 feet, and it will consist of a central building 40 by 41 feet, and two wings, each of which will be 37 by 28 feet. At the end of each wing will be two handsome Corinthian porticos, and a wide veranda, with a deck roof.

The central portion of the building will contain a reception hall 28 by 43 feet, handsomely embellished with columns and enriched cornices in stucco.

The first story of the right wing of the building will contain an exhibition hall 26 by 35 feet, for the display of women's work, and a ladies' parlour 12 by 19 feet in area.

The left wing will be occupied by a large exposition hall. The roofs of all three portions of the building will be flat.

J. F. Giverson has been at home a few days on the sick list.

Miss Nina Clement left yesterday for Ohio to visit her parents. She expects to return this fall to teach again in Garrett.

Robert Mercer is still ill and not expected to recover.

Henry Whetzel, an employee at the tannery, was thrown from a horse Sunday and badly hurt.

S. C. Baker thinks Uncle Sam is all right. Mr. B. now receives a pension.

The Knights of Pythias have moved into a new hall—one much better adapted to their purpose than the old one.

Aronhalt & Baker are preparing to move their stock of goods to the King building in West Virginia.

We are sorry to see them leave this side of the river, but wish them success at their new stand.

Quite a number attended the quarterly meeting at Charlestown, Sunday.

Our well known man, Mr. A. Sunday, N. L. Baugardner, P. E., was present and presided with his usual ability.

Our building association is progressing finely. Geo. W. Moon, Secretary, reports having written thirty new shares of stock since May 1st. About $2,000 have been loaned out. This is a safe and paying investment—one that doubles in about six years.

Self-support.

We have had considerable rain the last few days which has disappointed many of our farmers in getting their corn planted.

Philip Miller has moved his saw-mill from Mill Run to Jonas Frazee's farm east of this place, where he has contracted to do sawing for Jonas Frazee and John Riley.

In last week's issue of THE REPUBLICAN our Self-Support correspondent wanted to know what had become of the "New Center."

Editor will you kindly inform the inquiring party that the New Center is in the hands of the devil and is still alive and hearty and will be heard from occasionally during the summer if the weather keeps cool.

Spring has again made its appearance and the woods and fields are beginning to wear their verdure of green.

We heartily support the statement made by "Hoosier" in last week's issue in regard to the wool question. That is perfectly right my friend, pour it into the Democratic mill.

Thomas Welch purchased a fine mare of S. K. Welch a few days ago.

PUBLIC LOCAL LAW.

CHAPTER 343

An Act to repeal sections one hundred and sixty seven, one hundred and sixty-eight, one hundred and sixty-nine, one hundred and seventy, one hundred and seventy-one, one hundred and seventy-two, one hundred and seventy-three, one hundred and seventy-four, one hundred and seventy-five, one hundred and seventy-six, one hundred and seventy-seven, one hundred and seventy-eight, one hundred and seventy-nine, one hundred and eighty, one hundred and eighty-one, one hundred and eighty-two, one hundred and eighty-three, one hundred and eighty-four, one hundred and eighty-five, one hundred and eighty-six, one hundred and eighty-seven, one hundred and eighty-eight, one hundred and eighty-nine, one hundred and ninety, one hundred and ninety-one, one hundred and ninety-two, one hundred and ninety-three, one hundred and ninety-four, one hundred and ninety-five of Article twelve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," subtitle "Oakland," and to re-enact the same with amendments, and to add an additional section thereto to be numbered Section 195 A.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That sections one hundred and sixty-seven, one hundred and sixty-eight, one hundred and sixty-nine, one hundred and seventy, one hundred and seventy-one, one hundred and seventy-two, one hundred and seventy-three, one hundred and seventy-four, one hundred and seventy-five, one hundred and seventy-six, one hundred and seventy-seven, one hundred and seventy-eight, one hundred and seventy-nine, one hundred and eighty, one hundred and eighty-one, one hundred and eighty-two, one hundred and eighty-three, one hundred and eighty-four, one hundred and eighty-five, one hundred and eighty-six, one hundred and eighty-seven, one hundred and eighty-eight, one hundred and eighty-nine, one hundred and ninety, one hundred and ninety-one, one hundred and ninety-two, one hundred and ninety-three, one hundred and ninety-four, one hundred and ninety-five of Article twelve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," subtitle "Oakland," be and the same are hereby repealed and re-enacted with amendments; and that an additional section be added thereto, numbered 195 A, the whole to read as follows:

OAKLAND.

167. The inhabitants of the town of Oakland in Garrett county, are a corporation by the name of "The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland," and by that name may have perpetual succession, may sue and be sued, and may have and use a common seal which may be altered at pleasure, and may purchase and hold such real, personal or mixed property as may be required for the purpose of said corporation, and may dispose of such property when necessary for the benefit of the said corporation, and all the property and funds of every kind belonging to said corporation are vested in "The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland."

OFFICERS.

168. The officers of the said corporation shall be a Mayor, a Town Council, which shall be composed of six members, a President of the Town Council, a Town Clerk, a Treasurer, a Tax Collector, a Police Magistrate, an Attorney and a Bailiff, who shall severally perform such duties and have such powers as may be prescribed by this Act and the ordinances passed in pursuance thereof. The Mayor and the members of the Town Council shall be elected by the votes in said town. The Town Clerk, Treasurer and Tax Collector shall be elected by the Town Council. The Police Magistrate, Attorney and Bailiff shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the advice and consent of the Town Council. All the officers elected by the Town Council or appointed by the Mayor shall hold their respective offices for one year from the first Monday of May in the year for which they are appointed and until their successors are elected and qualified.

169. The Town Council shall, as soon as practicable, provide by ordinance for a survey and map of the limits of said town, and for the location upon said map of the streets and alleys already laid out and opened for public use, and also the streets and alleys heretofore laid out on the original plat of said town, and on the plats of the several additions to said town which have not been opened for public use, and such maps, when made and approved by the Town Council and Mayor, shall be recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, and when so recorded said maps or a copy, properly certified by said clerk under the seal of his office, shall be evidence. The limits of said town as they have heretofore been established by law shall remain until the survey herein provided for has been made and approved as aforesaid.

ELECTION.

170. The inhabitants of the town of Oakland who have resided therein for six months next preceeding any municipal election and who are qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly of Maryland in Garrett county, shall, on the third Monday in April, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and on the same day in every second year thereafter, elect by ballot one person to be Mayor of said town, and the voters qualified as aforesaid, shall, on the third Monday in April, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and on the same day in every year thereafter, elect three persons to be members of the Town Council, and the members of the Town Council who have been elected and are now in office shall hold their office until the term for which they have been elected shall have expired and until their successors are elected and qualified.

MAYOR.

171. No person shall be eligible to the office of Mayor unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years and shall have resided five years in said town (next preceeding his election), and shall be a free-holder in said town of Oakland. The Mayor elected at any regular election shall hold office for two years from the first Monday in May next after his election and until his successor is elected and qualified. Should a vacancy occur in the office of Mayor more than three months before the expiration of the term by reason of removal from the town, death, resignation, removal from office or otherwise, the Town Council shall, without delay, order an election to fill such vacancy. Willful neglect of duty or misbehavior in office on the part of the Mayor is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and on conviction before a Justice of the Peace or in the Circuit Court for Garrett county he shall be removed from office by the Justice of the Peace or Judge who shall sit in the case, and any person who shall be convicted and removed from the office of Mayor as aforesaid shall thereafter be disqualified from holding any office in said corporation. The Mayor shall have power to appoint and employ all agents, servants and employees not otherwise provided for by law who may be required by said corporation. He shall, on the first Monday in May in each year, appoint and send to the Town Council for confirmation, the names of persons for the offices of Police Magistrate, Attorney and Bailiff respectively. He shall have power to remove for cause any officer, agent, servant or employee of said corporation who has been appointed by him or employed by him and to fill any and all vacancies which may occur in offices which he has the power to fill. He shall have general supervision of the town, see that the ordinances are enforced and shall from time to time report to the Town Council such matters as may in his judgment require the attention of the Town Council. He shall have power to administer oaths and certify the same in all matters pertaining to said corporation and which may be required by the business or transactions of said corporation. He shall, in the absence or sickness of the Police Magistrate and in such case only, have power to hear and determine all cases to which said corporation may be a party and over which the Police Magistrate may have jurisdiction and for this purpose he is hereby clothed with all the power and authority of a Justice of the Peace. No ordinance shall be valid without his approval unless the same be passed over his veto by a two-thirds vote; nor shall any order or resolution for the payment of money out of the town treasury be valid without his approval in writing. He shall, during his official term, hold no other corporation office; nor shall he be interested in any contract to which the said corporation is a party or when the money for any contract is to be paid out of the corporation treasury. He shall receive the sum of fifty dollars a year for his official services, to be paid in quarterly instalments of twelve dollars and fifty cents. Before entering upon his duties he shall take and subscribe before the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett county the oath prescribed by section six, article one of the Constitution of Maryland.

TOWN COUNCIL.

172. The Town Council shall be composed of six members who shall be elected as hereinbefore provided and shall hold their office for two years from the first Monday in May next after their election and until their successors are duly elected and qualified. Before entering upon their duties the members of the Council shall make oath before the Mayor or a

Justice of the Peace that "they will diligently perform the duties required of them by law as members of the Town Council without fear, partiality or prejudice."

173. No person shall be eligible as a member of the Town Council unless he shall have resided three years next preceeding his election in the town of Oakland, and shall be a free-holder in said town and shall also be twenty-five years of age.

174. The Town Council shall meet on the first Monday in each month and at such other times as it may deem necessary for the public business. The members of the Town Council shall be entitled to one dollar per day each for attending the sessions of the council or attending to the other public business required of them, not however to exceed twenty-four dollars to any member in any one year.

175. The Town Council shall appoint three judges of election and two clerks for the purpose of holding each general or special election which may be held under the provisions of this act or the ordinances passed in pursuance thereof. Ten days' notice shall be given of all elections general or special.

176. If any vacancy shall occur in the Town Council more than three months before the close of the term by reason of death, resignation, removal from the town, removal from office or otherwise, of any member, the Town Council shall without delay order a special election to be held for the purpose of filling such vacancy.

177. The members of the Town Council shall meet at their regular place of meeting on the first Monday in May in each year to organize. They shall elect one of their number to be President of Town Council who shall preside at their meetings, and in the absence of the Mayor or in case of a vacancy in that office shall ex-officio, be clothed with all the powers and perform all the duties of Mayor. The Town Council shall also at said meeting elect a Town Clerk, Treasurer and Tax Collector.

178. The Town Council shall, in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and in each fifth year thereafter, cause an assessment to be made of the property, real, personal and mixed, in said town for the purpose of taxation and shall provide by ordinance for making such assessment, and for hearing appeals from any valuation which may be made.

179. The Town Council shall have power to levy and collect taxes not to exceed fifty cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property in any one year and shall provide by ordinance for the collection of said taxes. The levy shall be made at the regular meeting in June in each year and all taxes so levied shall be a lien on any and all property of the person against whom they are levied.

180. The Town Council shall provide for maintaining town scales and a lock-up or town prison, where all offenders against the ordinances of the town may be imprisoned by the tribunal having jurisdiction to hear such offenses.

181. No member of the Town Council shall, during his term of office, hold or be interested in any other office under the corporation, nor be a party directly or indirectly to or interested in any contract in which the corporation is interested.

182. A majority of all the members elected to the Town Council shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

183. The Town Council shall keep a journal of its proceedings which shall always be open to the inspection of any tax-payer, and shall fix the salaries of all officers of the corporation not herein provided for.

184. The Mayor and Town Council shall have power to provide by ordinance for the good government of the town; for the preservation of peace and good order therein, and for securing to the residents of said town all the rights of person and property to which they are by law entitled; for the removal of nuisances; for the removal of obstructions from streets, lanes and alleys; for the removal of any dangerous house or building; for the paving, grading, repairing, drainage, leveling, surveying, laying out, extending, widening, opening, closing, straightening, re-locating, improving or repairing any street, sidewalk or alley in said town, and may condemn or purchase the right of way for any street or alley which they may determine should be opened for the public good; for the preservation of property, rights and privileges; for the regulation of sales in the streets, alleys or public places in said town; for the weighing of hay, coal and other property; for the suppression of vice and immorality; for the suppression of concealed weapons; for suppressing the practice of discharging fire arms, fire crackers, torpedoes or other explosives; for the prevention of gambling; for licensing of theatricals or other public amusements; to suppress tramps; for lighting the streets; for preventing swine, cattle, dogs or other animals from running at large on the streets; for imposing a tax on dogs; for location of hog pens; and the Town Council shall have full power and authority to pass all such ordinances as may be necessary to carry out and to give full force and effect to the powers conferred upon said corporation by law.

185. Whenever it shall, in the judgment of the Town Council, become necessary to condemn land for the purpose of opening or widening a street or alley, the corporation or any person aggrieved by the condemnation proceedings may appeal to the circuit court under such regulation as may be prescribed by ordinance.

186. A member of the Town Council may be removed from office for the same cause and in the same manner that the Mayor may be removed as provided for by this act.

187. It shall be the duty of owners or possessors of property abutting on any street to make and to keep the side-walk upon which his property so abuts in good repair at his own cost and expense, and such owner shall be responsible for any damages which may be occasioned by his negligence in repairing such side-walks or failure to keep them in good and proper repair. If the owner or possessor shall fail to make or repair any side-walk after due notice according to the ordinances of the town, the corporation shall repair the same and charge the same to the owner, possessor or other person responsible for such repairs, and may proceed to collect the same according to law. And all side-walks shall be constructed or repaired in such manner as may be required by ordinance; but the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall not be responsible for any damage which may be occasioned by reason of a failure on the part of lot owners to keep their side-walks in proper repair.

188. The Town Council shall have power to remove for cause any officer elected by it and to fill any vacancy in any office which it has the power to fill in the first place.

TOWN CLERK.

189. The Town Clerk, before entering upon his duties shall take the oath herein prescribed for members of the Town Council, and shall execute such bond as may be prescribed by ordinance.

TREASURER.

190. The Treasurer shall, before he enters upon his duties, execute a bond as required by the ordinances of the corporation, and shall take the same oath which is prescribed for members of the Town Council. He shall have the custody of all corporation funds and shall receive, disburse and report the same in such manner as may be prescribed by ordinance.

TAX COLLECTOR.

191. The Tax Collector, before entering upon his duties, shall take the oath prescribed for members of the council, and shall execute a bond as required by the ordinances of the town. He shall collect all taxes and other claims which may be due the corporation and shall pay over and account for the same at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by the ordinances. He shall assess all the improvements or additions to property in the town, which may be made after a general assessment and an appeal shall lie from his valuation to the Town Council.

POLICE MAGISTRATE.

192. The Police Magistrate shall be a Justice of the Peace of the State of Maryland, in and for Garrett county, residing within the town of Oakland. He shall have full authority, power and jurisdiction to hear, determine and pass sentence in all cases of the violations of the ordinances of the said corporation and may impose fines for such violations, or may imprison offenders, or may both fine and imprison offenders against said ordinances, and in the default of the payment of any fine imposed by him shall commit the offender to the lock-up until the same be paid as may be provided by the ordinances of the town; provided that no ordinance shall be passed providing for a fine of not less than one nor more than twenty-five dollars, nor for a term of imprisonment for more than thirty days.

ATTORNEY.

193. The Attorney for the corporation shall render such legal services as may be required of him from time to time by the Mayor and Town Council and shall receive such compensation as the Town Council may prescribe by ordinance.

BAILIFF.

194. The Bailiff shall qualify in such manner as the Town Council shall require. He shall perform all the police duties of the town and for this purpose he is clothed with all the powers of a constable under the general law. He shall promptly bring all violators of the ordinances of the town to trial before the Police Magistrate. He shall enforce the ordinances of the town and shall be subject to the orders of the Mayor provided such orders are not contrary to the ordinances of the town.

FLAGMAN.

195. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company shall keep a flagman to guard the crossings of the tracks of said company over Second Street in the town of Oakland, between the hours seven o'clock a. m. and nine o'clock p. m.

ORDINANCES.

195 A. The Town Council may by ordinance provide for the codification of all ordinances which have been or may be passed by it, and for the printing of such codification thereof, and the printed ordinances so issued by the authority of the Town Council may be read in evidence from the printed codification.

SECTION 2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved April 7th, 1892.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE,
ANNAPOLIS, MD., April 11th, 1892.

I certify the foregoing to be a correct copy of an act of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed January session, 1892.

Another invention of Mr John Cornelius.

On Tuesday last Mr. John Cornelius exhibited to THE REPUBLICAN the model of one of his latest inventions. The machine is a patent ditcher and in operation it may be pulled by means of a pulling machine such as are used to pull stumps or by any other suitable pulling or power mechanism.

The machine is provided with a pointed base plate or sole piece, an upright center in the center, and a cutter on either side. There are also two inclined pieces, one on either side, which carry the dirt up and out of the ditch, distributing it equally at considerable distance from the edge of the ditch in which it is being operated.

An ingenious arrangement is provided by which the ditch may be kept smooth on the bottom.

Now is the opportunity for any person with a small capital to buy on good terms a one-half interest in any state in new patent ditching machine that will clear from $25 to $40 per day. This machine will cut from 350 to 400 rods per day with one horse and two men. Will guarantee from $300 to $500 per month clear of all expenses. Any one desiring to engage in a good paying business can learn further particulars by writing to John Cornelius or calling at residence, Oakland, Md. He will also sell a one-half interest in any state or Canada in new patent Railroad Truck, John Cornelius' Solid Steel Cyclone Stamp, Grub and Tree Puller or Derrick and Wrecking Machine. These are useful patents and sell on their own merits. He will be pleased to explain the workings of these inventions to any interested party.

Sentenced For Libel. John W. Avirett, editor of the Cumberland Times, and Joseph J. Robinson, editor of the Lonaconing Star, were each sentenced to pay $100 fine and 90 days imprisonment in the county jail for libel.

On Saturday last Avirett submitted his case to the court and was convicted. Afterward a motion for a new trial was filed. The motion was argued by Messrs. A. H. Hunsicker and Wm. H. Hunsicker, for the state, and Thomas J. Peddicord for the state. Judge Stake reviewed the matter and in an elaborate opinion overruled the motion. The Judge then announced that if the counsel desired to say nothing further he would proceed to pass sentence.

In passing sentence Judge Stake said, in part:

"The ground upon which persons are punished for criminal libel is that it tends to a breach of the public peace. I have determined to impose a fine of one hundred dollars upon the traverser and to sentence him to be confined in the county jail for the period of ninety days and until the fine and costs are paid, and I hope this will be a warning to this community when blood has already been spilt by persons smarting under the sting of the libeler."

The court then imposed the same sentence upon Joseph J. Robinson, editor of the Lonaconing Star, who was convicted of libel upon the court last week. The court did not pass sentence upon Robinson in the second case in which he was convicted. Appeals were taken and both men were admitted to bail in $500 each.

Decoration Day May 30. Attention, members of U. A. R. All members of Crook Post are urged to be present on Decoration Day at 10 o'clock a. m. to join the Junior Order United American Mechanics and others in raising the "Old Flag" over the Oakland Free School Building; also at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon to decorate the graves of our comrades who have answered the last roll call.

All comrades and old soldiers, whether members of the U. A. R. or not, are cordially invited to join us.

Model Locomotive Engines.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has just placed in service on its Chicago Division three new passenger engines, built at the Baldwin Locomotive works, after new designs furnished by the General Superintendent of motive power of the B. & O. Company. The engines weigh 113,000 pounds, have driving wheels six feet six inches in diameter, cylinders 18x24 inches, and are without a doubt the finest passenger locomotives running into the city of Chicago today. Comparisons of these new engines have developed wonderful power and speed in hauling the famous Royal Blue line train which run between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, over the Philadelphia Division of the B. & O. Railroad. The B. & O. has added over forty new, high class engines to its motive power equipment within the last sixty days, and others under construction. While constantly adding new engines of approved design and highest grade to its motive power, and passenger coaches of the highest standard to its rolling stock, the B. & O. is also expending large amounts for additional second and third tracks and buildings, and improved facilities at terminal points. By the time the World's Fair is opened for the reception of visitors the B. & O. will be well equipped to handle, expeditiously, the large volume of passenger traffic which will naturally seek this picturesque route from the Atlantic seaboard to Chicago.

Cheap Excursion to Gettysburg Battlefield.

For the dedication of the Monument on June 2nd on the Gettysburg battlefield, designating the "High Water Mark" of the Southern Confederacy, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company will sell round trip tickets at all stations east of the Ohio river at the low rate of one fare for the round trip. The President of the United States, members of his Cabinet, the Governors of twenty-five States, members of their staffs, and other distinguished persons as well as several military and civic organizations will participate in the imposing dedicatory ceremonies. This will afford an excellent opportunity for a cheap excursion to the historic battle ground by veterans and others desiring to visit the scenes of the greatest conflict of modern times. 11-3t

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINGELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1892.

As usual among the masses the ill-effects seem to be getting it in the neck.

EX-GOVERNOR CAMPBELL, of Ohio, says: "A fighting Democracy always wins." It didn't seem to do so in 1861-'65.

The tin plate industry in Baltimore has started off with a boom and will grow with others in the same line until the Democrats kill it.

The bloody shirt is being well waved in Congress, but not by Republicans. They are not even replying to the Democrats. It ought to be plain enough to the country who is responsible for "stirring up sectional feeling."

For once this session the Democrats have displayed some sense. Knowing that the hindering-bill was a sham which could not stand discussion, they suppressed all debate and crowded it through under suspension of the rules.

The New York Mail and Express says: "The tariff bill should be freely circulated in shops and factories, in mines and fields, wherever there is a workman who does not know that the free-traders are plotting to undermine his wages."

When Cleveland was elected in '84 he was shaken up with Thomas Hendricks to leave his magnanimity with true Democracy. In '88, when he came as near being elected as he ever will be again, the Old Roman, Allan G. Thurman, performed the boosting act for him. Who could impart the flavor of Simon pure, moss-back Democracy in the year 1892? Perhaps Thomas F. Bayard. Most Democrats would prefer Hendricks again. To be sure he's dead, but he has

W. E. Russell is Governor of Massachusetts, and though young it is fair to believe he is a man of intelligence. To say that he would knowingly make a statement false in his face is hard, yet he says this in public print:

"I believe Democracy means the equality of all before the law, the rights of the many as against the privileges of the few, the freedom of the individual from unnecessary burdens and restrictions. I believe it stands between the people and oppressive power and beside the humblest individual in protecting him to make the most of himself, and it is ready ever to fight the people's battle and serve the people's call."

The abundance of our charity let us hope Gov. Russell does not know the political situation of the South and never heard of a klu klux, a bulldozer, or a shotgun.

"WHAT REPUBLICAN MANAGEMENT?" was the caption of a lengthy article which appeared in the Democrat last week.

"The Republican organ has been quiet," is one of its quotations relating to the levy.

The Republicans do not see any reason why it should occupy its columns with articles eulogistic of the county commissioners for the plain, simple facts and figures are to be seen by all who observe. There is no need for us to make apologies, every voter in the county who ever is not blinded by party prejudice is seen to be the case with the writer for the Democrat, can see that the Republican commissioners have done their duty, have fulfilled their promises and acquitted themselves as men of honor and not as tools of a machine. They are not boss ridden as has been the case with some boards of commissioners we have had in Garrett county. They use their own judgment.

We shall endeavor to review the levy of 1892 and compare the figures therein found with the levies of 1890 and 1891.

ENGLAND'S DANCER.

Lord Salisbury Says The British Free Traders Have Come Too Far.

Lord Salisbury in a speech he delivered yesterday at Hastings, counseled the workmen to follow the example set them by other nations, and substitute arbitration for the violent methods which were sometimes adopted for settling labor disputes. He said a grave matter in which the property of the country is involved, is the question of free trade. He said:

England only maintains the position which she occupies by the vast industries existing here, but a danger is growing up. Fifty years ago everybody believed that free trade had conquered the world and prophesied that every nation would follow the example of England. The results, however, are not what has been expected. Despite the prophecies of the free trade advocates, foreign nations are adopting protection. They are excluding us from their markets and are trying to kill our trade. And this state of things appear to grow worse every year.

England in an age of war tariffs. An important point is that, while nations are negotiating to obtain each other's commercial favor, none is anxious about the favor of Great Britain, because Great Britain has stripped herself of the armor and weapons with which the battle is to be fought. The attitude which we have taken, in regarding it disloyal to the glorious and sacred doctrines of free trade, to lay down anybody for the sake of any thing we get thereby may be noble, but it is not businesslike. (Cheers)

On these terms you will do nothing. I intend to hold your own in this conflict of tariffs, you must be prepared to refuse nations who injure us by their markets. We complain much of the United States, and it so happens that the United States mainly furnishes us with articles which are essential to the food of the people, and with raw material which is essential to our manufactures. We cannot exclude either without serious injury to ourselves. I am not prepared, in order to punish other countries, to inflict dangerous wounds upon ourselves. We must confine our elves to those whereon we will not suffer much, whether import duties diminishes or increases. While we cannot raise the price food and raw material, there is an enormous mass of imports, such as wine, spirits, silk, gloves and lace, from countries besides the United States which are merely luxuries, and of which a diminished consumption would be a benefit to our neighbors.

I shall expect to be economical of propounding such a doctrine, but I am bound to say this. I think the free traders have gone too far.

He Will Go to Minneapolis to Work for Harrison.

Ex-Congressman Louis E. McGomas was at the Hotel Remont last night. He spent an hour or so at the Young Men's Republican club, and then left about the probable probability of the national Republican committee.

Mr. McGomas said: "The primary business of the Minneapolis convention will be to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President. I have given no attention to the matter and have neither spoken to or written to any delegate on the subject, as I consider it a secondary consideration."

Mr. McGomas further stated that at present he had no aspirations for a position on the committee. "I will go to the convention," he added "to fight for Harrison, and I believe he will be nominated. His administration has been conscientious, able, clean and correct, and his re-nomination would be for the best interests of the Republican party and an assurance of victory."

The minor details will be determined by the delegates. After conference at Minneapolis, I am much more concerned about the main question."

Mr. McGomas expressed confidence in the election of two Republican Congressmen in Maryland at the next election, as the party, he says, is now thoroughly harmonious.—Baltimore Herald.

SAVINGS.

There is probably no greater test of the prosperity of the people than the amount of money left over after all expenses of living are paid. This amount may be placed in the bank or invested in real estate or otherwise.

The deposits in Savings Banks are largely made by the wage earner, the money of the manufacturer and merchant being in their business.

In Great Britain, with a population of 38,000,000, where Free-Trade reigns, there are $536,000,000 deposited in Savings Banks, or $14 per capita.

In New York, with protected industries and a population of 6,000,000, there are $550,000,000 deposited in Savings Banks, or $90 per capita.

In Rhode Island the per capita savings is $175 per capita.

In Massachusetts over $150.

In the whole United States the Savings Banks deposits amounted in 1890 to $1,524,844,506. But this only represents a part of the savings of American workmen.

Millions of dollars are now put in Building and Loan Associations, Insurance companies, numerous Benefit Associations and many other places for future need.

And yet with all this the laborers of this country, because of the high wages insured them by our Protective Tariff, live far better than the workman of other countries.

Wendell Phillips said: "The mainpring of our progress is high wages—wages at such a level that the workman can spare his wife to preside over a home, can command leisure, go to lectures, take a newspaper, and lift himself from the deadening level of mere toil. He came to look after his cottage in process of erection. The doctor says the Park will be full of people this season. No letter program could be more than that which is offered to the public.

Messrs Charles Jarvis, Hayden and Feltz attended services at the Park Sabbath afternoon.

Uncle Sam made two cents on merchant Gartrights calf last week. The calf, three ladies and the family had considerable fun with the calf a good night's rest. Lost a sheet of paper and a two cent stamp. Profit, $1 worth of laugh and a mystery. The women are still looking for the "bar."

Tickets will be valid for return journey until June 30th inclusive. The B. & O. Vestibule Limited Express trains make close connections at Chicago for Cedar Rapids. Pullman sleeping cars attached to all trains. 11-3

Model Locomotive Engines.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has just placed in service on its Chicago Division three new passenger engines, built at the Baldwin Locomotive works, after new designs furnished by the General Superintendent of motive power of the B. & O. Company. The engines weigh 112,000 pounds, have driving wheels six feet six inches in diameter, cylinders 18x24 inches, and are without a doubt the finest passenger locomotives running into the city of Chicago today. Companions of these new engines have developed wonderful power and speed in hauling the famous Royal Blue line train which runs between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, over the Philadelphia Division of the B. & O. Railroad. The B. & O. has added over forty new, high class engines to its motive power equipment within the last sixty days, and others under construction. While constantly adding new engines of approved design and highest grade to its motive power, and passenger coaches of Pullman standard to its rolling stock, the B. & O. is also expending large amounts for additional second and third tracks and sidings, and improved facilities at terminal points. By the time the World's Fair is opened for the reception of visitors the B. & O. will be well equipped to handle, expeditiously, the large volume of passenger traffic which will naturally seek this picturesque route from the Atlantic seaboard to Chicago.

Deer Park.

There will be an ice cream and strawberry festival in the Lutheran church tonight. The ladies interested in the affair have been busily engaged for some time and from what we can learn it will soon be in order. We wish them success.

Rev. A. M. Evers, of Hagerstown, was amidst his many friends of this place.

Rev. E. J. Meese was visiting friends here yesterday.

Several of our citizens have gone to your city to day to attend the show.

WITH FLOWERS AND FLAGS

HOW OAKLAND OBSERVED DECO-ORATION DAY.

The Procession of the Jr. O. U. A. M., Old Soldiers, K. of P., Odd Fellows and School Children—What was Done at the Cemetery.

Monday was a lovely day; it was also a day that will be remembered by the people of Oakland for a long time.

In the early morning it had the appearance of rain which perhaps had an ill effect on those who decorated their places of business and private houses, but by eight o'clock nearly every business house and a goodly number of residences had flags and bunting floating to the breeze.

The streets were crowded all day long by members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. from all parts of the county, by the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Grand Army of the Republic and Garrett Guards in their showy uniforms and equipments.

The object of this big gathering was for the purpose of raising our national colors over the school building and presenting the Holy Bible to that institution of learning by Garrett Council No. 35 Jr. O. U. A. M.

At ten o'clock the parade was formed in front of G. A. R. Hall on Alder street, headed by the Gilbert Band of Piedmont. Following is the order in which the different organizations were formed in the parade.

Gilbert Band, Junior Order United American Mechanics School Children, Terra Alta Band, Knights of Pythias, Independent Order Odd Fellows, Grand Army of the Republic, Co. B. L. M. N. G.

The line of march was then taken up which was as follows:—

Down Alder to Main; cross railroad track to Oak; up Oak to Sixth; up Sixth to Alder; down Alder to Main; up Main to Pennington; up Pennington to Wilson; down Wilson to school building.

Arriving at the school building the program following was carried out and more, carried out well:

Address.—Garrett Council No. 35 Jr. O. U. A. M. School Presentation of Flag and address.

Dr. E. H. Bartlett, Response.—Mr. Wm. Hinebaugh, Music.—"Star Spangled Banner."—School Song, "Star Spangled Banner."—School Address.—Mr. E. H. Bartlett, Music.—"Star Spangled Banner."—School Address.—Mr. Thos. J. Peddicord, Song, "God White and Blue."

The presentation speech by Dr. Bartlett was one of his happiest efforts and the response by Wm. Hinebaugh on the part of the school board was appreciated very much by the large crowd of patriotic citizens there assembled. The other speakers, Messrs. Hamill, Sinclair, and Peddicord made speeches enlogistic of the different organizations which were represented.

At about 12:30 the program was brought to ant end at the school house, the line of march was again taken up but in a different order. The procession proceeded to Grand Army hall where it disbanded for the morning.

THE AFTERNOON EXERCISES

At two o'clock the parade was again formed, which proceeded to the cemetery for the purpose of decorating the graves of the deceased members of the different orders.

These services were in charge of Crook G. A. R., but as nearly all the different organizations had deceased members interred the decoration was made general.

The floral offerings by the G. A. R., K. of P., Odd Fellows and Co. B. were handsome, not a grave was neglected and every one went home feeling that they had done to their departed brethren all in their power.

By actual count, on the return march from the school house, excluding the school children, 347 men were in line.

The patriotic music by the Gilbert and Terra Alta bands was well rendered and stirred many a heart.

A great many of the residents of Oakland were unable to secure flags for the purpose of decorating their homes.

A BIG TIME AT DEER PARK.

Decoration Day, the day commemorative of one of the grandest customs ever heralded by lovers of Freedom. True the battle fields of a nation are sad to look upon, but nevertheless the grand links in the chain of history were forged there. Millions of people celebrated the day. Those from the valleys marched forth to decorate the graves of fallen heroes, yet we, on the mountain top, are and were loyal to this noted custom.

As the evening breezes were lulling to sleep the sun in the cradle of the west, the evening train came rushing in bearing noble passengers. On stepping from the same a line of march was formed. First the Piedmont band, heading the procession and filling the breezy air with noble strains of music followed by Eagle Council, No. 34, of Deer Park; Garrett Council No. 35, of Oakland; Diamond Council No. 43, of Elk Garden, of Jr. O. U. A. M., and Garrett Guards following the school children. Band of Hope and citizens, marched immediately to the cemetery where Dr. Langhlin made a forcible and weighty address, after which the graves were decorated. After dismissal the procession returned to the public school building where the patriotic organization placed on the building the nation's flag.

Captain Newman made the presentation speech; Wm. D. Hove made the response followed by Wm. E. George, John Shartzer, states attorney Gilbert S. Hamill, Cashier Jones and others. After these enthusiastic speeches and excellent music by the band a free lunch was served the visitors.

This was indeed a gala day in the history of our thriving town. To-day the flag floats majestically, making glad every school-child and enlightening him with principles which will follow him through life. Although living amid ice the greater part of the year our hearts are ever warm with the love of American Liberty.

Jumping On Trains

At the last General Assembly of this state the following became a law:

"Any person who shall climb, jump, step, or in any other way get upon any part of any locomotive, engine or car, whether the same be freight, passenger, coal or otherwise, upon any part of the track of any railroad within this state, unless in so doing they act in compliance with law, or any permission under the rules and regulations of the railroad company of corporations operating and managing such railroad, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction shall be fined not less than one dollar nor more than twenty-five dollars or imprisonment in jail or in the Maryland house of Correction for not more than six months, or to both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the justice of the peace trying the case, or court before whom the case may be tried, or if such person be a minor under sixteen years of age he may in the discretion of the justice of the peace or any court trying the case be committed to any reformatory institution provided by law and authorized to receive the same for such period as the justice of the peace or court may determine, not to exceed two years."

We publish it for the benefit of those who make a practice of jumping on moving trains, as it may save them considerable trouble.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That sections one hundred and sixty-seven, one hundred and sixty-eight, one hundred and sixty-nine, one hundred and seventy, one hundred and seventy-one, one hundred and seventy-two, one hundred and seventy-three, one hundred and seventy-four, one hundred and seventy-five, one hundred and seventy-six, one hundred and seventy-seven, one hundred and seventy-eight, one hundred and seventy-nine, one hundred and eighty, one hundred and eighty-one, one hundred and eighty-two, one hundred and eighty-three, one hundred and eighty-four, one hundred and eighty-five, one hundred and eighty-six, one hundred and eighty-seven, one hundred and eighty-eight, one hundred and eighty-nine, one hundred and ninety, one hundred and ninety-one, one hundred and ninety-two, one hundred and ninety-three, one hundred and ninety-four, one hundred and ninety-five of Article twelve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," subtitle "Oakland," be and the same are hereby repealed and re-enacted with amendments; and that an additional section be added thereto, numbered 195 A, the whole to read as follows:

OAKLAND.

167. The inhabitants of the town of Oakland in Garrett county, are a corporation by the name of "The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland" and by that name may have perpetual succession, may sue and be sued, and may have and use a common seal which may be altered at pleasure, and may purchase and hold such real, personal or mixed property as may be required for the purpose of said corporation, and may dispose of such property when necessary for the benefit of the said corporation, and all the property and funds of every kind belonging to said corporation are vested in "The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland."

OFFICERS.

168. The officers of the said corporation shall be a Mayor, a Town Council, which shall be composed of six members, a President of the Town Council, a Town Clerk, a Treasurer, a Tax Collector, a Police Magistrate, an Attorney and a Bailiff, who shall severally perform such duties and have such powers as may be prescribed by this Act and the ordinances passed in pursuance thereof. The Mayor and the members of the Town Council shall be elected by the votes in said town. The Town Clerk, Treasurer and Tax Collector shall be elected by the Town Council. The Police Magistrate, Attorney and Bailiff shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the advice and consent of the Town Council. All the officers elected by the Town Council or appointed by the Mayor shall hold their respective offices for one year from the first Monday of May in the year for which they are appointed and until their successors are elected and qualified.

169. The Town Council shall, as soon as practicable, provide by ordinance for a survey and map of the limits of said town, and for the location upon said map of the streets and alleys already laid out and opened for public use, and also the streets and alleys heretofore laid out on the original plat of said town, and on the plats of the several additions to said town which have not been opened for public use, and such maps, when made and approved by the Town Council and Mayor, shall be recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, and when so recorded said maps or a copy, properly certified by said clerk under the seal of his office, shall be evidence. The limits of said town as they have heretofore been established by law shall remain until the survey herein provided for has been made and approved as aforesaid.

ELECTION.

170. The inhabitants of the town of Oakland who have resided therein for six months next preceding any municipal election and who are qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly of Maryland in Garrett county, shall, on the third Monday in April, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and on the same day in every second year thereafter, elect by ballot one person to be Mayor of said town, and the voters qualified as aforesaid, shall, on the third Monday in April, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and on the same day in every year thereafter, elect three persons to be members of the Town Council, and the members of the Town Council who have been elected and are now in office shall hold their office until the term for which they have been elected shall have expired and until their successors are elected and qualified.

MAYOR.

171. No person shall be eligible to the office of Mayor unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years and shall have resided five years in said town (next preceding his election), and shall be a free-holder in said town of Oakland. The Mayor elected at any regular election shall hold office for two years from the first Monday in May next after his election and until his successor is elected and qualified. Should a vacancy occur in the office of Mayor more than three months before the expiration of the term by reason of removal from the town, death, resignation, removal from office or otherwise, the Town Council shall, without delay, order an election to fill such vacancy. Wilful neglect of duty or misbehavior in office on the part of the Mayor is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and on conviction before a Justice of the Peace or in the Circuit Court for Garrett county he shall be removed from office by the Justice of the Peace or Judge who shall sit in the case, and any person who shall be convicted and removed from the office of Mayor as aforesaid shall thereafter be disqualified from holding any office in said corporation. The Mayor shall have power to appoint and employ all agents, servants and employees not otherwise provided for by law who may be required by said corporation. He shall, on the first Monday in May in each year, appoint and send to the Town Council for confirmation, the names of persons for the offices of Police Magistrate, Attorney and Bailiff respectively. He shall have power to remove for cause any officer, agent, servant or employee of said corporation who has been appointed by him or employed by him and to fill any and all vacancies which may occur in offices which he has the power to fill. He shall have general supervision of the town, see that the ordinances are enforced and shall from time to time report to the Town Council such matters as may in his judgment require the attention of the Town Council. He shall have power to administer oaths and certify the same in all matters pertaining to said corporation and which may be required by the business or transactions of said corporation. He shall, in the absence or sickness of the Police Magistrate and in such case only, have power to hear and determine all cases to which said corporation may be a party and over which the Police Magistrate may have jurisdiction and for this purpose he is hereby clothed with all the power and authority of a Justice of the Peace. No ordinances shall be valid without his approval unless the same be passed over his veto by a two-thirds vote; nor shall any order or resolution for the payment of money out of the town treasury be valid without his approval in writing. He shall, during his official term, hold no other corporation office; nor shall he be interested in any contract to which the said corporation is a party or when the money for any contract is to be paid out of the corporation treasury. He shall receive the sum of fifty dollars a year for his official services, to be paid in quarterly installments of twelve dollars and fifty cents. Before entering upon his duties he shall take and subscribe before the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett county the oath prescribed by section six, article one of the Constitution of Maryland.

TOWN COUNCIL.

172. The Town Council shall be composed of six members who shall be elected as hereinbefore provided and shall hold their office for two years from the first Monday in May next after their election and until their successors are duly elected and qualified. Before entering upon their duties the members of the Council shall make oath before the Mayor or a

Justice of the Peace that "they will diligently perform the duties required of them by law as members of the Town Council without fear, partiality or prejudice."

173. No person shall be eligible as a member of the Town Council unless he shall have resided three years next preceding his election in the town of Oakland, and shall be a free-holder in said town and shall also be twenty-five years of age.

174. The Town Council shall meet on the first Monday in each month and at such other times as it may deem necessary for the public business. The members of the Town Council shall be entitled to one dollar per day each for attending the sessions of the council or attending to the other public business required of them, not however to exceed twenty-four dollars to any member in any one year.

175. The Town Council shall appoint three judges of election and two clerks for the purpose of holding each general or special election which may be held under the provisions of this act or the ordinances passed in pursuance thereof. Ten days' notice shall be given of all elections general or special.

176. If any vacancy shall occur in the Town Council more than three months before the close of the term by reason of death, resignation, removal from the town, removal from office or otherwise, of any member, the Town Council shall without delay order a special election to be held for the purpose of filling such vacancy.

177. The members of the Town Council shall meet at their regular place of meeting on the first Monday in May in each year to organize. They shall elect one of their number to be President of Town Council who shall preside at their meetings, and in the absence of the Mayor or in case of a vacancy in that office shall ex-officio, be clothed with all the powers and perform all the duties of Mayor. The Town Council shall also at said meeting elect a Town Clerk, Treasurer and Tax Collector.

178. The Town Council shall, in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and in each fifth year thereafter, cause an assessment to be made of the property, real, personal and mixed, in said town for the purpose of taxation and shall provide by ordinance for making such assessment, and for hearing appeals from any valuation which may be made.

179. The Town Council shall have power to levy and collect taxes not to exceed fifty cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property in any one year and shall provide by ordinance for the collection of said taxes. The levy shall be made at the regular meeting in June in each year and all taxes so levied shall be a lien on any and all property of the person against whom they are levied.

180. The Town Council shall provide for maintaining town scales and a lock-up or town prison, where all offenders against the ordinances of the town may be imprisoned by the tribunal having jurisdiction to hear such offenses.

181. No member of the Town Council shall, during his term of office, hold or be interested in any other office under the corporation, nor be a party directly or indirectly to or interested in any contract in which the corporation is interested.

182. A majority of all the members elected to the Town Council shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

183. The Town Council shall keep a journal of its proceedings which shall always be open to the inspection of any tax-payer, and shall fix the salaries of all officers of the corporation not herein provided for.

184. The Mayor and Town Council shall have power to provide by ordinance for the good government of the town; for the preservation of peace and good order therein, and for securing to the residents of said town all the rights of person and property to which they are by law entitled; for the removal of nuisances; for the removal of obstructions from streets, lanes and alleys; for the removal of any dangerous house or building; for the paving, grading, repairing, drainage, leveling, surveying, laying out, extending, widening, opening, closing, straightening, re-locating, improving or repairing any street, sidewalk or alley in said town, and may condemn or purchase the right of way for any street or alley which they may determine should be opened for the public good; for the preservation of property, rights and privileges; for the regulation of sales in the streets, alleys or public places in said town; for the weighing of hay, coal and other property; for the suppression of vice and immorality; for the suppression of concealed weapons; for suppressing the practice of discharging firearms, fire crackers, torpedoes or other explosives; for the prevention of gambling; for licensing of theatricals or other public amusements; to suppress tramps; for lighting the streets; for preventing swine, cattle, dogs or other animals from running at large on the streets; for imposing a tax on dogs; for location of hog pens; and the Town Council shall have full power and authority to pass all such ordinances as may be necessary to carry out and to give full force and effect to the powers conferred upon said corporation by law.

185. Whenever it shall, in the judgment of the Town Council, become necessary to condemn land for the purpose of opening or widening a street or alley, the corporation or any person aggrieved by the condemnation proceedings may appeal to the circuit court under such regulation as may be prescribed by ordinance.

186. A member of the Town Council may be removed from office for the same cause and in the same manner that the Mayor may be removed as provided for by this act.

187. It shall be the duty of owners or possessors of property abutting on any street to make and to keep the side-walk upon which his property so abuts in good repair at his own cost and expense, and such owner shall be responsible for any damages which may be occasioned by his negligence in repairing such side-walks or failure to keep them in good and proper repair. If the owner or possessor shall fail to make or repair any side-walk after due notice according to the ordinances of the town, the corporation shall repair the same and charge the same to the owner, possessor or other person responsible for such repairs, and may proceed to collect the same according to law. And all side-walks shall be constructed or repaired in such manner as may be required by ordinance; but the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall not be responsible for any damage which may be occasioned by reason of a failure on the part of lot owners to keep their side-walks in proper repair.

188. The Town Council shall have power to remove for cause any officer elected by it and to fill any vacancy in any office which it has the power to fill in the first place.

TOWN CLERK.

189. The Town Clerk, before entering upon his duties shall take the oath herein prescribed for members of the Town Council, and shall execute such bond as may be prescribed by ordinance.

TREASURER.

190. The Treasurer shall, before he enters upon his duties, execute a bond as required by the ordinances of the corporation, and shall take the same oath which is prescribed for members of the Town Council. He shall have the custody of all corporation funds and shall receive, disburse and report the same in such manner as may be prescribed by ordinance.

TAX COLLECTOR.

191. The Tax Collector, before entering upon his duties, shall take the oath prescribed for members of the council, and shall execute a bond as required by the ordinances of the town. He shall collect all taxes and other claims which may be due the corporation and shall pay over and account for the same at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by the ordinances. He shall assess all the improvements or additions to property in the town which may be made after a general assessment and an appeal shall be from his valuation to the Town Council.

POLICE MAGISTRATE.

192. The Police Magistrate shall be a Justice of the Peace of the State of Maryland, in and for Garrett county, residing within the town of Oakland. He shall have full authority, power and jurisdiction to hear, determine and pass sentence in all cases of the violations of the ordinances of the said corporation and may impose fines for such violations, or may imprison offenders, or may both fine and imprison offenders against said ordinances, and in the default of the payment of any fine imposed by him shall commit the offender to the lock-up until the same be paid as may be provided by the ordinances of the town; provided that no ordinance shall be passed providing for a fine of not less than one nor more than twenty-five dollars, nor for a term of imprisonment for more than thirty days.

ATTORNEY.

193. The Attorney for the corporation shall render such legal services as may be required of him from time to time by the Mayor and Town Council and shall receive such compensation as the Town Council may prescribe by ordinance.

BAILIFF.

194. The Bailiff shall qualify in such manner as the Town Council shall require. He shall perform all the police duties of the town and for this purpose he is clothed with all the powers of a constable under the general law. He shall promptly bring all violators of the ordinances of the town to trial before the Police Magistrate. He shall enforce the ordinances of the town and shall be subject to the orders of the Mayor provided such orders are not contrary to the ordinances of the town.

FLAGMAN.

195. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company shall keep a flagman to guard the crossings of the tracks of said company over Second Street in the town of Oakland, between the hours seven o'clock a. m. and nine o'clock p. m.

ORDINANCES.

195 A. The Town Council may by ordinance provide for the codification of all ordinances which have been or may be passed by it, and for the printing of such codification thereof, and the printed ordinances so issued by the authority of the Town Council may be read in evidence from the printed codification.

SECTION 2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved April 7th, 1892.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE,
ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 11th, 1892.

I certify the foregoing to be a correct copy of an act of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed January session, 1892.

We use Alcohol

Alcohol to make Wolff's Aromatic. Alcohol is good for leather; good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and all the well known face washes. Think there is nothing too costly to use good leather preservative.

Wolff's Blacking retails at 20c.

At that price sells readily. Many people are accustomed to buying a dress or blacking at 5c. and 10c. a bottle. They cannot understand that a blacking can be so cheap at 20c. We want to meet you with cheapness if we can, and to accomplish this we offer a reward of $10,000

Whoever will bring to Wolff's Aromatic Blacking Co. at such a place that a retailer can probably sell it at 10c. a bottle. We hold this offer open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

A Successful Festival.

The festival under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran church of Oakland cleared about $75. Hamill & Little's Hall was used which was tastefully decorated. The ice cream good, the strawberries fair and the patronage the best that Oakland has given for a long time. So much excitement in one week—the great parade and flag raising on decoration day, the show in the beginning and two nights of such a successful festival shows a stoniness of endurance well indicated in the name of our town. The sociableness of this festival was one of its good points. Every one seemed delighted to meet every one else and a familiar chat was irresistible.

A great deal of encouragement too, is taken by those in charge of building the new church from the fact that so many are interested in the project and citizens of the town of all denominations sympathize with us and help us on. Indeed the building of a new church is not merely a denominational affair—it witnesses the building of the Methodist church here last year—but the better the churches the better, as a rule, the town.

Notice.

The unpaid subscriptions towards the building of St. Paul's M. E. church have been placed in my hands for collection, the trustees being very anxious that the work yet to be done on and about the church be finished, and the whole undertaking finished. I shall be glad to have the brethren and friends yet indebted to the church, call on me and pay their subscriptions at the earliest possible convenience. If it is inconvenient for them to do so, I will accommodate them by calling on them as soon as practicable.

FROM FLORIDA.

The Subject of Work As Viewed by One of Our Contributors.

To the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN.

It has been on my mind now a good while, to say something to your many readers, on the subject of work in Florida. Through your columns I have heretofore spoken of this matter in such way as to leave the impression that everybody in this climate, in a general way, is in accord with nature. Yet, it is possible for one with a willing mind and an industrious disposition to accomplish very considerable results in this direction, notwithstanding climatic influences and all that. And now, if I may be excused for seeming egotism, I will give some facts out of my own experience in confirmation of this. Let me only say that it is no part of my purpose to "blow a horn," but merely to prove that a northern immigrant can not only work energetically, but continue to do so here in Florida. It is now six and a half years since I arrived in this state, and almost all the facts below noted belong to my labor record of 1892.

In the field I have made on a careful calculation, forty thousand movements with the hoe (among tomato plants) between sun-rise and sunset; planted five thousand hills of corn—dropping and covering with hoe—in four hours; cut with cradle eleven dozen oats in 45 minutes, and of course all done in such weather as would be called hot anywhere.

In the woods I have made 250 rails—from the stump—between the hours of 2 p. m. and sunset. Have repeatedly gone out and made 50 before breakfast. Have alone with the ax, made the quantity of saw-stock assigned to two men with the cross-cut.

On the sawmill I have, entirely alone—with water power and round saw—cut from 1500 to 2000 feet of hard Florida pine.

At carpentering I have planned from 400 to 600 feet a day; have put on, with the aid of a boy, 19 squares of matched ceiling in 24 days; with one and a half a hand, and a roofing party, put up a 40 by 30 foot barn, complete including stone foundation in six days.

At painting I have put on from 8 to 14 squares, including the usual proportion of overhead work in a day.

If some of these statements have a "loud" sound coming all the way up from Florida, and from a 54-year-old toiler, let some of your active young chaps come down and "have it over again" with me.

We had a very pleasant visit, though too hasty a visit, from your backhome friend, Mr. Kelson, in March. Hope he had a good word for Florida in THE REPUBLICAN office when he got home, and that we may see him among us again. A letter from him would be very welcome.

Our '92 oats are in the barn, a fine crop too, corn is over the horses back and showing tassels, melons setting on the vines, and the pear, the plum and the blackberries ripe. Have had a very dry spring but the summer rains have just commenced. Health unusually good. With kind regards to ye editor and all inquiring friends.

John P. Calhoun, of Mountain Lake Park, was at Lake View Saturday on special business.

A large delegation from here attended the show at Oakland Tuesday.

Mr. Rathbun has just received a car load of 18,000 feet of pine lumber. Mr. B. is a business man "from away back" and is receiving more orders than he can fill with even his enlarged facilities.

Mrs. J. M. Gibson has been on the sick list the past week.

The hail-storm Friday of last week done some damage to small grains.

John L. Burley, who has been at Monksville the past winter, has returned for the summer. Mr. B. brought with him a physician, and the Doctor has already several cases under consideration.

P. T. Garthright has just received a car load of flour and is now prepared to sell at very low figures.

Our streets have undergone a thorough overhauling and are now in a much better condition.

The public highway from the depot to the Park has been macadamized, and the bridge repaired. These improvements add much to the general appearance of Mountain Lake Park.

There will be a grand picnic at Mt. Lake Park on next Saturday June 11th. There will be target practice by Co. B. when they are out for inspection, a sham battle etc. Come all.

Wm. Wonderly's wife has returned home.

There will be a big dance at the Burley skating rink on next Saturday eve.

WHY OUR ROADS ARE BAD.

Causes of Slow Development of the American Highways.

While the people of the American states have furnished examples of almost phenomenal enterprise and achievement in other directions, the construction and management of their public highways have been singularly loose, unsystematic and improvident. Except in some of the New England states and some in New York and northern New Jersey adjacent to the city of New York, there can scarcely be said to be anything like a system of public highways constructed with reference to permanence, durability and affording the best service to the community at all seasons. There are, of course, local exceptions where by individual or associated enterprise, aided by special conditions as to surface and natural character of the soil or proximity to roadbuilding material, good roads have been constructed, but they are few in number and limited in extent.

The commissioner of agriculture, in his report for the year 1888, commenting upon the importance of the common roads as the feeders to the railroads of the country, made use of the following suggestive statements:

"While our railway system has become the most perfect in the world, the common roads of the United States have been neglected and are inferior to those of any other civilized country in the world. They are deficient in every necessary qualification that is an attribute to a good road—in direction, in slope, in shape and service, and, most of all, in repair. These deficiencies have resulted not only from an ignorance of the true principles of roadmaking, but also from the varied systems of roadbuilding in force in the several states of the Union, due to defective legislation. The principles upon which the several states have based much of their road legislation is known as the road tax system of personal service and commutation, which is unsound as a principle, unjust in its operation, wasteful in its practice and unsatisfactory in its results. It is a relic of feudalism, borrowed from the 'statute labor' of England, and its evil results are to-day apparent in the neglected and ill conditioned common roads of the country." And as the benefits to be secured by a change in these conditions, the commissioner forcibly adds: "By the improvement of these common roads every branch of our agricultural, commercial and manufacturing industries would be materially benefited. Every article brought to market would be diminished in price; the number of horses necessary as a motive power would be reduced, and by these and other retrenchments millions of dollars would be annually saved to the public. The expense of repairing roads and the wear and tear of vehicles and horses would be essentially diminished, and thousands of acres of land, the products of which are now wasted in feeding unnecessary animals in order to carry on this character of transportation, would be devoted to the production of food for the inhabitants of the country. In fact, the public and private advantages which would result from effecting this great object in the improvement of our highways are incalculable, not only to the agricultural community as a nation."

Undoubtedly one of the chief reasons for the tardiness in the development of a complete system of the United States is to be found in the unexampled rapidity of growth and immense extent of our railroad system, and the facilities it has afforded for intercommunication over vast areas and between widely separated portions of the country. By furnishing the means for regular and speedy communication over long distances, the necessity for other and more primitive methods has been rendered less urgent and imperative. In some portions of the country—especially in the west—the railroad has even preceded the common roads; and yet the importance of the latter as feeders to the former in agricultural or commercial sections is so apparent that no intelligent railroad man can fail to recognize it or refuse to encourage the development of the common roads without disregarding his own interest. In this way the railroads, when in the hands of intelligent and enterprising managers, can be counted on as the most efficient aids in securing permanent and well constructed public roads.

Another cause of slow development has been the lack of uniformity in the road laws of different states, and the consequent incongruity in systems of construction and maintenance, not only in different sections of the same state. With our vast area and sparse population, in some sections this would be impossible. The road laws of France, which are pointed to as models of practical efficiency, have been made for a people who have constituted an organized nation for centuries and form compact communities occupying an area but little greater than the new England states, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, and considerably less than the whole of Texas, while the United States exceeds the whole of Europe in extent. It is apparent that the laws of the former could be made applicable to the latter only to a limited extent and in the older and more compactly settled states.

By "permanent road" is meant a road regularly surveyed and artificially constructed of prepared material in accordance with some established system, with a view to durability and regular maintenance. Of such roads, as already hinted, there are few in this country. The best specimens are to be found in the vicinity of the larger eastern cities especially New York. Those in Essex and Union counties, N. J., about the city of Elizabeth, Montclair, the Oranges, etc. and in southwestern Connecticut have been mentioned with high commendation. They are generally constructed on the telford or macadam system. The cost of roads of this character in New Jersey is estimated at ninety cents to a dollar per square yard, or for a paved road-way sixteen feet wide $8,000 to $10,000 per mile. Some of these roads have been in use fifteen to twenty years. The cost of maintenance has been about $350 per mile per annum—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Aches on Cigars.

"Few men professing to be judges of fine cigars know anything at all about smoking," remarked a cigar dealer. "The ashes on the end of the cigar serve to retain the flavor, and should be permitted to remain as long as possible. Then the constant thumping some smokers give their cigars in the attempt to keep them clear of ashes often causes the wrappers to break, and that also lessens the pleasure of a good smoke."

He also added: "Never buy a ten cent cigar, let it be a five or fifteen, or even more, but a ten never. The ten cent cigars are made of the lowings of higher priced cigars and are never long filled, while the five cent cigars are manufactured from a first class second grade goods, are long filled, and, as a rule, good smokers, unless the purchaser is unfortunate enough to have a two-for put on him for a five cent cigar."—Exchange.

From Tacoma I ran down to southern California, came flying through the southwestern states and territories, made two stops before reaching St. Louis, and day before yesterday was in Chicago. Here I am today, just hurrying down to my office. It doesn't seem as if I had been outside of New York city."—New York Tribune.

MR. HIPKINS RETIRES

End of the Protestant Episcopal Church Litigation in Oakland.

Rev. F. S. Hipkins has placed upon record in the office of the Circuit Court, of this county, a deed reconveying to Mrs. Mary L. Tucker, of the property known as the Parish Church of St. Matthew's Parish, Garrett county. Since the litigation began it was discovered that the legal title to the church property was in Mrs. Mary L. Tucker, of Clarke county, Va., instead of the vestry of the parish. Mrs. Tucker took sides with Mr. Hipkins as against the vestry and conveyed the property to him. She desired that Mr. Hipkins should continue to hold services here, and gave him the church for that purpose. Mr. Hipkins never designed to act outside the ecclesiastical law nor regardless of the bishop's wishes. After a full consultation with the bishop and many prominent clergymen, including members of the standing committee, it was thought best that Mr. Hipkins should be transferred to some other parish. After consenting to this arrangement he asked Mrs. Tucker to consent to the conveyance of the church to the bishop, but her consent could not be obtained, and hence the reconveyance to her, as above stated. By this course on the part of Mr. Hipkins a long and bitter legal contest has been averted and what was considered a great church case is ended. Mr. Hipkins expects to leave for a new field of labor in a short time.

Monstrous Bears.

Professor Russell, who has returned from Mount St. Elias, Alaska, tells a remarkable story of a meeting that he had with two bears. He was returning to camp over a rather steep slope of cedar and found that the quickest and easiest way to make the journey was by sliding. Says he:

"Using my alpenstock as a brake, I descended swiftly and without difficulty for several hundred feet, my legs bounding along beside me. Suddenly upon looking up I was startled to see two huge brown bears not more than 150 yards away. Had my slide been continued a few seconds more I should have been exceedingly unpleasant company. I was unarmed and directly upon me. The bears filled with a pair of the most savage animals found in that country."

"They were not at all disturbed by my presence, and in spite of my shouts, which I thought would make them travel off, one of them came leisurely bounding up the slope, and the other followed him. He strides over the snow revealed a strength and activity commanding admiration despite the decidedly uncomfortable feeling awakened by his proximity and evident curiosity."

"Later in the season I measured the tracks of an animal of the same species, made while walking over a soft, level surface, and found each impression to measure 9 by 11 inches and the stride to reach sixty-four inches. So far as I have been able to learn, this is the largest bear track that has been reported. It is a bear looking down the slope of the mountain was soon reached, and my unwelcome companions were lost to sight."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

A Helpful Experience.

"The years that I had spent in learning the trade," said a wealthy retired store dealer, "had left a gloomy impression on me. Then, as now, almost everybody that had a furnace that needed fixing up put off attending to it until the last minute. Of course now, of them had to wait, and those who had to wait longer, it seemed as though the world was full of growlers. At twenty-one I was in danger of becoming a misanthrope, but I was saved from that by a new experience."

"About a year after starting in business for myself was from a school. The furnace had broken down suddenly in midwinter. The school was closed while the repairs were being made. The breaking down of the furnace fairly delighted the children, but the only regret was that it wasn't broken down so, so that it would take longer to fix it. Of course it was perfectly natural that the children should look at it just as they did. Nevertheless it was a pleasing incident, and beyond the amusement that it afforded me at the moment it yielded this more substantial benefit—it awakened me to the fact that the way in which things appear often depends very much on how you look at them. It is this happier frame of mind I discovered that besides the pleasures that I had happened to meet there were in the world plenty of thoughtful and considerate people, and that one needed only the right sort of eyes to be able to see good points even in the man that got across about his stovepipe."—New York Sun.

The Time to Eat.

There has been a good deal of discussion as to the best time for eating certain articles of food. For instance, we are advised not to eat meat late in the day, not to take fruit just before retiring, and to avoid tea and coffee in the evening if a wakeful night is not desired.

Men of mature years and good stomachs are not devoting much time to studying these questions. They sit at the table, and watermelon never tasted better than on a dark night when the food was chained and the owner of the patch was sleeping after the weary labors of the day.

Apples never were so sweet as when an entrance was surreptitiously effected into the rear end of the orchard and the invader pushed the stolen fruit with an assurance that the proprietor was not within eyeshot. Pies and preserves were also chosen by the eyes of watchful and suspicious parents were temporarily off duty. Green cucumbers were smuggled to bed and eaten in the still watches of the night, while raw turnips were generally enjoyed on the top of a stake and ridged fence.

In those days it was the custom of boys to eat what they most enjoyed, when they could get it, and to get it when they could. Stomachs were not run according to a time table, and yet a good many hearty men can look back with pleasure to those youthful indiscretions.—Detroit Free Press.

Public Local Laws.

CHAPTER 385.

AN ACT to amend section forty-two of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws, title "Garrett County," sub-title "County Seal."

WHEREAS by Act of eighteen hundred and ninety, chapter five hundred and fifty-six, relating to "Garrett County" sub-title "Treasury," through inadvertence and mistake said section forty-two of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws included in said act amendments which have no part or subject matter of said repealing and reenacting act, and double having arisen as to said repealing act, therefore

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that section forty-two of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws, title "Garrett County," sub-title "County Seal," be enacted for as follows:

SECTION 2. And be it enacted, that this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved April 4th, 1892. 11-3

CHAPTER 384.

AN ACT to pay to the school commissioners of Garrett County a sum of money out of the State School Tax.

WHEREAS in view of the pressure of the present apportionment specially upon Garrett County, of the State School Fund, and her liability without larger increase of county taxation to keep open her schools, or more than four or five months, and in view of the fact that mountain ridges divide the population of Garrett county, the largest county of the State in area, as to number of school facilities for all the children more expensive than in the more level parts of the State, and Whereas it has been annually declared by the State Board of Education, and a committee appointed by the State Teachers Association that such sum of money should be paid out of the State School Fund to the Board of School Commissioners of Garrett County, therefore SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that the Comptroller of the Treasury be, and he is hereby authorized and required to draw his warrant upon the Treasurer in favor of the Garrett School Board for the sum of four thousand dollars per annum, for two years, out of the proceeds of the State School Tax.

SECTION 2. And be it enacted, that this act shall take effect from the date of its passage by the General Assembly.

Approved April 7th, 1892. 11-3

CHAPTER 382.

AN ACT to provide for the appointment of an additional Justice of the Peace in District number Seven, Garrett County to be located at Mountain Lake Park.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that the Governor shall be, and he is hereby empowered, to appoint an additional Justice of the Peace in District number Seven, Garrett County, to be located at Mountain Lake Park.

SECTION 2. And be it enacted, that this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved April 7th, 1892. 11-3

CHAPTER 383.

AN ACT to amend section 32 of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws, title "Garrett County," sub-title "County Commissioners," and to re-enact the same with amendments.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that section thirty-two of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws title "Garrett County," sub-title "County Commissioners," be and the same is hereby repealed and reenacted so as to read as follows:

They shall meet on the first Monday in March, the first Monday in June, and the second Monday in September in each year, and may call special meetings whenever they think proper.

SECTION 2. And be it enacted, that this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved April 7th, 1892. 11-3

CHAPTER 380.

AN ACT to repeal and reenact with amendments section twelve of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws title "Garrett County," sub-title "County Seal."

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that section twelve of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws title "Garrett County," sub-title "County Seal," be and the same is hereby repealed and reenacted so as to read as follows:

SECTION 2. It shall be lawful for any dog owner running sheep in Garrett county, owners of dogs shall be liable for all sheep killed or injured by them, and any persons seeing such dogs running at large may lawfully kill the same.

SECTION 3. And be it enacted, that this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved March 3rd, 1892. 11-3

CHAPTER 379.

AN ACT to change the mode of appointing the Treasurer of Garrett county by making him elective by the voters instead of appointed by the county Commissioners, and to repeal and re-enact section forty-two of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Garrett county, sub-title "County Treasurer."

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that section forty-two of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Garrett county, sub-title "County Treasurer," be and the same is hereby repealed and is hereby reenacted so as to stand and read as follows:

SECTION 2. The County Commissioners of Garrett county on the third Tuesday of April in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-two, or as soon as may be thereafter, shall elect a suitable person of good repute and business qualifications to be County Treasurer of said county who shall execute bonds and qualify himself in the manner herein provided, and the office for two years after such an appointment or until his successor is elected and qualified.

SECTION 3. That the legal voters of said Garrett county, shall on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November eighteen hundred and ninety-three and on the same day and month in every second year thereafter elect a suitable person of good repute and business capacity to be county Treasurer for said county who shall execute the required bond or bonds and qualify in the manner herein provided, and shall hold his office for two years, or until his successor shall be elected and qualified, commencing on the third Tuesday of the April following such election.

SECTION 4. And the said county Treasurer shall be collector of all State and County taxes for whatever purpose levied or to be levied, or will in said county during his term of office, and he shall have full power, and it is his bounden duty to receive and collect all State and County taxes levied as aforesaid and be placed in his hands for collection and all moneys when may be due said county, with full powers to enforce the payment of the same by payment or otherwise as hereinafter prescribed, and to convey to any purchaser by a good and sufficient deed, any real or personal property sold by him for the payment of any State or County taxes, or both, in the manner provided in the succeeding section of this article.

SECTION 5. The said Treasurer shall be subject to removal from office at all times by the Judges of the Circuit Court for Garrett county, upon conviction for wilful neglect of duty or misdemeanor, or misbehavior in office.

SECTION 6. And be it enacted, that this act shall take effect from and after the date of its passage.

Approved April 7, 1892.

CHAPTER 378.

AN ACT to prohibit the payment of employees of certain corporations operating in Garrett County, Maryland, in excess of the legal tender money of the United States.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that every corporation engaged in mining or manufacturing or operating a railroad in Garrett county, and employing two or more hands, shall pay its employees the full amount of the legal wages in full, and shall not be allowed to pay any part of such wages in any other manner than by the payment of the whole or any part of such wages in full, and shall be liable to recover from any such corporation employing him the whole or so much of the wages earned by him as shall not have been actually paid to him in legal tender money of the United States without subterfuge or deduction of his demand for, and in respect of any account or claim.

SECTION 2. Be it further enacted, that nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent any such corporation from demitting to any of its employees the whole or any part of any indebtedness in said county of any rent thereon reserved, or from contracting for or advancing money to supply him with medicine or medical attendance needed for himself or family, smithing or fuel, and deducting from the wages of any such employee for and in respect for such rent, medicine, medical attendance, smithing, fuel or money advanced as aforesaid.

SECTION 3. Be it further enacted that nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the payment in whole or in part of the wages of any such employee in the notes of any bank payable to bearer on demand that shall be current at par in this State at the time of such payment, but all payments made in such notes with consent of such employees shall be as valid and effectual as if made in the legal tender money of the United States.

SECTION 4. Be it further enacted that any corporation before mentioned which shall directly or indirectly enter into any contract, or make any payment hereby declared illegal shall be liable to indictment and upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction shall for each first offense be fined one hundred, and for each succeeding offense not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars.

SECTION 5. Be it further enacted that this act shall take effect from and after the date of its passage.

Approved April 7, 1892.

B. & O. R. R., from August 9th to 23rd, will be held the tenth annual session of this famous Chautauqua with fifteen days full of the best things genius can devise or money procure. Dr. W. L. Davidson, the superintendent, has prepared the programme with great care. Leading celebrities of the country will appear from day to day, while a score of departments of study, under the direction of the best instructors, will do their helpful work
for the multitudes of students.
Professors from the leading Universities will have charge. The schools begin August 2nd and continue three weeks. Tuition is very low. No programme so rich in novelty, so strong in music, so crowded with earnest, attractive and helpful lectures ever offered to the patrons of Mt. Lake Park. For

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice having had passed by his hands 45,000 feet of lung tissue, the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and lung affections; also a positive and reliable cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Accompanied by this notice and a desire to give these human beings, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this remedy in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 829 Powers' Block, Rochester N. Y.

A special train of New England delegates to the National Prohibition Convention, which was held Wednesday and Thursday in Cincinnati, passed through Oakland Tuesday evening. A considerable number of the delegates alighted from the train and walked around taking in a few whiffs of our pure mountain air. The first choice of the New England delegation for President is St. John, with a California man as second choice.

As the west bound recomodation was coming up the 17 mile grade near Everett's Tunnel on Monday evening, the engine struck R. L. Rhodes, a boy about 15 years old and son of the watchman. The boy received serious and perhaps fatal injuries, his right leg and left foot being cut off.

LATER.—The injured lad died about half an hour after Dr. J. Lee McComas arrived, who was called to attend him.

An exchange says that every child in the United States ought to be a Republican and Protectionist just from listening to the talk of their seniors who relate how they were whipped in childhood for breaking a dish when we bought our queensware from England. It was an expensive article, and nearly all laboring men of the country find their children out of tin plates. Now, under the wise care of home industries, queensware is so low in price that parents would hardly look cross at child if it were to smash a whole set of dishes.

On a petition filed yesterday Judge Hoffman appointed Messrs. R. R. Henderson, B. A. Richmond and D. W. Sloan, receivers for the Potomac Paper company. The purpose of the company in placing the concern in the hands of receivers is to effect a re-organization and place new blood in control of the company's interest. They are doing a big business and in a short while will be running to their fullest capacity. This city and is controlled entirely by Cumberland capitalists. The re-organization will place it on a better footing than it ever has been before. —Cumberland News.

Two Cumberland colored gentlemen one a porter and the other a dining room servant at the Glades Hotel had a row Friday morning. A quarrel originated over some trifling matter and after passing the he back and forth Wesley Brown struck Mitchell a terrible blow across his head inflicting serious wounds. Brown was arrested and arraigned before Justice Goulder charged with assault with intent to kill. He was committed for a hearing at 3 p.m. At three o'clock Dr. McComas who had charge of Mitchell, reported that he was unable to appear and Brown was committed for a hearing at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon. On Friday night Mitchell skipped. Brown was bound over for the action of the grand jury.

Mr. C. T. Sweet, of Swanton, according to the Deer Park correspondent of the Cumberland Times, ships from 400 to 600 quarts of strawberries a day and on account of scarcity of pickers a large percentage goes to waste. Mr. Sweet hails originally from New York and has selected a romantic location on a high point east of Swanton where he has a grand view of the Allegheny ranges for miles in the distance. He has cleared a nice farm and has some twenty acres in fruit, vegetables of all kinds, including a vineyard of choice grapes.

Mr. Sweet not only has the theory of cultivating these luxuries, but he has the practical part, and pulls off his coat and manages all his work and shipping, etc., in person. He is also a cultured gentleman with a classical education, and as his name indicates, he and his accomplished wife and daughter are not only Sweet by name, but genial and sweet in their social relations. And it would gladden our hearts to see more of such grand, enterprising citizens come to our mountain country.

Children's Day.

Sunday was Children's Day in Oakland.

In the morning the day was observed in St. Paul's M. E. church. An immense crowd was present and the spacious building was taxed to its utmost. An interesting as well as elaborate program had been prepared, which was fully carried out. Rev. G. W. Kepler, the pastor, delivered an exceedingly charming address, which captivated everyone. The music was very fine, and the songs and recitations by the children very nice.

The beautiful building was gorgeously decorated with flowers and evergreens.

AT THE MEMORIAL CHURCH.

At night the congregation and Sunday school of the Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church celebrated children's day. The occasion was indeed a joyous one for both children and parents. The church was a veritable flower garden and reminded those present that it was "Blossom time" sure enough. The program rendered by the children was excellent in all its departments. Dr. H. C. Alexander, pastor, delivered an address which captured the entire audience. Both entertainments reflect great credit upon the respective pastors and their congregations.

A Theatrical Event.

The advance guard in the person of the manager of Oakland and Deer Park's Summer Dramatic Company is in town and is fast completing arrangements looking to the opening, next week, July 8. Offutt's Hall has been engaged for the summer and a number of necessary improvements will soon be made. Performances will be given every Friday evening, changing the bill each week. Special arrangements will be made for residents of Deer Park to attend. The company is a strong one direct from New York and is headed by Miss Eileen Moretta, a charming young leading lady. Others in the company include H. Post, J. T. Brenster, Harold Howard, J. Hamersley and J. H. Hazleton. The affair will be under the management of Larry H. Reist, for many years an expert in theatricals. He will mount and cast the plays and look after the comforts and convenience of the public. The admission fee will be reasonable, 25 and 50 cents. The opening play will be the beautiful comedy drama entitled "The Same Old Story," or "Husband and Wife," to be followed by the great play "Leda Astray."

The Fourth of July.

The time is near when we shall pass another milestone in our nation's history. This thought should fill our hearts with gratitude and joy; gratitude to our Revolutionary fathers for their patriotism and joy in the thought that we are free. When we review the history of our nation and see the trials through which she has passed and the obstacles which she has overcome our hearts should be bound with more ardent affection for her. All nations have days which mean much to their history—the destiny of nations have hung upon the fate of a single day. The empire of Alexander the Great had its Granicus, that of Caesar, his Rubicon, that of Napoleon Bonaparte, its Austerlitz and England her Hastings. Although the greater number of these nations have perished those days still live. But no day in any nation's history is remembered with greater pleasure by more hearts than the day upon which our noble hearted ancestors declared that on account of British oppression, are and ought to be forever free. Hitherto the interests of colonists had been hampered, their rights and privileges had been restricted, but now freedom's light had dawned upon them and our nation was henceforth to form a link in the world's history, and the result is that we are the grandest nation in existence.

Our territory has been extended from a narrow strip bordering upon the Atlantic until now we possess 4,000,000 square miles of the best land upon which the sun shines. Its soil yields bounteously to the hands of industry; its hidden resources, when fully developed, bespeak for our nation a glorious future; our population has increased and intellectually we have kept pace with older nations; our manufactures and mechanic arts have prospered. During Revolutionary times the farm-house was a manufactory of all the articles of daily use; clothes, hats, shoes and harness were manufactured at home. The old flintlock rifle was used; grain and grass was cut by the sickle and scythe, oxen trod out the grain or it was thrashed with the flail, but with freedom came wonderful development. The sewing machine, the reaper, the mower, the steam fire-engine, the telephone and a thousand other devices now minister to our comfort. The idea of popular education has advanced and now the free school bell calls together daily 10,000,000 children.

Our literary men are many and our literature choice; our light and civilization is now reaching other lands, elevating the people from superstition and vice to virtue and morality.

In view of all these things which have resulted from the position taken by our ancestors, let us celebrate this day not with reveling and drunkenness, but with thanksgiving and praise, as becomes true Americans, so that upon this day public sentiment shall be shaped in favor of our government.

Another Victim.

Big Youghiogheny river claimed another victim on Sunday afternoon last.

This time it was a boy aged about fifteen years, named Edward Male, a son of Hugh Male, living about five miles from Oakland on the Sang Run road.

Young Male and a companion named Garrett were bathing in the river at or near where the old tram road bridge crossed at one time at the mouth of Hemington. Male was in a place where the water was about twenty feet deep and young Garrett only a few feet away from him when they both sank. As Garrett came to the surface the third time he was pulled ashore by some men who were on the bank. Young Male never came to the surface. His body was recovered Sunday night about midnight and taken to the morgue.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.
A Non-Partisan Tribute to the Republican President.

[The Independent, (Bellevue Weekly).]
Benjamin Harrison has now been President for nearly three years, and while it is too soon to pronounce judgment upon his administration—which, however, is universally regarded as an able one—it is not too soon to form an estimate of his personal character as exhibited in his public action.

There is, perhaps, no position in the world in which a man's character is tested as it is in that of the President of this great Republic.
The labors of the office are very severe, the trials and perplexities unlimited, the pitfalls countless and the temptations many and strong. He is subjected to the most remorseless criticism; every act he performs, every request he denies, every favor he grants, every word he utters, is weighed and judged; and he is held strictly responsible for the remote consequences of both his acts and his refusal to act.

President Harrison is very fortunate in his equipment for this high office. He possesses a strong physique, is compactly built, has a vigorous appetite, good digestion, full sleeping capacity, an even temper, and the power of long sustained labor. He loves work, and takes a keen delight in the severest mental effort.

A college graduate, a trained lawyer, and yet acquainted with adversity; a soldier with a practical knowledge of campaign and battle; a local politician of the better sort; for six years a United States Senator, with a wide acquaintance with the ablest men of his day; a careful student of history and of contemporaneous political movements; an independent thinker, and a close observer of men and methods, he came to the Presidency in the prime of life, fully cognizant of the exalted dignity of the position and filled with an ambition to meet worthily all proper demands that it might make upon him.

A Christian without bigotry; a patriot without sectionalism; a statesman without narrowness; a politician without bitterness; a soldier without vanity; a popular leader without vulgarity, he stands before the country to-day a typical American, honest without cant, tender hearted without gush. He appreciates the good, the true, the beautiful; sympathizes with the poor, the ignorant and unfortunate, and condemns all that is low, mean, or evil.

The Mountain Chautauqua.

On the summit of the Alleghenies, 2900 feet above sea level, on the main line of the picturesque
B. & O. R. R., from August 9th to 23rd, will be held the tenth annual session of this famous Chautauqua
with fifteen days full of the best things genius can devise or money
procure. Dr. W. L. Davidson, the superintendent, has prepared the program with great care. Leading celebrities of the country will appear from day to day, while a score of departments of study, under the direction of the best instructors, will do their helpful work
for the multitudes of students.
Professors from the leading Universities will have charge. The schools begin August 2nd and continue three weeks. Tuition is very
low. No programme so rich in novelties, so strong in music, so crowded with earnest, attractive
and helpful lectures ever offered to the patrons of Mt. Lake Park. For illustrated detailed programme and all information address L. A. Rud-isill, Mountain Lake Park.

Theory vs Fact.

Undoubtedly the Democrat and its ilk would be immensely gratified to see wool selling at a very low price.

Last week, in a labored article a column in length, it tried to convince itself that wool is onought to be selling for 23 cents.

Of course everybody else knows better, but all the same the Democrat keeps right on just as though all the farmers in the country had not just marketed their wool for 25 cents cash per pound, and continues to buck its 23-cent theory against this solid wall of fact.

Wool is selling to-day at ten to twelve cents per pound more in the United States than it brings in Canada or England and how do the free wool people account for this difference in favor of the American wool grower if the duty does not make the difference?

Why does the free-traders appeal to the manufacturers to help them break down the tariff on wool if it makes the price go way down?

We believe that the duty on wool has a tendency to keep up the price to the American wool grower.
We prefer to see the American scale of wages maintained all along the line, and men with brains in their heads will not be found swallowing the 23-cent theory in the face of the actual facts which is known of all men.

Respectfully,
FARMER.

Dear Park.

A feeling of past courtesies extended to us by your liberal paper induces us to give you some items from your sister town and let your readers know that we are moving along, trying to keep pace with this progressive age and especially not to let our youthful rival, Mt.
Lake Park, otherwise known and designated as the "City of Oaks," outrival us too far. Although your little hamlet is looked upon as one of the suburbs of that great corporation, we feel that a few jottings from this great national resort will be of interest to your many readers scattered all over this sparsely settled county of ours and, perhaps, be a means of getting some of your public spirited citizens to shake off their lethargy and wake up to the fact that this "City among the Oaks" will find that the county seat of Garrett county has now and will continue to have more taxable basis and substantial business men, and in population four times as great as this "City among the Oaks," and if you allow her to call your town one of its suburbs, we of this romantic summer resort with the prestige already gained as a national resort with its many costly and one of the most commodious hotels in the county. We, Mr. Editor, propose to enter the arena and throw down the gauntlet of enterprise, and call this "City among the Oaks" one of the suburbs of Deer Park, and back it up with that we have more substantial wealth, more enterprise, more permanent residents, more romantic scenery, more historic associations clustering in and around this place than our youthful rival will have in the next ten years to come.

As a further proof of our progress, our village, or Deer Park proper, outside of the B. & O. Hotel and its magnificent cottages, mammoth livery stable, swimming pool, etc., we claim, with the many neat and substantial houses built this spring chief of which is the beautiful and commodious residence that is in course of construction by J. W. Laughlin, M. D.; next the nicely arranged residence of W. C. Jones, which is nearing completion; the Misses Nevins spacious cottage opposite the grounds and mansion of Mr. John W. Williams; W. E. George's neat cottage near his private residence;
then comes Charles George's substantial house built for his private use. All of the above mentioned built or will be completed in the near future by our energetic contractor, A. F. George since the first of March, assisted only by two workmen.

Now, Mr. Editor, we never intended to outrival your good old town, around which cluster many pleasing remembrances of days and years in the past, but we do claim to compete with Mt. Lake Park in enterprise, material wealth and ordinary intelligence, and we glory in her prosperity; but we don't propose that wind and gas shall be hurled from the rostrum in disparagement against our county seat and the good and substantial people of your town.

If there is one thing in this world I detest, it is this spirit of egotism and self esteem.

So, Mr. Editor, pardon these rambling remarks. I simply want to remind our little "sister in the woods" that they are not the motive power that moves Garrett county, socially, religiously or financially.

LATER.—I have just been informed that the neat cottage that our enterprising contractor, Mr.
A. F. George has built for the Misses Nevins and his father, W. E. George, has attracted the attention of some of our enterprising farmers, viz: Elias Walter and Columbus Paugh, who have given the contracts of their respective buildings to Mr. George and he will, as soon as his various contracts are completed here, commence work on them.

W. C. Jones' new cottage which is well under way under the management of Mr. George, will be a model of architectural beauty.

Order of Publication.
Andrew Oster vs. Catherine Oster et al.
No. 52 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett county.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of this court directing a sale of the real estate of Andrew Oster, deceased, in Garrett county, and a distribution of the proceeds amongst the heirs at law of said deceased.

The bill states that Andrew Oster died on the 10th day of February, 1882, at Garrett county, intestate, seized and possessed of certain real estate, situated in Garrett county, and he survived him as his only heirs at law
the defendant, Catherine Oster as his widow and the complainant, John H. Oster, George Oster, John Oster, Julius Oster, Conrad Oster, Matilda Oster, Annie Hamill now the wife of Charles C. Hamill, Margaret Gerhold now the wife of Henry Gerhold, and Margaret Oster, the children and widow of Andrew Oster, deceased, who was a brother of the said Andrew Oster, the said Catherine being a sister of the said Andrew Oster, deceased, who was a sister of the said Andrew and who left surviving her the said George and the following named children, to wit: Simeon Nicholas, Minnie Nicholas, Margaret Nicholas, Mary, who is now the wife of a certain ———— Wendenhammer, and Margaretta Neale, who was a sister of the said Andrew; that all of said defendants are of full age and reside in the State of Maryland and with the exception of the said John H. Oster, who resides in the State of California, and the said Margaretta Neale, who resides in the State of Illinois.

The bill then prays for a decree directing a sale of said real estate and for distribution amongst the parties entitled thereto according to their respective interests, for a subpoena against the resident defendants and an order of publication against the non-resident defendants and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 22nd day of June, 1892, by the Circuit Court for Garrett county, siting in open court, ordered that the plaintiff file a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper published in Garrett county, Md., for four consecutive weeks before the 22nd day of July, 1892, give notice to said absent defendants to the effect of this suit on or before the 1st day of August, 1892, to show cause, if any, why they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

True copy.—Test: Clerk Circuit Court.

What Our Postoffices Pay.

The annual review of salaries of Presidential postmasters has been completed by Chief Scott, of the Postoffice Department, for the year ended March 31 last.

For Maryland the salaries for 1892, those for 1893 and the gross receipts upon which the changes, which go into effect July 1, show very few changes. The salary at Cumberland remains at $3,000 with gross receipts of $18,781.71. Frostburg stands at $1,500 with receipts of $4,082.31. Licensing is raised from $1,200 to $1,300 with gross receipts of $2,724.71. Oakland pays $1,400 with gross receipts of $3,132.16.

In Maryland the only postoffice which fell off in gross receipts was Princess Anne, and for nearly one-quarter that office was without a postmaster, which necessarily cut down receipts. All other Maryland offices at least hold up to former figures.

Mr. Shoup Discusses Wet Weather and Vegetation.

I believe it is a common fact that semitropical regions have a more or less distinctly defined rainy season. Such special rain-falls comes usually at a time when most needed in the development of vegetable growths, whether of fruits or field crops, and as well as the sanitary welfare of the region.

To this meteorological rule Florida forms no exception: we also have our annual special out-pouring of our rainy season is looked for in May or the early days of June, and the showers continue for a period of six to ten weeks. We are now in the midst of this delightful season and all nature is full of gladness. Vegetable development is simply amazing, and animal life at its best.

There are special features about this rainy season, which, to any lover of nature, present charming phases of study. To me, this is in many respects, the most enjoyable part of the year. There is a grandeur and vividness in the heavens, with a freshness and vitality in the atmosphere to delight all the senses. Such a marvellous display of fire works in different sections of the town, chief amongst which was the display at the Oakland Hotel.

The day's doings were closed up with a ball at the Oakland Hotel, which was the first hop of the season at that popular resort, and a great ball given by the Oakland cornet band at Offutt's Hall.

There were a great many people in town and the streets were crowded all day but the best of order prevailed and but one arrest was made by the police.

Popular Excursion to Atlantic City.

On Thursday, July 14th, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will inaugurate the series of popular excursions for the summer to Atlantic City from Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Parkersburg, and all intermediate stations to Washington Junction, Md. This announcement will be welcomed by thousands of residents of Western Maryland. Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Eastern Ohio, who may desire to avail themselves of the cheap rates and superior train service of the B. & O. R. R. for a trip to the seashore. For the excursion on July 14th the same low rates and unexcelled train service, which have made these jaunts to the sea so popular in past summers, will be in effect. Many improvements have been made at Atlantic City, which will add to its general popularity and strengthen its claim as the most attractive resort on the Atlantic Coast.

Tickets will be valid for return journey for twelve days from day of sale, and will be good on all regular trains. On return journey they will be good to stop off at Washington, thus affording an opportunity to see Congress in session, to visit the numerous public buildings, which are open to visitors free of charge, and to take a trip down the Potomac to Mt. Vernon, the tomb of the immortal Washington, as well as to visit other places of interest in and near Washington.

THE FOURTH IN OAKLAND.

The Fourth of July was more generally observed in Oakland than ever before. In fact, it was a high old time. The bank, postoffice and other public buildings were closed and business almost totally suspended. The residences of many prominent citizens were handsomely and tastefully decorated with flags and bunting.

The Sunday school and congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran church intended to hold a picnic in Bradley's grove, but deemed it unsafe because the ground was so wet from the great rain of Sunday.

They gathered at Hamill and Little's hall and had a festival and general good time. The day was pleasantly spent.

The Oakland Catholic Benevolent Legion had a dance and picnic in Kilbourne's grove on the outskirts of the town, where a large crowd assembled and enjoyed them selves all day. Refreshments were served and dancing was kept up until late in the evening. Browning's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. All day long a continuous racket was kept up by the small boy and his firecracker and torpedo. At night there was a magnificent display of fire works in different sections of the town, chief amongst which was the display at the Oakland Hotel.

The day's doings were closed up with a ball at the Oakland Hotel, which was the first hop of the season at that popular resort, and a great ball given by the Oakland cornet band at Offutt's Hall.

There were a great many people in town and the streets were crowded all day but the best of order prevailed and but one arrest was made by the police.

A Theatrical Event.

The New York Dramatic Company who have created such a favorable impression in Oakland, will make their second appearance at Offutt's Hall on Friday evening, July 23. On this occasion they will present a great double bill; the one act farce "A Happy Pair" and the four act domestic Irish comedy, "Kathleen Mavourneen." The strong cast will be augmented by the addition of three other competent artists. Both plays will be capably presented and an evening of fun may be anticipated.

The occasion will also be a benefit for the Grand Lodge No. 113, K. of P. Seats or tickets can be had of the members and reserved without extra charge at Mayer's drug store.

The company have played at Terra Alta and Elk Garden since their last appearance here to crowds of houses and with marked artistic and financial success.

Manager Larry H. Reist has in preparation "The Galley Slave," Leah, The Forsaken and Ten Nights in a Bar Room. Secure seats at once.

Picnic.

A picnic will be given at the Narrows of Deep Creek, on August 13, on the land of Silas Walter. Good music and refreshments on the ground. All are cordially invited.

and the Ohio river. Last week ago this was the great source of travel between the East and West, but since the introduction of railroads it has lost its importance, and has fallen, if not into decay, at least into something too much neglected. In many places the river is through which it runs, has so far as it has subsided into a mere pondation and almost no more than a great mass of 1885, and is probably 17 years of this great river has been mended at all.

There is no longer the same practical interest in preserving this majestic highway which existed, although the care of public roads is at all times one of the most important civil duties.

Associations of deeply interesting character relating to the early history of the country cluster about the old National road. The most striking one of these, perhaps is the story of Braddock's famous and disastrous march; for the route to the West, where his army met with misfortune, and his own career came to so melancholy a close, lay almost directly alongside the National lake, and the two cross each other in a number of places.

The military student and the antiquarian find pleasure in tracing the course of the famous expedition. There is a fascination to bring to light again the nearly obliterated foot-prints of those who formed part of these momentous undertakings, and in studying the vast difficulties overcome and obstacles surmounted. There has always been among Americans a kindly feeling for the memory of General Braddock, partly from the association of Washington with the most melancholy portion of his career. His faults were those of his peculiar education. Strong-headed, obstinate and narrow-minded, he was yet brave and warm-hearted; and strict as he was in his discipline, his officers seem to have had a genuine liking for him. For many years travelers have gone out of their way to pay a visit to the spot where he lies in his remains.

The Aurora Borealis.

About 10 p. m. last Saturday the auroral arc was observed in the heavens extending to the east and west of north, about 45° each way. The light was then a bright yellowish white with dark segment. At 10:30 the finest exhibit began. The arc was still there, somewhat higher and brighter. Along it, at intervals, rose bright little cones extending very quickly upward from the horizon, and changing rapidly to fine streamers of yellowish and red light, which widened and brightened as they shot up toward the zenith. Sometimes these streamers rose from every part of the arc, and the merry-dancers began their play. They rose like great, tremulous waves of light from the entire base of the segment, fluttering through and up among the streamers, one wave following the other in very quick succession and making the whole northern sky to tremble. These waves were not unlike "sheet lightning," except that they always went in one direction, rising regularly from the horizon and proceeding upwards with a vibratory motion.

The streamer-rays shot up with wonderful quickness, changing the whole face of the sky in two or three seconds. At times when they arose in great number, the sky was suffused with the beautiful rose-color which marked the Aurora of February 13th. The Aurora light filled a space of more than ninety degrees, reaching alternately further to the east and west. It traveled from the west to east, and, after some minutes, began again at the west. During the first part of the display, it was most marked at the west, but in the course of the evening, it appeared equally as fine all around the heavens, reaching nearly to the east point. The arc at first ninety degrees in extent, moved eastward, contracting in length, and increasing in curvature, maintaining the dark segment between it and the horizon. Towards midnight the light waned.

The sky was hazy, causing Mars to "boil" so as to prevent an indistinct disc and rendering the rings of Saturn almost invisible. At noon the sun's face was marked by two spots of considerable size on the eastern side, and a very large or double one on the west, laky-black with a grayish border.

The barometer had been rising for several days; it stood 30.520, thermometer, 78°. The maximum thermometer of Saturday was 75°; minimum, night of 60°; day, 80°. Wind light from east. At 10:30 p. m. a parcel of dark vapors, from the western end of the arc, reaching about 15° from a vertical line. This was one of the most marked features of the display. The situation was very from the horizon.

The Death of Joel Wiland.

General Wiland has recently been one of the most useful and successful citizens in the State of Ohio. He was born in New Ulm, Wis., at the mature age of 66 years. As a citizen he was honest, amiable, law-abiding and industrious and lived with as little friction as any man in his neighborhood. His friends were numerous, and enemies few if any, and those underserved.

The deceased had quite a reputation for many years as a cancer doctor or rather specialist. He had no training as a physician whatever. His remedy or medicine has been a secret or mystery confined to his family for a hundred years or more, reaching back to his grandfather who has been dead most of that long period, and Joel's father has been dead about 10 years, so all three were lineal practitioners with the Wiland cancer remedy. The last was not so extensively and perhaps as successfully engaged as his father in the times when doctors were scarce and remote, still Joel had a goodly number of patients in his many years of practice. A recent case was the esteemed wife of Mr. Henry Soyster, of Cumberland. She has been a long sufferer, but has been improving for some time and in a fair way to recover. She spent quite a number of weeks several years ago at or near Wiland's so as to have constant treatment. The late sheriff, Thomas G. McCulloh, received treatment from him, also from eminent physicians; but this case was beyond the reach of their skill.

A little anecdote of a legal character with reference to our subject may not be unacceptable. As already stated he was of a peaceable and just disposition, still he did not entirely escape the frictions of business life. In his dealings with a neighbor a dispute arose out of material accounts. A suit was the result before a Justice of the Peace thence by appeal to the circuit court for old Allegany. One of the items in Wiland's account was $10 for curing a cancer on his adversary's child which charge was resisted vigorously upon the alleged grounds that it was not a cancer at all, but was only a wart. The writer was the doctor's attorney, and Gen. McKag was on the other side doing his best for an old friend, just as we were on the other side.

Wiland was put upon the witness stand to sustain his claim, and of course in due time passed into the hands of the General for cross examination. He was asked what the elements of his medicine were. Energetic objections to the question were interposed but to no purpose, the Court held the question to be a proper one and should be answered. There came some very deliberate and reluctant answers. Quite a number of roots and herbs were listed. Joel at length passed the ordeal of an examination. The jury sustained his account throughout, including the cancer item. We told the doctor that he had gained his case but had lost something far more valuable—the ancient Wiland cancer remedy, and that he might soon expect competition in his practice. He remarked the General had as bothered him with his many questions that he could not think of some of the most important ingredients, indeed what he had remembered would not cure a wart such as the General said so much about.

William Wiland, father of the subject of this article, was the most successful and experienced of three lineal cancer doctors. He certainly performed many cures in the long course of his experience, not all cases of course, but he relieved many sufferers. One case we remember well long years ago. A prominent young man of the neighborhood was severely attacked with the dread malady upon the upper lip. He would not think of being treated by the home doctor but posted off to Baltimore to consult the famed professor N. R. Smith, who examined the afflicted member and decided he could only cure it by amputation. The patient declined very emphatically, and returned home as fast as slow coaches could bring him. The home doctor was applied to and in a reasonable time there was a complete cure without a trace of the terrible disease. This good old christian man died about forty years ago, having a number of children, but he confided in the Wiland cancer cure to his one person and his son Joel.

The wife of Wm. Wiland was certainly a remarkable woman. She became utterly blind a few years after her marriage, and she became the mother of eleven children, but never saw the form of any of them but the first. She really was able to do anything and everything that any other mother could do. We once saw her mending clothes, and threaded her needle with as much ease as a person with good eyes. Once we called at the Wiland mansion—the husband was a magistrate as well as a doctor—a sheet of paper was called for she quickly unlocked a little desk in which was a mixture of paper clean and written upon. Without the slightest delay she separated a clean piece from the desk. All this we saw with youthful eyes, however incredible it may appear to some. She did all this with the sense of feeling and hands hardened with daily toil. She knew ever person that visited their home by their footsteps or their voice. She has been dead many years. It has been said her affliction came upon her by being inoculated for the small pox in the old way.

A word in conclusion as to the Wiland cancer cure. It is said to contain 21 ingredients. A son of Joel claims to possess the prescription but not the ability to compound the elements. So the remedy is now probably lost after a usefulness of at least 100 years.

RECOLLECTORS.

July 7th, 1892.

Grantsville.

G. W. Broadwater, who had been on the sick list, although weak, is able to be out of doors again.

Len Winterberg and Wm. Stahl, of Hyndman, Pa., were here, former home, on a visit over Sunday.

Charles Wegman and Harry Gehnett took a business trip to Frostburg on Saturday.

R. M. Beachy, agent for the Rock Island hay loader, set up one of his machines last week for G. W. Broadwater.

A novelty in harvesting machines is the Adriance Self Binder, which has been recently introduced into this section and the first machine completed only about five years ago.

Miss Jenny Durst, of New Germany, fell from a cherry tree, Tuesday last, and was seriously though not fatally injured.

On last Wednesday Charles Durst while returning from work in the fields, rode a nervous horse, which became frightened by a sheep running out of a fence corner, threw Mr. Durst and his little son, who was with him on the horse, breaking his left leg near the hip, and his right arm near the shoulder, and injuring him seriously internally. His son received wounds about the head. The sufferers are under the care of our skillful young physician, Dr. Bruce Leighty. In setting the broken limbs of Mr. Durst he was assisted by Dr. G. G. Getty, of Meyersdale, Pa.

Our Dr. Leighty evidently is a Woman's Rights advocate, at least Dame Rumer has it that he attended a new jury "court" across the famous Mason and Dixon line, quite frequently which is proudest over by a member of the fair sex. We hope he will be recently dealt with, and sentenced to banishment into the state of matrimony, not solitary banishment, however.

Our farmers are very busily engaged harvesting hay and grain. Wheat is heavy in this section. Hay is about an average. Corn looks well. Hurrah for "Old Garrett."

Our last two communications did not appear in the highly esteemed REPUBLICAN hence we are at loss to decide whether they were lost in the mails, or found a "last resting place," in the editor's capacious waste basket.

ATTENTION REPUBLICANS!

Under and by virtue of a resolution passed by the Republican State committee for the year 1892, the Republican voters of Garrett county are hereby requested to assemble in primary meeting in their respective districts on Saturday, August 6, 1892

to select three delegates and three alternates to attend a Congressional convention to be held in Cumberland.

Tuesday, August 9, 1892,

to select three delegates and three alternates to attend a Congressional convention to be held in Cumberland.

Wednesday, August 10, 1892, to nominate a candidate for Representative from the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland in the 53rd Congress.

By order of the State Committee for Garrett county.

R. E. SOLLARS, Chairman.

TAKE your 23 cent wool to the Democrat.

ATTEND the primaries.

REPELLEN your party expects you to attend the primaries.

ADAM STEVENSON denies ever having been a Greenbacker. But the record is against him.

The latest edition of the American Encyclopedia is one of the things wanted at Gray Gables.

It is expected that Stevenson will run well in Bloomington, Illinois. Possibly also in Decatur.

NOX! but a moss-back Democrat was available as Cleveland's running mate, in order to leave his Magwumpery.

The most ominous and forbidding sign in the outlook for G. Cleveland is that the New York Sun has decided to support him.

DANA is trying all sorts of economic means to have his crew go down. He has no other way more for even a Democratic rooster crew.

The hilarious enthusiasm for the fall of the Democratic ticket now being manifested by the New York Sun is one of the pathetic things in the campaign.

ATTENTION is directed to the call of Chairman Sollars for meetings to be held in the several districts of the county. Let all Republicans attend.

Now, CLEVELAND's pet call is the newest argument introduced in the campaign by the fervid enthusiasm of the magwump Democracy.

"IS 1890 it was a conflict of predictions; now our adversaries must face trade statistics and prices current."—Benjamin Harrison.

The Democratic candidate for Vice-President is already in an attitude of defense against a charge that he was a member of the Knights of the Golden Circle.

Col. W. P. TOMLINSON, for ten years editor of the Kansas Democrat, shows a disposition to get on board the band wagon. He has come out for Harrison and Reid.

EYES that young here, Bailey, of Texas, has about given up the task of forcing his fellow Democrats to keep a quorum in the House to do business.

HENRY GROVER would like to abolish all tariffs and raise the government revenues by a direct tax on land. Naturally, he is well pleased with the Democratic platform.

This World's Columbian Commission has spent its last postage stamp. Uncle Billy Holman feels that postage stamps cost money and is unwilling that Uncle Sam should shell out.

In twenty years there has been only one Democratic candidate for President whose nomination was favored by Tammany. And yet Tammany knows well that none will ever be elected without it.

DEMOCRATIC newspapers are printing revised and corrected editions of Burke Cochran's great anti-Cleveland speech "as a model of oratory." The oratory is good but the facts are better.

TAMMANY knows that the election of Cleveland means an anti-Tammany organization in New York that can do them more harm by masquerading as Democracy than the Republicans can.

A HOWL of exultation and rejoicing goes up from the united Democracy over the calamity at Homestead, Pa. "It is good cause for rejoicing," says one Democrat to another with a genial smile.

"HOMER" for Cleveland and Stevenson," yelled an enthusiastic Democrat before the bulletin board inquiring of a well-posted comrade, "Who is Stevenson, anyhow?" "Damned," was the unsatisfactory answer.

THIRTEEN Jersey City ballot-box snuffers had their hair cut and stripes put on them in the New Jersey penitentiary the last week in June. This looks hopeful for Republican success in that state this fall.

The Democratic objection to an appropriation to secure a site for the statue to be erected for General Sherman has not yet been withdrawn, and the statue paid for by contributions from old soldiers is still looking for a resting place.

The Democrats hope to obscure their free trade plank by raising a big enough racket about a "force bill." There is no force bill in issue in this campaign. Protective tariff, honest money, a free ballot and a fair count are the issues.

HENRY WATTSERSON kissed Adlai Stevenson in the convention hall at Chicago when the free trade plank was adopted. But Henry might have kissed D. B. Hill, even the coy and fair W. S. Holman at that ecstatic moment if he could have reached them.

ADAM STEVENSON's nomination for Vice-President by the Democrats is intended as a bribe, hint to the faithful that G. Cleveland's reform talk is only for Magwump consumption and to be taken in pickwickian style.

SENATOR CAMEY, of Wyoming, offered an amendment to the silver bill in the Senate which was the identical words of the Democratic platform adopted at Chicago. The Democrats, with the aid of half-dozen Republicans indignantly voted it down.

ENGLISH newspapers think the Homestead troubles are due to the McKinley law. Doubtless the English newspapers also believe the cholera epidemic is due to the McKinley law. In this they have the cordial assent of Democratic free-trade newspapers, the Peppers and the cranks.

The disappointments of Cleveland's nomination are coming to the surface. Other great men are beginning to perceive how likely they would have been to be nominated if they had only had the nerve to hold out against Cleveland.

GOOD ROADS IN TALBOT.

One County of the State Which has Highways to Brag About.

The grand jury for the May term of the Circuit Court for Talbot county reported to the court "that the public roads are in a fair condition and only in some localities they might be improved."

Talbot county is known to have the best roads on the Eastern Shore
—in fact, the best in the State except pike roads. The taxpayers grumble unless the county commissioners spend money enough to keep them in good condition. Judge Robinson once said that if he did not know the boundaries of the county he could always tell when he reached Talbot by the excellence and superiority of all of the county roads.

There are three hundred and seventy five miles of roads in Talbot county, the working of which is overlooked by one hundred and six supervisors, who get no salary. Road wages are one dollar a day for a man and horse and cart or horse and plow.
Five road machines owned by the county are also used. The sum of $10,344.97, or twenty six dollars a mile, have been spent in the eleven months that have passed of the current fiscal year. As but $8,000 was estimated and levied for roads, there will be a deficiency of $2,000.
The cost of new roads are not included, a special levy being made for that. It was put at $2,000 in the last levy and will not all be spent. About $2,800—that is seven hundred and fifty dollars per mile for all the miles of road in the county—was spent in buying oyster shells and putting them on the roads. Some shell road is made every year. The first was made in 1868, being the road from Easton to the Point. Sixty thousand bushels of shell were put on that road then, and as many more have been put on it since. It will take at least 20,000 bushels to shell a mile of road fairly deep and single track and 20,000 bushels of oyster shells put upon a road costs $750—more than that if the hauling is far.
Talbot has now about ten miles of shell road. No county can have good roads unless the people are willing to pay for them; but the trouble is that often they pay for them and don't get them.—The Oak Hill.

This is a very nice and prosperous section of Garrett County and we think a few items would not be out of place.

Mr. Henry Schlossnagle had 350 dozen wheat on only five acres of ground.

Mr. Jos. Groer takes the lead in buying fat cattle and sheep. He drives a big lot to Grantsville every two weeks and disposes of them.
He has lately cleared a lot of ground and put it in buckwheat.

J. W. Schroyer expects to purchase a farm near Swanton.

Silas Teats and Clark Rush have killed seventeen rattlesnakes this season. Who can beat it?

Church services will be held in the M. E. church here on next Sunday night by Rev. M. Knotts.

Geo. Schlossnagle has completed a large barn for Adam Garringer in Accident.

Mr. John Weisenbaum, our watch and clock repairer, is making his visits to our neighbors.

Our Sunday school is progressing finely under the management of Ezra Lee.

Silas Teats has the same housekeeper. He thinks she is a fine girl.

Selbysport.

We are having fine harvest weather just now and our good people are taking advantage of it. Wheat is nearly all gathered into the barns and the farmers are busily engaged making their hay.

We were glad to see the smiling face of Mr. O. Poland in our midst a few days ago. Mr. P. visits acquaintances at this place every few weeks.

Mrs. R. F. Liston, of Bradloek, Pa., was visiting friends here last week.

R. R. Liston, our enterprising merchant of east Selbysport, is erecting a new store room near the east end of river bridge. John W.
Frazee, Esq., is doing the carpenter work.

C. C. Pike is the proudest man in this place at present. He wears starched clothes on all occasions and always greets you with a smile, just because he is papa.

Quite a number of our church going people attended the quarterly meeting held at Friendsville on Sunday last.

A quiet wedding occurred near this place on Wednesday evening of last week. The contracting parties were Mr. Wm. Wray and Miss Lilly B. Lowdermilk, both of this place. The marriage ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, near Frazee's Ridge, and after the couple had been pronounced husband and wife

the guests were ushered into the dining room where the table fairly groaned beneath its load of luxuries prepared for the occasion.

E. J. Stuck, Esq., is spending a few weeks in Pittsburgh.

Rev. Ford, of Watson, Pa., who has been teaching select school here since the first of May, closed his school on Friday.

George W. Frazee is building a house on one of his lots in west Selbysport. We understand that Prof. A. W. DeWitt, of Frostburg, is to occupy the building after it is completed.

School Commissioner C. N.
Freund was in our midst one day last week looking after the interest of a new school house at this place. We hope that no pains will be spared in erecting a good house which will certainly fill a want long felt and also be a credit to the place.

Our church building committee expect to begin work soon toward the erection of the belfry on the M. E. church. The timber has been lying on the church grounds since early in the spring and so far no move has been made toward building the belfry, but we hope ere long we will hear the bell pealing forth its music calling the people together to divine worship. A sufficient amount has been subscribed and paid to almost erect the belfry.

Rev. A. S. Parker, of Listonburg Pa., will preach at this place on Sunday evening, July 24th at 8 o'clock.

H. L.

Glade Valley.

Weather, cool and pleasant.
Oats and corn are good.

Wheat is ready to cut.

Haymaking is the order of the day.

Geo. H. Gauer has his house nearly finished.

Miss Amelia Roth is visiting friends at Dobbin, W. Va.

Miss Almada Gauer is spending the summer with her sister near Huttons.

Dobbin is a good place for single folks. Three wedding there last Wednesday.

Geo. E. Hauser and Sam'l Gregory, Jr., gave a very nice ice cream festival at J. L. Hauser's, which was largely attended. All enjoyed a nice evening. Our two friends entertained the company nicely.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. There are nearly 70 scholars on the roll with a surplus of $30 in the treasury.

Mid-Summer at Atlantic City.

The Mid-Summer excursion to Atlantic City from Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Parkersburg and all intermediate stations to Washington Junction, Md., will be run on Thursday, July 28th. This will be the second of the series of seashore excursions, and will be on a par with its predecessor in the convenience of train arrangement, excellence of accommodations and superiority of the service. Those availing themselves of the low rates offered for this excursion will find Atlantic City at the height of its mid-summer gaieties and glories, while the bathing will be the best,
and the boating superb.

Tickets will be valid for return journey for twelve days from date of sale, and will be good on all regular trains. On return journey they will be good to stop off at Washington, thus affording an opportunity to visit the numerous public buildings, which are open to visitors free of charge, and to take a trip down the Potomac to Mt. Vernon, the tomb of Washington, as well as to visit other places of interest in and near Washington.

For rates and time of trains consult appended table.

Because Things Are Free.

The general public is laying for anything and everything that is free. If 500 grind-stones were to be piled up in front of the city hall and a sign put alongside, "Take one," they would be scattered all over town by night.

Political mass meetings are generally big ones, partly because the people are anxious to hear the issues discussed, more still because the people are curious to know what this candidate and that candidate look like, and most of all because the people want a "free racket," and anything that is free is not to be despised.
All sorts and conditions of men march up to the door of a certain fancy goods store on Fulton street every day, and with expressions ranging all the way from sheep-ish timidity to burlesque audacity they pick up a fashion plate each and every day.
Why do they take them? Some of them want the fashion plates for their wives, but most of them take them simply because they are free.

About twice as many people—yes, more than twice as many—walk over the bridge every day now as did when it cost one-fifth of a cent for a ticket. It's free and so thousands of people walk. This same class of people, who can't possibly resist anything that is free, is continually on the lookout for bargains. It lures its hardware in dry goods store and its jewelry in a pawnshop. It rushes pell mell for every bargain counter in town, and scoops in one bonanza after another in the fake fire sale million rooms, which could never exist if every man could see the length of his own nose. It swarms and struts and warbles after bargains in eatables, bargains in drinkables, bargains in wearables, moves three times a year because it is continually striking bargains in rent, and finally, when one man of it falls by the wayside, the arks of this feverish, in-happy class who are nearest to it pause for an instant and then rush forth in search of a bargain in coffins.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Service Rendered for One Occasion Only.

When a railway engineer grows old or has had several narrow escapes he frequently "loses his nerve," as railroad men put it. He becomes too cautious, and as a result generally brings his train in late.

The engineer in question—never mind his name or the road—had "lost his nerve."

He had a passenger engine, and twice he had been told that if he couldn't get his train through on time he would have to begin hauling freight. He was nerved about it and promised to do better.

"I'll bring her in on time if there's a house on the track," he said.

He came into the office after his run a day or two later, looked about the room, glanced up at the ceiling and then asked:
"Seen any of 'em?"

"Of what?" asked an official.

"Of 'em," replied the engineer.

"Why, no. What?"

"I guess I haven't come down yet," he said quietly. "Some one left a coal car on the main track."

"And you—?" began the official.

"I got in on time."

"But the coal car? How did you get around?"

"I didn't get around. I pulled her wide open and came through. There's about a half a ton of it on the roof of the rear coach, and I was expecting to find the rest of it here somewhere. And say?"

"Well?"

"The smokestack of the engine is gone, there's no pilot left, and the cab windows are broken, but of course I was acting in my own defense. And say again?"

"Well, what is it?"

"Just put down on your books somewhere that an engineer who hasn't lost his nerve, but is tired of keeping it, resigned from the service of the road today and is going to look for a job on a farm."—Chicago Tribune.

Noting the Young Ones.

Dr. David Morton tells a war story on Dr. Savage, of the American Bible society, who was a strong Union man.

Just after the battle of Perryville in October, 1862, Dr. Savage was at one of his apartments to lecture some ladies. There was a large crowd, and a sturdy southern matron brought her four children to the altar. "Name this child," said the Union preacher, laying his hand on the boy's head, "Simon Bolivar Buckner," said the party, which caused a smile to come over the congregation, but the brave preacher went on with his duty.

"Name this child," taking the next in order, "Pierre Gustave Tontant Beauregard," and the smile grew into a snigger, while Dr. Savage became red in the face.
He laid the young namesake of the great engineer-soldier and went on with the ceremony. "Name this one," he gasped, reaching for the third, "Albert Sydney Johnston," came the answer. The smile became unbridled and the preacher apoplexied. Hearing a sigh of relief he turned to the fourth child, a little girl, whose gender he foully supposed would preclude a continuation of heroic reproduction, and said, "Name this child." "Mary Stonewall Jackson Lee," came a response that set the congregation in a roar, and the Union preacher thought he had held in his arms the whole Southern Confederacy.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Value of Statistics.

What doth it profit a man to know how much of his life is spent in putting on his boots or parting his hair or fumbling for the evasive shirt button? And who cares to know how much or how many of this, that, or the other will result around the world, or make a pyramid to the skies?
This sort of thing has been done to death.
Still, we must allow that now and again a statistical genius hits upon a new fact or puts an old one in a new light. Here is somebody asserting that 12,000 vehicles a quarter of their number pass through the Strand in a day, carrying 60,000 persons.

Each vehicle, it seems, is owing to the narrowness of the street, delayed on an average three minutes. What of that?
One may reasonably ask. "Oh," says the calculator, in effect, "the total waste of time equals 3,600 hours, which at the moderate rate of one shilling per hour, is £367 per day or over £47,000 per annum."—Cassell's Magazine.

Japanese Gons.

The Japanese name for all gons is Tango-shima, from the island of Tanega, where firearms were first introduced into Japan by foreigners. They used firelocks down about 1608 with a fuse, which was wound about the arm. This was a string of crushed bamboo fibers or of the Crypto-maria Japonica, a member of the cypress family. The former was considered the better, but the latter was more commonly used, as it burns slower and so keeps fire longer.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Geo. Sherer, of St. Louis, died on train No. 1 Tuesday night while the train was between Mt. Lake Park and Oakland. The deceased had been in Belmont, N. C., for six months for his health and was returning to his home when he died. He was afflicted with consumption and was 44 years old. The body was taken in charge here by undertaker Shartzer who embalmed and encased it in a coffin and shipped it to St. Louis Wednesday.

Don't forget the primaries on Saturday, August 6th.

A meeting was held on Saturday night at Hamill and Little's Hall for the purpose of organizing a Cleveland and Stevenson Club. The attendance was large. R. T. Browning was made temporary chairman and J. D. Hamill, temporary secretary. A committee of five was appointed for the purpose of reporting permanent officers and a plan of organization on Tuesday night. The members of the committee were G. S. Hamill, E. H. Bartlett, Fred Fowler, John W. Hart, Thomas J. Peddicord.

The Oakland lodge of the Junior Order United American Mechanics has eighty-seven members, and is increasing very rapidly. Every lodge night there are a number of initiations. The officers just elected for the current term are: Past Commander, J. C. Cleveland; Commander, S. E. Boyer; Vice-Commander, E. I. West; Secretary, T. Claggett; Treasurer, John W. Arnold; Financial Secretary, W. E. King; Conductor, George Little; Warden, William Kildow; I. G. Allen Butler; O. G., Asa Coddington; Trustees, E. I. West, A. D. Naylor and Hopwood Kildow.

Don't forget the primaries on Saturday, August 6th.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad company will expend $75,000 upon its exhibit at the World's Columbian Exposition. J. G. Pangborn is vested with the full direction of all matters pertaining to the company's representation and will control its management during the exposition. An extensive plant has been put in Baltimore for the construction of full size reproductions in wood of the early examples of motive power and equipment upon the pioneer railways of the world. The evolution of the locomotive will be a striking feature of the exhibit and will commence with the first conception of the use of steam for propulsion of vehicles upon land. No such railway exhibit as that now under way for the Baltimore and Ohio has ever been shown at any world's fair.

Ten Nights in a Bar Room.

The New York Dramatic Company which has been playing at Offutt's Hall each Friday evening have met with pronounced success. So far each performance has been an artistic success and has been highly appreciated by the large audiences present. Next Friday, July 29th, the great moral lesson, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," will be produced. It is a beautiful play and in the hands of Mr. Roast's company is sure to be well played. In addition to the regular performance, Miss Rosa Crouch, the celebrated novelty skin dancer, has been engaged and will positively appear. We predict a packed house for the company, and would advise that reserved seats be secured in advance. The prices will remain the same.

HOLIDAY ON OCTOBER 21.

President Harrison's Proclamation to that Effect in Columbus' Memory.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—The following proclamations making October 21 a general holiday was issued to-day:

WHEREAS, By a joint resolution, approved June 29, 1892, it was resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the President of the United States be authorized and directed to issue a proclamation recommending to the people the observance in all their localities of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America, on the twenty-first day of October, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, by public demonstration and by suitable exercises in their schools and other places of assembly.

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, on the pursuance of the aforesaid joint resolution, do hereby appoint Friday, October 21, 1892, the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, as a general holiday for the people of the United States.

On that day let the people, so far as possible, cease from toil and devote themselves to such exercise as may best express honor to the discoverer and their appreciation of the great achievements of the four complete centuries of American life.

Columbus stood in his age as the pioneer of progress and enlightenment. The system of universal education is in our age the most prominent and salutary feature of the spirit of enlightenment and it is peculiarly appropriate that the schools be made by the people the center of the days demonstration. Let the National flag float over every school house in the country, and the exercises be such as shall impress upon our youth the patriotic duties of American citizenship.

In the churches and in the other places of assembly of the people let there be expressions of gratitude to Divine Providence for the devout faith of the discoverer, and for the Divine care and guidance which has directed our history and so abundantly blessed our people.

Died.

FRIEND.—Death again entered the home of Rev. H. E. Friend, July 19th, 1892, and took as its victim his beloved daughter, Lilly Alice, aged 14 years, 9 months and 20 days.

After struggling with the much dreaded disease, diphtheria, for nearly three weeks, the Master said, "It is enough, come up higher."

She joined the M. E. church in February, 1888, at which time she experienced a change of heart, and lived a Christian life, so when she found death was approaching, and Jesus so precious near to her that she scarcely noticed the things of earth or even her severe suffering, and when the writer and others, sang hymns which was so full of comfort to the dying that she joined in and gave expressions of great joy. The hymns were mostly of her own selection. Our society loses a bud of promise and the parents an affectionate daughter, but we quietly submit to the will of the Heavenly Father, and will strive to meet her in Heaven, which was her last request.

The parents, brothers and sisters, have our deepest sympathies, and invoke God's choicest blessings to rest upon them.

Inter State Epworth League Convention.

The Epworth League Convention at the Park was a great success. Addresses were made and papers read by Rev. Earl Cranston and W. L. Davidson, of Cincinnati, O., Elijah Brown, editor Ram's Horn, A. B. Riker, Wheeling, J. W. Cornelius, Baltimore, Rev. Kepler, Oakland, L. A. Rudisil, Rev. Baumgardner and others. The conference had members from Pittsburgh, West Va., Baltimore, Philadelphia and Central Pa. Conferences. The following paper was adopted.

The committee appointed by the body on preliminary organization of the Fourth General District met with the following members present: Dr. Riker, L. A. Rudisil, S. B. Beatty and W. W. Arsdale and organized with Dr. Riker as chairman and W. W. Arsdale, secy. They respectfully submit the following for the action of the convention:

WHEREAS, It is exceedingly desirable that the Fourth General Conference district be represented in the Board of Control of the Epworth League of the M. E. church and that a permanent organization of the district for the advancement of the work throughout the district.

WHEREAS, No organized call has been made; we, the representatives of the Fourth General Conference District in convention in response to a call published in the Pittsburgh Advocate, the Baltimore Methodist and the Epworth Herald, for an Inter State Epworth League Convention at Mountain Lake Park, take the following action:

Resolved That we call a representative convention to be at Mt. Lake Park on Aug. 25 and 26th, the object of said convention to be the permanent organization of the said district and the election of a member of the Board of Control.

(a) That it be composed of five delegates from each P. E. District to be appointed as follows. When a presiding district has been held they shall be elected by the convention.

(b). When a P. E. district has been organized into a district league and it is inexpedient to hold a convention the president of the district league shall appoint four delegates who with himself shall represent his district. In case the president cannot be present, he shall appoint five delegates.

(c) When there be no district organization of the Epworth League the Presiding Elder shall appoint five young people from his district as delegates. Your committee recommend that this convention appoint a committee of one from each district in the Fourth General Conference District to correspond with the Presiding Elder in his district and call their attention to this call and urge its importance and also to request the presiding elders of his conference to send him at the earliest practicable moment the list of delegates. We also recommend that a committee be appointed to arrange programs.

What Constitutes a Business Man.

A business man attends to his own business and leaves everybody else's alone. Never buys what he does not want, uses every hour to advantage, and studies how to make even leisure hours useful.

Thinks twice before throwing away a shilling, remembering he will have another to make for it, and that a shilling saved is a shilling earned. Finds a pleasure in looking after his business, knowing that if through life he is to be up to the height of his country, he must live while young with persons younger than himself. He buys low, sells fair, and takes care of the profits.

When trade is bad, or he has heavy losses, refreshes at once, and works harder. Believes in honest success in having probity, poverty and perseverance as a dowry. He is aware sugar plums come to most of us too late, still he has faith in his ultimate success, and believes if he confronts difficulties with unflinching perseverance, they will disappear at last; and if such men fail, they are to be honored, whereas, if you shrink from the trial, you are despised.

Failure is bad enough, but you may do even worse than fail—you may never have tried to succeed—[D. T. Mallet in Ideas for Hard-ware Merchant.

TAKE YOUR 33 cent wool to the Democrat.

CLEVELAND knows his danger from Tammany. The people should know what consideration he is willing to offer for his support.

It is worthy of note that Mr. William A. Pinkerton is a staunch Democrat at 90 per cent. of his employees are Democrats.—Chicago Record.

THE Democrats are now discussing the possibility of carrying the election without New York. This means they have no hope of carrying New York.

DEMOCRATIC editors are apparently unwilling to fight the coming battle on the tariff issue. They are attempting to counter on the "force bill" and, more, there never will be.

EXPORTS of domestic merchandise for the fiscal year of 1892 were $1,015,789,007. This is the first year they ever attained the sum of a billion dollars. This is a billion dollar country.

LORD SALISBURY, the British Prime Minister, told an audience the other day that free trade "might be noble, but it was not business." Although he is defeated in the British elections, he is not by any means as overwhelming as he was expected in view of this open onslaught upon the cherished British tariff policy.

This long after the nomination four years ago Harrison had made a dozen speeches, each one containing some feature of enlightenment and study on the issues of the campaign and the topics of the day. The ponderous sophomore at Harvard's Bay has not yet been heard from. Has he left his encyclopedia at home?

REPRESENTATIVE McMillan, of Tennessee, excited in the House the other day riot and bloodshed at Homestead was good campaign material for the Democrats. On this principle the Democratic Standard and Wall Street corruption fund might better be put into hiring Pinkerton men to shoot laboring men than into any other purpose.

McGOWAN newspapers are pointing with assumed sorrow to some of President Harrison's appointments, whose workmen in the Magazine view, consists in the fact that they have done good work for the Republican party. Why do not the McGOWANs look up the list of convicted criminals appointed to office by President Cleveland?

DEMOCRATIC editors ought to be so weak showing why no measure should be taken against the introduction of cholera. Such steps can be shown to be "again the consensuum." Besides it interferes with natural law to set up quarantine stations against the importation of this cheap foreign product. If we are going to have free trade let us be consistent.

DEMOCRATS have been arguing that the products of the Homestead mills is protected, and therefore protection is responsible for the riot and bloodshed there. There is free trade in the product of silver mines. Therefore free trade is responsible for the riot and bloodshed among the silver miners of Idaho according to the arguments of the Democrats.

CLEVELAND is the Democratic party. It was at his behest that the honest convictions of Democrats in the House on the silver question were strangled in order to give Cleveland a chance to grind away on the only string he can play—the free-trade string. This is an assertion that the Republican party has already solved the money question and that it is not an issue.

THE Republican party is now as it always has been, the friend and defender of the people's rights.

The statement that it has been guilty of class legislation is a statement unsupported by facts. It has legislated for the people of the whole country; it is doing so to-day.

Over the highways of shambles on the Democratic party, with column closed up and its flag aloft, it is marching to victory for its party and the people. It will achieve a party triumph in achieving a triumph of the prosperity of the nation.

—Gen. C. H. Grosvenor.

Too much cannot be said in denunciation of the brutal outrages inflicted on the colored people of the South, but the suggestions of uprisings or massacres as a remedy is all wrong. The Southern negroes will not seek any such remedy, and ought not to for any reason. One act of lawlessness is not to be rectified by another and crimes of violence are not to be checked in retaliation. The great remedy is for the people to elect a state that political success is not to be won in this country by organized crime against the ballot and the terrorism of the voters.

When it is made certain that the North the political crimes of Southern Democracy cannot result in political success, but will insure defeat at the root of the tree.

The great commercial countries of the world are nearer to adopting silver and gold jointly as money metals than they have been since the use of silver was abolished by the Latin union. And it is through the agency of the Republican party that this union is being developed.

It is better the condition of the working people, to point the way to education, to greater liberty and independence, to free development of the genius for intelligent organization among them, and thus to lift them from a position of servile dependence on their masters to a plane of equality and equal advantage with their employers—if to do these things is to cause strikes and lockouts and lockout. But on no other possible assumption.

It won't work in 1892. Last year the United States exported 225,000,000 bushels of wheat, and this year the prospect is excellent for a still larger exportation. This is not the year for Democratic influence farmer votes by the silly campaign lie that the McKinley tariff has closed the foreign markets to farm produce.

Campaign Documents. Daily Commercial Advertiser reports that, compared with last year, the average reduction in prices of the necessities of life is 18 per cent. This report is hard on the Democratic campaign line of 1890, who predicted that the McKinley tariff would increase the cost of the necessities of life. When the people want business prices and statistics they don't consult Democratic politicians, but reports of commercial agencies, and they all read like Republican campaign documents.

Mr. Carter, who is placed in a position of national prominence, is only thirty-eight years old. He is a born diplomat, a man of suave manner and engaging presence. He is a keen observer and an instantly good judge of men, and is said by those who know him best to be the most excellent selection which could have been made for the position.

He was only recently chosen secretary of the National Committee. He is now the Commissioner of the Land Office, but this place, he said, he would at once resign.

Mr. Carter was born at Junior Furnace, a little from manufacturing centre on the Ohio River, in Scioto county, Ohio, in 1854. In 1875 he settled at Barlingham, Iowa. He was admitted to the bar at Louisville, Ky., and from Iowa he went to Nebraska, from which State he emigrated to Montana. He was a delegate from Montana in the first session of the Fifty-first Congress, and upon the admission of that Territory as a State in November, 1889, became a representative in the same Congress. He was defeated for re-election in 1890, and in March, 1891, he was appointed Commissioner of the Land Office.

The selection of Mr. Carter for the chairmanship was regarded by extreme satisfaction by every member of the Committee. He is expected to make a record in his present position second to none who has held the chair.

SHORT TARIFF SERMONS.

STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS.

There was a time when strikes were very rare, indeed. It was when capital owned labor and kept it in subjection and on the verge of starvation. Slaves can't strike.

Education and enlightenment taught labor its own power, then it struck for great liberty.

Greater liberty caused it to strike for greater pay.

With greater pay came increased opportunities for intellectual improvement, and organization followed.

Now with united front workingmen pressed on for greater and ever greater concessions from their employers, which granted, feed their desire for more.

From the defensive they now take the offensive, demanding instead of entreating.

This is the way they do it. They are content with the restoration of the old duty should they be given the opportunity, but before they had a chance to do anything, the situation was changed by the sheep-baiting action somewhat of Grover Cleveland, which landed him and his party squarely in the free trade camp.

Cleveland's entire message was devoted to an argument in favor of free wool and a reduction, or a repeal of the tariff on the wool.

They went before the people on the issue they had made and the result of the election was a Republican Congress and a Republican President.

The duty of '92 was practically restored to the McKinley bill, and under the operations of this legislation the number of sheep has again increased to the old-time figure of over fifty two millions, and but for the threatening attitude of the Democratic party the number might easily have increased to one hundred millions, so that there need be no money sent out of our country for wool.

The sheep is classified in the grades as follows: Class one, or the finest, is made of the finest wools, or the Merinos and their grades, which are valued at 12 cents per pound.

Class two, or the second class, is made of the second class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 10 cents per pound.

Class three, or the third class, is made of the third class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 8 cents per pound.

Class four, or the fourth class, is made of the fourth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 6 cents per pound.

Class five, or the fifth class, is made of the fifth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 4 cents per pound.

Class six, or the sixth class, is made of the sixth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 2 cents per pound.

Class seven, or the seventh class, is made of the seventh class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1 cent per pound.

Class eight, or the eighth class, is made of the eighth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/2 cent per pound.

Class nine, or the ninth class, is made of the ninth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/4 cent per pound.

Class ten, or the tenth class, is made of the tenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/8 cent per pound.

Class eleven, or the eleventh class, is made of the eleventh class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/16 cent per pound.

Class twelve, or the twelfth class, is made of the twelfth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/32 cent per pound.

Class thirteen, or the thirteenth class, is made of the thirteenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/64 cent per pound.

Class fourteen, or the fourteenth class, is made of the fourteenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/128 cent per pound.

Class fifteen, or the fifteenth class, is made of the fifteenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/256 cent per pound.

Class sixteen, or the sixteenth class, is made of the sixteenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/512 cent per pound.

Class seventeen, or the seventeenth class, is made of the seventeenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/1024 cent per pound.

Class eighteen, or the eighteenth class, is made of the eighteenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/2048 cent per pound.

Class nineteen, or the nineteenth class, is made of the nineteenth class wools, or the Saxons and their grades, which are valued at 1/4096 cent per pound.

On Friday morning we had a very pleasant visit from Mr. W. S. Haddock, of Uniontown, who is manager for the Snowy Creek Coal and Coke Company. Mr. Haddock was here on business connected with the sale of lots at Corinth which is to take place on the 10th and 11th of this month, thus affording those who desire it a chance to secure building or residence sites at reasonable figures.

Davis, W. Va., is a local option town and sternly prohibits any futile dalliance with the cup that ebriates. Nevertheless the cup or the jug gets there and produces the same hilarious jag common to other localities. Lately part of the town have discovered the pipe line connected with the outside world, and the "Times" warns certain Cumberland distillers to be on their guard, or they may be liable to prosecution for shipping whiskey to miners.

Attend the primaries.

On Tuesday afternoon we had a very pleasant call from A. S. Murray Esq., representing the Wrought Iron Range Company, of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Murray informed us that he had sold over sixty during the past six weeks in the lower part of the county. These ranges are all wrought iron and will last a life time. The same company sold several car loads of these ranges in the vicinity of Oakland four years ago, all of which proved eminently satisfactory.

We were delighted to receive calls from Messrs. Thomas B. Wilby and Jonas Bittinger, of Bittering, and Joseph Bughley, of Accident. To receive calls from such gentlemen as these does us an honor and we are always pleased to have their presence.

The first pensions ever granted by the United States were provided for in bills introduced in Congress in April, 1778. On May 15, 1788, Congress passed a bill granting that all officers who shall serve to the close of the war shall receive half pay for seven years thereafter, and all private soldiers shall secure a reward of $80. This same Congress gave permission to South Carolina and Georgia to raise 3,000 troops of able bodied negroes for service, provided that no bounty or pay be allowed to said negroes, and also provided that every such negro shall be emancipated at the end of the war and receive $50.

State Secretary Sims has called a meeting of the State Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. A., now at the Park, for Thursday next, when the past quarter's report will be turned in and plans formulated for the furtherance of the work. Though attempts have been made to hold a summer camp here before and a few association members would attend, this is, so far as results are concerned, the first real camp and conference that has been held. Secretary Sims has had a hard year's work, but as it draws to a close he has the satisfaction of seeing his large district in the best and strongest condition it has ever been, and the credit is due almost exclusively to himself.

It is but reasonable to suppose that the recent multiplication of wild-cat short-term orders diverted a great deal of business from the Iron Hall, and also that the scandal about the bank established by some of the supreme officers did not encourage additions to its membership. Unless these same influences also led to an increased number of lapses, thus swelling the common fund at the cost of individuals they would disturb the calculations very much and excite uneasiness among the members, irrespective of any question of honest management. If the order has money enough on hand to pay the claims now matured, as it probably has, it is impossible to declare it insolvent. The important question is about the claims it has promised to pay next year and the year after that.

Do not fail to attend the entertainment given by the Y. M. C. A. boys in the auditorium, Mt. Lake Park, Friday night at 8 o'clock. A splendid exhibition of athletic work will be given by the physical directors and gymnasium men on the ground. A class of boys, have been drilled in dumb-bell and wind drill and will exhibit that evening. The first class talent that is at present at the Park has been secured and a rich treat will be presented in a program consisting of solos, duets, quartettes, instrumental music and recitations. Admission only 25 and 15 cents.

Congregational Meeting.

The members of Oakland Ev. Lutheran congregation are urgently requested to be present at the meeting Sunday, Aug. 7, after the morning preaching service.

Rev. O. C. Miller will arbitrate the discussion on change of location for the new Lutheran church.

Free Eye Examination.

Prof. Samuel S. Little, the graduated and reliable optician, of Cumberland, Md., will be in Oakland at Dr. H. W. McComas's office, next door to Mayers' drug store on Main street, Aug. 17 and 18th. Persons whose eyes are causing them discomfort, or who have headache should consult Prof. Little, where they will receive intelligent and skilled attention. No charge to examine your eyes. Every pair of glasses ordered is guaranteed to give satisfaction. Hours from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mt. Lake Park, Grace Cottage, Aug. 19 and 20.

Literary Entertainment and Calico Hop.

Mr. Hazleton the genial clerk of the Oakland Hotel, has arranged to give in the parlor and ball room of the Hotel, on Friday, Aug. 5th, a grand literary and musical entertainment and a calico hop. The success that has attended Mr. Hazleton's efforts at the Hotel in the past should be a guarantee for the future, always courteous and attentive not only to the guests of the "Oakland" but to all with whom he comes in contact, he certainly merits success. Friday's entertainment will be replete with novelty. Prof. Ross Jungnickle's orchestra will render some choice selections and Miss Rosa Cronen will give exhibitions of fancy skirt dancing. The parlor entertainment begins at 8:30 p. m. and the dancing at 10 o'clock. An enjoyable time may be anticipated.

Law Books for Sale.

Will sell the Law Library of the late Wm. P. Townshend, of Oakland, at private sale, in part or as a whole, on reasonable terms, the purchaser or purchasers giving note with approved security. A rare chance for young lawyers needing a library.

The Fairfax Families.

A news item from Preston county, W. Va., in relation to the recent death of Mr. Baldwin Fairfax, referred to him as a lineal descendant of the celebrated Thomas, the sixth Lord Fairfax, of Greenway Court, the early friend and patron of Washington. On this subject Mr. Cary writes to The Sun.

"Old Lord Fairfax died in 1792 a bachelor, and of course left no descendants—certainly none entitled to bear his name, and his title devolved on his only brother Robert, of Leeds Castle, England, who died in 1793, when the barony descended to the next heir, Bryan, eighth Lord Fairfax, son of his first cousin, Col. Wm. Fairfax of Belvoir, Va., to whom it was confirmed by the House of Lords in 1809, and from whom it has descended in lineal succession to his great-grandson, John Contee Fairfax, of Nottingham, Prince George's county, Md., who is borne upon the rolls of the British peerage as the eleventh Baron Fairfax of Cameron, though he has never claimed nor worn the title, rightfully his as the representative of a family so distinguished in the annals of England and America.

"The members of the baronial family of Fairfax are all descended from Thomas, the ninth lord, and his only brother, Ferdinand Fairfax, sons of Bryan, are very few in number and will be found enumerated in 'Burke's Peerage,' and among them, third in the title are Admiral D. McN. Fairfax, U. S. A., of Hagerstown, and his son, Wm. Gibbs Fairfax.

Communicated.

To the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN. The Democrats are trying to prove that the peoples' clothing is so very dear, that the tariff is a tax, that Protection is unconstitutional, etc., etc.

Well it may be by the McKinley bill, by the tariff on wool, caused the clothing to become dear; it may be that because the manufacturer has to pay a tariff on his foreign wool to get what Democrats are pleased to call "free raw material" and consequently the people are robbed according to Democratic figures of $60 per family.

I say this may be, but in the Mountain Democrat for March 11, 1892, we read in an editorial that "in spite of the tariff raw wool has declined in twenty-five years 50 per cent, and from 2 to 6 per cent, since the passage of the McKinley bill." He does not tell us that we are getting from 25 to 50 per cent, more than the price in foreign markets, but that people according to writers and orators are being robbed by this unconstitutional tariff, yet it is a fact the American people are the best clad people in the world and no people are so prosperous and happy as the people of this great country of ours, and we defy the Democrat or any of their scribbles to show us a period under "tariff for revenue only" when the people were doing so well, when they were as well housed, as well clad, or as prosperous as they have been under the terrible robber tariff.

Edward Atkinson, the free trader in the Forum for May admits that "there never has been a period in the history of this or any other country when the general rate of wages was as high as it is now, or the prices of goods relatively to the wages so low as they are to-day, nor a period when the workingman in the strict sense of the word, has so fully secured to his own use and enjoyment such a steadily and progressively increasing proportion of a constantly increasing product."

Does that sound like we are being robbed this by terrible protective tariff. The man who knows anything about the history of the country knows that the policy of the Democratic party, whether they call it a "tariff for revenue only," "free trade" or any other of its many names, has brought degradation and ruin to the people and protection has brought peace and prosperity. The two principles have been tried and Democratic leaders may howl about free wool, dear clothing, the robber tariff, etc., but people who go through this world with their eyes open know that they can buy more manufactured goods for their wages to-day than ever before.

The time is past when the farmer gives 40 bushels of wheat for a pair of boots and none of us want a return of the good old days "before the war." It is a fact that a day's labor will buy as much now of any manufactured article as it would prior to 1860.

What is it that in 30 years has doubled the price of labor and decreased the cost of living? The policy of the Republican party.

Two years ago the Democratic orators and press of the country told the people that the McKinley bill was going to make everything dear and that the people were going to be robbed by that terrible bill. Two years have passed and what manufactured article is dearer to-day than it was before the passage of that bill?

A good deal is said about tin, but let the man who thinks American tin a failure read the article on the first page of last week's Democrat. That article should be an answer to the tin-plate liar for all time.

So we see the Democrats losing one argument after another.

The people are reading, thinking and observing and when the ballots are counted in November Cleveland and Steyer will take their leave for their names will then be Dennis, and McKaig will have met Wellington and found his Waterloo.

OAKLAND, MD.

THE TARIFF AND LABOR.

How Free Trade Would Affect the Steel Workers.
(Chicago Tribune.)

Steel billets have been selling at $22.50 per ton. That is equivalent to a cent and a tenth a pound. The duty on imported steel costing more than a cent a pound is half a cent a pound or $10 a ton. That is quite sufficient to protect the American against foreign competition.

Being well aware of these facts, Mr. Carnegie's workmen say: "You have a protection of $10 a ton and you also have the protection of ocean and railroad freights. Being thus effectually sheltered from English, French, German and Belgian competition you can afford to pay us the old wages. It is not fair to charge the consumer that $10 and pocket the proceeds yourselves, as our Democratic statesmen tell us you are doing."

The reply of the company is: "We admit that we are not troubled by our foreign rivals, but you lose sight of the fact that domestic competition has driven down prices so much that the consumer is not charged nearly all of that ten dollars you speak of. The American steel he buys does not cost him the foreign price with ten dollars a ton added, but only three or four dollars more steel is being made in this country than there are purchasers for. Many establishments, being in need of money, put their product on the markets at cut rates and have forced down prices. There will be no change for the better till some of those competing concerns go to smash or shut down and the increased demand clears the market of surplus stocks. Then prices will advance and wages can go up. Or improvements and economies may be introduced in the manufacture which will enable better wages to be paid though the price of the product does not advance." This, in effect, is the reply of the employer to his men.

There is no question that domestic competition has forced prices down till steel sells for six dollars a ton below the protection of the tariff rate, or for only four dollars more than it does in Europe. But assuming that at a price of $22.50 per ton the steel manufacturers could afford to continue paying the old wages, and that the workmen are justified in fighting against a cut, who is ready to assert that the former could continue to pay the old wages if the protective duties were repealed, and steel costing $18 a ton in England were sent here to compete with Pennsylvania steel? If the American manufacturers had to ask 25 per cent. less than they do now in order to meet foreign competition, how long could they keep on paying the present wages?

It is clear that domestic competition has gone so far that if it does not justify a cut in wages it is on the verge of doing so. Evidently the result of foreign competition, if it were given free scope, would be a heavy reduction in wages. And in view of the stubbornness with which steel manufacturers refuse to keep on paying the old wages when they get but $22.50 a ton for their steel it is easy to see how fixed their determination would be not to pay the present wages if they get but about $18 a ton.

If the present fight over a comparatively small reduction is so serious in its nature imagine the gravity of the situation when the removal of protection demanded by a Democratic platform called imperatively for a much heavier reduction. And if a small reduction in the wages of a few thousand men in one trade causes so great a commotion, imagine the effect of a great cut first in the pay of millions of men engaged in all the protected industries of the United States, and second in that of the multitudes of men employed in building trades, transportation and other businesses. The Homestead mill trouble would be as a mole hill to Mount Vesuvius in an eruption.

Twelve Days at the Seashore.

The Mid-Summer excursion to Atlantic City from Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Parkersburg and all intermediate stations to Washington Junction, Md., will be run on Thursday, August 13th. Those who have not yet availed themselves of the superior train service and low rates offered for a trip to the seashore should not neglect this opportunity. A large degree of pleasure obtained in these jaunts to the seaside over the Baltimore & Ohio is by views of the country en route than which there is none more picturesque or richer in historical interest in America.

Tickets will be valid for return journey for twelve days from date of sale, also to stop off at Philadelphia for the night of August 11th, and will be good on all regular trains. On return journey they will be good to stop off at Washington, thus affording an opportunity to visit the numerous public buildings, which are open to visitors free of charge, and to take a trip down the Potomac to Mt. Vernon, the tomb of Washington, as well as to visit other places of interest in and near Washington.

For rates and time of trains consult appended table.

Corinth.

Since our last letter found the waste basket we are almost afraid to venture another. However it is our duty to let the many readers of the welcome old REPUBLICAN know of the thriving little village of Corinth, now lying peacefully on the beautiful little trout stream, Snowy Creek; but the doom of the trout is sealed as the busy hand of capital is no respecter of persons or of even the beautiful trout.

We are now on the eve of a grand and permanent boom, one that will not fade but gain as time moves.

There is to be a lot sale here on the 10th and 11th of August and lots are being sold every day in advance of the sale. Lots that sold for $50 are now selling for $200. There will be a general move here and as manufacturers are bidding for sites there must be a growth of the town that will be permanent.

Our site and lots are the finest between Cumberland and Wheeling for summer cottages and a more desirable resort is not to be found. Come one, come all, and help to clean up the fine dinner that will be furnished by the Snowy Creek authorities, on the 10th and 11th. All passenger trains stop at Corinth on these days.

David Williamson and family have moved from Pennsylvania and are now nicely fixed in their fine cottage on Plummer's hill.

B. B. Fuller is about to move in the Oak Grove hotel on Fuller's hill. This hotel is a fine building and in a good location for health seekers. Summer boarders taken at the low sum of $5 per week.

Miss Sharp and Miss Park while visiting Terra Alta in a road cart seated behind one of those long eared horses, became frightened and tried to free himself from the cart. Miss Park sprang to the street but Miss Sharp being less spry took the results and went over with the cart. However, no serious damage was done.

Mr. Stoneacre is conducting a rearing singing school at this place and what chickens are not now dead cannot survive long, as the school will not close for another week.

Our public school will be graded and have two teachers the coming winter.

Mr. E. R. Fuller and lady paid Terra Alta a flying visit last Saturday.

Corinth is now a town of painted houses, as there has been twenty-five houses painted in the past month and more to be painted.

Wesley has quit playing Indian and now lands in his beef in a spring wagon. All the same Wesley kills some nice beavers.

James Arnold, of Mt. Lake Park, is working on Oak Grove hotel and will show the little old man how to handle the mortar.

Our genial friend, William DeBerry, has purchased the fine cottage now occupied by Oscar Poston and will move in it by the first of September. Come on, Will, we want good neighbors.

George New is the champion fisher now. Last week he was out and caught twenty-five, three of them measured together nine inches, and the rest were small ones. I think George must have Isaac Walton's works on angling.

Jim DeYoung and Joe Berry intend making hay till Christmas, at least it looks like he is going to mow all Preston Co.

Miss Lillie Kurtz opened a subscription school this morning, which is to last one month.

Dr. O. G. Getty sold his personal property, on Saturday last, at public auction. He expects to move his family to Meyersdale this week.

John Getty, who has been engaged in telegraphy in Cleveland, Ohio, arrived at home last Wednesday night. He had been feeling unwell and in order to escape the intense heat and to avoid being sunstruck he came home. He bore up until after his arrival home, when he became very seriously ill, becoming delirious, and it seemed it would prove fatal, but after medical aid was given him, he gradually revived, and, as we are glad to say, is strong enough to be out doors again.

Dr. Bruce Lichty's new horse is a finely bred, standard pedigree trotting horse, of dark gray color, and trots a mile in three minutes. He was bred in Kentucky.

Kinsingers were setting up their planer in their planing mill last week.

Communion services were held in the Lutheran church here on Sunday last, Rev. Kribbs, the regular pastor, who resides at Salisbury, Pa., officiating.

The Character of Columbus.

Columbus may have been an Italian from Genoa, a pirate in his youth, a Spanish admiral in the supreme hour of his triumph, and a good Catholic at Palos and at San Salvador, but he remains for all time the world's greatest type of the man of action swayed by noble idealism. It matters little where he was born, what court he served or where he was buried, whether in San Domingo or Havana. The fame of Columbus is at once the heritage and the inspiration of Christendom. While Prince Henry's Portuguese voyagers were hugging the African shore, he headed for the open sea, convinced by reason that the world was round, and that a continent lay behind the western horizon.

Philosophers had dreamed and poets had sung of those western islands; the boldest of medieval cartographers with crude fancy had even sought to map them out; but Columbus sailed the seas with his rebellious crews because he had the courage to prove his faith in the idea that had mastered him. As Palos witnessed with scorn and derision the departure of his caravels, so Valladolid heard fourteen years afterward with indifference the tidings of his death in obscurity and neglect. But his genius had triumphed and won for him an unrivaled place in history.—N. Y. Tribune.

THREE DREAMS.

Horrible Nightmares Experienced by an Engineer Followed Deaths.

Do you believe in dreams? I mean do you believe that dreams ever foretell anything? Listen to this story, told by an old railroad man in eastern Massachusetts.

"There are few old timers like myself," said he, "who have not met with an accident of one kind or another. In a thickly populated section of the country like this, especially if one is driving a fier, the accidents are likely to consist in running down people walking upon or crossing the track. About a year and a half after I was married, and when I was the proud father of the prettiest baby that ever lived, I had a dream. I thought that I came home one day and my wife told me that she expected company to dinner, and what is more, she said, 'I have nothing in the house to eat.'"

"Very coolly I suggested that we kill and eat our baby. My proposition was accepted, and I had started to find a knife to sacrifice the little fellow when I awoke. It was a long time before I would allow myself to go to sleep again for fear the horrible nightmare would return. The next morning I told the dream to my wife, who suggested that I had eaten too much before going to bed. I took my train out as usual that day and forgot all about the dream until late in the afternoon, when it occurred to me for an instant. We were approaching a curve in the road, beyond which was a crossing hidden from view by a small piece of woodland. The fireman was blowing the whistle and ringing the bell."

"Just as we rounded the bend a farmer's wagon was driven slowly upon the track. I stopped and reversed the engine as quickly as possible and every brakeman on the train answered my signal, but we were going at a good safe speed and with a four-rh crash we struck the wagon. We walked back and found the driver dead, his head battered almost beyond recognition. It was the first time that I had killed a man, and I didn't get over the shock for a week. Somehow I couldn't help but believe that my horrible dream and the accident had a bearing one upon the other."

"Several years afterward, when the baby had come to be quite a boy, the same dream came to me again, and I thought I was preparing to sacrifice the child as on the former occasion in the baby. The day following I ran down a man who was walking upon the track. He plainly heard our signal and saw us coming, but he waited too long and started to step aside just as we came upon him. My boy was a young man grown when for the third and last time I had the dream. I was very much depressed when I took my engine out the next day. I was on my nerve at the time and my hand never for an instant left the throttle or my eye the track. We were close to home and had struck a three mile stretch where the track was straight as an arrow. Beyond was a wide turn which we always took slowly, for there we approached the city limits and short run beyond brought us to the station. Old No. 23 was traveling along at a lively rate as we struck the three mile stretch."

"My feeling of depression had left me and I was in excellent spirits to think that no disaster had befallen me. At last my nightmare was not to bring me disaster. Near the end of the stretch the road passed through a short ravine, overhanging one bank of which was a sturdy tree. As we dashed into the cut, there was a scream of demoralized laughter, and a man, half naked, swung from one of the outermost branches and dropped gibbering upon the track not twenty feet in front of the locomotive. Since that time, thank God, I have not had the dream or met with an accident."

There is no doubt of the truth of this story. Does it prove anything?—Brooklyn Eagle.

Indian Relics in Delaware Bay.

Not more than half a mile from Port Penn, Del., in a sheltered cove between two tidal water streams flowing into Delaware bay, there are within an area of five acres more than fifty dugouts, or rude earthen houses, used by the Indians of the region more than a century ago. The mounds are fast disappearing, but the earth thresholds around in arrowheads, tomahawks and other Indian relics, while the bones of many savages lie buried hard by.

Some of the neighboring farmers hold the land that was granted to them in earliest Colonial days, and one of the oldest inhabited houses in the United States, a substantial brick structure, is still standing near Port Penn and in good repair. Probably three-fourths of the white inhabitants are descendants of Colonial settlers.—New York Sun.

Retrospect Before Birth.

A strange practice is that of betrothing a girl before she is born, conditionally, of course. The Calmucs do so. But the girl is allowed an opportunity on her bridal morning of winning her freedom, should she dislike the man her parents have chosen for her. The marriage ceremony is performed by the bride riding away at full speed pursued by the bridegroom, who must capture her and bring her back; if he fails to do so he is deemed unworthy of her hand. Very rarely can a Calmuc lady be overtaken unless she has a party for her pursuer.—San Francisco Examiner.

Left His Address.

Bank Teller—Well, sir, I picked up a bit of a paper called 'The Bankers' Bugle' today. Saw a queer thing in it. The paper is reliable, eh?

Teller—Perfectly. Its financial news may always be relied on.

Bank Teller—I'm glad of that. Say, that paper says money is so easy that the bank will soon be seeking borrowers, and I merely wish to remark that when I last began you'll find me on sent No. 23, Washington square.—Good News.

Kingdom of Heaven.

The struggle of a foreign teacher trying to express himself in English is often pathetic and sometimes funny, when the pupils have purposely regarded the distinction between good English and bad as a game, and with delight by grossly directing them, at the close of a lesson, 'to get up and dust'—Springfield (Mass.) Homestead.

Mohammed's Treasures.

The sacred standard at Constantinople is believed to be formed of the ether garment of Mohammed, and a pair of pajamas, which are reverentially preserved at Lahore, are held by the faithful to have miraculously extinguished a fire at that place not longer ago than 1860.—Yankee Blade.

Bad roads force people to live in cities; good roads tend to take them out into the country. This observation reveals its force perhaps more strikingly when read in view of the facts of railroad development to which the special attention of the American people has been given during the past forty years. The railroads have centralized the population in the cities and larger towns, and arranged them along their lines of communication. Now what is needed is an equal development of carriage roads to broaden the areas of population and to relieve this congestion. —A. A. Pope in Forum.

Close Up the Lines.

to the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN.

It is time for the Republicans to close up the ranks, to touch elbows, and to present a solid front to the foe, if they wish to avoid the humiliation of defeat, and above all, if they wish to perpetuate the blessings of peace and prosperity in the land. There is no other party fit to govern this country.

The Democratic party, not only is not to be trusted, but it does not deserve to be put in control of this government.

That party, after a long term of almost uninterrupted control, brought the country to bankruptcy and plunged it into the vortex of war.

We shrink aghast from the contemplation of what our condition would be today if the Democratic party had had its way.

As a party it is great in numbers, and great in crimes. Nine-tenths of its members are glad in their hearts that their party has not been able to have its way.

They are heartily glad that they have been subjected to the discipline of defeat.

They are glad that they did not succeed in the dismemberment of the Union, and the establishment of the Southern Confederacy.

They are proud that they have a united country redeemed from the curse and the blot of slavery.

They are proud that in wealth, in power, in the liberty of its citizens, and in all things that go to make up the true elements of greatness, our United States has no rival on the face of the globe.

But while the Democratic citizen is proud of his country's greatness and grandeur, he is abashed and deeply humiliated when he comes to scan his party's record. When he reflects that his party has opposed every step in the progress of this nation for a third of a century, he is not proud of that.

The Democratic citizen looks back over the great measures which have agitated the country, and he looks in vain for a single one that has been settled wrong.

The successful prosecution of the war, the emancipation, the enfranchisement of the colored citizen, the resumption of specie payment, the persistent battle for honest money, the beneficent policy of protection, achieved in spite of the determined opposition of his party. He is glad in his heart that the Republican party has done all of these things, and brought his country up to its present state of prosperity and progress, and he is humiliated that his party cannot claim any of the credit, and he is disgraced because he feels that his party is still on the wrong side of the one great question that divides the two great parties.

A large majority of the Democratic voters know that their party is wrong, and would be gratified beyond measure if there was any other place for them only the disloyal, un-American side on which an unfriendly face seems to have placed them.

But honest, intelligent Democrats deserve to belong to a better party, especially young men who have been raised to the Democratic faith are not bound to carry the odium of a party which has been and is untrue to the best interests of the country.

The young man about to start out in life wants to be in touch with the spirit of the age. He wants to enjoy the largest opportunities which the development of the country under our protective system alone can give him.

Generally speaking his wages is his capital, and under protection he gets double the pay his father got for a day's work, under a revenue tariff, and he pays only half as much for what he has to buy of manufactured goods. His party creed tells him, if he is a Democrat, that protection makes the poor man poorer, and the rich richer. It never explains how this is done, but it proposes to make the poor man richer by a policy that will reduce his wages one-half, and to make the rich man poorer by enabling him to employ the poor man at half the present rate of wages.

The party that has always been wrong since the days of Jackson is not to be trusted now; and the personal interests of every voter, old or young, rich or poor, high or low, without regard to occupation or calling, demands that the public service continued to be administered by a party, and a president tried and true, that they all know they can trust implicitly. Now let every Republican, let every true American, let every man who works for wages, let every farmer who has wool or produce for sale, use his influence to uphold the present beneficent system, and see to it that partisan rankor, and greed for office shall not be permitted to destroy this system which blesses and benefits all alike.

The Improvements at the Electric Station.

For considerable over two months work has been progressing on the much needed improvements at the plant of the Oakland Electric Light and Power Company's station here. On Friday the work was finished and things at the station began to run smoothly again.

The improvements consist of an engine and boiler, much larger and safer than those formerly used, which are giving satisfaction to the company and pleases mightily the patrons.

The engine is a single cylinder Ball, built at the Ball engine works in Erie, Pa., and made especially for electric stations. It is eighty horse power and has a stroke of twelve inches with a speed of two hundred and seventy-eight revolutions per minute. The line shaft is connected to the new engine by a clutch pulley, which can be disconnected in less than a second. The weight of the engine is 9,000 pounds and is mounted on a foundation of solid masonry. The new boiler is sixteen feet long, sixty inches in diameter and guaranteed to stand a pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch. It is fitted with four inch flues and a stack sixty feet high. The weight of the boiler is 15,000 pounds, and is made of two pieces of steel.

An addition about twelve by twenty feet has been erected to the main building, which is used as a coal house and boiler room.

The plant is in charge of Abraham Lawton, who is ably assisted by Wm. Nair.

As soon as possible a new fence will be erected around the company's lot, which will add very much to its appearance.

A Good Cause or Action.

Lillie Good approaches the divorce goddess with a plea for separation from Charles Good, charging desertion and gross neglect of duty on his part.

They were married in Cincinnati, October 20, 1880, and they have one child, a son, now one year old. About two months before the birth of her child, Mrs. Good says her husband abandoned her. He represented that he was going back to Cincinnati to seek employment. Instead of going to the Queen City, he went to San Francisco, Cal., where he was residing when his wife last heard from him. At the time of his departure Good discounted a $500 note and took all the money with him, leaving his wife without any means of support. Plaintiff says she last heard from her husband last March. In his letter of that date he declared he would never return to her and advised her that if she was unable to take care of their child to place it in some asylum. Mrs. Good says she has frequently written to her husband for financial aid but has been unable to get a reply from him since the month of March. Some of the letters have been returned to her unopened. Mrs. Good prays for divorce, alimony, and the custody of her child. James A. Miles is plaintiff's attorney.—St. Louis Exchange.

Mr. Thane Miller, of Cincinnati, will hold a gospel and song service in St. Paul's M. E. church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are cordially invited. Mr. Miller is too well known to need introduction.

Among the new postoffices recently established by the Postmaster General, was one in Garrett county, to be known as "Krug," with Dock H. Shauk as postmaster. The new office will receive special mail service from Confluence, Pa.

The second quarterly conference of the U. B. church will be held at McElenny on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 13th and 14th. After the regular meeting on Saturday services will be held at 7:30 and at 10:30 Sunday morning by A. M. Byans, presiding elder.

The Republican Convention.

The Republican County Convention met in the court house Tuesday. All the districts were represented except numbers 9 and 11. The convention was called to order by E. E. Sollars, chairman of State Central Committee. A. F. George, president; B. H. Sincell, secretary. While the committee on credentials and resolutions was out Col. Veitch made an address which was liberally applauded.

After an absence of half an hour the committee returned and made the following report:

The committee on credentials wish to report that we recommend the temporary officers of this Convention be made permanent, and find the following gentlemen entitled to seats in the convention:

District No. 1.—A. F. George, John McCrobie, Buckner Mason and John B. Friend.

No. 2.—J. S. Meyers.

No. 3.—Samuel Baker, A. L. Gnagey, Thomas H. Bittinger, C. J. Otto and Jonas Harshberger.

No. 4.—A. C. Duckworth, Otho Bernard, Samuel Harshberger, Froeland Tibbitts and Michael Trant.

No. 5.—Henry Kamp, sr., Geo. F. Ault, Eli Brown, Fred Camp and Wm. Englehart.

No. 6.—A. S. Sell, S. A. McRobie, Brison Welch, Siles Weiner, John Willburn.

No. 7.—Charles Tower, J. G. Arnold, S. E. Boyer and F. G. Hyde, J. J. Garrett, E. E. Sollars, Daniel Chisholm, B. H. Sincell, R. H. Maroney and Joseph Martin.

No. 8.—L. Nydegger, J. G. Kanauer, O. Brinegar, Thomas Coddington and M. W. Wilson.

No. 10.—Dr. J. W. Laughlin, W. C. Jones and John Landers.

No. 12.—C. M. Beachy, T. B. Wiley and W. A. Carr.

We recommend that the rules of the last House of Delegates govern this convention. We also recommend that there be not less than twenty-one delegates represent Garrett county in the Congressional convention.

Each District represented to have at least one delegate in the Congressional convention.

We also beg leave to submit the following resolutions for adoption:

Resolved, 1st.—That we endorse the clean, business like and honest administration of President Harrison and point with pride to the record he has made for the party that placed him in the high and honored position he occupies.

2nd.—We endorse the McKinley bill as a whole and especially the reciprocal clauses of that measure.

3rd.—We point to the record of the late session of the House of Representatives as a sample of the way in which the Democratic party conducted the affairs of the country. In answer to their cry of a billion dollar congress we have the fact that they passed river and harbor bills that were the largest and most corrupt ever passed by any congress, and in answer to their promise of economy we point to the appropriations that exceed the appropriations of the last session of 51st congress by $50,000,000. We charge them with trying to destroy the wool interest, tin-plate industry and other industries and point to them as being the least capable and most riotous congress known in the history of the country.

4th.—That the delegates sent to the Congressional convention go instructed to do everything in their power to secure the nomination of Geo. L. Wellington as a candidate for Congress from the Sixth congressional district.

After the reports of the committee had been read the following gentlemen were unanimously selected as delegates to the Congressional convention:

A. F. George, John McCrobie, J. S. Meyers, C. J. Otto, A. E. Gnagey, M. P. Grant, A. C. Duckworth, George Ault, Henry Kamp, Wm. Englehart, A. S. Sell, E. E. Sollars, E. H. Sincell, Daniel Chisholm, F. G. Hyde, J. G. Arnold, Louis Nydegger, M. N. Wilson, J. S. Laughlin, C. M. Beachy and Charles Wegman.

The convention then adjourned.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1892.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT.

BENJ. HARRISON,

OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

WHITELAW REID,

OF NEW YORK.

FOR CONGRESS, SIXTH CONGRESSMAN.

Geo. L. Wellington,

OF MARYLAND.

Our Next Congressman.

The Republicans of the Sixth

Congressional District in convention assembled at Chambersburg on Wednesday, nominated in the person of Hon. Geo. L. Wellington, of Allegany county, our next congressman.

The magnificent enthusiasm which prevailed and the unanimity which marked every action of the convention tells the story of united, determined, aggressive Republicans throughout the District, and the Convention's choice was ratified by the people at the ballot box on the 8th of November. Mr.

Wellington's nomination and the anner in which it was made has already created consternation in the Democratic ranks. In Garrett county, we confidently believe will be more than verified.

Let Wellington and Victory be the Republican slogan in Garrett county.

CLEVELAND'S defeat next fall will leave him chagrined to leave for fishing. Or he might go to England and run for Parliament.

In an interview of the work of Congress published in the Press

Tuesday morning ex-Speaker Reed charges the Democratic party with extravagance and incompetency and says: "The Republican party expend $450,000,000 the first session of the Fifty-second Congress and were roundly abused therefor.

The lowest figures any Democrat can now make for his Congress is $510,000,000. These figures are undisputed. The moral is indisputable."

The country must not be cheated by George Cleveland's efforts to modify the tariff plank of his party into supposing that he has experienced a change of heart and is less a free trader than before. It is clearly and unmistakably a case of "funk." He fears the protection sentiment of the American people.

He seeks to conciliate them by professions of regard for American interests. He has no more regard for American interests than he has the tariff plank of the Chicago platform,

but from motives of policy he wants to waver until after the election."

After saying so.

"The Democratic platform says:

"We denounce Republican protection as a fraud." There is no way in which that may be misconstrued or distorted. It is a threat to the whole existing economic condition of the nation. Such being the case

Craver Cleveland knows that no man who stands on it can hope to be elected President of the United States. So he seeks fit to "modify"

it. The reason is exactly the same that led the Democratic House of the most valuable statistical work on this subject that has ever been done. The sub-committee consisted of Senators Aldrich (Rhode Island), Allison (Iowa), Hiseock

(New York) and Jonas (Nevada).

Republicans, and Senators Harris

(Tennessee) and Carlisle (Kentucky), Democrats. In order to give the statistics collected the weight of undoubted authority, the committee decided at the outset, with entire unanimity, that the inquiry should be extended only to such subjects and be carried on through such agencies and by such methods as were approved by the unanimous voice of the committee, and this plan was scrupulously followed in all decisions as to the character, general scope and details of the investigation. It is this that gives it its value.

The Calumity Craze.

The calamity craze sprang into existence as the result of poor legislation. It was most prevalent in the Western and Northwestern States. The farmers in those localities were poor men who were struggling to make for themselves and families homes upon the lands the Republican party had given them under the provisions of the homestead and pre-emption laws. The failure of each succeeding crop reduced them financially lower, until in their desperation they were willing to believe that the Government, and especially the Republican party, was responsible for their misfor-tures.

Scheming politicians took advantage of the situation and the result was the calamity party. Reason was drowned and fanaticism reigned supreme. With the year 1891 came good crops. Kansas alone released over $14,000,000 of mortgage indebtedness. Nebraska fell in line with nearly as much more.

The farmers prospered. Reason returned, resulting in the gradual decline of the calamity bowl. The present crop prospects for the Western States were never better, and with returning prosperity will return the old-time Republican majority.

Reciprocity has made a market

in Cuba for over a million barrels of American flour every year. In the year 1890 the value of exported

hams to Cuba was only $24,899.

Under reciprocity, however, in November, 1891, these exports amounted to $40,855. The farmers of the West and Northwest can appreciate these facts, as wheat and pork are the principal things they have to sell.

SHORT TRAFFIC SERMONS.

NO. XXV.

IMMIGRATION.

"Thousands of immigrants come to the United States every year.

Why do you think they come here? In order to earn starvation wages, to be deprived of their earnings by "tariff-monopolists," to be taxed for the benefit of the "robber-barons?"

No, they come here because experience at home, under the slavery of the European wage-system has tought them that only in this country of high wages and prosperity, of contentment and protection, is the laborer worthy of his hire.

No, they come here because ex-

Restriet it if you please, prohibit if you can. But never lose sight of the fact that immigration would not trouble us if we were poor.

When Free-Trade began, the gate of the Garden will swing outward instead of inward. Under that system immigration stops.

Immigration takes its place.

Small-Pox and Cholera.

The State board of health has isssued a pamphlet for distribution throughout the State calling attention to the fact that the small-pox in Europe and America and to the rapid advance of Asiatic cholera into Europe. There is no in-mediate cause, but alarm in the United States, but the board think it prudent to take precaution against possible danger in the future. The pamphlet also contains suggestions for the prevention and restriction of small-pox and cholera. It is stated in the pamphlet that by results of immigration cholera may be introduced to any island town by some traveler even before it appears at the seaboard. "Experience has demonstrated the fact that cleanliness is the best protection against cholera. When introduced into a community its ravages are most severe and most fatal in the insanitary localities, while the main-tenance of good hygienic conditions contributes to lessen its fatality.

outbreak of cholera would be impossible. With a reasonably

SHOOTING AT FRIENDSVILLE.

Two Brothers, John and Wm. Brown Shot by Owen Sturgeon.

A shooting scrape occurred at Friendsville, in this county, on Friday night in which John and William Brown were shot by Owen Sturgeon.

It seems that Owen Sturgeon, who works for A. Knabb & Co., near Friendsville, went to town on the evening in question and commenced drinking. In Taylor's Hotel John Brown, the bar-keeper, refused to sell him anything and ordered him out. He refused to go and a quarrel ensuing, he pulled out a revolver and commenced shooting. The first shot struck John Brown in the face, inflicting a slight wound.

William Brown then came to the assistance of his brother, John, and they together beat Sturgeon severely with a buggy spoke, about the head. Sturgeon fired again, the bullet hitting William in the face and coming out at the back of the head.

Sturgeon was arrested and taken before Justice Davis, who committed him to jail without bail to await the result of William's injuries, which are considered fatal. Sturgeon was brought to Oakland and placed in jail on Sunday by Constable Frank Friend, of Friendsville district.

Reports of the shooting conflict. Some say but one shot was fired by Sturgeon, which struck both of the Brown brothers and that the attack upon Sturgeon was premeditated by them.

The greatest day ever enjoyed at Mountain Lake Park will be next Tuesday—the occasion Grand Army Day at the Mountain Chautauqua. A magnificent cadet military band, of sixteen pieces, will furnish exquisite and inspiring music all the day long. At 11 a. m. Comrade Frank W. Smith, of Toledo, O., will give his great lecture on "In and Out of Andersonville." You will never hear anything better. At 2:30, a grand concert of war songs, followed by an address by that magnificent Christian soldier, Gen. O. O. Howard, Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the United States. To see this remarkable man will be worth a journey of many miles. Then, too, there will be an address by Corporal James Tanner, late Commissioner of Pensions, known and loved by all old soldiers. He is a perfect cyclone as a speech-maker. Don't miss him. At night, a Grand Concert by the great chorists interspersed with tableaux. This will be the greatest day ever known in the Allegheny mountains. Thousands will be present. Ample and excellent hotel accommodations for those who desire it. If you bring lunches, the beautiful picnic grounds are at your disposal "without money and without price."

All old soldiers, known to be such, and wearing badges, will be admitted free. Admission to all others will be 35 cents for the day, including everything—the three great lectures and the magnificent concert—less than 9 cents apiece. Where can you get good things so cheap? The program from now till the close is the very best.

From Deer Park.

The engraving at the head of this article, Col. C. J. Holt, who lectured here on July 23rd and from the encouragement he received continued his lecture one week and by his eloquent pleading in behalf of temperance and morality, has been instrumental through the help and work of the grand Christian workers of the "Women's Christian Temperance Union" in securing signers to the pledge to the number of 148. The leaders of the W. C. T. U. in honor of the grand work accomplished, gave a reception to those who had signed the temperance pledge, and who wore the badge, which was the blue ribbon, which was a most enjoyable treat to the many who assembled in the grove surrounded by our three churches and the school house with the stars and stripes floating, and the grounds lit up by dozens of Chinese lanterns and street lamps with small flags waving from the trees and a full orbed moon sending her shimmering rays through the branches and the fair ladies flitting here and there serving out such a bountiful supply of ice cream and cake, presented a scene that will live in lasting remembrance to all that wore the blue ribbon, and partook of this sumptuous repast.

The evening was spent in enjoyable conversation, and one of the agreeable omissions was the tedious speech-making. It was not a time for gush, but for social pleasure.

There was something appropriate in the sweetness of this collation given in the interest of the temperance cause; for what is sweeter than sobriety, and the peace and harmony that follow in its wake, what is sweeter than domestic tranquility that is so often disturbed by the blight of strong drink.

A tidal wave of Temperance enthusiasm has struck Deer Park and our prayer is that it may roll up and down the hills of Garrett until the saloon crumbles under its power.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Deer Park "Home Protection Club" out of respect to Col. C. J. Holt, the founder of this organization:

Resolved, That the thanks of the "Home Protection Club" and "Women's Christian Temperance Union" be extended to Col. C. J. Holt, of Illinois, for his labor of love in our midst, in elevating the morals of our town and community; and

Resolved, That at every meeting of this club we, as members, offer up a prayer for our absent friend and the great work in which he is engaged.

Amended by the secretary of this organization which was accepted. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be neatly engrossed and sent to Col. Holt as a testimony of our esteem and appreciation of the great work accomplished by him, in the short time he labored among us.

And that they may be entered on the minutes of the proceedings of this club, and copies published in the Oakland Republican, one of our county papers.

in New England, averaged $1.05 a day of 11 hours work, or 5.52 cents an hour. Now they average $1.71 per day of ten hours work, or 17.1 cents per hour.

STRIKING OF THE DISHONEST WAY

in which the Republican party has "squandered the surplus," it is important to note that the interest-bearing debt of the United States has been reduced since the inauguration of President Harrison in the sum of over $275,000,000, and that the annual interest charge, which, when he was inaugurated, amounted to $34,000,000, was, on June 30, 1892, only $22,000,000, a decrease of $12,000,000, or over one-third.

A Growing Industry.

The textile industry of the United States under the McKinley tariff was one year old on the first day of July. This is the record of the American production: First quarter, $26,722 lbs.; second quarter,

1,409,822 lbs.; third quarter,

3,004,087 lbs.; fourth quarter,

8,000,000 lbs. If the production should increase at the same rate for the next year and a-half, the home supply would be fully equal to the home demand.

THE DEMOCRATS PROTESTED

grievously over the election of 1890

and claimed that it was a condemnation by the people of the McKinley law. Yet they are trying to obscure the tariff issue and to bring forward the purely local issues in the States in which they elected the Congress two years ago.

This is a confession of weakness.

Local issues can cut no figure in a Presidential year, and the people cannot be blinded on the tariff issue.

SENATOR CARSWELL ADMITS

that wages were higher, cost of living lower and prices of farm products higher in May, 1893, after the passage of the McKinley law, than in June, 1890, before the passage of the McKinley law. He is bound to admit it because, having taken part in an exhaustive investigation of the subject he found it to be a fact. The best argument this ablest of free-traders can find in the face of these stunning facts is that it would have been the same had the McKinley law not been passed. "The people are not disposed to dally with what might be an example for Maryland.

In July a year ago two "exhibit cars" were sent out by the people of Texas to advertise the Lone Star

State. They were kept on the road for an entire year, showing to the people of other countries the resources, the advantages and the handmade opportunities to be found in that great domain of the Southwest. A report upon the work done was submitted by the director of the exhibit, and some of the facts contained in it are most suggestive.

The cars passed through some part of 18 States and traversed 23 lines of railway. They traveled

19,000 miles, and 22 tons of traveling matter and maps descriptive of Texas and its resources were distributed on the route. About 3,000,000 people passed through the cars at places where stops were made, and 82,000 names were recorded in the visitors' register. A list of 13,400 names and addresses were given to them in charge of the cars, with request that additional information be sent to them. Free transportation for the cars and attaches were given by the railroads, and 280,000

lines of "write ups" were secured from the various papers of the country.

As a result of this enterprise,

immigration has been turned Texas-ward, and the director has facts in his possession which show that some 200 farms have been purchased and 10 manufactures located by people who were induced to go to Texas on account of the showing presented by the exhibit cars.

These facts are thus mentioned in detail to show the practicability of the scheme. Texas wanted strong helpers to assist in developing the state. Her people went out into "by-ways and hedges" and

"compelled them to come in."

And we submit that it is some such enterprise as this which Maryland needs. We have just been told by the official resolutions of the state Farmers' Alliance that rural interests are perishing, and that paucity of labor is reducing the Maryland counties to a wilderness.

Here is an example which might profitably be imitated by the fruitgrowers, land-owners, men workers and railroads of Maryland. Let the enterprise be inaugurated, let the "exhibit car" be prepared and sent through the North and West of its "campaign of education." It will pay many times over.

HARRISON'S ADMINISTRATION.

How, T. J. Morgan in Review of Reviews,

in the Administration of President

Harrison has been in keeping with his personal character—clean, able, conservative, dignified and patriotic. He has naturally gathered about him men who sympathize with him in his views and resemble him more or less in character. The general tone of his administration has been imparted to it by its

Chief, and there have been no grave scandals, defalcations or other stains to mar its good name.

The search light of political investigations, seeking campaign annuities, have brought to view nothing that challenges criticism. An opposition Senator, in an article on the Administration published in the June number of the North American Review, does not even hint at anything to the discredit of his personnel, motives or magnitude, while Senator Dawes says:

"The called into his Cabinet men as his advisers who commanded at once the fullest confidence of the country, some of them already so tried in public service that they had been designated by common consent for the places they filled.

Some of them were new men in public life, but brilliant service has in each case proved the sagacity and wisdom of the selection. Subordinate offices have been filled with able and clean men; commendation of this administration does not demand or claim that there has been any of this government in operation at a thousand points, many of them thousands of miles beyond the eye of the Executive, it never has been nor never can be the case that men who operate it will in every instance prove themselves fit and faithful. But one who has witnessed the successes and mistakes of administrations in this peculiarly trying time of these quadrilateral periods of history will not fault for the present administration a comparison with any or all of the others."

Republicans vs Democratic Success.

President Harrison's administrative record is his best and strongest recommendation to the support of the American people in the approaching election. It satisfies all honest-thinking and public-spirited citizens. It is patriotic in purpose and upright in performance. It has advanced civil service reform in a wider application and along the rational lines of practical and permanent benefit.

The twin agents of American progress—Trade Protection and Reciprocity—have increased employment at home, enlarged trade abroad and advanced the income while they have cheapened the necessities of the people. In all that makes for the country's security and the people's happiness, in the stability of the currency, in the creation of a new navy, in the extension of internal improvements, in the practical application of needed reforms—our nation's future progress all hinges on Republican success.

All these great public causes, in which the people are so vitally interested and deeply interested, would be violently checked, if not fatally crushed, by a Democratic victory in this election. Free trade is the only cause which Democratic success would prosper.

This is not all. A Democratic victory not only means the discontinuance of business, the loss of public confidence, and the agitation of the foundations of government

by the introduction of wild and chimerical schemes of social, political and economic innovations, but it would also mean the inauguration of a carnival of corruption. There is not an intelligent supporter of Grover Cleveland who does not know that the election of the Democratic candidate is only possible

by wholesale crime at every Southern polling place.

It is manifest that no good cause can prosper and no public reform succeed in the hands of a party whose supporters not only tolerate but encourage this crime against freedom and humanity.

The conservative citizens of this country, those who have interests at stake and who take a patriotic pride in the progress and prosperity of this nation, are, therefore, satisfied that the welfare of the people and the security of the government will be best conserved by the continuance of Republican supremacy

under the safe and sagacious statesmanship of President Harrison.

Dr. A. L. Wagner has located in Oakland and will practice both in town or country. Calls promptly answered either day or night. Office, one door west of St. Paul's M. E. church. 8-157

The funeral services of the late Nathan Casteel, Mrs. Sidney M. Casteel, and Charlotte J. Casteel will be preached in St. Paul's M. E. church on Sunday, Sept. 11, 1892, to which all the relatives and friends are invited.

The wedding of Miss Kate Pierce, of Deer Park, and Rev. Nacy McGee Waters, took place at the bride's home August 24th. Miss Mary Tills, of Morgantown, and Edw. S. Elliott, of Kingwood, were the attendants.

Queen Victoria, while driving near Osborne House, Isle of Wight, Saturday, was approached by a man making violent gestures and saying he was a foreign count, and had sworn to kill her unless she resigned. She saw at once that the man's mind was unbalanced, and looked him steadily in the face while one of her attendants quietly removed him.

Ripans Tablets cure jaundice.

Rev. E. J. Meese, of the U. R. church, Westernport, has been transferred by Presiding Elder Rev. A. M. Evers, to the Deer Park charge and Rev. D. E. Burtner assigned to this church for the remainder of the conference year.—Piedmont Herald.

Washington county has two school boards—each organized and each trying to run the schools of the county. The new mode of appointing school commissioners does not run with that degree of smoothness which ought to characterize the machinery of Democratic progress.

Robert Himmler, aged nine years, the son of Mr. Fred. Himmler while in a somnolent state, got out of his bedroom window, on the second floor of his father's house, in Cumberland, last week, and fell to the ground beneath. His left leg was very badly bruised by the fall.

Mr. James Meyers, of Tanneiton, was in Oakland Tuesday. Mr. Meyers related to a REPUBLICAN reporter that he carried the first mail bag overland that came to Oakland by rail. That was in 1847 or '48, forty-four years ago. He is an old soldier and a member of the renowned "Bloody Six."

The person who furnishes items for a newspaper is always a valuable friend to the editor. Many hesitate about sending items regarding friends or neighbors, lest the editor should think them anxious to see their name in print. He will think nothing of the kind, but, on the contrary will be glad to get such notes. Many seemingly unimportant items when printed are news to a large number of readers.

The approaching reunion of the army of the Cumberland at Chattanooga has brought out the intelligence that about 21,000 officers and 100,000 privates remain from the divisions which marched and fought in Tennessee in '63 and '64. When it is taken into account that the majority of these men have passed their fiftieth birthday, the facts presented show that longevity is by no means a lost art in this country.

The annual fall dress ball was given at the Oakland Hotel last night. The orchestra of the Oakland and Deer Park Hotels were combined and furnished the best music that has been heard in Oakland for some time. The ball room being too small to accommodate the large crowd in attendance the immense dining room was used instead. Some elaborate dresses were to be seen and admired. The ball was given by Geo. D. DeShields, superintendent of the hotels, to the guests.

The Mt. Lake Park Convocation in connection with the Christian Alliance for conference, prayer and bible study, is now being held at Faith Home Chapel. Subject for Wednesday—The Lord's Coming; for Thursday—Dedication services of Faith Home and Chapel, preaching by Revs. A. B. Simpson and W. H. Walker; for Friday—Divine Healing; for Saturday and Sunday—Christian Work and Missions. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present at each or any meeting.

A blushing young Demosthenes pays the following soul-thrilling compliment to a young Socrates of the mountains through the columns of the Piedmont Herald.

"This young Socrates of our town may go down in history as Demosthenes or Thermopylae, but suffice it to say that he bids fair to enroll his name upon the scroll of literary attainments. He commanded the most wrapt attention, and his stentorian voice resounded with resonance through the entire building."

Who is old Thermopylae, anyhow, and who ever heard of "his stentorian voice resounding with resonance through the entire building?"—Cumb. News.

Garrett County S. S. Convention. The annual S. S. Convention for Garrett county, under the auspices of the Maryland Sunday School Union, will be held at Accident, commencing Sept. 29, 1892, at 7.30 p. m. and close the following Sunday evening. Each Sunday school in the county is urgently requested to send a delegate.

A cordial invitation is extended unto all friends of the Sunday school cause. "Come over and help us."

FOR RENT—A six room dwelling house with basement. All in first class order. Apply to J. C. PERDUE.

The Semi-annual report of the Knights of Pythias in Maryland has been completed by Grand Keeper of Records and Seal Whitehouse. It shows the order to have had a prosperous term. There are now ninety seven lodges in the State, with a membership of 7,378, with funds on hand for purposes of charity and benefits amounting to $192,000. The increase in membership during the term was 550. There are eight divisions of the unified rank, organized as the First Maryland Pythian Regiment, under command of Col. John A. Swartz.

Col. C. J. Holt, the stirring temperance evangelist, of Decatur, Ill., will begin a series of gospel temperance meetings in Offutt's Hall on Tuesday evening, Aug. 30th. He disengages the temperance question fairly and squarely without reference to politics, and aims to educate public sentiment against the use of intoxicants. Having been for fifteen years a drinking man, during that period associated with every grade of society, from the highest to the very lowest, and perfectly familiar with every vice that results from such a course of life, possessing an indomitable will and energy, he is invincible in his arguments and illustrations. This enables him to bring under his influence those who could not be reached by one not possessed of these qualifications. Do not fail to hear him next Tuesday night. Admission free.

LAND FOR SALE—I offer my farm, 100 acres, for sale, situated on the West Union road four miles from Oakland. A new barn and new house is on the place.

For further information apply to HENRY KILLICK, Sunnyside.

At the contract office of the Post-office Department an advertisement is now being prepared inviting proposals for carrying United States mails in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia for four years, from July 1, 1893, to July 1, 1897. This advertisement will be sealed about the 15th of September and the bids will be opened about the 30th of next January. The contracts will be awarded about the 25th of next February. In connection with the general advertisement pamphlets setting forth all the routes in detail will be prepared for the use of persons desiring to bid. In Maryland there are about 273 routes, contracts for which expire with the end of next June. The bidding, of course, will be open to all, and if the service under existing contractors on any of the routes is not satisfactory the people can easily effect a change.

MARTHA J. THURSHEN, S. L. TOWNSEND, Executors. Attention, G. A. R.

All members of the Grand Army Republic who contemplate attending the Grand Encampment at Washington, Sept. 29, are requested to meet with Crook Post, No. 35, at Sturgis' Hall, on Saturday night, August 27, to make arrangements as to transportation, board, uniforms, etc. Any comrade who may not be able to meet with us on Saturday may communicate with Commander A. G. Sturgis, of Oakland, by letter at an early date.

A Reply to Mr. Johnson's Communication.

To the Editor of The Republican. Please accord me space enough to correct the charge made by Mr. Johnson in a recent letter appearing in your paper, to the effect that Mr. Offutt insisted and demanded that the Vestry should issue an excommunication for the costs in the case of the Vestry of St. Matthew's Parish vs. F. S. Riphins.

The entire transaction was conducted by Mr. Offutt and myself, and I state that Mr. Offutt at no time made any such demand upon me and I feel confident that the delay in the settlement of the costs was entirely due to the fact that he believed Mr. Riphins was making some arrangements to liquidate same.

Yours, W. THOMAS.

Died.

PAYGUL.—On Saturday night, the 8 months old daughter of Allen Pangh, who lives between Deer Park and the Hoopole road. The interment was made on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

LONGBRIDGE.—Isadora M. E. Longbridge died in West Virginia, Aug. 8th, 1892, aged 31 years and five months. She was converted and joined the M. E. church at eleven years old. She led an earnest christian life and was beloved by all that knew her. She leaves a devoted, sorrowing husband, parents and brothers to mourn their loss. Her last hours were calm, and full of peace, saying she would like to live longer, but was resigned to God's will; she had no fear of death; they must not weep for her, but to meet her in Heaven.

Her remains were brought to Maryland for interment.

It Disturbed the Meeting.

Great excitement prevailed in Mt. Lake Park Friday afternoon, caused by a fire on the premises of Dr. McComas, not far from the auditorium. During the ministers' institute, just after Dean Wright had addressed the meeting, and had taken his seat in order to give his hearers an opportunity to express their views on the subject, Miss Jennie Smith arose to make some remarks. While she was talking heads began to bob up, necks to crane, and finally those nearest the outer edge began to lunge out.

Instantly Dean Wright arose saying: "A moment, Miss Jennie, and then called out: "Good brother, will you kindly tell us what is the matter?" The brother merely responded "Fire," whereupon the entire audience immediately and very unceremoniously began to disperse, not seeming to hear the dean's request for the brothers who were needed to go and those who were not and the sisters to please remain. Judging from the crowd on the scene it would seem that everybody was needed, even the good dean, who was upon his arrival pressed into service at the nearest pump. By his masterful efforts the lucked brigade lost not a moment and soon had the fire under control.

Aside from the inconvenience of the family, who are minus a woodshed, the loss is trifling.

In the Narrows of Deep Creek.

Commissioners of Fisheries Browning and Sadler, since they went into office have entertained the opinion that the propagation of trout and kindred varieties of fish ought to be conducted in the waters where the fish live and thrive. Following this idea they have been considering the propriety of erecting a hatching house for trout in some of the mountain streams of this county. When Commissioner Sadler was at Oakland some time ago it was decided to build a lake and hatching establishment at the narrows of Deep Creek. The commissioners think the place selected is the best for the purpose. On the State, Deep Creek is the best trout stream in the mountains of this section. The place where the dam will be constructed is where the stream flows through the mountain, making it necessary to build only about 75 feet of dam to make a lake a mile and a half long.

The dam will be built with stone in the most substantial manner. The lake will be stocked with fine fish and will be open to the people of the State who desire to come there and enjoy themselves. In addition to this, young trout will be furnished to all parts of the State from this establishment. Commissioner Browning began work on the enterprise Tuesday of last week.

Harvest Home Service.

The crowning "Harvest Home" service of the season was held in the M. E. church at Grantsville on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 21. The church was most beautifully decorated with flowers, shrubberies, mottoes, and the rich fruit of the land. The services were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Enlow, assisted by Rev. Zacharias a visiting minister of the German Reformed church.

The theme of the discourse was "The Providence of God."

The decorations and music were in the hands of Mrs. Ella Ryland, Mrs. Emma Broadwater, Misses Ella and Jane Hays, Lattie Ryland, Cora Kight, Messrs. Noah Broadwater, Dr. Leachy, Chas. Beachy, G. E. Kight and others. The music led by Mrs. Emma Broadwater, organist, was first-class.

All engaged in the work deserve great credit. It was generally conceded to be the most happy and most successful effort throughout ever enjoyed in Grantsville.

The pastor complimented the tasty preparation very highly. It was a most enjoyable service to all.

Notice.

All persons, particularly those who make it their calling to clean back premises, and make it a practice to deposit their filth near the stream which is to supply my lake, now constructed, by coming at night and emptying their express and other wagons, will take notice. I do hereby give and publish ten day notice to remove the same as I intend to enforce the law, and I do further warn all persons living near said stream to be careful not to pollute stream or streams of water supplying said lake.

WILLIAM BRODERICK, Oakland, Md., Aug. 10, 1892.

September Forecast.

At the opening of the month a cool wave will make itself felt, attended in northern sections by frost which may even touch places favor its bite. All changes from hot to cool and reverse changes will be sudden. On the evening of the 2nd indications of storm disturbances will be obvious to all observers. A storm wave will be in transit on the 3d and 4th, accompanied by refreshing showers, which, in many localities will be intense and attended by much lightning and thunder, also storms assuming cyclonic proportions in their progress and on the western plains cyclone will most likely enter into the relations of the disturbance and form a part either on the dates mentioned or those touching them.

A cool wave will follow promptly which in turn will be succeeded by a warm wave on or about the 6th, that will expand and advance in temperature on its progress eastward, forming large areas of atmospheric depression, thus preparing the way for the storm king on his ride to the Atlantic.

The disturbed period will embrace from the 6th to 11th, centering on the 8th. General rains attended by many intensified local downpours, hail, excessive storms of wind, cyclones on the western plains and also electrical displays together will form the local and general features of the disturbance which will become manifest in the course of its progress, as local conditions of country, and inherent storm causes combine.

After the passage of this disturbance a cool wave will follow.

A reaction of storms which will be local in their character, will recur and be in transit on the 14th and 15th. A storm wave centres on the 21st which will start on the 18th, beginning with a warm wave will increase in temperature and expand till it spreads over all sections of the country culminating in general storms on sea, lake and land which will be generally accompanied by rain and electricity. Cooler weather will follow up to a reaction of disturbance which will be in progress on the 26th and 27th.

The month will close with a disturbance starting in the west.

C. M. Lavengood, proprietor of the National House, recently purchased a span of matched bay horses of Joel Yutz, of Pocahtontas, Pa.

Harvest Home services were held in the Methodist church the past Sunday, by the pastor, Rev. Enlow, assisted by Rev. Zachariah. The interior of the church was very tastefully decorated with field, garden, and orchard products; flowers and evergreen festooning were also used in decorating. The effect was grand. The choir produced music of a superior order.

Elihu S. Riley, editor of the Annapolis Capital, and family are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Mellinger. Dr. Reed, of Annapolis, is also a guest of Mr. Mellinger's.

The picnic, which was held last Saturday in Bevans' Grove, the proceeds of which are to be for the benefit of the Catholic church, in course of erection, was fairly well attended.

August 23.

Altamont—Delayed.

There is considerable sickness in this section.

Mr. Wm. Rowan, of this place, but who is employed at Thomas, is home on the sick list.

We are sorry to note Mr. Chas. Cassidy, who we reported in last week's issue as being much better, has taken a relapse and is much worse than at first. Dr. Henry McComas was telegraphed for on Sunday and pronounced his case as typhoid fever.

Mrs. Currans was taken seriously ill on Sunday evening but is much better at this time—Wednesday.

Miss Maudie Cassidy, one of Altamont's accomplished young ladies, who has been in Philadelphia the past ten months returned home a few days ago. She will remain about two months and then return to Philadelphia. We are certainly sorry she cannot remain with us as young ladies in this part of the country are very scarce.

Miss Julia Stanton, of Oakland, was the guest of Miss Rosa Carroll the past few days. We understand she is to teach our school the coming winter and think the trustees of this district made a good choice when they employed her, and we feel confident Miss Julia will make an excellent teacher.

There was an ice cream party given at Mr. Rowan's on Sunday evening. Several who were present report a very pleasant time.

A. M. Jefferys was at his home near Tunnelton on Friday of last week.

Miss Mollie Wheeler, of Rowlesburg, who has been spending the summer at Mt. Lake Park, was the guest of her uncle, Mr. Jno. Wheeler, one day last week.

T. N. Jefferys, Cashier of the B. & O. R. R. Co., at Grafton, was visiting his brother, A. M. Jefferys, here on Sunday.

Miss Jessie Wheeler, who has been at Oakland the past two weeks, returned home on Thursday.

Jas. Spiker, who has been sick the past ten days, has returned to work.

Mulligan, who has had about six months vacation, has gone back to his old job on the track.

Corinth W. Va.

We had a very fine run Sunday with some hail.

Mr. Albright has finished his foundation for a fine dwelling and will commence the wood work the coming week. He has purchased four lots more and intends building on all.

Mr. Editor, you will only need to make one more bed and Scott will turn with the sleeping side.

E. B. Fuller and sons have commenced the foundation of the Baptist church. Bids will be let soon for the wood work, the whole to cost $2,000.

Michael Carty, while on the road to church at Oakland with his best girl, by mistake exchanged lines, resulting in a speed out on the road and a smashed buggy-top. Mike, clean the county road of the debris.

Mr. Buchanan, of Berkeley Springs, representing the Southern Building and Loan Association, of Knoxville, Tenn., is here and has completed the organization of a local branch at this place of 44 shares, with the following officers: President, Geo. Sharps; treasurer, S. Thompson; secretary, E. B. Fuller; Directors, G. T. Plummer, Wesley DeBerry, H. Low, George Freeland and C. F. White. Today Mr. B. is organizing a branch at Terra Alta.

Mrs. Evans is now having excavated a cellar and foundation for a very fine cottage. Mrs. Evans is from Cleveland, Ohio. Let the capital come and the good work go on; Cornish is destined to be one of the leading mountain summer resorts and winter resorts for sportsmen.

Billy Gates is now off looking up a large contract of building coke ovens in the southern part of Virginia.

Robert I. Anderson is pushing his mines and ovens lively as there are many cars being pushed in on the switch lately. He is a hustler.

Joe Berry and Jim DeYoung have completed haymaking and Christmas not here. Jesse has quit the ties and gone to work.

MED BEN CLER.

Oak Hill letter was received to late for publication.

Flatwoods

Berry picking is the order of the day.

Weather warm and dry.

Oats harvest is over.

Our Sunday school, in care of William Callis, is prospering finely.

On last Friday and Saturday evenings Rev. Aernathy preached very interesting sermons.

Several of our young folks paid Mr. Henry Feik a very pleasant visit on last Sunday.

Messrs. Wm. Bowman and Cornelius Bowser paid Jacob Pysell a visit on last Friday night.

John Bowman and son are building a bark shed for John Harman. James Berchley contemplates building a new barn.

Miss Ella McGettigan has gone to Martinsburg to work for her brother.

Andrew J. Alexander and Miss Susan M. Beeghley were united in the holy bonds of matrimony July 24th by Rev. David Hostetler. The attendants were Martha McGettigan and Wm. Bowman.

There were several of our young folks (two wagon loads) went huckleberry picking one day last week on Negro Mountain, and returned with a nice lot of berries. They enjoyed their trip very much.

Selbyspoor.

Sunday last we were blessed with a delightful rain. It will take several rains to start pasture to growing.

Eddie Paul, of this place, had his leg broken in two places on the 15th.

Some of our young men who think carrying a revolver makes them feel larger have laid their guns away since the shooting at Friendsville the 13th. This is what all young men should do and take warning and let whiskey and revolvers alone.

Elijah Mayes, of Butternut Ridge, was on our streets the other day.

The M. E. church will hold a festival in Wass' grove in the near future. Proceeds to be used in erecting a belfry.

Messrs. F. S. Newell and E. H. Carter, of Watson, Pa., were here the 23rd.

We fear our school board and trustees are spending too much time in commencing our new school house.

W. H. Riley, of Blooming Rose, is putting up the stone wall for the belfry at the M. E. church.

Thos. B. Welch, the noted Democrat of Dist. No. 2, was spending Monday in Selbyspoor among his many friends.

Rev. D. K. Ford, of Watson, paid our city a visit the 29th.

The Steel Fishing Club, of Alleghany City, Pa., arrived at our station the 2nd. They expect to stay for two weeks.

Republican boys, do not fail to buy your Harrison and Read caps at Jonas France's for 10 cents.

Geo. W. France, one of our year by farmers, is on the sick list.

Messrs. Henry Friend and Geo. W. Dunham have been hired to track our school the coming winter.

There's No Use Talking.

When you want a good suit of clothes of the latest and noblest pattern and best fit at reasonable rates call on John H. Purnell, Snodgrass building. I respectfully call the attention of the citizens of Garrett county to my cleaning department. All kinds of clothing cleaned, pressed and made to look like new. Work done on the shortest notice and guaranteed. Send in your clothing.

Respectfully
JOHN H. PURNELL.

Reunion of Old Sailors and Soldiers.

Two coming important events of interest to sailors and soldiers of the late war will be the reunion of the Naval Veterans at Baltimore, September 15th to 19th, and the Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Washington, commencing September 20th immediately after the Sailor's reunion. Interest in the reunion will be heightened by the presence of the White Squadron in the harbor of Baltimore. The G. A. R. Encampment will be the occasion of the greatest military assemblage in Washington since the Grand Review of 1863, following the fall of Richmond. For both of these events the B. & O. Railroad will sell tickets at greatly reduced rates and will grant most liberal concessions in the way of stop-over privileges. Tickets will be sold from Sep. 13th to 20th, inclusive, valid for return journey until October 10th, and will be good to stop off going or returning, at all stations between Cumberland and Baltimore—a region rendered familiar to all veterans by the constant warfare along the Potomac.

JAMES G. FIELD.

General James G. Field the Third party's candidate for Vice President, a noted Southern Baptist, was born in Walnut, Culpepper Co., Va., on February 24, 1826. He traces his ancestry back to the Fields from whom are descended the four famous brothers David Dudley, etc. He was one of the Secretaries that framed the first constitution of the State, but returned to Virginia in the same year and in 1852 was admitted to the bar. During the war he held the rank of Brigadier-General in the Confederate army and has always been an inveterate Southerner. Lately he has been one of the leading Alliance men.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has rescued many from chronic blood diseases. Try a few bottles.

THE REPUBLICAN from now until after the campaign for only 25 cents, cash in advance.

Our genial friend, Louis H. Karn, has been seriously ill for a week or two, with a severe attack of hay fever and asthma.

The weather is now perfectly charming and makes this the most delightful season of the year in this mountain latitude.

We call attention to the advertisement of C. M. Beachy, Esq., of Keyser, Md., which will be found in another column.

Wm. Kahl's new house, which is being built on a lot recently purchased by him of Mr. J. R. Bishop is nearly completed.

A disease, resembling, to some extent, the grip, has made its appearance in Oakland and claimed a great many victims.

Rev. Henry Carrington Alexander, D. D., will preach in Garrett Memorial church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Dr. J. Lee McComas has almost entirely recovered from the injuries he received last week by a dog biting him on the hand.

We present this week a picture of the proposed Lutheran church which is to be built on the corner of Third and Alder streets.

Don't forget that at THE REPUBLICAN office you can get printing as cheap and as neat as in any printing office in the State.

Grasshoppers are more plentiful this year than usual. They are not only eating up the grass, but in some places are even injuring the corn.

Capt. J. M. Jarboe and his force of men have erected a new fence around the Garrett Memorial church lot, which is quite a decided improvement over the old one.

The Rev. Dr. J. G. Butler, Chaplain of the U. S. Senate, will be the speaker on the occasion of the corner stone laying of the new Lutheran church on Wednesday, Sept. 14.

Dr. A. L. Wagner has located in Oakland and will practice both in town or country. Calls promptly answered either day or night. Office, one door west of St. Paul's M. E. church. 8-lyr

WANTED—A live man to represent us in Garrett county for the best Bed Spring made.

Address: EXCELSIOR BED SPRING CO., 311 Smiths Whf., Baltimore, Md.

The police of Annapolis are killing the dogs of that city who go about the streets howling and barking at night. What a noisy man Policeman Martin would be if similar tactics were pursued in Oakland.

On several occasions lately freight cars have been broken open and good extracted therefrom on trains on the 17 mile grade. Detective Riordan, of the B. & O. force was here last week working up clues to the guilty parties.

Rev. Wm. L. Leisher conducted preaching service at Sunshine on Sunday. In all probability a regular appointment will be made at the above place in a short time as the reverend gentleman is meeting with considerable encouragement.

Crook Post, No. 35, G. A. R., will charter a sleeping car in which they will go to Washington on the 19th inst. to attend the grand encampment of the Union forces. The post will use the car as their headquarters while they are in the city.

The hotels at Deer Park and Oakland will be kept open until late in September at which time the Baltimore and Ohio are under contract to entertain four or five thousand of the members of the G. A. R. en route to the coming Grand Reunion at Washington city.

The stockholders of the Oakland Electric Light and Power Company held their annual election of officers for the ensuing year at Sturgis' Hall last Thursday. Mr. D. E. Offutt was elected president, Dr. J. Lee McComas, vice president and S. T. Jones, sec'y.

We do not object to persons calling in to have a friendly chat with us, but we certainly do object to their coming in and spending an hour or two talking insane nonsense to our workmen whom we pay to perform the work laid out for them to do. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Quarterly meeting service will be held at St. Paul's M. E. church, beginning on next Saturday evening at 7:45, with sacrament of the Lord's supper on Sunday morning. Rev. H. W. Jones, of Thomas, Va., will fill the pulpit in the absence of the presiding elder.

The ladies engaged in the very successful lawn fete, held in Mrs. Carter's grounds, desire to return their thanks to the public for the generous support given them and especially to Messrs. D. E. Offutt and John Shartz, who kindly loaned many needed articles.

The members of the Oakland M. E. church, who are holding a conference called to assemble on Sept. 11, after morning preaching, for the adoption of a constitution and to petition to the courts of Garrett county for articles of incorporation.

WM. L. LEISHER, Pastor.

We understand that Mrs. Adeline Duval Mack intends giving a dramatic reading and recitation at Deer Park hotel next Wednesday evening. Mrs. Mack has had a school of Elocution in Washington for some years, and as a reader is highly spoken of and well endorsed by the press.

According to our exchanges several farmers have been swindled by sharpers who propose to leave a piano every six miles, which the farmer is to exhibit and have $100 on each thus sold. The paper he signs turns out to be an agreement to pay $150 for the instrument. Don't sign any agreement with a stranger.

S. D. Yoder, Grantsville, Garrett county Md., Chestnut Grove Stock Farm, situated 2 1/2 miles Northwest of Grantsville, breeder of thoroughbred short-horn Durham cattle and high grade Oxford sheep, has for sale five yearling rams and eleven ram lambs at prices to suit the times. Send for circular and price list before buying elsewhere. 27-3t

Never deliberately give a newspaper man a misleading or incorrect item of news. He has no desire to deceive the readers of his paper any more than you have to deceive a business man in a business transaction. His reputation for veracity is a large proportion of his capital, and what may seem to you a good joke may prove a costly blunder to him. If you have news give it to him fairly and truly.—Mountville Echo.

A statement made at the Treasury Department shows that there have been filed 6,733 applications for license of sugar producers during the fiscal year 1893 under the law paying a bounty for its production. They were made up as follows: Cane sugar, 649; beet, 6; sorghum, 2; and maple, 6,196. Last year the applications aggregated 4,980. The increase in the number of applications is in those for producing maple sugar.

Arthur Nethkin, son of Chas. O. Nethkin, met with a very painful accident Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock. He is employed by Jesse Ashby as a log chopper near Sunshine and while at work in the woods a log rolled on his left foot crushing and mashing it in a very painful manner. Medical aid was summoned and the wound dressed. It will be some time before he will be able to use his foot again.

On Thursday afternoon a watch, which was enclosed in a glass jar on the counter in R. S. Jamison's store, was stolen. It is alleged, by a youth of 17 named Christian H. Nine, of Bodamer's. About 8 o'clock Nine was arrested by Policeman Martin and taken to jail. He was given a hearing on Friday afternoon by Justice King, who remanded the young man to jail to await the action of the grand jury, which body, no doubt will find an indictment against him as the watch was found in his possession at the time of the arrest.

Hon. Lloyd Lowndes and his brother Richard, of Clarksburg, W. Va., left Tuesday on Baltimore and Ohio train No. 6 for New York, where they took the City of Paris for Liverpool. The itinerary of their continental trip is not complete, but after a month's sojourn on the other side for the benefit of Mr. Richard Lowndes' health, they will return, accompanied by Mrs. J. P. Roman and daughters.

Dr. R. B. L. Trippett, a very prominent physician of Kingwood, W. Va., while in a state of mental aberration, Sunday morning about 10 o'clock, swallowed two ounces of laudanum from the effects of which he died at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Dr. Trippett was a member of the pension examining board of Preston county. He was a great personal friend of the editor of this paper which makes his death all the more sad. May he rest in peace.

Few people have any adequate conception of how many young folks of school age there are in the United States. Taking the school age to be from five to twenty years inclusive, there are in the United States of school age 22,500,000 young folks, or exactly 23,447,392. That is the number there were in 1890, when the last census was taken. It has taken the census bureau over two years to count them all—a great task—and information was given to the public this week for the first time. Our school population has increased over 4,000,000 in the decade from 1880 to 1890, exactly 4,127,562. That is at the rate of over 400,000 increase every year. At that rate our school population now is more than 800,000 greater than it was in 1890, when the census was taken, or about 23,300,000. Have you any idea, or mental picture, of how many young people that is? Put them into position two by two, and allow five feet space between. Such a procession would not only stretch clear across the continent from New York to San Francisco, but clear across the Pacific ocean, so that when the head of the procession would be passing up Broadway, New York, interior of China over 11,000 miles away. In less than half a century, if we keep on growing as fast as we have been growing for the last half century, such a procession of the young folks of the United States of school age would stretch clear around the earth, and the two ends would make a good lap besides.—Clarksburg Enquirer.

Dentistry. Dr. J. L. Ritter will be at Accident, Sept. 13 and 14; Johnstown, Sept. 15; Sang Run, Sept. 16. Teeth extracted without pain. 27-3

EVANS—GOOD.—On August 22, by the Rev. Geo. W. Kepler, Albert A. Rogers and Ida M. Good, both of West Virginia.

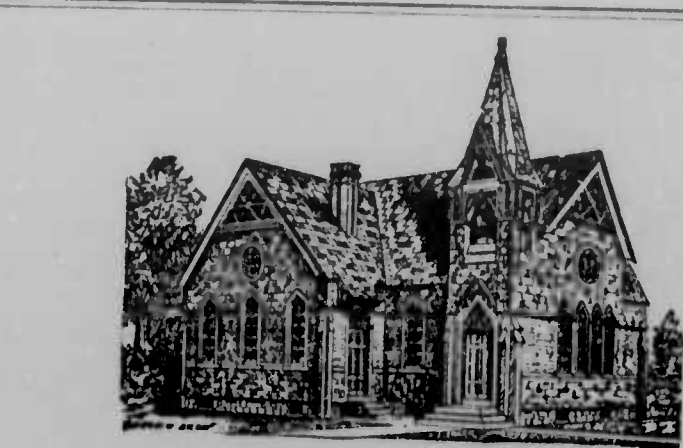

The B. of R. T's Picnic. On last Thursday the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen gave their annual picnic in Oakland.

The weather was very disagreeable throughout the entire day which had a tendency to make the large crowd present wish for home or some place where the rain could not get at them.

The special trains from the east and west both arrived here about 10 o'clock which brought several hundred persons, who soon scattered all over town—some going to the different hotels or eating houses. The majority, however, went to the picnic grounds just west of the Washington spring where an elegant dancing platform had been erected for the occasion. Here the bright faces of the merry people beamed through the falling rain-drops anticipating the pleasures of the dance when the rain ceased falling which it did for a few moments at intervals.

At night Offutt's Hall was secured by the managers of the picnic and the dance continued there until the trains left at 10 p. m.

The members of the Brotherhood conducted themselves in a very orderly and gentlemanly manner while they were here which encouraged the people of Oakland to ask them to return, promising a brighter day for their next annual picnic.

The Proposed New Lutheran Church.

The Proposed New Lutheran Church at Oakland.

The plan finally adopted by the building committee of the Oakland Ev. Lutheran church requires the use of the whole of the vacant ground on the corner of Third and Alder streets. The general plan will be that of an L, with the longer section running north and south and a 75 ft. tower at the northeast corner of the same with a pulpit recess at the south. The short section will contain the Sunday school room and be so constructed with the main audience room as to easily be made one. The exterior frame will be covered with veneered brick and the roof slate.

The estimated cost, furnished, is placed at $1,500. Contributions are solicited and gratefully received at any time, but all that are subscribed on or before corner-stone laying (Sept. 11) will be recorded and the list deposited in the stone.

VETO GROVER.

[Written for The Republican.] Old Cleveland went to Washington, Reminds me of old Grover, And just to show what Cleveland did I write this little song, etc. Begged to return our captured flags, For which our fathers died, etc. But when he had to call them back, Old Grover sat down and cried, etc. Old Grover just to show his way—He bought a fine and look, etc. And then on Decoration Day Went riding in the brook, etc. Now, since the Democrats have the gall, This summer to begin it, Well show them once and for all, Since he is the Democrats' nominee The Republicans are in clover, For well they know that they can beat Old swell-head, veto Grover. The Swanton Tract Sold.

The immense "Swanton" tract of land, containing over 30,000 acres and extending from near Altamont on the B. & O. railroad, to within a few miles of the old National road, a distance of 30 miles, has been sold by its owner, Gen. Joseph R. Anderson, of Richmond, Va. The sale was consummated in the Dexter building, Philadelphia, August 24, and the new owners of this princely estate are Meyerlet M. Armstrong, of Pennsylvania and Adolph Segal, a native of Russia, but for twelve years past doing business in America.

Gen. Anderson began to acquire the ownership of this property as far back as 1863, purchasing at that time of his near relative, Hon. Francis Thomas, and the Montevue Mining and Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Charles M. Miller, of Swanton, has for many years been the resident agent for the sale of this land and by his uniform courtesy and good conduct in that position and as a citizen interested in the prosperity and improvement of our people, has won hosts of friends in this county, who will wish him success in any other vocation that he may enter, in case his connection with this estate shall be terminated by the recent transfer.

For Sale at Mt. Lake Park. House and lot, a No. 1 milk cow, one blooded heifer calf 4 months old. Apply to E. P. Arnold at the above place. 27-3t

Reunion of Old Sailors and Soldiers.

Two coming important events of interest to sailors and soldiers of the late war will be the reunion of the Naval Veterans at Baltimore, September 15th to 19th, and the Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Washington, commencing September 20th immediately after the Sailor's reunion. Interest in the reunion will be heightened by the presence of the White Squadron in the harbor of Baltimore. The G. A. R.
Encampment will be the occasion of the greatest military assemblage in Washington since the Grand Review of 1865, following the fall of Richmond. For both of these events the B. & O. Railroad will sell tickets at greatly reduced rates and will grant most liberal concessions in the way of stop-over privileges. Tickets will be sold from Sept. 13th to 20th, inclusive, valid for return journey until October 10th, and will be good to stop off going or returning, at all stations between Cumberland and Baltimore—a region rendered familiar to all veterans by the constant warfare along the Potomac. 2t

C. A. Max Wiehle vs. David S. Jones and
No. 579 Equity in the Circuit Court for Gar-ret County.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of this Court annulling and setting aside a deed from the defendant, Daniel S. Jones, to his wife, Elizabeth O. Jones, conveying to her certain lands in Garrett County, Md., and directing them to be sold by a trustee to satisfy a debt of the plaintiff.

The bill states that on the 6th day of April, 1881, the plaintiff recovered a judgment in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for the sum of $3,000 against Daniel S. Jones. The sum was made on the same by execution, but the balance and the interest thereon and costs remain still unpaid; that at that time Daniel S.
Jones was seized in fee of certain tracts of land described in the bill of complaint lying in Garrett County, Md.; and that on the 15th day of July, 1880, said Jones conveyed the same and all his land in Garrett County to his said wife, Elizabeth O. Jones, for a pretended consideration; that said deed was fraudulent as against the creditors of said Jones, and not made for a bona fide consideration; that said Jones was insolvent at the time and said deed was made to defraud the plaintiff and defendants other creditors of said Jones, and that said defendants are of age and reside in Pennsylvania.

The bill then prays for an order of publication against the defendants for a decree setting aside said deed and directing said lands to be sold and for general relief.
It is therefore, this 18 day of August, 1892
by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Md., sitting as a court of equity, ordered that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper printed in Oakland Md., once a week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of September, 1892, give notice to said defendant, defendants of the object of this suit and causing them to appear in this court on or before the 15th day of October, 1892, and show cause if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

True copy—Test: D. W. HOFFMAN, Clerk.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLES.

As the result of five years' laborious and persistent research, I have compiled into permanent record book abstracts of all the completed titles in the counties of Allegany and Washington, and all the land in the county of Allegany. These are the only books of the kind in existence.

I also have for sale, on easy terms, good titles to upwards of thirty acre lots, distributed through every district in Garrett County.
Most of these lots are underlaid with coal, etc., and covered with valuable timber.

pointed by Cleveland says the returns from 600 manufacturers in New York state show that the McKinley bill has increased the wages of the workmen, and further says: "I rather expected any report would cause some comment, but it is all nonsense to call it a political document. I started this inquiry in December, 1890, so you see there was no thought of the present campaign in laying out the work. The tariff question was taken up because it has come to be one of great moment to working men, in whose interest my bureau was established. Now, I am Democrat—a Hill Democrat if you will—and I began this inquiry thinking the result would vindicate the Democratic tariff position. The first returns came from the silk industry and were pleasant to my way of thinking. But I am free to admit that the report on the whole is not in harmony with the Democratic platform so far as the tariff is concerned. However my duty as a state official is to report things as I find them, not as a reckless partisan should like to have them construed. There is no political bias about any of my reports, nor do I believe there is in any of the reports of any labor bureau in the country. All I can say is that the statements of my report are based on actual confidential letters, received from 6,000 representative wholesale manufacturers of New York state. The result shows me that the leading Democratic speakers on the tariff are in error as to the effects of the McKinley bill. The figures in my report speak for themselves, and there is no getting away from them."

Some weeks ago a Democratic meeting was held at Kensington, Montgomery county, at which Mr. McKim formally opened the campaign in his own behalf in this district.

James F. Brown, a member of the Democratic Central Committee for the District of Columbia, was also there and gave his political views an airing. In the course of his remarks he indulged in some remarks about the old Union soldier, but he was not in the least known and respected everywhere as the Grand Army of the Republic. Not until last Saturday were we made aware of the language Mr. Brown used in his speech, when the Montgomery Press was picked up by us and in it we found the following, which is couched for as truth by two reputable gentlemen who were present at the meeting:

"The Republican party and the Harrison administration are responsible for every dollar that is paid those who played soldier thirty years ago and who still pride themselves on their work at that time. The Grand Army is a dangerous and corrupt political organization, always ready to defend with its sword the unconstitutional and un-American work of the party that feed them."

"These mercenary warriors, these pension soldiers, these pensioners around the leaders of the Harrison party I understand as well as to be housed and fed in Washington City. They are to be entertained upon a large sum of money which they and the Republican members in the Senate 'dribbled' through Congress."

"The parks and public squares are also to be reserved for these defenders of the negro, whose vote is always for sale wherever he resides, and the respectable people are asked to open their own homes to them."

"In the Capitol of the nation these men are to hold high carnival at the expense of you and me and others, whose constitutional rights they abridged. It was created by the Republican party, and as in the past is still utilized for further schemes of that corrupt organization."

Evidently Mr. Brown is still very young in politics, or, if not young, he has had a very poor tutor in the political school.

Generally the Democratic orator fights shy of the G. A. R. when they are on the public stump, but in this case Mr. Brown was incautiously permitted to speak the truth as to the real sentiments of the party of which he is a disciple in regard to the defenders of this great and glorious nation.

The leaders of the Democracy fully agree with Mr. Brown but their outrage and experience has taught them not to be so imprudent as to give utterance to their convictions.

The question naturally arises, as Mr. McKim of the same opinion as Mr. Brown? If he is not then the words of a father don't flock to either.

will naturally wonder why he should require so many more words to as colleagues, whose lives have been spent in public service. We will him be the historian of his own distinguished public career.

As a man's ancestry is of vital importance to the official record, it is not surprising that he should be so anxious to have his life recorded in the public schools of his country, until he was nearly 100 years of age. His birth and education appear to have been the most public events in his history

thus far.

The only accident of this eventful

The following named gentlemen of Dist. No. 2 are here this week attending court: Jonas Frazee, E. J. Stuck, E. J. Frantz, Rudolph Pannett, W. L. Dunham, J. R. Stuck, W. L. Griffith and Judson Frazee, of Selbysport; Jerry Liston, Garrett V. Dixon, Austen Custer, Bud Custer, Jasper Guard, Wm. Brown, John Brown, G. D. Frantz and Henry Brown, of Friendsville.

C. H. Tillson, who is one of the grand jurymen at this term of the court made us a friendly call Monday afternoon.

Jonas Frazee and Ed. J. Stuck, of Selbysport, were in Oakland this week attending court.

P. J. Bonchier returned from a business trip east Saturday evening.

Col. C. J. Holt, of Decatur, Ill., who lectured here on temperance for a number of evenings, left for the east Friday night.

E. J. Frantz, of Selbysport, is here attending court this week.

Samuel Baker, of Grantsville, was in to see us Monday afternoon. Mr. Baker informed us that he expects to go to Virginia the latter part of this month.

Chas. Newman has sold his interest in the Terra Alta Oracle to G. A. Bolden and returned to Oakland. Mr. Newman will begin work in this office next Monday.

Miss Nettie Beck, of Piedmont, has returned to Oakland.

Win. Newman departed from Oakland last Friday evening for Cincinnati, O., where he will remain during the winter.

Rev. E. J. Hitchcock, of New Jersey, is visiting at E. H. Sincell's.

Among the Cumberland lawyers attending court here we have noted Messrs. Jacob Brown, Benj. A. Richmond and R. J. Semmes.

Misses Lucinda Hinebaugh and Marion Leary have gone to Hagerstown to enter Kee Mar college.

Mrs. S. T. Davis has returned from a visit to friends in Somerset, Pa.

The editor of this paper departed for Wheeling this morning (Thursday) where he will attend the wedding of his brother this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Chas. H. Knapp, C. M. Reich of this place, and Daniel Dorsey, of Grantsville, left Tuesday evening for St. Vincent College, Westmoreland county. The boys will again get down to hard study, after enjoying their few short months of summer vacation.—Meyersdale Commercial.

J. L. Richter, Esq., of Accident, was one of THE REPUBLICAN's callers on Thursday morning.

Mahlon Schooley, Esq., of Deer Park, and Jacob Stuck, of Selbysport, were in to see THE REPUBLICAN Monday morning.

Mr. Chas. E. Tasker, of near Sehell, was in town Saturday and made us an agreeable call.

Geo. Buckle and J. W. Skiles, of Accident, were our first callers on Monday morning.

While hunting in this county a few days ago, James H. Brooks, of McKeesport, Pa., stumbled upon a cave containing a counterfeiter's outfit and spurious coin. One piece bore the date of 1827. The outfit is supposed to have been the property of the famous counterfeiter, Robert Glover, who figured in the county a number of years back.

George Dixon, one of the recent pugilists at New Orleans, and a number of his friends and backers passed through this city in the private sleeper "Helicon" Sunday night on train No. 4. Among the party were Jack F. Bourke, Dixon's manager; M. J. Bradley, of Lawrence, Mass., one of his backers; and Jack Haylen, his second, and a number of lesser lights. Dixon was en route for Boston, Mass.

The public schools of Cumberland and Allegany county opened Monday with a good attendance. At Union street high school, in Cumberland, 478 pupils enrolled. At Centre street school there was an attendance of 327 pupils. In three smaller schools the total number of scholars amounted to 293. A number of scholars were refused enrollment because they were not vaccinated.

Burglars entered the saloon of J. L. Martin, in South Cumberland, Sunday night and carried a 500-pound safe out of the back door to a secluded place along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. There the safe was blown open by means of powder and fuse and about $100 secured. The robbers also stole six boxes of fine cigars and some valuable wine. There is no clue to the thieves.

The Dolgeville Herald gives the following receipt for doing up a place: Knife every man that disagrees with you on the best method of increasing business or advancing the interest of the town; refuse to unite in any scheme for the betterment or the material interest of the people, unless it is of your own origin; keep every cent you get, and don't do anything of a public nature unless you can make something out of it directly; don't advertise in home papers but buy a rubber stamp and use it.

This month the new postal money order will go into use. The system is such that there is little or no complication, and at the same time it is a good way to send money. A sheet calling for amounts from one cent to $3 has been prepared, and which on payment of one cent and the amount to be sent, will be torn off about the same as the express order. There will be no writing on it by the postmaster, the sender endorsing it as a check or draft. The government guarantees its safe transportation. It is thought that the system will be used extensively by senders of small amounts.

Gov. Brown has received a letter from F. A. Schultz, of New York, asking permission for a German band to pass through Maryland with side arms. The letter is as follows: "Your excellency is respectfully requested to grant permission to the music band of the Kurassier Regiment of Seidlitz Madgeburg No. 7, of the Imperial German army, to enter the State of Maryland with side arms and in uniform." The music corps is coming to the United States to give a series of concerts. They are classed by the Treasury Department as artists, and there will be nothing in the way to pass them without arms. The governor says he will give the desired permission provided the band does not come into the State infected with the cholera.

Read THE REPUBLICAN.

Printers will no longer have to compete with the government in the stamped and printed envelope business. A bill making it unlawful for the government to furnish envelopes of this description has passed Congress, and the business will therefore be discontinued. It was a scheme that took hundreds of dollars out of the pockets of the printers of the land, and should have been repealed long ago.

The new state lake at Deep Creek narrows will be closed up to-day (Thursday). We acknowledge an invitation from Commissioner Browning to be present at the occasion, but regret that it is impossible for us to be there. The commissioner says the back or dead water will extend probably a mile above the dam. The hatching house will be built as soon as possible which will be about 25x40 feet.

Dentistry. Dr. J. L. Ritter will be at Accident, Sept. 13 and 14; Johnstown, Sept. 15; Sang Run, Sept. 16. Teeth extracted without pain. 27-3

For Sale at Mt. Lake Park. House and lot, a No. 1 milch cow, one blooded heifer calf 4 months old. Apply to F. P. Arnold at the above place. 27-31

Law Books for Sale. Will sell the Law Library of the late Wm. P. Townshend, of Oakland, at private sale, in part or as a whole, on reasonable terms, the purchaser or purchasers giving note with approved security. A rare chance for young lawyers needing a library. MARTHA J. TOWNSHEND, S. L. TOWNSHEND, 38 tf

There's No Use Talking. When you want a good suit of clothes of the latest and noblest pattern and best fit at reasonable rates call on John H. Purnell, Smouse building. I respectfully call the attention of the citizens of Garrett county to my cleaning department. All kinds of clothing cleaned, pressed and made to look like new. Work done on the shortest notice and guaranteed. Send in your clothing. Respectfully JOHN H. PURNELL.

Notice. All persons, particularly those who make it their calling to clean back premises, and make it a practice to deposit their filth near the stream which is to supply my lake, now constructed, by coming at night and emptying their express and other wagons, will take notice. I do hereby give said parties ten day notice to remove the same as I intend to enforce the law, and I do further warn all persons living near said stream to be careful not to pollute stream or streams of water supplying said lake. WILLIAM BRODERICK, Oakland, Md., Aug. 19, 1892.

Circuit Court. The September term of the Circuit Court for this county convened at the court house in Oakland Monday morning with Chief Judge R. H. Alvey on the bench. The grand jury was empaneled with D. E. Offutt, Esq., as foreman. The judge then made a short but very explicit address to the jurors, charging them as to the duties of their position, and they retired to the grand jury room to commence examining the witnesses that had been summoned.

The docket was then called over and court adjourned until Tuesday at nine o'clock. The petit jury is composed of the following named gentlemen: William H. Hall, John H. Riley, Andrew J. Lancaster, Abel A. Dewitt, John F. Robeson, James W. Skiles, Mahlon Schooley, George C. Mosser, Henry Beckman, Bryson Welch, George T. Porter, William Englehart, Daniel E. Beckman, Norman Barnard, John A. Jenkins, Elijah Kemp, Thomas R. McRobie, Henry Winterberg, Marshall M. Ashby, George Shartzer, Dorsey L. Ashby, Thomas I. Crow, Horace R. Dewitt, Benjamin Davis, Henry Platter.

The full proceedings of the court will be given to our readers next week.

HON. GEO. L. WELLINGTON, our candidate for Congress, will speak at Swanton on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Republicans turn out and give the standard bearer for this district a grand reception. Everybody, especially the ladies, are invited to attend and hear this eloquent speaker.

A New Court House Recommended.

In his charge to the grand jury on Monday Judge Alvey called the attention of that body to the fact that the law makes it the duty of the court to examine the records and the manner in which they are kept by the clerks of courts. He said: "I discharged the duty imposed upon the court this morning and I call your attention to the inadequate capacity of the vault for the public records. The vault is small and is now full. The clerk has no place for the records as they accumulate. All your muniments of titles are in danger of loss or injury. Indeed, I have no doubt but that a new court-house ought to be built. I do not, however, propose to do more than suggest to you that some steps should be taken for the protection of your records. It will be your duty when you have finished your work to make out a written report, and in that report you should make such suggestions as you think proper, either looking to the building of a new court-house or putting an addition to the present building, so that the public interests can be subserved. It would probably be done in the matter of economy to build a new court-house in a proper location. Whatever you think should be done in the matter should be embodied in your report."

Died. WOLF.—On Monday afternoon, Sept. 12 at her home about 4 miles west of town, of consumption, Corinda Wolf, daughter of Mrs. Jane Wolf, and the late Simon Wolf.

BITTINGER.—Lowly, son of Newton and Martha Bittinger, was born August 29th, 1891, and died September 7th, 1892, aged one year and 9 days.

"Tis hard to break the tender cord When I have lost the heart; 'Tis hard, so hard to speak the words, Must we forever part? The first loved one, we have lost to thee, In the peace of grave's embrace; But thy memory will be cherished Till we see thy heavenly face.

Married. SHOPE—SUTER.—On September 11, 1892 at the residence of Ulysses Frazee, Selbysport, by Rev. J. R. Brown, Benj. Franklin Shope to Miss Bertie Suter.

Improve our Roads. The special article in yesterday's News on the subject of road improvement is worthy of very careful consideration by the people of Maryland. For in no respect is Maryland more backward than in her roads, and on nothing does the industrial prosperity of an agricultural State like ours depend so much as on the excellence of its highways.

The experience of Union county, New Jersey, teaches us a valuable lesson, and one we should not be slow to profit by if Maryland is to maintain her place among the progressive States of America. That county has become in late years one of the most prosperous in the country, owing to the enlightened position it has assumed upon the road question.

Two years ago its roads were in the same deplorable condition as those of Maryland to-day, but its citizens, with rare courage and foresight, authorized the expenditure of $350,000 in their improvement, and to-day the county tax-rate is lower than it was before the debt was contracted.

Real estate values have vastly increased, and even at the advanced prices property which formerly was unsalable finds a ready market.

There is no doubt that the same degree of enterprise in this State would be followed by the same happy results. The farmers and landholders of the State should thoughtfully consider it and give it a fair trial. Once its results are appreciated, good roads will become as universal in this State as bad ones are now.—Balto. News.

From Florida.

Will you please be kind enough to give me a little room in your dear old REFR. for a few words. As my husband is anticipating a visit to Washington, D. C., to attend the G. A. R. encampment with the "old boys" we thought it would not be out of place to speak of his going through your paper, as many of its readers are acquainted with him, and some of them may and will, no doubt, go to Washington also, and it will be very pleasant to meet any of his old friends and parishioners who may desire to find him. Mr. S. is now enjoying a little spell of "chill and fever," but I hope to get him over it in time. He has been working to hard and has overdone himself as he often does, but has become so broken down and seems so feeble, that I fear he will not be able to work much longer unless he takes it more moderately, but his way, is work as hard as he can go it from early dawn till late dark, but he has had to "let a little up," as he can't stand it these days.

We would be glad to see any of our Northern friends come to Florida. Call around and make our home yours. We have a very pretty little place and home, and in a very pleasant and desirable community, church and school close by. We have very good roads for driving—a most beautiful and lovely drive between us and the town of Ft. White seven miles. I often drive there and it always reminds me of dear old Maryland, the only place in Florida where I have seen so much stone, or rock as they are called here. It is here you will find fences built of stone, and land quite hilly, this seems like old Maryland and Pennsylvania to me and I enjoy it most highly.

We would like to get a good "cobble" too, into our midst. A good one could make money as none are nearer than seven miles, and not very satisfactory at that. Mr. Shoup has some tools and does little mending and half soles our own shoes and some for others. He could have plenty of it to do, but too much other work. This reminds me of one of the little "Cracker boys" who said we were "Yankees," and our children asking why he called us "Yanks" he said he knew it because "their Pa could sole shoes," a funny idea, but no doubt he had heard said that old saying "It's a Yankee trick."

We are having an abundance of rain, crops are generally very fair. We welcome any of our old Garrett county friends to our own little Florida home. More some other time if the Editor will permit.

Yours most sincerely,
Mrs. J. B. SHOUR.

Mountain Lake Park.—Delayed.
This has been the most successful season the Park has enjoyed. Crowds of people have visited our city of the woods, filling the hotels to overflowing, and private residences had to open their doors to accommodate the demand of the public. Hundreds of persons did not come to the Park because of notice that they could not be accommodated.

The improvements made in new buildings and remodeling cottages reached about $18,000. It is expected that $40,000 will be spent within the next year. The addition to the hotel will cost $10,000, and its furnishings $3,000 more.

The hotels are all open and expect to remain open, at least until Oct. 1st.

Workmen are busy excavating dirt for the new hotel foundation. The lumber will arrive this week. J. M. Jarboe is superintendent of building.

Spalden & Bolden, of Oakland, have a contract to enlarge the Allen Cottage and are preparing to go to work in a day or two.

Several buildings are to be enlarged and as many more painted. It is expected that at least six new houses will be erected within the next year.

Supt. Rudisill has had the grass in the several glades cut, and the undergrowth of the Park mowed down. The Park presents an attractive appearance.

The Southern Methodist Sunday school, of Piedmont enjoyed a picnic at the Park one day last week.

Accident.

The picnic which was held here last Saturday by the Accident band, was quite a success. The festival in the evening was largely attended and enjoyed by all.

Mr. John McCullough, leader of the Addison band, spent last week here and assisted our boys in furnishing music for the picnic.

Among the many visitors in our town last we noticed Miss Maud Turney and Mrs. Jeffreys, of Addison, Pa., Mr. Henry K. Friend, Miss Lou D. Friend and Miss Crist, of Friendsville, Misses Ada and May, and Messrs Bert and Joe Swanger, of New Germany, Mr. Harry Glottelty of Ohio Pyle, Pa., and Misses Lucretia and Ida Warnick, of New Germany.

The Friendsville band was present at our picnic on Saturday, and furnished us some excellent music.

Misses Virgie Hinkel and Ella Turney and Messrs E. H. and W. T. McMillan attended the wedding in New Germany last week.

Mr. Godfrey Fox, an aged patriarch of this community, passed from this life to his rest beyond last Monday, Sept. 5, and was buried on Wednesday, Rev. G. A. Royer officiating. Mr. Fox was eighty three years old, and has been blind for a number of years.

Mr. Russell Boyer was thrown from a horse and had his head very badly cut. Dr. R. A. Ravenscroft rendered his service and we are glad to state he is rapidly improving.

Miss Orley Dunham, of Oakland, is visiting friends here.

Messrs Eli McMillan and Adam Garinger are attending court at Oakland this week.

Mr. Lochner, of Lonaconing, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Wm. Garinger.

More Figures from New York.

Another public report comes from New York, ably supplementing the figures recently given out by Commissioner Peck. Like those of the Labor Commissioner, the figures of State Board of Equalization come from Democratic sources, but they show that great prosperity has attended the Empire State under the operation of the McKinley tariff, and under a Republican National Administration.

The Board of Assessors reports that in 1890 the assessed value of real estate was $3,397,334,679 and that in 1891 it was $3,326,645,815, an increase of $129,411,136.

The assessment of personal property amounted to $382,159,067 and in 1891 to $405,092,685, an increase of the assessment of real and personal property in 1891, as compared with 1890, of $152,347,753. Charles M. Preston, Superintendent of the Banking Department, disclosed in his semi-annual report that the workmen increased their deposits in the savings banks $10,000,000 in the first six months of this year, and $90,000,000 since President Harrison was inaugurated.

The State Board of Equalization, through which these figures are made public, is composed wholly of Democrats, among them being the Secretary of the Commonwealth, Attorney General, Treasurer, Controller, the Speaker of the Assembly and the Lieutenant-Governor.

On the whole, the Democratic officers of New York are managing to furnish some weighty ammunition to their Republican opponents.

Old Sailors and Soldiers.

The thousands of sailors and soldiers who participated in the late war feel an inspiring interest in the meeting of the Naval and Veterans' Association at Baltimore, September 10th to 15th, and in the National Encampment Grand Army of the Republic at Washington, D. C., commencing Sept. 20th. They will be the most extensive and most distinguished military gatherings in America since the close of the war, and as the G. A. R. Encampment so closely follows the naval meeting, an opportunity will be afforded for old sailors and old soldiers to participate in the festivities on each occasion. The scene of each gathering will be fraught with a thousand memories of the war—of deeds of valor and heroism, of victories and of the loss of loved ones.

The President, his cabinet and other distinguished personages will review the Grand Army parade on the 25th.

The White Squadron, by its presence in the harbor of Baltimore, will add an important feature to the naval veterans' meeting.

Interest in the reunions will not be confined to veterans alone, but also to thousands of appreciative citizens to whom the B. & O. railroad will offer the same low rates as to veterans. At both Baltimore and Washington ample provisions will be made by local committees for the accommodation of all who may attend, and the B. & O. railroad will add coaches to its regular trains, and will run special trains at frequent intervals.

Tickets sold by the G. A. R. R. to both Baltimore and Washington, will contain the rate of one fare for the round trip, and will be valid for a return journey until October 10th. They will be valid to stop off at all stations en route to every station. During the encampment, excursions at low rates will be run only from Washington to Annapolis, Gettysburg, and other noted battlefields, and to places of interest.

For round trip rates from your nearest station to Baltimore and Washington consult appended table. All tickets to Baltimore good to stop off at Washington.

C. A. Max Wiehle vs. David S. Jones and Elizabeth Jones.
No. 579 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of this court annulling and setting aside a deed from the defendant, Daniel S. Jones, to his wife, Elizabeth H. Jones, conveying to her certain lands in Garrett county, Md., and directing them to be sold by a trustee to satisfy a debt of the plaintiff.

The bill states that on the 6th day of April, 1892, the plaintiff received a judgment in the Court of Common Pleas No. 1 in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for the sum of $930.56 against Daniel S. Jones, and that he made on the same day a certain check for the balance and the interest thereon, and costs remain still unpaid; that at that time Daniel S. Jones was seized in fee of certain tracts of land described in the bill of complaint lying in Garrett county, Md., but that on the 15th day of July, 1892, said Jones conveyed the same and all his land in Garrett county to his said wife, Elizabeth H. Jones, for a pretended consideration; that said deed was fraudulent as against the creditors of said Jones, and not made for a bona fide consideration; that said Jones was insolvent at the time said deed was made to defraud the plaintiff and defendants other creditors or creditors, and that said defendants are of age and reside in Pennsylvania.

The bill then prays for an order of publication against the defendants, for a decree setting aside said deed and directing said lands to be sold and for general relief.

It is thereupon, this 10th day of August, 1892 by the Circuit Court for Garrett county, Md., sitting as a court of equity, ordered that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper printed in Oakland Md., once a week for four successive weeks before the 15th day of September, 1892, give notice to said absent defendants of the object of this suit and warning them to appear in this court on or before the 15th day of October, 1892, and show cause if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLES.

As the result of five years' laborious and persistent research, I have compiled into permanent record book, all the titles and all the mortgages in the counties of Military and in Allegany and Garrett counties. These are the only books of the kind in existence.

I have for sale, on easy terms, good titles to thousands of acres of land, distributed through every acre in Garrett county. Many of these lands are surrounded with coal, etc., and are well watered.

All persons interested in the titles to Military lands should call upon me for address.

One mare 12 years old, one colt 1 year and 4 months old. This will be the largest auction ever in Oakland. Four months credit.

Notice. All persons, particularly those who make it their calling to clean back premises, and make it a practice to deposit their filth near the stream which is to supply my lake, now constructed, by coming at night and emptying their express and other wagons, will take notice, I do hereby give said parties ten day notice to remove the same as I intend to enforce the law, and I do further warn all persons living near said stream to be careful not to pollute stream or streams of water supplying said lake. WILLIAM BRODERICK, Oakland, Md., Aug. 16, 1892.

Personal. Your most earnest attention is called to this description of the Rheumatism, a most wonderful discovery for the cure of disease. It has been pronounced by physicians who were broad minded enough to study it, the greatest discovery in the history of medicine. It has been pronounced by Ministers of the Gospel, "the greatest blessing God has bestowed upon the race." It has accomplished cures where the most skillful specialists in the world had failed. (See the case of Hon. Thos. B. Schuatterly, of Pa.) Wherever introduced it is working a revolution in the medical world. This is the testimony of the doctors themselves.

Grand Jury Report. The Honorable the Judges of the Circuit Court of Garrett County, Wm. the Grand Inquest of the State of Maryland for the body of Garrett county, respectfully beg leave to make the following report:

We have discharged the duties incumbent upon us as Grand Jurors, by examining all witnesses sent before us, making presentments in all cases where we considered the evidence sufficient to justify it, dismissing without unnecessary delay all who (upon examination) we found innocent of the matter for which they were summoned.

We have examined the Jail and find the condition even worse than we could suppose it possible. It needs cleaning, white washing and renovating generally. The closets in connection with it are simply outrageous and ought to be at once beheaded to, thoroughly cleaned, disinfected and ventilated.

We have also, in conformity with your special charge, made a critical examination of the court-house and vaults. We find the vaults to be entirely inadequate to the increasing business of the Clerk's office, necessitating almost the immediate building of a addition that shall be much larger and of better character as a protection from fire, as well as secure from mould and decay that now threaten to destroy the county records.

While considering the question of new vaults why not consider the advantage of having them in a new court house—one more modern in style, better built, and more convenient in its arrangements and accommodations.

We are at loss to suggest anything in the way of addition to either the jail or court-house that on its present location would result in any permanent comfort or improvement from the fact that water in sufficient quantity cannot be procured unless exceeding in outlay more than we feel the present buildings would justify.

Having completed our labors so far as we know, we now ask to be discharged.

D. E. OFFUTT, True copy, Test: Foreman. E. Z. Tower, clerk.

BARTON HEPBURN, COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY.

President Harrison did a very popular thing when he named A. Barton Hepburn of New York to be Comptroller of Currency in the place of E. S. Lacy, resigned. When it was known that there was to be a vacancy, many of the leading bankers of New York petitioned the President for Mr. Hepburn's appointment. Mr. Hepburn, who is about 50 years old, comes from St. Lawrence county, New York, and first became generally known to bankers when he was State Bank Superintendent from 1880 to '83, then he was made examiner of National Banks in New York. He began his public career as a school commissioner, then 1875 to 1880 he represented his district in the Assembly. Mr. Hepburn will undoubtedly make a very efficient comptroller.

LESTER—FOSS.—On Sept. 12, 1892, by the Rev. George W. Kepler, at the Commercial Hotel, Oakland, Mr. George Lester and Ella Fogg.

STEVENS—JONES.—On Sept. 16, 1892, by the Rev. George W. Kepler, at the Commercial Hotel, Oakland, Mr. Charles V. Stevens, of Palatine, W. Va., and Miss Alice J. Jones, of same place.

POWELL—SKIDMORE.—On Sept. 18, 1892, by the Rev. George W. Kepler, at the Commercial Hotel, Oakland, Mr. William M. Powell, and Miss Clara B. Skidmore, both of Barbour county, W. Va.

The following account of a wedding which was celebrated on last Thursday is clipped from the Wheeling Intelligence:

A fashionable assemblage, handsomely decorated, a pretty ceremony notably pronounced and good looking attendants, a bright and manly groom, and above all, a lovely bride, were the characteristics of the nuptials that occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the St. Matthew's P. E. church. The ceremony which united Miss Mary W. Kennedy, of this city, and Henry Clay Sincell, a prominent merchant of Oakland, Md., was a pretty and impressive one, performed by Rev. R. R. Swapp, D. D., the rector of the church.

The bridal party entered the church in the following order: Mr. Clark Hamilton, Mr. George A. Horne, Mr. Chas. Tower, of Oakland, Mr. Ben Sincell, of Oakland, Mr. Will Kennedy and Mr. Thos. R. Kennedy, ushers. They were followed by the bride and groom. The bride looked lovely in a handsome street dress of coral cloth and white silk, handsomely trimmed, en train, with hat and gloves to match. At the conclusion of the ceremony a brief reception was held in the church and the happy couple were the recipients of many warm congratulations and good wishes. They received a large array of very handsome presents from their countless friends, among which was a handsome remembrance from Mrs. General George Crook, of Oakland. The bride is the well known daughter of Judge and Mrs. John W. Kennedy, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Sincell left yesterday afternoon on the 4:20 train over the Panhandle on an extended bridal tour in the east. They will make Oakland their future home. Mr. Sincell having a house already furnished there.

On Wednesday evening of last week St. Paul's M. E. Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, the event being the marriage of Alonzo D. Naylor and Mary O. Townsend, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Townsend. The audience chamber of the large church was handsomely decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, and long before the hour set for the ceremony—8 o'clock—it and the adjoining room and hallway were crowded with invited guests, relatives and friends. As the first notes of Mendelssohn's grand wedding march pealed forth, played by Miss Lottie Lear, the vestry door was thrown open and the bridal party entered preceded by ushers, Messrs W. A. Sturges, Allen Bourcier, G. B. Bowles, G. A. Bolden, Ernest Townsend, T. C. Claggett, and attendants, Robert C. Townsend, of Pittsburg, and Miss Blanche Babbs, of Greenland, W. Va. The party formed in a half-circle at the altar rail, and the Rev. G. W. Kepler assisted by Revs. Benj. Leon, D. D., and John M. Davis, performed the beautiful ceremony according to the rites of Methodist Episcopal church. The bride was handsomely attired in an exquisite costume of cream-white lace-trimmed in chiffon and ribbon, with veil, kid gloves and slippers to match, and carried a lovely bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor also wore cream-white lace-trimmed, and carried a lovely bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaids wore white dresses and slippers, and carried a bouquet of Maroon pink roses. The gentlemen all wore the conventional black, relieved by both mirrors of similar and rose buds, and brown kid gloves. Directly after the ceremony the bride and groom, together with their relatives, ushers and a few immediate friends, were driven to the groom's handsome and palatial residence, in the west end of Oakland, where no end of congratulations, well-wishes and kisses were showered upon the happy pair. The presents were many, very costly and handsome. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock, and at a reasonable hour the guests took their departure, wishing for Mr. Naylor and his bonny bride a long life of perfect happiness and domestic bliss.

WARRIOR—WARRIOR.—The social event of the week in our community was the marriage of Miss Fogg, daughter of Mr. George Fogg, of New Germany, and Mr. N. G. Miller, of Barbour county, on Wednesday, Sept. 16. The ceremony was performed in the Trinity Reformed church in New Germany, Rev. J. M. Evans, of Salisbury, Pa., officiating. At a few minutes after eleven o'clock a. m., the bridal party entered the church, accompanied by their attendants, Miss Misses Loretta and Ida Warnick, sisters of the bride, Miss Lizzie McBride, of Lomconing, Mr. W. G. Brinker, of Scotland, Pa., Mr. Lloyd Warnick, brother of the bride, Mr. J. Dixon, of Lomconing, and Mr. Jno. Bender, of Grantsville, and proceeded slowly up the aisle to the altar, keeping perfect step while Mendelssohn's wedding march was being rendered by Miss Ella Turney, a fine musician of Addison, Pa. Miss Turney was escorted to the organ by T. McMillan, of Accident. A canopy had been erected and trimmed with evergreens and flowers for the occasion, and beneath which the bride and groom took their position with attendants on either side. After the ceremony the bridal party marched out slowly (while the organist played Lohndrin's wedding march) and together with about one hundred and twenty-five relatives and friends, repaired to the residence of the bride's parents to partake of a most elegant and sumptuous dinner, such as Mrs. Warnick and her daughter can prepare.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dress and train of white silk and bridal veil. She wore white gloves and slippers and a beautiful corsage of natural flowers. The maids of honor were dressed in cashmeres. Miss Augustine in tan, Miss Loretta Warnick in gray, Miss Ida Warnick in blue, and Miss McBride in pink, and each carried a bouquet of flowers. The groom and ushers were dressed in black. The groom is a prosperous merchant in Lomconing and the bride is a young lady whose accomplishments and goodness of heart have won her many friends and admirers.

All hope and trust that the lives of the bride and groom may be long and happy.

They will depart for their future home in Lomconing this week.

Many very beautiful presents were received by the bride, but we are forbidden to mention them in detail.

New Germany, Sept. 14, 1892.

Seeing is Believing.

Intelligent people who go into foreign countries and see the condition of the workingmen and women there almost invariably return convinced if they were not before, of the advantages of the United States for the poor. Lillian Russell, the famous American actress, returned to New York, Aug. 13, after an extended tour in Europe and she said: "I saw so much of the workings of free trade while I was in England that I am more than ever in love with America and protection. Englishmen look on the McKinley law as a personal affront. They do not think that Americans should put a tariff on English made goods."

If you could see what I saw in Northampton you would always be in favor of the tariff. I went among the factories there and among the people who work in them and I can say that I never saw such misery and wretchedness. It was awful. One girl got eighteen pence a day, and out of this she had to clothe herself and help support her family. The children have little or no chance to attend school because they have to work early in life. It is so everywhere, and I could enumerate numbers of cases. Cotton prints are dearer there than here; woolen goods are a little cheaper; shoes are far higher, and the necessities of life, in the way of food are about the same as here.—Pittsburgh (Cal.) Times.

Our hearts are saddened by the death of the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sperry. After a prolonged illness, God took it, a bright bud for the city of the glorified. She is at rest, her stay on earth was brief—her joy in heaven will be eternal. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. M. Davis, assisted by Revs. Davidson and Ison, on last Tuesday.
ACME BLACKING is cheaper at 20 cents a bottle than any other Dressing at 5 cents.
LITTLE GOES A LONG WAY
These shoes once blackened with it can be clean by washing them with water. In moments of emergency find it hard to buy a bottle, but if you depend for blacking they save in the long run.
It is the cheapest blacking considering quality, and yet we want to sell it as cheap as it can be done. We will pay $10,000 Reward for a recipe that will enable us to make ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c a bottle. This offer is open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

C. A. Max Wiehle vs. David S. Jones and No. 529 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County.
The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of this Court annulling and setting aside a deed from the defendant, David S. Jones, to his wife, Elizabeth D. Jones, conveying to her certain lands in Garrett county, Md., and directing them to be sold by a trustee in satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim.
The bill states that on the 6th day of April, 1892, the plaintiff recovered a judgment in the Court of Common Pleas No. 1 in the city of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for the sum of $250.00 against David S. Jones. It was made on the same day execution, but no return was made thereon, and the same has remained in the hands of the sheriff of that county, Md., but that on the 15th day of July, 1892, said Jones conveyed the same land and his land in Garrett county to his said wife, Elizabeth D. Jones, for a pretended consideration; that said deed was fraudulent, void, and of no effect, and that the plaintiff and defendant's other creditors were and remain aggrieved and injured.
The bill then prays for an order of substitution against the defendants, for a decree annulling and setting aside said deed, and directing said lands to be sold and the proceeds thereof to be paid to the plaintiff and to the other creditors.
The bill is filed in the Circuit Court, Md., by the Circuit Court for Garrett county, Md., sitting as a court of equity, docketed that the plaintiff by coming in and filing this bill, he published in some newspaper printed in Garrett County, Md., once a week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of September, 1892, giving notice to said absent defendants of the filing of this bill and praying them to appear in this court on or before the 10th day of October, 1892, and show cause if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Selby Sport.

The drought still continues. Buckwheat threshing is the call of the day.

Messrs. Rankin and Chesnut, of Pittsburgh, were on our streets last week.

Jot. A. Turney purchased a fine W. Va. horse Saturday, the 21st.

Boys, buy your Harrison and Reid caps in Selbysport; price 10 cents.

We think we have three genuine prohibitionists in District No. 2 and they were formerly Republicans and still would be if they could only be on the Republican ticket or have the Selbysport and Friendsville postoffices.

There is no wonder we have poor roads. Parties, through their friends, got the appointment on roads that should not have one dollar.

Look at our supervisor on the road from the M. E. Church here by way of James Guard's to Mill Run. A small boy and team owned by Supervisor will work all the way out and do but little good for the public and tax payers.

Soldiers, did you ever meet Grace Cleveland on Decoration Day decorating one of your dead comrades' graves? Why will you vote for him? Do you want him to veto your pensions as he did before?

Consumer, if you want Weddell & Sinton's XXX flour, go to Jonas Frazee. Only $3.25 per bbl.

Messrs. Jno. F. and Eliza Friend, of Sang Run, were on our streets last week.

Editor REPUBLICAN, can I pay party or parties use our country roads for logging and cut and destroy them without paying a damage.

[The above inquiry has been referred to the attorney of the Board of County Commissioners.—ED. REPUBLICAN.]

A. J. Frazee, of Frazee's Ridge, had a fine young mare severely cut with a mowing scythe hanging on a limb of a tree last Sunday. Dr. Sam'l. Hilman was summoned to sew up the wound.

Boys, get your H. A. R. caps at Selbysport for 10 cents. Prohibition merchants will charge you 20 cents for them.

Jonas Frazee starts to Somerset, Pa., the 26th, on business.

Jonas Frazee pays in trade: 18 cents per dozen for eggs; young chickens, 8 cents per lb; 40 cents per bushel for oats.

Quite a number of Republicans of Dist. No. 2 assembled together on the night of Sept. 24, and organized a Harrison, Reid and Wellington Club. The following officers were elected: President, Jonas Frazee; Vice-president, A. G. Meese; Secretary, E. J. Stuck. After electing a Committee on constitution and by-laws they adjourned to meet Saturday night.

Davis Mills.

A few words from this corner may not be out of place, although news items are rather scarce.

Chas. Lee Hagne's house burnt down on the 21st inst. He was in McHenry at the time and his wife had gone to a neighbors house and during their absence it is supposed that some boys entered the house and fired it by means of coal oil.

The fire spread so rapidly nothing could be saved. The loss falls very heavy upon Mr. Hagne as he had been keeping house but ten weeks.

Johny Markley made a visit to Deep Creek Chapel Saturday night in the interest of his better half.

Backwheat threshing is the order of the day.

We have the promise from some gentlemen of Oakland to come down here on Thursday night and help organize a Republican Club. I for one, believe in showing that we are for Harrison, Reid and Wellington.

Mountain Lake Park.

Quite a change is noticed in our streets. Each week our city friends disappear from our midst and the number of vacant cottages is multiplied, yet strange faces are seen and will be seen throughout the weeks to come.

The ground is covered with leaves which are rapidly falling.

Many of our citizens regretted the necessity of "picking up" and leaving this place of rest and health.

The past week has been one of quiet. The prohibition party had a meeting Tuesday afternoon. Several gentlemen and ladies went to the Deer Park meeting Monday and to Oakland Tuesday night.

Politics is not doing much business at the Park. Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists are dwelling together in unity. So much it always be.

The sanitary condition of the Park is being carefully looked after. Our Board of Health believes that "cleanliness is next to Godliness," and act accordingly. Pure hearts mean pure surroundings.

The weather has been favorable for out door work and the mechanics and laboring men are improving the opportunity to earn an honest dollar.

A steam engine broke down the bridge on E street near the Assembly House. It is a total wreck. Supt. Radisill will have a new bridge ready for the public in a few days.

"Ferndale" will be one of the attractive places of the Park in the future. The ladies will make this spot a "place of beauty."

Capt. Jarboe is making things move at the Lake Hotel property. Ere long there will be a "raising" there and the frame will go up.

Messrs. Spedden & Bolden are at work on S. L. Allen's new house.

Carpenter Brooke is completing the two-story laundry at Park Training School.

Quite a number of Oakland teams are seen on our Park drives. Our good roads are enjoyed by our neighbors.

There seems to be an active preparation for winter. Oakland coal merchants are visiting us seeking our trade in black diamonds, at good figures for five ton lots, and select lump coal.

Merchant Garthright is soliciting orders for stoves from the cheapest to the best grade of heaters. The past season you could get at his store anything most you needed from a pin to a cook-stove, from a snail of thread to a blanket, or a suit of clothes, from a pint of meat to a car load of flour, from a can of salmon to a bag of mutton, or a string of sausage; a pen-knife or a plow. He did a big business. Possibly this is the reason two or three other parties talk of going into business in our midst.

Chas. Bouie is at home on a visit his father, August Bouie, is suffering from a paralytic stroke. His condition is said to be better than it has been several weeks ago.

Mrs. George Wellington is on the sick list.

The Lutheran church building has been greatly improved by being newly painted. The interior has been ceiled and papered and the entire building presents a very creditable appearance. May the church improve as much spiritually.

Dr. Lachy is having an addition built to his office.

Our corporation authorities are having flagstone street crossings laid. Quite an improvement.

We understand J. S. Broadwater sold his large stock of maple sugar to a Pittsburgh dealer last week.

We expect to hear a modern Wellington on Wednesday next.

Isaiah Fuller, the officer of registration for this district, is disposed to frown when Republicans appear to be registered. No wonder, it means augmenting the already large force of Protectionists.

J. E. Gnagey has his newly and well painted signs displayed to invite the public to lodge under the hospitable roof and to enjoy the palatable viands of the board of the Farmer's Hotel.

J. E. Gnagey left for Oakland yesterday.

Among the guests at the Farmer's Hotel the past week we noticed the names of F. A. Thayer and wife, and King Delawder and wife, of Oakland.

A drying kiln owned by Kinsinger Bros., which was situated near their planing mill, was consumed by fire last Saturday morning. It contained about four thousand feet of lumber.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gugenik and little son, of Anish, Iowa, are visiting relatives here.

What is Electropoise? and What Will It Do.

The Electropoise has been in use for four years, and is well known in some sections of the United States, but there are a great many sufferers who never heard of it. Those that have heard of it and seen something of its wonderful power, are anxious to know how an instrument so small and so simple can accomplish such great results. Now, while the Electropoise is very wonderful, it is not at all mysterious. Its operation rests in what we know of science, and one of our familiar friends, the electric current.

How it Operates.—The way in which the Electropoise accomplishes its cures is very simple and natural. It consists of a small coil of wire, which is connected by a small cord with a small battery of cells. This battery is the source of the electric current, which is sent through the coil, and from the coil to the patient.

The patient is the other end of the cord, and the electric current is sent through the patient's body, and from the patient's body to the ground.

By the action of the electric current, the patient's body is brought into a state of equilibrium, and the electric current is sent through the patient's body, and from the patient's body to the ground.

We call the attention of our readers to the card of Jas. A. Enlow, Esq., which will be found in another column.

The census shows that while 33,163 lawyers receive $35,000,000 annually in fees, 37,000 ministers get $6,000,000.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best in the market. A single bottle will convince you of its excellence. Try it.

J. M. Savage's meat market,—the cheapest place in town. The store will remain open during the winter months.

Ladies, it will be to your interest to go to S. P. Specht's and inspect his line of dress goods and wool suitings.

Although many remedies are pushed into the market by spicy advertisements, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup still takes the lead.

The stars and stripes should float from the top of every school building. Teach the children patriotism and the country is safe.

Teachers' Institute will be held in Oakland on Oct. 20th and 21st. Some prominent educators will be present to give instruction.

Don't forget that at THE REPUBLICAN office you can get printing as cheap and as neat as in any printing office in the State.

Ladies and gentlemen under-wear just received at S. P. Specht's. Gents' undershirts, 25 cents and up; all other goods in proportion.

Don't you know that S. P. Specht has the noblest and most stylish of hoods and fascinators in the market? If not, call and see them.

S. P. Specht has just returned from the east after purchasing the most complete line of dry goods, notions, hats, caps, boots and shoes ever brought to Deer Park. Call, examine goods and prices and be convinced.

The present has been a very peculiar season in many respects. On Friday last, September 23, Thomas Nethkin picked and brought to this market seven bushels of blackberries. Such a thing was never heard of before at this time in the year.

The receiver of the Iron Hall appointed at Indianapolis has made a demand upon the receiver here for the funds in his hands. The receivers appointed in Baltimore have made a similar demand. The Circuit Court of Garrett county will probably be called upon to decide the rights of these several receivers in the premises.

The Republican voters of Dist. No. 6, are requested to assemble in McHenry, on Saturday, Oct. 8, 1892, at 7:30 p. m., at the usual place of voting, for the purpose of organizing a Harrison, Reid and Wellington club. All Republicans and others who are interested in Protection to American interests are invited to attend.

FOR SALE.—On long payment or exchange for cattle, coal or timber lands, One Imported Black French Percheron Stallion, 7 years old, warranted sound, a good worker to all harness. Safe to handle, and sure.

Address,
C. H. BEALL,
Uniontown, Pa.

We have and are having the most beautiful fall weather that any one could desire. There has been but little frost as yet, consequently the trees are all in full leaf, the splendor of which has been greatly added to by the turning of some of the foliage by the slight frosts that we have had. There has been but very little rain and the roads are in perfect order for driving.

It is not unusual for colds contracted in the fall to hang on all winter. In such cases catarrh or chronic bronchitis are always sure to result. A fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold. Can you afford to risk so much for so small an amount? This remedy is intended especially for colds and croup and can always be depended upon. For sale by Druggists.

Since last seen here the author has been hard at work on that always excellent play "Old Farmer Hopkins," and the result has been wonderful. Those who were fortunate enough to have seen the comedy when last presented here will surely recognize it as great is the change. The best of the old has been retained, yet the many new scenes, incidents, situations, &c., that has been added virtually makes a new play out of the farmers old comedy. Mr. Davidson has surrounded himself with the strongest company obtainable, and carries all scenery, mountings and mechanical effects for the perfect production of this play. The musical part of the performance is a feature. A worthy entertainment such as this will be well patronized. Offutt's Hall next Wednesday evening.

Miss Bertha Glatfelly, of Accident, spent Sunday in Oakland visiting friends.

There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be secured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know.—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was at first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by Druggists.

There is nothing of the countless, touching things which moved the veterans in Washington that will sink deeper into their hearts than Mrs. Harrison's thoughtfulness and courtesy. She has just completed the long, sad journey from the Northern mountains to her home at the White House, and in her weakness could not lift her head to greet every one. But her eye caught the beautiful garlands of flags with which the White House was decorated, and her first inquiries, after meeting her aged father, and then gaining a little strength by quiet, were of the soldiers and the progress of their reception. Learning that the grounds and the house had been closed for her comfort, she asked at once that they might be opened to the veterans and their families, and that they might be shown everything that the public ever sees. This first lady of the land is a soldier's wife. She knows what it was to bid a husband God-speed when he left her for the field in 1861. She knew what it was to watch, and wait, and endure, and pray through those long sorrowful years. She knew the feeling with which soldiers looked on the dome of the Capitol, and the White House, with her husband in the "victor's parade of 1865." She knew how they longed to show their wives and sons the White House. And because she had lived through all this, and knew the soldier heart and felt herself one of them, the Executive Mansion and its grounds were thrown open again to the veterans. It was a message which thrilled them all, which moved all to tears, and seemed to proceed from the very confines of another world and to be hallowed by its influences.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Helmetta, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made. For sale by Druggists.

Lutheran Church Dedication at Grantsville.

The following is taken from the Somerset County Star, of last week, which will, no doubt, interest many of our readers:

"An epoch passed in the history of the Lutheran church of Grantsville that will be remembered with pleasure and enjoyed by the church-going people of that place for many years to come.

"The church at that place, which had grown old and dilapidated from lack of paint and care, was thoroughly overhauled and repaired to the amount of three hundred dollars, during the last three weeks.

On Sunday, Oct. 2nd, the church was free of debt, to the service of God.

Rev. Graver, of Berlin, was expected to preach the sermon, but he was unexpectedly detained; his own charge, so that all the work fell on the regular pastor, Rev. W. W. Kribbs, who took for his text: "Go up in the mountain and bring wood and build the house and I will take pleasure in it and I will be glorified, saith the Lord."—Haggai, I:8.

After the sermon the balance of the indebtedness, about sixty dollars, was raised and with an impressive service the house was again set apart to its high and holy purpose.

"The work of repair was made easy by the interest and zeal of all the members and the kind help of friends. Many of the members not only contributed liberally, but also gave over a week of their time to the work. And, as is usually the case, the ladies deserve great credit for the way they took hold. To illustrate how they helped, a few instances will not be out of place: The Misses Louisa and Kate Wagner raised eighty-five dollars for a new organ; Miss Mayhue twenty-eight dollars for a new carpet, and Mrs. Henry Wagner, jr., bought the blinds for the windows.

"Among some of the improvements may be mentioned, a new ceiling and wainscoting of North Carolina pine, a beautiful and rich looking paper hung by Mr. E. H. Lambert, of Salisbury, new window lights and the building thoroughly painted inside and out."

Weather Crop Bulletin.
Grantsville.—Weather the past week has been favorable. We had a good shower on September 25th. Wheat is growing nicely, and corn is all in shock. Buckwheat is being threshed, and crops are an average one. Days warm and clear. We had a few frosts, but no injury has resulted thus far.

J. S. MILLER.

Sunny Side.—The weather the past week was very dry and changeable, i. e., uncomfortably hot on the 24th and 25th, frost on the 27th, and quite warm again on the 30th. The farmers are getting out lime rock to have it ready to haul when the snow comes. Early sown wheat looks well.

JOHN G. KNAUER.

What is a Newspaper.

Bill Nye's definition: "It is a library. It is an encyclopedia, a political table, a romance, a guide, a political resume, a ground plan of the civilized world, a low priced omnibus in parvo. It is a sermon, a circus, an obituary, a shipwreck, a symphony in solid brevity, a melody of life and death, a grand aggregation of man's glory and his shame. It is, in short, a bird's eye view of all the magnanimity and meanness, the joys and sorrows, births and deaths, the pride and poverty of the world, all for a few cents."

Notice.

All persons, particularly those who make it their calling to clean back premises, and make it a practice to deposit their filth near the stream which is to supply my lake, now constructed, by coming at night and emptying their express and other wagons, will take notice, I do hereby give said parties ten day notice to remove the same as I intend to enforce the law, and I do further warn all persons living near said stream to be careful not to pollute stream or streams of water supplying said lake.

Growth of Oakland.

The steady and constant growth of Oakland and the surrounding neighborhood is very easily evidenced by the fact that the business of the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad at the Oakland Station has increased from year to year for a period of twenty years without a break. This increase applies to all the departments—passenger, freight and express. The sale of tickets during the last month was the largest within the history of the Oakland office.

The coal and coke business is looking up very decidedly in this section. The Oakland Coal and Coke Company has effected a sale of its assets, but the sale price is only one-half of the value of the property. Superintendent E. T. Anderson says he has orders to light up all the ovens at once. He says the demand for both coal and coke is greater than his company can supply. He advertises for a large number of miners.

The fact that no indictments were found by the grand jury in Garrett county at the September term of court for a violation of the liquor laws has been very widely commented upon, not because there is any neglect charged or chargeable to the grand inquest. It is well known that the court has punished violators of these laws in the past with some rigor, and the grand juries have not been slow to present all cases which came to their knowledge. The matter of great surprise is that there are no violations. Thoughtful people, and especially temperance people, are debating the question whether the present local license has not brought about this state of affairs. The local license law of Garrett county takes the sale of liquor out of the hands of irresponsible persons. It requires a man desiring to obtain a license to be recommended by responsible freeholders. And then further requires him to give a bond for $2,000, which is liable if anybody becomes intoxicated through illegal sales, and is also liable to "every inebriated, wife, child, parent, guardian or other person or in consequence of the intoxication and far fewer liquor cases in the courts and before justices of the peace in Oakland than there were under the local-option law which was in force in Garrett county for several years. The people of the county tried local-option for several years, and after a fair trial of the present law they may have some light thrown upon an important question.—Baltimore Sun.

Police Court.
On last Saturday there were several little disturbances in the East end which kept His Honor Justice Gonder busy all day trying and disposing of the cases.

A son of William Broderick had a little scrap with several boys who figured on Squire Gonder's docket as follows:

State vs. David Collins; disturbing the peace.

State vs. David Collins; assault and battery on William Broderick, jr.

State vs. David Collins; malicious mischief.

State vs. John Rice, jr.; disturbing the peace.

State vs. Edward Wolf; disturbing the peace.

State vs. James Compton; disturbing the peace.

Public Sale.

M. Maroney will offer at public sale on Wednesday, Oct. 13, 14 head of fine driving horses. Also harness and carriages. Any one desiring a good team or family horse will do well to attend the sale.

Marriage Licenses.

The following licenses to wed have been issued by Clerk E. Z. Tower since our last report:

William M. Freeze and Lydia C. Beebe.

Allen Farance and Lovernia Croston.

William A. E. Martin and Hannah Shaffer.

Samuel W. Canine and Jennie Sybolt.

Charles E. Tucker and Mary V. Pugh.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1892.
NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET.

REN J. HARRISON.

WHITELAW REID.

Gen. L. Wellington.

There is no Democratic editor in the land from Cape Cod to San Francisco, from Lake Umbagog to the Rocky Mountains, who is not a member of the McKinley family.

The above is from the Cumberland Times. It is a good thing that the editor who wrote the above telegram was received at the office of the editor of the Republican.

The Democratic convention at Chicago declared in favor of repealing the 10 per cent. tax on State banks.

The American Protective Tariff League will pay $1,000 to the Democratic editor who will show that paper of the quality and kind used by him to publish his McKinley prices falsehoods cannot be purchased in the open market from 5 to 10 per cent. cheaper than it cost under the old tariff.—American Economist.

In the death of Frank Conkey the country is rid of another outlaw.

Dear Democrat, is the right to impose a duty on imported goods unconstitutional? Your party platform says it is.

It may be that the Democratic party inserted that State bank plank in its platform in order not to break its record of making a fool of itself whenever it had a good chance.

To the Democrat: Why don't you publish, in parallel columns, those clauses of the Democratic platform, as adopted in the Chicago convention, and the Confederate constitution wherein the right to collect money on imported goods is declared unconstitutional.

It is reported that Grover Cleveland has decided that he will not drink any wine until after the election. If he will agree not to drink any spirituous liquors until he is elected we promise to enroll him in the prohibition column.

This Democratic party when in charge of the treasury bureau, in order of interest, to "pet" national banks throughout the country $21,241,249. This has been reduced by the Harrison administration to $13,866,270, and the surplus used for reduction in the interest bearing national debt.

Nine years ago last Saturday, under the auspices of the Republican administration, the two-cent rate of letter postage was established in the United States. Keep President Harrison in the White House, and before his next term closes we may expect to see the postage rate reduced to one cent.

Last week our Self-report correspondent asked the following question: "Soldiers, did you ever meet Grover Cleveland on Decoration day?" We have the answer to your question as he did before?

We have the above to the Democrat for an answer.

AND now, young voters, since you have become full fledged men, the right thing for you to do is to cast your first ballot for Harrison, Reid and Wellington who are the candidates of a party up with the times and not of a party that has taken one hundred and six years to find out that to collect import duty is unconstitutional. The first act of the first Congress of the United States was to pass a protective tariff measure which was passed and signed by George Washington on July 4, 1789.

Are the Democratic soldiers going to vote for Cleveland because the chief spokesman of the Democratic convention and platform, the Louisville Courier-Journal, denounces them and their wounded, sick, helpless, aged and infirm comrades as Leaders. Perjurers. Coffee-sippers. Robbers. Camp-followers. Agrarians. Red nosed patriots. Thieves. Losers?—Madison Courier.

A New Industry.
HARRIS, Ill., Oct. 4.—Rome R. Richardson, of Houston, has established a small pearl button factory in this city, and with a machine he has already made several gross of buttons and put them on consignment to the trade.

GROVER DID IT.

He Officially Used Force Bill Tactics to Re-elect Himself.

A Discovery Which Takes Away the Last Issue of the Democracy.

Special Correspondence.
Another Democratic idol has fallen. Another Democratic "campaign issue" has been destroyed. And this, too, by Mr. Cleveland himself.

The Democratic party has certainly been unfortunate in its issues in this campaign. Its tariff issue was destroyed by a member of its own party—Labor Commissioner Peck. Its widest currency issue was destroyed by members of its own party—immigrants, who denounce it unmercifully. And now its last and only remaining issue, the force bill, has been destroyed by Cleveland himself.

It came about in this way. Some wretched person with a good memory, who has listened with amusement and amazement to the phantoms of the Democracy about the force bill, suddenly remembered that Mr. Cleveland, while president and a candidate for re-election, not only authorized, but absolutely ordered, his subordinates to enforce the very force bill features of the then existing law, about which Democrats are so much excited.

This discovery has been the political event of the week. It was as much of a bombshell in the Democratic camp as the Peck revelation was in the Republican camp. It takes away the last leg the Democrats had to stand on. The three issues upon which they were making or attempting to make their fight in this campaign were free trade, free banks, free friends at the polls. Curiously every one of them has been knocked out, and that, too, by Democrats.

But the most distressing thing of all is that the destruction of the last one of these issues left to the party should have come about in the official act of the party's own candidate while he occupied the White House. And this he did with the purpose of re-electing himself president of the United States.

The facts are these, and they are very interesting: The so-called force bill simply proposed to extend to small towns and country districts the same police and military forces of the United States law which has been in force for years through United States marshals and supervisors of elections, and to prevent fraud in any city of 20,000 inhabitants or more in elections for Congressmen or other United States officials.

The recent discovery, which has created such a panic in Democratic circles and taken away the last vestige of an issue upon which the Democrats could stand, was the force bill, Grover Cleveland, on the approach of the election of 1888, when he was a candidate for re-election for the presidency, issued to Attorney General "Pa" Electric the following order under date of Oct. 5, 1888, the following order:

DEAN SIR: You are hereby requested to take general charge and direction of the execution of the statutes of the United States touching the appointments of supervisors of elections and special election judges, and the performance of their duties and their compensation, so far as these subjects are by the constitution and laws under the supervision and control of the executive branch of the government.

Yours Truly,
Grover Cleveland.

Immediately afterward this letter was sent by Attorney General Garland to United States marshals: "Sir: In pursuance of a letter of the 10th inst. from the president, directing the attorney general to take charge of the 'appointment of special deputy marshals, the performance of their duties and their compensation, together with the compensation of supervisors,' at the congressional election in November, her next year attention is directed to the provisions of titles 24 and 25, chapter 7, title 70 of the Revised Statutes. Under sections 2,022 and 2,024 Revised Statutes you have power to keep the peace, protect supervisors, preserve order, prevent fraud and enforce the laws in towns of 20,000 inhabitants and upward. You should make yourself familiar with the statutes referred to and see that they are faithfully executed. I read both papers and listen to both sides, and I have gotten my eyes wider open this fall than ever before. If you will, please send me a copy of your paper and he would tell me I am certain they would all vote for Harrison, Reid and Wellington.

tion and advice. It is assumed that the duties can be performed without infringing upon the rights of any citizen in a manner that shall be fair, and at the same time free from any unnecessary display of authority. It is not expected that supervisors and deputy marshals will receive compensation for more than a few days' service, and there should be no informed. Within this time all can be done, it is thought, that ought to be. You need vigilance, men who are conscientious workers, and no others."

It is thus shown from official records that Mr. Cleveland, while president, ordered his subordinates to enforce the force bill. The force bill, which was himself a candidate, the very laws to which his party is now so strenuously objecting. The so-called force bill, about which Democrats are howling, was the very essence of the act which Mr. Cleveland ordered his subordinates to enforce to re-elect himself.

This is all there is to the force bill. It was simply a proposed law providing for an extension to country districts of the law already in force in the cities of 20,000 inhabitants or more.

What did the force bill really do? It proposed to extend to the country districts, where there is now a matter of common knowledge, practice and precedent, the same law which they are to enforce in the cities of 20,000 inhabitants or more.

Two questions which will soon force themselves upon the minds of the working people, to whom the continued maintenance and prosperity of our industries is the very bread of life, are: How long is this to last, and how may it be remedied? It is extremely doubtful whether the people of the United States will have either the foresight or the courage to uphold within any reasonable period a law which they are to enforce in the cities of 20,000 inhabitants or more, and which they are to enforce in the cities of 20,000 inhabitants or more.

Endorsing, failing the success at the Presidential polling of Mr. Cleveland, who has pledged his party to repeal the tariff, the future of British manufactures and of all the subsidiary industries pending upon them is dark indeed. No doubt the country will and should, through somehow, as she has done before, but it is to be feared that if the McKinley tariff is to be indefinitely maintained, it will be at a cost in suffering and poverty which is at present impossible to estimate, and it may further involve a permanent lowering of the greatly improved standard of comfort which has been attained by the working classes of this country during the present century.

SECRETARY ELKINS made the following broad and comprehensive statement of the issue between protection and free trade in his West Virginia speech:

"At the time when most of the civilized countries of the world are adopting protection, and Bismarck, speaking for Germany, says, 'because it is my deliberate judgment that the prosperity of America is mainly due to its system of protective laws, I urge that Germany has now reached that point when it is necessary to imitate the tariff system of the United States,' and when Lord Salisbury, in speaking in May last on the condition of England, declared under free trade that 'industry is paralyzed and misery stalks abroad,' and said while free trade may be noble, it is not business, and in substance favored protection for England, Grover Cleveland and the Democratic party come forward in this campaign in the face of those facts and this testimony, and make war on protection, advocate free trade, and demand that raw materials should be free. The Democratic party has made the issue broadly and definitely. The Republican party meets it eagerly and is ready for the contest."

Why He Left the Party.
Branched News.
A Kansas man who has been affiliated with the Alliance party of that State for the past few years, having severed his allegiance thereto, has recently given his reasons for so doing.

1. Because it is run by lawyers without clients.
2. By doctors without patients.
3. By preachers without pulpits.
4. By women without husbands.
5. By farmers without farms.
6. By financiers without finance.
7. By creditors without debtors.
8. By statesmen who are out of a job.

Very truly,
C. W. FREED.

AN ENGLISH HOWL OF ANGUISH.

Mr. Cleveland's Election the Only Hope for British Manufacturers.

The Democratic campaign text book has appeared, and in it is the long-heralded chapter by ex-Secretary of the Treasury, Arthur S. Flemming, on the subject of the McKinley tariff. The chapter is a repetition of the 10 per cent. tax on State bank issues and a consequent return to the "wildcat" system of forty years ago.

Mr. Fairbairn is the only living Democrat that has ever been Secretary of the Treasury, and is therefore presumably the Democrat best able to defend the Democratic position on the subject of finance. He was selected for the purpose by the Democratic National Committee, and has handled it in the most conservative manner possible.

This was of course necessary to prevent a stampede of business men. If the Democratic campaign book should contain such matter as Democratic orators in the South and West utter in this subject, it would open the eyes of Eastern business men too wide to the real intentions of the Democratic party. Secretary Fairbairn's defense of the McKinley tariff, while not endorsing the United States protective system, and he admits that it has proved itself a most admirable system, and has accordingly all the objects for whose attainment it was designed. That will not please the Southern and Western Democrats, but they will swallow it for the sake of what follows.

Mr. Fairbairn goes on to allege that as the national banking system is founded on the Federal system, it must necessarily expire in 1907 at latest, and a substitute for it must be found. Then he goes on to argue that if the State banks were re-chartered, it would have a financial arrangement in harmony with the spirit of American institutions, a permanent Federal system and a local system of issue. This is the divergence that characterizes and gives strength to our fabric. The country is too extensive, the conditions and demands of the different sections too varied, to make it possible for the central government to supply a satisfactory currency for the entire country.

Finally, this repeal of the law would open the way for the establishment of a currency system, the responsibility of which would be placed on the State banks. When trade was active and the crops had to be moved the issues of State banks would supplement the national currency. These issues would be of great advantage to the interior localities where the need of them exists. Being the creatures of commerce, they would obey the laws of supply and demand, and when an increased circulation was needed to move the crops.

Not a word about the financial stability of the Southern States, and no word about the melancholy history of those institutions before the war. Not a word of explanation as to the manner in which their issues could be kept in circulation, and a glittering generality about their being in harmony with the spirit of American institutions.

If the national currency is to be abolished, where will be the "paramount Federal system" that Mr. Fairbairn talks about? Where will be the "national currency" that he talks about? Where will be the "national currency" that he talks about? Where will be the "national currency" that he talks about?

We advise all thoughtful business men to consider this matter very seriously. This is no imaginary danger that threatens us, it is imminent; and it cannot be averted except by the election of the Republican national ticket and a Republican Congress.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

The Pension Question.
From the New York Commercial Advertiser.
What right have the old rebel talkers in the South to talk about the "national burden," meaning the payment of pensions to Union soldiers? The South, as most people remember, had a great deal to do with making this national burden a necessity, and the least the old Johnny Red journalists have to say about it is the better.

The American Wool Interest.
Is the title of an exceptionally interesting pamphlet of 64 pages, just published by the American Protective Tariff League, and edited by Hon. Wm. Lawrence, President of the Ohio Wool Growers' Association. Every person who wants to know all about the wool question should send for a copy. Price, Six Cents.

The Garrett County School Commissioners have decided to have a public school celebration on the 21st and 22d of the present month at Oakland.

As many as possible of those interested in public education in Garrett county will be brought together. A teachers' institute will be held, which will be presided over by Prof. E. B. Prentiss, of the State Normal School.

The new postal cards are to be ready for the public by the middle of this month; that they will be found a great convenience by the business interests of the county is assured.

The new cards consist of a double sheet, folded and creased on a line, so that the reply card is sent with the original communication, to be torn off and returned.

Thus the sender can provide for a prepared answer. Though the device is wholly new to this country it has been in successful operation in Europe for a considerable time.

There is no reason why it should not prove at least equally useful here.

The Oakland flouring mill, situated on Water street and owned by Mr. H. A. Baskin, of Kennedy, Minnesota, is now standing adjacent to the farmers near Oakland at a serious inconvenience.

Just at this time on account of the fact that not another mill is in operation within a radius of six miles of Oakland.

The mill up to a short time ago had been leased and operated by Mr. Geo. M. Mason, but the machinery is in such bad repair that Mr. Mason will not renew the lease.

Something should be done and that speedily.

It is not unusual for colds contracted in the fall to hang on all winter. In such cases catarrh or chronic bronchitis are always sure to result. A five-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold. Can you afford to risk so much for so small an amount? This remedy is intended especially for bad colds and croup and can always be depended upon for sale by Druggists.

The order of Knights of Pythias was never in a more prosperous condition. The latest reports show that 97 lodges of 1,418 members exist. The order universal consists of 5,600 lodges, with a membership of 400,000, an increase of 110,000 members in two years. These lodges have a reserve fund of $5,729,890.11. Over one million dollars was paid out for the relief of their members in 1891. This unrivaled record was never excelled by any similar order.

Over in Pennsylvania the authorities are in great trouble about printing the election tickets under the new Baker law. The tickets will be four feet four inches long by twenty-four inches wide, and it will require fourteen thousand reams of paper to print them, and there is not a sheet of the size in the market.

The ballots will weigh about four hundred tons when printed, and the State Printer is in doubt as to his ability to have them all printed and delivered in time for the election.

There are forty-six cottages still occupied at Mountain Lake Park and a large number of persons remain at that delightful resort to enjoy the charming October weather. The past season has been the most successful the Park has ever known and a great many transfers of property are taking place. Within the past few days Rev. Dr. J. W. Young, of Wheeling, W. Va., purchased the residence of M. Z. Dawson for $1,100 cash. A. C. Brooke has sold his cottage, at the corner of Baltimore avenue and G street, to Dr. J. G. McLain, of Wheeling, W. Va., for $1,000. A great many lots have been sold, and which build- ings will be erected next season.

A meeting of the members of the Oakland bar to take action on the death of Col. Veitch was held on Wednesday in the office of Peddicord & Peddicord. Thomas J. Peddicord, Esq., was made chairman and Waring Thomas, Esq., secretary of the meeting. A committee consisting of Messrs. A. B. Gonder, E. H. Stowell and G. S. Hamill was appointed to draft a memorial and present it to the court at the December term. It was also decided to attend the funeral services in a body. A committee consisting of Messrs. E. Z. Tower, Waring Thomas and J. B. Fay was also appointed to accompany the remains to Prince George's county.

The Oakland correspondent of the "straight tip" in reference to the manner in which the business at the W. F. telegraph office is carried on: "If the Grand Army meeting at Washington accomplished nothing else, it effectually demoralized the running of passenger trains on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Nobody knows when to expect a train now-a-days. Being three or four hours late is a common occurrence, and is regarded as a matter of no consequence. The worst of all is we can't get a telegraph operator to let the people who are interested know when a train will probably reach Oakland. Passengers are compelled to stand around the station and wait two or three hours for a train, when the operator could save them all this inconvenience, if he could be induced to open his head. To be instructed by his superiors to pursue his course or to let pure conscience be his guide, it may be good railroading, but I doubt it. It is the same old story, let the public be damned."

There's No Use Talking.

The Public Roads Exhibition.

Nothing appears to impress so patriotic American citizens traveling abroad as the contrast between the public roads of the United States and those in Europe. The testimony to the excellence of the latter is everywhere. In England first class, while in France they actually surprise them to relieve travelers of the dust that may accumulate. The roads elsewhere in Europe are, with some modifications, "better" than they are; there are obvious reasons why European roads should be generally superior to those in America. The country is very much older and more thickly settled, and the people have engaged upon the problem of road-making for many hundreds of years, but there is no excuse, except ignorance and supineness, for the wretched condition of the majority of public roads in America.

It may not have been decided yet which is the most economical method of building roads, but this is really no reason why they should not be improved, why they should not be better than they are; indeed, why they should be actually impossible in many instances during long periods of the year. The improvement of the public roads will become in the near future a most important popular issue, and if the managers of the World's Fair will heed the advice given by the press, which has thus far been unanimous, the issue will arise as soon as that exhibition closes. The managers have been appealed to to make the public road exhibition separate and distinct from all others. The plan outlined in the circulars sent out by the directory is to give a part of the exhibition in one class and a part in another, thereby scattering it through a number of classes and buildings, and destroy all connection with the public.

There will be no exhibit of the World's Fair of more practical importance than road building, if it is made with skill and intelligence, but the proposal of the managers does not indicate such a purpose. It is not too late to alter the original intention, and group together all matters relating to road making and repairing of roads into one exhibit. The sentiments of all interested in the subject, so far as has been ascertained, are in favor of a distinct exhibit, and their wishes should be regarded. The millions of Americans who visit the Fair will then be able to examine intelligently the successful systems in operation, and determine for themselves which is the most economical, or which is best suited for the community in which they live. One of the prime objects of the Fair will in this way be accomplished, and the question of road-building, which the people must face very soon, greatly simplified. Such an exhibit would be an education upon the subject of road-building, and would at a number of people in every American community to act understandingly and inform those who were not so fortunate.

Questions of a vexatious character are likely to arise in connection with road-building as soon as the people awaken to the vital importance of good roads, but even in questions will be simplified, at some of them settled, if the World's Fair managers will remember their unwise decision and consult the wishes and interests of the public.

Johnsons.

The first of the season.—Snow Quite a number of our young folks visited Dan's Rock last Sunday.

The farmers are busy digging their potatoes, husking corn and plowing.

Miss Mary Weller, of Elk Lick, Pa., Fannie Barth of New Germany, and Minnie Blough, of Cumberland, were visiting friends here last week.

The fire clay mines are running full time. The company employ about 105 men and boys and the daily output is about 200 tons.

Messrs. Harrison Long, of Hoosier, Mich., Peter and Oscar Long, of Canal Dover, Ohio, Sam and George Garlitz, of Mongo, Ind., and Silas Clingman, of Waterloo, Iowa, were welcome visitors among friends last week.

Henry Ringel has improved his house by weather boarding it and giving it a coat of paint.

The Johnson school has no teacher. It is a school school and would be a very desirable place for some teacher who had not secured a school.

E. E. Finzel expects to start to Hagerstown, Md., about the 15th of November. He will enter Wolfe's Business College for a six months' course.

There are very few complaints that ever come from Number 9, but of late the people of this community have been very much annoyed by a gang of robbers. They entered the house of Chas. Bolden and stole a box of jewelry, a silver watch and a lot of other things amounting to the sum of about $20. Last Saturday night they entered the store of A. J. Nix and stole about $20 worth of goods. They also visited Henry Finzel's, John Finzel's, Andrew Rosenberg's and Francis McKusick's but they failed to get anything owing to the windows and doors being fastened and the people discovered they were about. Our advice is to keep your doors locked and windows fastened and a loaded shot gun to give them a warm reception should an opportunity present itself to do so.

On Friday morning a man driving a four-horse team through Mt. Lake Park stopped at a house which is being built for Miss Sallie Harris and loaded on his wagon six hundred brick which were to have been used in the building. The proceeding was witnessed by a servant who supposed the brick had been sold to some one. Search has been made for the party but so far he has not been apprehended.

Seven of the supreme officers of the Order of the Iron Hall were indicted at Indianapolis Saturday on the charge of embezzlement and converting to their own use $200,000 of the funds of the order. Among those indicted are E. W. Rouse, supreme trustee, Baltimore, Md. The Governor of Indiana will be asked for requisition on the Governors of other States for the persons indicted.

Every time a cigar-dealer takes a handful of cigars from a box and spreads them out on the top of the showcase for a purchaser to select from he violates one of the most stringent laws of the United States. The internal revenue law has a rigid provision to the effect that a retailer must not take cigars from the box after it has been packed and stamped. He should always hand out the box to his customers and let them select from it.

For the information of those who care to indulge in political prognostications and calculations, it may be interesting to state that in 1890 Mr. McKaig's majority was 165. Over 6,718 registered voters did not vote. With 2,082 votes back, Allegany county gave McKaig a majority of 310, and Garrett, with 642 back, gave him a majority of 259. In Washington county, with 1,371 votes back, General McKaig received a majority of 108; in Frederick, with 1,652 back, he received a majority of 35, while in Montgomery, where he was given a majority of 591, there were 642 votes back.

The old arsenal in which John Brown made his last fight at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., in 1859, has been transplanted to Chicago and was thrown open for visitors Saturday night. Captain Donovan, who was with Brown during his raid, was present and delivered a short lecture. It is the intention to fill the place with relics of the civil war.

Brakeman Albert Dawson, aged 25 years, son of Floyd Dawson, of Floyd, in this county fell from a freight train between Newburg and Tunnelton, on the Baltimore and Ohio Monday. When found he was dead, the train having passed over his legs near the body. His remains were taken to Keyser. He had been married only nine months.

John Wanamaker, whose name stands foremost in the commercial world, says: "I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising," and A. T. Stewart, who from a small beginning built up the greatest dry goods house in his time, said: "Frequent and constant advertising brought me all I own. He who invests one dollar in business should invest one dollar in advertising that business."

It is not unusual for colds contracted in the fall to hang on all winter. In such cases catarrh or chronic bronchitis are always sure to result. A fifty-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold. Can you afford to risk so much for so small an amount? This remedy is intended especially for bad colds and croup and can always be depended upon. For sale by Druggists.

Dr. Henry W. McComas, health officer of Oakland, in conjunction with the County Commissioners, who compose the Board of Health, is making vigorous efforts to have the town put in first-class sanitary condition. Notices have been served on a number of citizens requesting them to clean up their premises, and no pains will be spared to keep the town in the best possible condition to meet an epidemic of disease if one should come.

Every fall the timber and fencing in this mountainous country is more or less injured by forest fires, which, in many instances, are started by sparks from engines along the lines of the railroads. Leaves are now falling, and if the intensely dry weather continues a short time longer the destruction of property from forest fires will be very great. Farmers say there will scarcely be a fence left near the railroad, and they are greatly exercised over the outlook in this direction.

The following bit of news is taken from the Baltimore Sun, of Monday: Efforts are being made to extend the Oakland electric light system to Mountain Lake Park, Deer Park Hotel grounds and cottages are lighted with electricity, and the Park will endeavor to secure electric-light service from one of these places, as it lies between them. There is talk also of building an electric car road from Oakland to Mountain Lake Park, a distance of two miles. Such a road would be a great convenience and would pay handsomely.

Freight business is unusually heavy on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and it is almost impossible to move the vast quantities of freight which is daily being offered for transportation. On Sunday last the company secured from the West Virginia Central company three large freight engines and three similar ones from the Cumberland and Pennsylvania for the purpose of moving freight over the third division. Notwithstanding these efforts, a blockade remains at Keyser and another at Cherry Run, where freight is transferred to the Western Maryland road. Passenger traffic is in consequence greatly interfered with, and trains are running late.

There's No Use Talking.

There is a great deal of dissatisfaction expressed by the members of the defunct American Fraternal Circle about the delay in recovering any portion of the money due them. When the application for a receiver was made they were informed that all assessments in after that time would, in the event of the appointment of receivers, be returned to them without reduction. They were further informed that the court had passed an order to this effect for their protection. With this assurance all the members of the order here, except two or three, continued to pay their assessments regularly until the court determined to wind up the order. Many months have passed since the appointment of the receiver, and no part of the pendente lite fund has been returned to its owners.

The new bridge at Harper's Ferry will be 91 feet higher than the old bridge. The tunnel they are cutting under Maryland Heights will be 875 feet long, 20 feet high, 20 feet wide. The Harper's Ferry end of the new bridge will enter the town where the depot now stands, and will follow Stenandoah street to Potomac street then proceed south of the county road and the pulp mills to Island Park. The Company also intends building a fine commodious depot. They have at present about 150 hands, and are pushing the work day and night. It is understood they want, or will shortly want, about 700 hands. The contractors are under bond to complete the bridge and tunnel by March 1st, 1893. —Martinsburg Independent.

The prohibition party has been putting in some lively work in Allegany and Garrett counties. The principal speakers have been Mr. W. Frank Tucker, of Baltimore, and Rev. J. W. Steel, of Barton. The points at which the most enthusiastic meetings have been held are Barton, in Allegany; Friendsville, in Garrett, and a rousing meeting of the people in Westernport, of Allegany. The speaking at the latter point, however, was on the West Virginia side of the river, in the Piedmont Opera House. Prof. J. W. Wheatly, the campaign singer, has enlivened all these meetings with prohibition campaign songs, in which he makes many happy hits. The prohibitionists expect great gains in Western Maryland this year.

This is an age of stir. Men must move, and they must make their business move. The man who doesn't advertise in the newspaper is a back number. Men regard him as a curiosity—a relic, and the boys ask him where he got his hat. He is behind the times. The race to which he belongs is nearly extinct. The advertiser has most of the business the relic used to have, and will soon have the rest. And where will the relic be then? What can he do but to retire from the unequal struggle, and join his ancestors, in that silent city where nobody advertises—that place whose inhabitants are noted for being "unanimous" and for "letting well enough alone"? No trade revolution is more complete—none better established—than the change which has been worked in the matter of newspaper advertising. The merchant who doesn't use the advertising columns freely is doomed. The merchant who uses them freely and judiciously must reap great rewards. —Ex.

An organized gang of robbers seems to be infesting Garrett county. About three weeks ago the night operator in the telegraph office in Oakland was shot at by a masked man at 3 o'clock in the morning, but the murderer and a companion were scared away before they had time to take anything. On last Friday at Altoontown, a telegraph station on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, about nine miles east of Oakland, the night operator a short time after midnight, went out of his office to get a load of coal. He left his office door unlocked and upon his return he found the office in possession of two strange men, who commanded him to hold up his hands. They then searched him and the office. They secured only a small sum of money, but took a new suit of clothes belonging to the operator which he had just received.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is not only extending its lines, but showing up a sizable net increase of earnings month by month. Maryland's chief railway line is evidently getting out of the woods financially.

Dr. P. A. Skinner of Texarkana, Ark., is an enthusiast in the praise of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He used it for rheumatism, and says: "I found it to be a most excellent local remedy." For sale by Druggists.

The furniture factory and entire plant of H. Kolkhoust & Co., at Terra Alta, was sold at private sale on Monday to Isaac C. Smith for twenty-three hundred and fifty dollars cash. The firm failed a few days ago. The sale will pay all creditors in full.

The late Col. John W. Veitch was a member of the Knights of Honor and also of the American Legion of Honor, from which two orders his widow will receive seven thousand dollars. Proofs of death have been made out in both orders and forwarded for payment.

Rev. Dr. Benj. Ison is engaged in selling two beautiful books which would be an ornament to any house. Each of the books "is a thing of beauty" and may prove to be "a joy forever." The prices are very reasonable and the books should sell at sight.

The net gain in the registered vote of Garrett county over last year's lists is 171. The colored vote remains at thirty-three. Every district in the county has increased its vote except Bittinger, which loses fourteen. The greatest increase is in Oakland, which gains sixty.

David H. Loar, Esq., who resides on Main street, Oakland, raised in his garden the present season a pumpkin which weighs one hundred and twenty-seven and a quarter pounds. The weight is vouched for by a number of persons who were present at the weighing. How is that for Garrett county vegetables?

It is not unusual for colds contracted in the fall to hang on all winter. In such cases catarrh or chronic bronchitis are always sure to result. A fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold. Can you afford to risk so much for so small an amount? This remedy is intended especially for bad colds and croup and can always be depended upon for sale by Druggists.

It is said that Maj. Rathbone, fourth assistant Postmaster-General, will be a candidate for governor of Ohio. The genial major has a summer cottage in Oakland, and his many friends here would be glad to see him at the head of the Ohio machine. He understands the game of politics, and is a hustler from way back. If the major really wants the nomination the other aspirants had better keep an eye on him.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held at Selbyport in this county, last week at which the following were the officers: President, Jonas Erazee, secretary, Edward Stuck. E. H. Sinclair, Esq., was the orator of the occasion. The Republicans of that section are wide awake, and they will pole a strong vote.

Look Out for Us.
We will open the largest stock of Christmas goods, toys, etc., that ever came to Oakland.

ASLEEP IN DEATH.

At Twenty Minutes of Two O'clock Tuesday Morning the Angel Came and Bore

MRS. HARRISON'S SOUL Peacefully to Its Great Last Hours at the Bed-side of a Noble Woman.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Harrison died at 1.40 this morning.

Dr. Scott, Mrs. Harrison's venerable father, was the only member of the family now in Washington, not present when she died. Doctor Gardner was in an adjoining room, and was not present when his patient passed to the dark valley.

From one o'clock Mrs. Harrison was to all intents a corpse, her breathing being hardly perceptible and her respiration gradually decreased until 1.40 when she passed away. Her death was as peaceful as a child in repose.

President Harrison was at the right side of his wife in a reclining position from 1 o'clock when Dr. Gardner notified the family that the end was close at hand. In this position he remained until 1.40, when life was thought to be extinct and Lieut. Parker, who was at the bedside, called in Dr. Gardner, and the experienced eye of the physician soon detected that Mrs. Harrison was no more. The President gave way to almost audible outbursts of grief, but soon suppressed his emotion and endeavored to console Mrs. McKee, his daughter.

All the members of the family remained in the room for probably fifteen or twenty minutes after he death and then, overcome by grief, they repaired to their respective rooms and were alone in their great sorrow.

The first intelligence of Mrs. Harrison's death was communicated to the newspaper representatives who were grouped in a room assigned to the clerical force of the executive mansion by Mr. Montgomery, an employee. He then notified the press associations simultaneously that death occurred at 1.45, but at this juncture Private Secretary Halford, who witnessed Mrs. Harrison's death, said that the exact time was 1.40 and it was so communicated.

Lieut. Parker said, in speaking to the newspaper men, that death occurred without a struggle. Private Secretary Halford immediately notified all the cabinet officers, who are now out of town, of Mrs. Harrison's death.

Although no arrangements have been made for the funeral services, they will doubtless be held at the White House and the remains taken to Indianapolis for interment.

Dr. Gardner left the bedside about 2 o'clock and after conversing with the waiting newspaper correspondents went home on foot, having previously given orders to his coachman that he would remain all night, if necessary.

During the evening there was received at the Executive Mansion telegrams of condolence from all parts of the country expressing sympathy for the President in his hour of grief. These communications will not be given the public until later in the day.

MRS. HARRISON'S LAST HOURS.
About six o'clock Monday night Private Secretary Halford said that Dr. Gardner had stated that Mrs. Harrison might live until eight o'clock.

Shortly afterwards advice was received by wire at the White House that a story had originated to the west that Mrs. Harrison was dead. It gradually worked its way east, and in a short time several telegrams of condolence were received. Mr. Montgomery, in charge of the telegraph department, immediately answered the messages to the effect that there was no truth in the story, and its circulation was premature.

At seven o'clock a message was received from John N. Scott, Mrs. Harrison's brother, stating he would leave Port Townsend, Washington, at once. The family had been endeavoring to reach Mr. Scott, who is Mrs. Harrison's only brother, since Saturday, but had been unable to locate him until to-day. He had been absent from home on business. It will be impossible for him to reach here before Friday or Saturday.

The President passed the entire day at the bedside of his dying wife. He did not enter the office portion of the building. In the morning, during the two hours, when it seemed that death was imminent he stood over the bedside, holding the hand of his stricken partner and breath by breath they fought back the invader together and won a few more hours of earthly communion.

The result of the long strain upon the President is a matter of serious concern to his friends, but it is believed that he will be able to endure it to the end, with the same confidence and trust that has made him such a comfort to others in hours of their deepest distress.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock Dr. Gardner made his fifth visit of the day to the White House, and as this had been fixed by him when a change would occur, his reappearance was anxiously awaited by the newspaper men gathered about the door. In the meanwhile it was feared that for the third time in the course of the day, Mrs. Harrison had overcome what it seemed must be fatal nervous attacks.

Most of the family were at the supper table and were summoned thence to the sick room. The patient, however, again rallied and entered upon the sleep that follows these incidents of the progress of the case. Marvellous is the only word that fitsly characterizes the vitality which Mrs. Harrison displays in these repeated attacks. The doctor determined to remain then with Mrs. Harrison and sent word to the ushers to direct that his carriage be driven home without him.

The White House has been all day and night the centre of interest and inquiry in Washington. From dawn there was a steady stream of callers who left their cards after making inquiries of Mrs. Harrison's condition. Among these were Count and Countess Sponeck, of the Danish legation; Hon. Mr. Herbert, English charge d'affaires; Baron Kettler, German charge d'affaires; Mr. Grim, Swedish minister; Baron Struve, Russian minister; Ugreditch Effendi, Norwegian, secretary Turkish legation; Dr. Guzman, Nicaraguan minister; Dr. C. C. Travel, secretary Swiss legation; Dr. and Senora Yrigoyen, of the Peruvian legation, and a great number of friends in social and official life.

Attorney General Miller came over in the afternoon from the Department of Justice, and remained some time; and in the evening after the arrival of the train from Chicago, bearing the cabinet visitors to the World's Fair dedication, Secretary and Mrs. Noble and Secretary Tracy called. In nearly every instance messages of love and sympathy were inscribed on the cards for the President and Mrs. McKee.

The coming and the going of Dr. Gardner was watched by a crowd of newspaper people congregated on the portico, and they eagerly received the physician's statements of the condition of his patient at the close of each visit. Dr. Gardner's responses to inquiries were always frank and full, concealing or withholding nothing.

The house was closed to sight-seers and tourists for the first time since the illness of Mrs. Harrison began, and notwithstanding the widely-published statements of her critical condition, there was nearly the usual number of these visitors who applied for admission. The executive force of the Mansion gathered at their usual desks, but no labor was done beyond the receiving and dispatching of telegrams. It was impossible to do work under the shadow that lay all the time over the house. The forces remained after the usual hour for closing and were joined in the evening by representatives of the press associations and several other newspaper men.

There's No Use Tinkering.

Columbus Day.

Friday was all that could be desired to celebrate Columbus day and bright and early on that morning, not only the business places in Oakland but nearly all the private houses were a blaze of color from the waving of the red, white and blue.

In the afternoon upwards of one hundred and fifty children met at the school house and marched down the street to Offutt's hall, which had been tastefully decorated for their reception. The children marched up to the hall, and after going on to the stage all joined in prayer led by Rev. G. W. Kepler, pastor of the M. E. church, after which the national anthem and salutation of the flag by the children was sung, who then marched to their seats in the hall, and the following program carried out:

Song by the choir, "Columbus"; reading by Miss Lizzie Leary; recitation, "The First to Meet Columbus," by Miss Annie Grant; song, "Star Spangled Banner," by choir; reading, by Miss Martha Hinebaugh; address, used in national program, by Mr. Wm. Hinebaugh; address, by Rev. W. L. Leisher, of the Lutheran church; "Hymn of Prayer," by the choir; address, by Dr. Alexander, of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. G. S. Hamill was then called upon to address the children, and he did so in a very able way.

Mrs. Knorr deserves a great deal of credit for the very great energy which she used in getting up the affair in all its branches.

Wines at Corbett.

Joseph E. Godt, of Rowlesburg, employed as a brakeman on the way-train, was instantly killed at Corbett on last Saturday.

His train had backed down to the mines operated by the Oakland Coal and Coke Company to couple on some loaded cars, and it is supposed that he was standing on a coal hopper and was struck by a coal chute as the train was pulling out to the main track.

His remains were brought to Oakland where they were encased in a coffin and sent to his home in Rowlesburg for burial.

Eyes Examined Free.

Prof. Samuel S. Little, the graduate optician of Cumberland, will visit Oakland again Nov. 7 and 8, at Dr. H. W. McComas' office, where you can have your eyes fitted with properly adjusted glasses. Hours from 10 to 5.

Warning.

Warning is hereby given to a certain class of people called Christians living at Mt. Zion. On Thursday, the 20th inst., they enticed us from our quiet home in the M. E. parsonage at Grantsville to a point on the old National pike, known as the "Half Way House," where we were surrounded by a company of fifty-eight strong and without any notice whatever we were most substantially pounded. We were held until the midnight hour when they dispersed, leaving us in the custody of the proprietor of said house and his estimable lady.

Had they been our enemies we could have borne it, but they were our friends, even our own parishioners. We received not only ten strokes, save one, but the more substantial part consisted of money and other home comforts to the amount of thirty dollars in all. Noted among other things was a purse containing a five dollar bill and a sample of the soil as found on the farm of Geo. Blocher, by name. On close analysis, in a bag containing one pound of sand there was found to be gold, five dollars; silver, 15 cents, and copper, 2 cents.

This is our third year among this people and if they continue such habits, the end no man can see.

We know they will not receive their just deserts in this world, but feel assured that when they stand before a just Judge, they will receive full reward for all their doings.

Communicated.

To the editor of the Republican.

My dear sir:—I see by the Selbyport news that some one has sent out the report that I have dropped to the Democratic party.

Now what would I flop for? Would it be for free trade or wildcat money? These are the two important things in the Democratic platform and in Grover Cleveland's letter of acceptance.

Free trade and wildcat money are what the Democrats want. I don't, as I am a victim of wildcat money and now have some of it in my possession which is a dead loss to me.

No! I am just as black a Republican to-day as ever, and when any of the dear boys at Selbyport think I am not, just let them go up to Jones Frazee's store and cover the money I have sent there to place on "Grandfather's Hat" that he is the next elected President.

I to-day live in a house that my Democratic friends built for me four years ago, and I think after November they will build me a better one, as I don't believe the good thinking people of the United States want money that going from one State to another will have to stand discount and which a man don't know will be worth anything by the time he gets home.

To the gentleman who circulated this report:—No! I have not gone crazy enough to vote the Democrat ticket and do not think I shall ever lose my mind to such an extent as to do it. I think every man who votes for free trade and wildcat money is trying to cut his own throat by so doing, and therefore I am a Republican once, last and all the time.

Yours respectfully,
CHARLES F. FRAZEE.

To the Afflicted.

A wonderful cure of cancer of Mrs. Isabel Pugh, wife of James Pugh, living in District No. 10, has been accomplished by Prof. L. C. Merrill, cancer and tumor specialist. 20 days previous to this she was treated by Rev. Evers, so-called cancer specialist. For 10 months when he (Evers) commenced treating her it was the size of a bulled walnut, at the end of 10 months under his treatment, it measured 18 inches around. She suffered the agonies of death under his treatment and life was almost hopeless. There are many so-called cancer specialists that are not competent in that line of business, only grabbing hundreds of dollars from the poor sufferers and doing no good, but causing a slow painful death. My method of treatment is, no cure, no pay, until removed vegetable extract is my knife.

One of the latest applications of electricity to mining operations is seen in a lead mine in Belgium. Each bucket arriving at the top of the shaft makes an electric contact, and a needle in the office indicates, by a red line upon a revolving drum, the number of buckets brought up.

The Red Star steamship Rhyndland, which arrived at New York, had a curious run of "eleven." She made voyage from Antwerp in eleven days, eleven hours and eleven minutes. Her average speed was eleven miles an hour. On October 11 she steamed 311 miles, and was eleven hours under sail.

An important invention has recently been perfected by a Froberger. This is a traveling ladder which enables one to propel himself along the top row of shelves in a store without descending to the floor. This invention was made by Henry Fresh, of the firm of H. Fresh & Brother, and he has applied for a patent. Mr. Fresh is a son of Commissioner Jacob Fresh and in the hardware business in Froberg.

Mr. Geo. M. Mason informed THE REPUBLICAN on Monday that he was making arrangements to have a first class roller flour mill in operation in Oakland between now and next fall. He will either buy a site in town and erect a mill or purchase the Rasche mill on Water street. If the old mill is purchased by Mr. Mason he will tear it down and rebuild one of a more modern and improved class.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventative and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Movements of Prominent Persons Known to the Readers of "The Republican."

John W. Harvey, Esq., of Vinton Mills, was in town Monday morning and called to see THE REPUBLICAN.

Rev. L. A. Radisill preached a very interesting sermon in the E. church last Sunday. He was the guest of the editor, and of Geo. Carskadon. Rev. Mr. Jones was able to attend church much to the delight of the people.—Kingwood Echo.

Hon. John P. Jones, of Terra Alta, and Mrs. S. T. Jones and children, of Oakland, were in town on Thursday. Mr. Jones returned on the evening train.—Kingwood Journal.

Geo. E. Bishoff, of Hoyes, was a pleasant caller on Friday.

Miss Fanny Sweet, who has been visiting Mrs. Leah F. Sineell and other relatives in Oakland for several months, returned to her home in Monaca, Pa., Friday. She was accompanied thence by the editor.

Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Scott, who spent their honeymoon with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Scott in Oakland, returned to Pittsburgh, their future home, on Friday last.

A. F. George, of Swanton, was here on business Monday.

Frank Schofield, of Baltimore, came up to Deer Park on Sunday to attend the funeral of his uncle, the late C. H. Tillson. Mr. S. spent Monday in Oakland visiting his aunt, Mrs. E. M. Spedden.

Editor Litzinger was in Cumberland on Friday of last week.

J. N. Smouse, Esq., proprietor of the Terra Alta Hotel, of Terra Alta, W. Va., was in Oakland on Friday.

Miss Gertie Litzinger, of Grafton, W. Va., was visiting her brother, Mr. J. M. Litzinger, on Third street, the latter part of last and the first part of this week.

Mrs. John B. Fay went to Cumberland on Monday.

Mrs. James O. Cleveland and two children, who have been visiting in Frostburg for a few weeks, returned to Oakland Monday.

George Grim spent last week visiting relatives and friends in Hagerstown and vicinity.

Rohrer's fat man, Joseph Miller, was here this week.

Mr. J. T. Silcox, of Connellsville, Pa., is operating the flour mill at Swanton for C. T. West. Mr. Silcox is an excellent miller and is doing satisfactory work for his patrons.

Misses Nettie Beck and Lola Cross, of Piedmont, spent Tuesday in Oakland visiting friends.

Rev. W. E. George, of Deer Park, was in Oakland on Tuesday on business.

Attorney T. J. Paddock made a professional visit to Terra Alta on Tuesday.

J. W. Harvey, Esq., of Wilson, W. Va., was in town on Monday.

Miss Lillian Turley, who has been visiting relatives down in the Shenandoah Valley for some time, returned to her home near Oakland on Monday night.

Mr. E. J. West took the voting booths to three districts down in the county on Tuesday. He was accompanied by Mrs. West and little daughter.

Many of the farmers throughout the county have completed corn husking. Never before in the last fifteen years have the farmers had so much fall work completed so early as this, but the fine weather for the last six weeks has enabled them to accomplish very much. Usually corn husking is not completed until the first of November, while many of the farmers do not get through with it until the middle of November.

A rather unique institution is to be founded in New York. It is to be devoted to instruction in fire extinguishing and will be called the New York School of Fire Extinguishment. Ex-Chief Shaw of the New York fire department will be in charge. The enterprise, however, will be a private one. Many practical firemen will deliver lectures. The school will have a complete outfit in the way of fire apparatus.

Facts that are Convincing.

On Monday afternoon Mr. C. C. Harvey, of Garrett county, was in Oakland and paid this office a business visit. While chatting with the editor Mr. Harvey gave us a short history of his experience in sheep raising and wool growing. He said, among other things: "I will tell you how I have made a living since I became unfit for work on account of rheumatism. In the spring of 1889 I purchased 69 head of sheep for $164.22. Since that time the 69 head have increased in number, the breed of the sheep has been improved and now I have 106 head of the finest sheep to be found in any part of the country. During the time I had the flock I have sold wool and live sheep to the amount of over $900, and if I can always get 25 cents per pound for my wool I will never go out of the sheep business, but if the tariff is taken off the business will become unprofitable and I will be pushed to the wall, because it would not pay me to sell wool at 12 cents per pound which would surely be the case should the Democrats again come into power, but as long as the reins of the government are in the hands of the Republicans I am safe and will invest my money and labor in this profitable line of business."

The above should be convincing to any one who has any doubts as to the benefits to be derived in this branch of business under the workings of the McKinley law.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. If given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. There is no danger in giving this Remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

The best plaster.—Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

A very painful if not serious accident befell a young man named John Stevens who resides in the east end of Oakland. On Monday morning he was down in a well which he has been engaged in digging at the residence of U. C. Michaels when the heavy iron bound bucket used in hauling out the dirt slipped from the rope to which it was fastened and descended upon his head, cutting two very bad scalp wounds and cracking his skull. As soon as possible he was brought to the top and Dr. H. W. McComas summoned who dressed his wounds and sent him home in a carriage. He is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

When it is considered that the largest existing public library, that of the French government at Paris, contains as yet but 3,300,000 volumes, and that ample space exists in the edifice now rising on Capitol Hill for storing more than twice number, it will be perceived that the wants of the future are well cared for. While nearly every government edifice appears to have been built only for a generation, and its uses have long overgrown its limits, this one, through the far-sighted liberality of Congress, will provide room for nearly two centuries to come. The ultimate cost is limited to six millions of dollars, a sum somewhat less than half the cost of the Capitol or of the large building erected for the accommodation of the state, war and navy department. The library building covers very nearly the same space as such of these government buildings (about three acres), and is constructed of solid granite, with iron, brick and marble interior courts and numerous windows render it the best lighted and best ventilated library of large proportions yet erected.

A GREAT MEETING.

Of Republicans in Oakland on Monday Night.

The stage in Offatt's Hall never looked so handsome as it did on last Monday evening when the largest and most enthusiastic political meeting ever known was held in Oakland.

The stage was handsomely decorated with palms, blooming plants, bunting, flags and life size portraits of Mr. Harrison, Mr. Reed and Mr. Wellington.

The people that came to this meeting was from all sections of the county and showed by their enthusiasm what they intended doing on next Tuesday when they are called upon to cast their ballots.

The vast crowd was called to order by County Chairman Sollars who appointed the following gentlemen as officers of the meeting: Chairman, E. H. Sineell; secretary, J. C. Peddie and Percy H. Veitch; vice-presidents, A. F. George, Jonas Frazee, A. S. Sell.

The chairman, in a few well chosen remarks, introduced Mr. Benj. A. Richmond, of Cumberland, who held the undivided and wrapt attention of the audience for over an hour. During Mr. Richmond's speech he was very frequently applauded. He spoke upon the tariff, money question, the work of the late 52nd Congress and showed up in its true light the meaning of those clouded clauses in the Democratic platform.

After the band had discoursed a piece of music Mr. Wellington was introduced and was greeted with loud and prolonged applause. Mr. Wellington was suffering very much with a severe cold and was very hoarse from frequent speaking, he having spoken every night for over six weeks in different parts of the district, but notwithstanding this his was a masterly piece of oratory and eloquence as was evidenced by the attention paid him by the audience. Mr. Wellington spoke for considerable over an hour. He dwelt at some length upon all questions at issue and proved conclusively by his able argument that the Republican party was the true friend of the people and that it should be the party to come off victor next Tuesday at the polls. Mr. Wellington paid a glowing tribute to the McKinley law and proved beyond doubt that it is working out for the laboring classes and the farmers all that was intended it should do. The money question claimed his attention next in which some very interesting facts were shown and proven. His speech closed at 9.45.

At the close of Mr. Wellington's address several handsome bouquets of hot house flowers were showered upon him by the ladies of the audience, the receipt of which was acknowledged with a smile and a profusion of thanks.

During the evening the Oakland band furnished some excellent music.

After the meeting adjourned an informal reception was held at the stage door and the speakers of the evening were kept busy for some time shaking hands and receiving congratulations.

A quantity of tin, made in Baltimore, was passed around among those remaining in the hall, a small piece of which can be seen at THE REPUBLICAN office.

Mr. Wellington and Mr. Richmond departed on Tuesday morning for Cumberland.

Eyes Examined Free.

Prof. Samuel S. Little, the graduate optician of Cumberland, will visit Oakland again Nov. 7 and 8, at Dr. H. W. McComas' office, where you can have your eyes fitted with properly adjusted glasses. Hours from 10 to 5. 35-29

Mr. Moore, the postmaster at Bradshaw, Va., after reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, concluded to try a small bottle of it. He says: "I used it in two cases for colic and three for diarrhea with perfect satisfaction. It was handled and used a great deal of patent medicine but never tried any that gave as good results as this." For sale by druggists.

Everyone is invited to attend the Republican Club meeting in Sturgis' Hall on Friday night at which time the manner of voting and marking the ballots will be illustrated.

Died.

JONES.—On Tuesday morning about 1 o'clock, Claude the four-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones at Deer Park. The funeral occurred on Thursday from the M. E. church, Rev. U. E. Feather, officiating.

SNYDER.—Daisy May, of typhoid fever, aged 13 years and 11 months, after four weeks suffering. Daisy was the youngest of three girls and was of a very gentle nature, always making every one around her happy. She was conscious to the end and never murmured during her four weeks sickness.

It will be remembered that a brother died of diphtheria only a month ago which makes two vacant seats in the house.

WOLF.—Very suddenly on Friday night at her home in Dist. No. 7, Mrs. Edward Wolf.

TILLSON.—On Friday morning last at his home in Deer Park, after an illness of a few weeks, Clarence Herbert Tillson, son of the late E. C. Tillson, aged about 33 years. He was born in Barredville, Md. and on Nov. 17, 1859, was married to Miss Mollie A. Head at Deer Park. A more extended notice will appear in a later issue.

Maryland Christian Endeavor Union.

The third annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Societies of Maryland will be held in the Immanuel Baptist Tabernacle, Baltimore, on Thursday and Friday, December 8th and 9th.

A very interesting programme is being prepared, including addresses by prominent Christian Endeavor Workers, Free Parliament, Open Meeting on Missionary, Junior and Committee Work, Early Morning Prayer Meeting, Pastor's Hour, Junior Rally, etc., etc.

The Convention will particularly emphasize Junior Work, Missionary Efforts and Systematic Bible Study, and increased interest along these lines is expected among the Societies throughout the State.

The music will be a special feature, a choir of 75 or 100 voices now being in training for the occasion. The Committee expect the railroad to grant a reduced fare from all points in the State. The Committee of arrangements is as follows: Programme, W. C. Perkins; Entertainment, L. H. Bennett; Reception, F. R. Haynes; Transportation, Rev. O. F. Gregory D. D.; Music, C. E. Anderson; Press, Jas. O. Moul; Ushers, J. R. Tiley; Registration, J. C. Dunbracco.

Married.

JONES—BREMER.—On Oct. 27th, 1890, by the Rev. G. W. Kepler, at the Commercial Hotel, Oakland, Mr. Harry F. Jones and Miss Myrtle L. Bremer, both of Laurel Point, W. Va.

Our state exchange for some weeks have contained numerous items relating to the dry weather and its effects upon the crops. The drought has now been continued so long that wells are failing, streams are running dry, the water supply of mills is giving out and matters are assuming a serious aspect. Farmers in many localities are reduced to the necessity of hauling water from a distance for culinary purposes and for watering their stock. In short, the drought is being felt all over the state. Not that the situation is alarming, but it is beginning to assume a troublesome and inconvenient phase which only several drizzling rains can relieve. What the prospects are for such a blessing cannot be stated.

The weather is frequently dry at this season, and now that September and October has passed without rain, there is no certainty that November will bring it. However, the lack of showers is very widespread, extending to all parts of the Atlantic States and the Mississippi Valley. Happily the serious part of the dry weather comes at a period when it does comparatively little harm. Fall-corn wheat is about the only crop to be injured, and aside from the inconvenience of a short water supply, the farming communities are not suffering as they would do at other seasons. Two months' drought at the beginning of summer would have ruined the harvests, whereas they have been gathered in good quality if not in plenty.—Herald.

Can They be Trusted?

It is argued by the Democratic press, and especially by the tariff party end of it, that as the Democrats are equally interested in maintaining a sound currency with the Republicans, that they can be trusted to do nothing to impair it. But can they be trusted?

Not if their future conduct is to be anything like their past.

Their persistent endeavor has been to degrade the currency and to undo right or wrong every vestige of legislation put on the statute books by the Republicans.

The fact of the business is that the old South rules the Democratic party and they have announced their determination to wipe out every vestige of war legislation, and it is well known that they have had an especial grudge against the National Banking system.

You might as well say that the Democratic party could be trusted to maintain our protective tariff system that has done so much for the country.

It will be remembered that when a measure was before Congress to refund the National debt at a lower rate of interest the Democrats opposed it.

When the measure was adopted to resume specie payment so as to place our currency on a par with gold the Democrats opposed it.

They also tried to debase the currency and dishonor the credit of the Nation by paying off the bonds in Greenbacks, and later, they lent aid and encouragement to the Greenback and Fiat money craze and two years ago nine out of ten Democratic papers in the country were advocating free silver for the very purpose of debasing the circulating medium.

No, the Democratic party can't be trusted to tinker with our monetary system.

They pretended to favor a reduction of duties, but two years ago when the Republicans proposed to give the people free sugar every Democrat voted against it.

When it was proposed to demand of the South American republics that they take the high duties off of United States products in exchange for the admission of their products free, every Democrat voted against it.

Cuba had a duty of twenty-five dollars per barrel on our flour, and we asked Spain to allow our flour and other products to go to Cuba free, or at a reduced rate of duty, in exchange for the admission of sugar free, and every Democrat voted against it.

A STRIKING PARALLEL.

Benjamin Harrison—Letter of Acceptance:

"The Union soldiers and sailors are now veterans of time as well as of war. The parallels of age have approached close to the citadels of life, and the end, for each, of a brave and honorable struggle is not far remote. Increasing infirmity and years give the minor tones of sadness and pathos to the mighty appeal of service and suffering.

The ear that does not listen with sympathy and the heart that does not respond with generosity are the ear and heart of an alien and not of an American. Now soon again the surviving veterans are to parade upon the great avenue of the national capital and every tribute of honor and love should attend the march. A comrade in the column of the victors' parade in 1865 I am not less a comrade now."

And Mr. McKaig has not yet taken the pains to emphatically declare from the rostrum that he does not endorse Mr. Brown's utterances. Mr. McKaig by his silence, endorses Mr. Brown's opinion of the old soldier.

CLEVELAND takes "no stock in pensions."

THE Democrat takes "no stock in pensions."

UNDER the leadership of Benjamin Harrison the Republican party is marching to victory.

GROVER CLEVELAND in his letter of acceptance silently endorses the repeal of the tax taking State banks.

THE Democratic party is the avowed enemy of everything looking toward the betterment of the laboring and farming classes.

IF THERE is anything in the modern art of mind reading it ought to be applied to Mr. Cleveland, to ascertain what he really means in his letter of acceptance.

THE Democratic party contains many politicians who are not free traders. But it is dominated by the free trade element as thoroughly as before the war it was dominated by the slavery interest.

This wildcat money clause in the Chicago platform is the meanest and most cowardly piece of demagoguery ever resorted to by a political party claiming to be respectable.

The fact that the People's party was anxious to make Judge Gresham its candidate for President was pretty good evidence that the character of his Republicanism had become shaky.

Persons desiring to vote the straight Republican ticket will make a X mark in the square opposite on the statute books in the bust of Abraham Lincoln. No other mark than the above is necessary.

ACCORDING to the New York Sun, there are forty different kinds of tariff reform in the Democratic party, and Mr. Cleveland, in his letter of acceptance, has attempted to speak for all of them.

IF THE Mountain Democrat or any of its writers will prove that THE REPUBLICAN made a statement during the present campaign that cannot be upheld we will be pleased to acknowledge the wrong.

OUT of the forty-four States in the Union, twenty-six are Republican, and in these the average wages of farm labor is $1.33 per day. The remaining eighteen are Democratic, and in these the average wages of farm labor is 87 cents a day! See Report 73, page 306, Department of Agriculture.

THE WORLD not only moves, but we occasionally see evidences of tremendous strides. For instance: The Chicago Herald, the leading PARALLEL.

James G. Brown, member of the Democratic County Central Committee of the District of Columbia, in a speech at Kensington, Montgomery county, Md., at a Democratic ratification meeting:

"The Republican party and the Harrison administration are responsible for every dollar that is paid those who played soldier during the war and who still pride themselves on their work at that time."

"The Grand Army is a dangerous and corrupt political organization, always ready to defend with bayonet the unconstitutional and dirty work of the party that feeds them."

"These mercenary warriors, these pauper soldiers, these hangers on around the leaders of the Harrison party, I understand are soon to be housed and fed in Washington city. They are to be entertained upon a large sum of money which they and the Republican members in the Senate 'lobbed' through Congress."

"The parks and public squares are also to be reserved for these defenders of the negro, whose vote is always for sale wherever he resides, and the respectable people are asked to open their homes to them."

"In the Capitol of the Nation these men are to hold high carnival at the expense of you and me and others, whose constitutional right they abridge. It was created by the Republican party for Congress, and as in the past, is still utilized to further the schemes of the corrupt organization."

"We leave the question to be decided by the voters at the polls next Tuesday."

THE Force bill at present on the statute books was framed by Abram S. Hewitt and S. S. Cox, two pretty good Democrats. The law provides for Federal supervision of Federal elections in cities of 30,000 or over. The Lodge bill is simply proposed to extend its operation to the whole country. From present appearances, there are few Southern cities entitled to it where the Federal Election law will not be in force this fall at the request of white men, lither Democratic, who find themselves deprived of the right of suffrage by the regular Democratic organization. They see no danger of negro domination in appealing to the Federal Election law to protect them in their rights.

THE Mountain Democrat says, "Mr. McKaig, in his speech at Offutt's Hall declared the charge that he had said he took no stock in pensions, a lie." The Democrat says it is a fair journalism for us to repeat this charge after the denial. Will, the case stands this way: Several respectable gentlemen, just as truthful as Gen. McKaig, say they heard him say he "took no stock in pensions." One gentleman says he heard Mr. McKaig deny the charge. This is a case where the preponderance of testimony governs. We are bound to take the statement of several gentlemen in preference to one. The evidence is against Mr. McKaig and he "takes no stock in pensions." Do you see?—FROM THE REPUBLICAN OF OCT. 31, 1890.

THE Chicago Herald calls itself a good Democratic newspaper. So stating it has the courage to avow the party principle; but it must make the title candidate, Cleveland's, flesh creep to hear it talk like this:

"The Herald supports the Democratic position that protection must go, whether it be high or low, direct or incidental, avowed or discriminate. It makes war on all tariff trusts, big and little, alike. It trumps its guns as readily upon the monopolies and scoundrels in the Democratic ranks as upon the audacious and undisguised robbers in the protection camp. It knows that no man who believes in any degree of protection can conscientiously remain in the Democratic lines as they are drawn in this campaign, and it shows its loyalty to a free tariff or a free-trade purpose. The Herald demands that these traitors be driven out of the Democratic party."

THE Irish World of the 15th has a sensation which is displayed thus: "A Leading Democrat's Opinion of Irishmen—It is the vilest utterance that has ever been expressed by the Most Bigoted Enemy of the Irish Race—The Republican Calumniator (R. B. Roosevelt) is Now Treasurer of the National Democratic Campaign Committee."

"The inhabitants of the Emerald Isle are certainly a magnificent race, especially when their horrid barbarism is taken from them, and when they are free to run for alms, and if they did not beg, steal, cheat, rob and murder, get drunk, perjure themselves, quarrel and fight, they

DEMOCRATIC OR THE WEST, EXPERIENCES AN IMPULSE OF HONESTY AND FAITH.

The quotation is from page 50 of the Roosevelt's "Free Acres Too Much." The book was published in 1882 by O. Judd & Co., of No. 751 Broadway. It was on the market for a long time, but at present it cannot be obtained at any price.

THERE was no state papers issued during President Cleveland's administration where there was such a studied effort to be funny as when the pension bills of old soldiers were before him. In the case of his veto of the pension of Andrew J. Wilson, he said:

"Whatever else may be said of this claimant's achievements during his short military career, it must be conceded that he accumulated a great deal of disability."

In the case of Alfred Denny: "The number of instances in which those of our soldiers who rode horses during the war were injured by being thrown forward on their saddles indicates that those saddles were very, very dangerous contrivances."

In the case of John Ferris: "The ingenuity developed in the constant and persistent attacks upon the public treasury by those claiming pensions and in the increased demands already granted, is exhibited in bold relief by this attempt to include some eyes among the results of diarrhea."

Let old veterans read these carefully.—INTER OCEAN.

THE explanation given by Eastern Democratic newspapers of the wildest currency plank of the Chicago platform is characteristically dishonest. "They didn't mean it," say these evasive party organs. "Mr. Cleveland as president would never allow it," they add. They must know from their Southern newspaper exchanges that that wing of the party, which easily controls the whole party, enthusiastically indorses the declaration of the platform. They lightly impute dishonesty to their candidate in asserting that he repudiates this plank, when he has actually indorsed it by saying nothing in his letter on the subject. They know that if President Harrison is defeated the Republicans will probably lose both the House of Representatives and the Senate. In case, then, of Cleveland's death and Adam Stevenson's succession, they know that a flood of the wildest and unsoundest possible financial legislation by the Democratic Congress would meet no opposition from the White House, but rather encouragement. These are the dangers the people must contemplate.

That Free Coal Bill and Mr. McKaig. For the benefit of those people who do not read the Congressional Record we republish the bill regarding free coal that was introduced at the last session of Congress, by John F. Andrews, of Massachusetts, read twice and ordered to be printed:

326 CONGRESS, 2d SESSION.
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
January 3, 1892.
House passed, referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. ANDREW introduced the following bill:
A BILL
To admit coal and iron ore free of duty into the United States.
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That coal and iron ore, when imported into the United States from a foreign country, be admitted free of duty.

Sec. 2. That all coal or parts of coal, so far as the same are transported in bulk, are hereby repealed.

This bill will come up at the next session of Congress to be debated and voted upon. Will Mr. McKaig vote against it? Well, no, we do not think he can consistently do so. Here is his record on the bills affecting the tariff imposed by Mr. McKinley's measure of protection:

Mr. McKaig voted for free wool. To place cotton ties on the free list.

To put tin plate on the free list.

And when it came to voting on the lumber question, Mr. McKaig was absent.

Now then, these measures are all Democratic measures, and Mr. McKaig is a Democrat, therefore he voted for them.

Is there any assurance that he will vote to protect coal? We might pause till our hair gets snowy white for a reply to this query from Mr. McKaig, for it is a well-known fact that neither he nor any of his organs ever answer any such questions; therefore assuming that Mr. McKaig is a Democrat, and knowing that he has voted with his party on all questions affecting the tariff, we declare most emphatically that Mr. McKaig when the bill number 189 comes up, will fall in line and vote with the man who introduced it and with the Democratic party who will be obliged to support it.

This bill means free coal. Minors of Garrett county, will you vote for McKaig?

The Force Bill Has Arrived. A News From Allenton.

And, strange to say, with all the howl about a "Force Bill," we have had one on the statute books all the time, now to be revived and enforced by and for the benefit of the Democrats themselves! The news comes that John H. McDowell and other leading Democrats of Middle and West Tennessee have applied to the Democratic Judge of the United States Circuit Court, Howell E. Jackson, for the enforcement of section 2,045 of the Revised Statutes relating to the appointment of Federal supervisors of registration and election where Representatives of Congress are to be elected on Nov. 8, 1892.

The judge has granted the petition and now the Old Nick is to pay.

The country is going to ruin and "nigger domination" is sure to follow.

Pete Turner will no doubt have the Supreme Bench long enough to organize an emigration party to leave the country, or else head a brigade of moskos to wipe the face of the earth up with McDowell and his Buchanan cohorts.

INSTRUCTIONS.

For Voting the Above Ticket.

A X made in the large space to the right of emblem at head of party ticket means a vote for all the names in that column and no other X is required.

A X made in small space at right of name of candidate means a vote for the particular person opposite whose name the X is placed and no other.

A X made at the right of emblem and also opposite one or more of the names of persons in any other column or group, then the vote so cast shall be regarded as given for all candidates under such marked party emblem or name, except the candidate or candidates under such party emblem or name whose name or names is or opposite to the name or names so marked; and also for the candidate or candidates whose name or names is or are so marked. A vote can be counted for but eight names of Electors; and if the voter desires to split his Electoral Ticket, he must scratch the names of those Electors for whom he does not desire to vote.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a regular meeting of Garrett Lodge, No. 113, K. of P., held Nov. 2, 1892, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, it has pleased the Almighty in his infinite wisdom to remove from our midst Bro. Clarence Tillson, Chancellor Commander, whose death we deplore, but we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, and who knoweth what is best, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Tillson we have lost a true and trusted brother, a kind friend and an ardent worker for the good of this lodge and its brethren.

Resolved, That we desire to hereby express to the bereaved wife, children and relatives of our deceased brother our heartfelt sympathy in this their dark hour of distress and grief and that our prayer is that He who hath thus bereft them will watch and care for the widow and orphans of our deceased brother.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the wife of our deceased brother, also entered on the Record of this lodge, and that the same be published in the Oakland paper.

OAKLAND, MD., Nov. 1st, 1892.
To Sheffield Lodge, No. 122, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

The undersigned committee, appointed to draft resolutions upon the death of our late brother, Clarence H. Tillson, beg leave to report as follows:

WHEREAS, death has again invaded the precincts of our order, and by this means it hath pleased Almighty God it His wisdom to remove from amongst us brother Clarence H. Tillson, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of brother Tillson this lodge has lost one of its most active, energetic and enthusiastic members, and we believe the loss which this lodge sustains in his death is irreparable.

Resolved, That as a citizen he was public spirited, as a Christian gentleman his life was above reproach and his untimely death will be a serious loss to the community in which his life was spent.

Resolved, That upon the threshold of his home in which he exemplified those Christian virtues which made him an affectionate husband and a considerate father, we pause; we feel that more words at this place would be almost meaningless.

To the bereaved wife and fatherless children we pour out the tenderest sympathies of our hearts and commend them to Him, who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, and who hath said, "I will be a husband to the widow and a father to the fatherless."

leaves have the right to fall, And flowers to wither in the North wind's breath.

And thus to rest—In all, Then last all seasons for thine own, oh death.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, under the seal of the lodge, be presented to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished for publication.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

November Forecast, 1892.

November will have its storm periods, varied by showers of rain, and snow squalls, however, much or all of the month will pass to history before the frosts and frosts will advance to their wonted average flow of fullness. The month will open frosty, with air currents from the North. Winds will shift to the West and South, bringing a higher temperature about the 10th, which will continue to advance in heat to the 15th, the center of a storm period of light showers, ending in snow squalls. The winds without delay will shift to the North about the 17th, bringing a supply of polar air from the Arctic regions to be used on the general election day, November 18th, by leaving a demand for fall and winter overcoats as sectional locality may demand to suit the temperature; however, the heavier sort of these goods will be in demand both in the West and North, while the lighter goods will serve the South and middle portions just as well. Indeed, I had almost forgotten to say, in a country of such wide extent great diversity of climate must exist between Northern and Southern borders, that also in addition to the heavier goods, umbrellas may be found a useful auxiliary to fortify against snow storms by ballot-holders on their way to the election polls in the State of Maine. The 9th and 10th will grow warmer and local disturbances will pass from West to East on 11th and 12th, which may favor many localities with refreshing showers, and which is most likely to be attended in some portions by thunder and lightning, ending in snow squalls and light freezing both in the West and North, also cold North winds will follow the disturbance. About the 15th a reaction will set in, bringing warmer winds from the West and South, which will advance in heat to the 17th, the center of a disturbed period, when winds will shift to the North and light freezing will follow. Warmer on the 19th, attended by South winds. The 20th, 21st, 22nd, and 23rd is a prolonged disturbed period, when much cloudiness, drizzling rains and sleet will prevail. The disturbances will dissipate about the evening of the 23rd or 24th, freeing all objects by Jack Frost dressed in his whitest robes. The 26th will be warmer and will advance to the 29th, the center of storm period, which will be attended by freezing at the close of the month.

December will bring rain in quantities advancing all streams to their average fullness, snow and blizzards need not surprise. January will be cold and blizzardy. February milder, attended by some fair weather. March cold and stormy.

P. R. SMITH.

Davis Mills.

Silence has prevailed for some weeks here in this corner. Our time has been taken up with Harrison, Reid and Wellington club. Our club numbers 43, with one galvanized Democrat who pledged himself to get on the roll to be in good company as in many of the Democrats do make pledges to do something and do what? Ah, nothing. But we are all alive down here and ready in the field for fight; ready to meet the old fellow at the month of his den on his free trade horse, with his wild cut money sack wrapped up in his free wool. By the way I have a $500 bill of wild cut money now. I will change it with any Demo for a smoke. If I thought we were nearing a Cleveland earthquake to sink us into 4 years of perdition I would leave the U. S. A. before the 1st of March, but our sky is too bright for that.

J. R. Kinnell and J. W. Mackley attended a corn husking bee last Wednesday at Sang Run. They report a very good time but the order and other good things suffered a bit.

We tender our thanks to our warm friends in Oakland (and also Mr. E. E. Sollars) for the visit and cheering words they gave us last Thursday night at Ray's school house. Come again, guys; we will give you all a warm shake of our hand and say hurrah for Harrison, Reid and Wellington.

X. X. X.

Selbysport.

Corn husking and potato digging are near to one of the things of the past. So are Grover and McKaig. Robt. Hoover, of Johnstown, representing the P. R. R. Co., was on our streets the 27th and 28th. Jasper Frazee has been on the sick list for a few days.

R. M. Mealley, representing Gilbert Bros., of Baltimore was on our streets the 28th.

Messrs. Bowling and Snyder, of Krug, paid us a visit Sunday last. Are there two veterans in Dist. No. 2 who can and will vote for Grover and McKaig?

Chas. McBride, of our section, will leave the 31st of Oct. for Eglon, W. Va.

Some of our dear Demos. have jagged us in the ribs about Wayne McKaig leaving our party and going into their ranks. Since they have read Senator Hill's speech Wayne's name is no more heard. All good honest Republicans like Wayne McKaig should go to the Demo. party, as Mr. McV. does not like a dishonest man no matter where he was born.

Soldiers can you vote for Grover and McKaig. Our Selbysport belles have their eye on our new school teacher. Be careful, Henry.

Voter, do not be deceived by our Democratic brothers when they tell you the McKaig bill only protects the manufacturer. If the manufacturer is protected so are all American voters.

Who is McKaig and what has he been doing for years? A. J. Frazee has returned from a business trip to Bittering and West Salisbury. He is an old soldier and he wore Grand Pa's hat on his trip.

Who is this Congressman that wants free Canada lumber sent to our shores? Was he not at Friendsville this campaign? On Nov. 8 he will know what Dist. No. 2 wants him to do next year. Vote for Harrison, Reid and Wellington and protect American industry.

One of our old soldier comrades of Dist. No. 2 last week filled out his voucher for $205.80 and he was a good honest and upright soldier and he is not ashamed to say in public who has been his friends. Grover and McKaig will not be in it on Nov. 8, thank you, comrades.

The Frazee and Camp Co. are pushing our new school house along at a rapid gait. There is no free trade lumber being used in the building.

Our school is progressing nicely under the management of Mr. Henry Friend.

Our merchants report good returns from shipments shipped this fall.

Let's all vote for free traders and make our wives and daughters go out and earn our living same as they do in free trade countries. We have a few brother Demos. here who want free trade and some eat money.

Messrs. Hiram H. and E. L. Frazee made a flying trip to Pennsylvania Monday, Oct. 31st.

Are Grover and the Demos. little Mack the soldiers' friends?

The Brown and Frantz Mining Co. have opened up some good coal fields near our city and expect to supply our section with a fine grade of coal by Nov. 30th.

A. S. Newell, of Watson, Pa., killed seven wild turkeys on Oct. 31st at two shots near our city.

Republicans, do not allow any Democrat to pull any of Grover's and McKaig's Australian wool over your eyes this time. Now is the time to lay them to rest for ever.

Private School for Young Ladies. Mrs. Kerr has opened a school at Mrs. Bourchier's residence (for the present). Terms for English branches $8, music, $8, French, $8 per quarter. Infants, $1 per month.

PERSONS desiring to vote the straight Republican ticket will make a X mark in the square opposite an to the right of the bust of Abraham Lincoln. No other mark than the above is necessary.

What is Electropole? and What Will it Do.

The Electropole has been in use for four years, and is well known in some sections of the United States, but there are a great many sufferers who have found the name. Those that have found it and seen something of its power, are now anxious to know how so potent a remedy can be so simple and so easily obtained. Now, while the Electropole is very wonderful, it is not at all mysterious. It is a simple machine, and its use is so simple that a child can use it. It is a simple machine, and its use is so simple that a child can use it. It is a simple machine, and its use is so simple that a child can use it.

How it Operates.—The way in which the Electropole operates is very simple and natural. It consists of a battery, which is connected by a wire to a small plate and a glass. This plate is immersed in a glass of water, or put on the body of the patient. The other end of the wire is connected to the body of the patient. The battery is connected to the body of the patient, and the glass is connected to the body of the patient. The battery is connected to the body of the patient, and the glass is connected to the body of the patient.

One in every family will find that family largely independent of doctors and druggists, and thus will save every year many times its small cost.

Not an Electrical Appliance.—The Electropole is not an electrical appliance. It is a simple machine, and its use is so simple that a child can use it. It is a simple machine, and its use is so simple that a child can use it. It is a simple machine, and its use is so simple that a child can use it.

Directions for Using.—According to the directions for using the Electropole, it is to be used in the following manner: The battery is connected to the body of the patient, and the glass is connected to the body of the patient. The battery is connected to the body of the patient, and the glass is connected to the body of the patient.

A change in the time of passenger trains on the B. & O. will go into effect on Sunday. It is reported that a change of two hours will be made in the time of No. 5 and of one hour in the time of Nos. 1 and 4.

The firm heretofore known as Messrs. E. M. Spedden and D. E. Bolden has been dissolved, Mr. Bolden retiring and forming a co-partnership with Mr. John Shartzler in the furniture and undertaking business.

It seems to be a question of only a few weeks at the most when Liberty street will be entirely blocked up and travel suspended on that important thoroughfare by the accumulation of bark, lumber and cross-ties.

John Washington, an old colored man who has been living in this community for years, was found lying in an unconscious condition, on Wednesday afternoon, in a house on Railroad street, belonging to D. H. Loar. Dr. H. W. McComas was called and rendered medical aid, but the man died on Thursday morning at about 4 o'clock. He was about 65 years of age.

Mr. Moore, the postmaster at Bradshaw, Va., after reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, concluded to try a small bottle of it. He says: "I used it in two cases for colic and three for diarrhoea with perfect satisfaction. I have handled and used a great deal of patent medicine but never tried any that gave as good results as this." For sale by druggists.

On Sunday the 6th inst., about forty of the inhabitants of Lake View assembled at the school room, and organized a union Sunday school and elected the following officers: Sup't. C. M. Rathbun; ass't sup't. Geo. P. White; sec'y, C. J. Bunce; treas., Miss Ingaba White; librarians, Eddie Burley and Albert White. School will open at 10:30 o'clock a. m. each Sunday during the winter.

The best plaster.—Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

FOR DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion, and Stomach Disorders, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. All dealers keep it. It per bottle. Genuine has trade-mark and enamel red lines on wrapper.

or E. WILLIAMS, 37-4f, Oakland, Md.

Some unknown person forced the lock on Mr. John Shartzler's stable door last Sunday night about ten o'clock and was in the act of leading a fine colt out on the street when the would-be thief was overhauled by Ed Miller, who asked the man where he was going with the horse. The stranger replied that Mr. Shartzler had sent him for the animal, but this did not exactly satisfy Mr. Miller so he took charge of the horse and led him back to the stable. He then went to Mr. Shartzler's residence and informed him of the facts. Mr. Shartzler said he did not authorize any one to take the horse from the stable and that the man's intention, evidently, was to steal the horse. The man was a total stranger and no clue as to whom he may be has been discovered.

We will open the largest stock of Christmas goods, toys, etc., that ever came to Oakland.

The funeral occurred on Friday from her late residence.

Sunday School Convention.

A District Sunday School Convention under the auspices of Md. Sunday School Union, will be held at Swanton on the 12th and 13th of November, 1892, commencing on the 12th at 2 p. m. Come on friends, and help to make the meeting a success.

Fell From the Train.

On Tuesday of this week as accommodation train No. 71, west-bound, was running the longstrait, this side of Rigg's Wagon Mills, near Terra Alta, the body of a man was observed lying on the track ahead. The train was stopped and the man, thought to be dead, was taken aboard and left at Terra Alta, where Dr. S. E. Scott, B. & O. physician, rendered medical and surgical aid. The man was not dead, but very near it, and after a while was resuscitated, when it was found that his name was Moore, of Grafton, a freight brakeman, and had fallen from his train at the point mentioned. His head and face were fearfully cut and it was thought that both eyes were knocked out. He was placed on a freight train and taken to Grafton, more dead than alive.

The comet now approaching the earth, it is said, will almost equal in brilliancy the celestial wonder that illuminated the heavens in the winter of 1858. Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventative and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by druggists.

Garthright is offering one ear of corn at 65 cents cash at ear, one ear feed at $1.40 per hundred pounds; one ear best family flour at $4.50. Large stock boots and shoes, hats and caps, and the best stock of dress goods that ever came to the county which will be sold at lowest possible prices. Call and examine goods and prices. We are offering 20 cts. per pound for prime jar, tub or keg butter and want five thousands pounds dry picked chickens and turkeys with head and feet on and entrails in for Thanksgiving.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. If given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. There is no danger in giving this Remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment.

A certain cure for Chronic Sore Eyes, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Old Chronic Sores, Fever Sores, Eczema, Itch, Prairie Scrathees, Sore Nipples and Piles. It is cooling and soothing. Hundreds of cases have been cured by it after all other treatment had failed. 25 cents per box.

Jesse James.

THE SWAUGER MURDER CASE.

The Details of Which are too Filthy and Brutal for Publication.

The Swager murder case, removed from this county to Allegany county was taken up in the Circuit Court in Cumberland on Thursday morning of last week.

Samuel Swager, the defendant, is charged with the murder of his wife on the 19th day of August, 1891, in a most brutal and inhuman manner.

The details are almost too revolting for publication. Swager's wife, on the day upon which the murder is supposed to have been committed, was in a delicate condition and about to be delivered. Swager to facilitate matters forced the birth of the child in a manner too horrible to relate. His wife died almost instantly.

There are four counts in the indictment, one for murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree, manslaughter and assault with intent to kill.

Swager was brought into court Thursday morning by the sheriff and listened to the reading of the indictment against him in a nervous manner. He is a short, thick-set man, with dark curly hair and a red moustache. He does not look like a man who would be guilty of the commission of such a crime, but his appearance would indicate that his act was due more to ignorance of the result.

When asked if he was guilty or not guilty he replied: "Not guilty," could scarcely be heard.

State's Attorney Gilmor S. Hamill, of Oakland, is prosecuting the case, assisted by Thomas J. Podliord, Esq., of Oakland, and State's Attorney Sloan, of Allegany county. The prisoner is represented by Ferdinand Williams, Esq., of Cumberland. Col. John W. Veitch was also engaged in the defense, but has since died. The case was tried before the court.

Mr. Hamill made the opening statement to the court. Swager, he said, lived down in "Bittering Settlement," near Swager's Mill. In relating the history of the crime Mr. Hamill said that a Mr. Savage had passed the house the day before the murder and heard cursing and swearing in the house. A Mrs. Spiker stopped at the house over night and heard noises all night long. The next morning she noticed marks of abuse on Mrs. Swager. Mrs. Swager asked Mrs. Spiker to remain all day, as she feared she was going to be taken sick. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock Mrs. Swager's condition was such that her husband was sent for. He came home from his work, about four miles distant, at 4 o'clock, through a driving rain, and went to the bed upon which Mrs. Swager was lying.

The testimony given by the witnesses describing Swager's acts, is too horribly brutal in its details for publication. Those examined were Mrs. Metz, Mrs. Bittering and Mrs. Savage.

Mrs. Spiker, another witness who was present, began to tell the court a number of incidents and conversations that had taken place, and Mr. Williams objected to her giving this kind of testimony, but the witness insisted on all she knew and had to be restrained by the court. Her testimony was to the effect that she had slept at the house over night and had noticed marks of abuse on Mrs. Swager in the morning. She then told the particulars of the crime and said that she did not hear any language other than that Swager addressed to his sister when she endeavored to take off his boots while he was kneeling on the bed.

Dr. J. Lee McComas, of Oakland, testified to the cause of Mrs. Swager's death, and said it might have resulted from a shock to the uterus or laceration of the womb. He said that he would certainly say that the woman died from shock. His opinion he based on the evidence he had heard.

John Savage was called to testify to remarks of Swager's, but he was not used.

The State here concluded its case and the defense began its case.

Samuel Swager, the prisoner, was put on the stand and said: "The first knowledge of the confinement of my wife was when my son told me at the mill. I went home at once and found the four women there. She was in a dying condition from laboring. She looked bad and pale and I was scared. I went over to the bed and she pulled me down to her and asked me to do something for her."

I had already changed my wet blouse. I said to the women standing around, 'Can't you women do something for her?' Mrs. Bittering told me to do something for her as there was no harm in trying. Mrs. Spiker told me the same. Doctors Bevens and Getty and Ravenscroft had been sent for. The nearest doctor lives fourteen miles away. I had rendered aid to my wife before when she was in confinement, and on this occasion she asked me to aid her."

The next witness was Dave Gilpin. He said: "I have known the prisoner since boyhood and had known him for many years. Did not leave the house until after his wife had died. I went after Dr. Getty. I was sent by the women. I managed to procure Doctor Ravenscroft, but when within a mile of the house was told that Mrs. Swager was dead."

Maria Swager, sister of the prisoner, was called and said: "I was in the room when Swager came home and the women told him to go ahead and do what he could. His wife said nothing. She told him to try to help her. Mrs. Swager, she said, had been treated by the women until about eleven o'clock, when she was suffering so much pain that they had to send for the doctor. She was asked by Mr. Hamill if she and the prisoner had had any conversation and in reply to questions said that he had told her his side of the story and had told her what to say in court. She said that she had him arrested in Oakland once for beating her with a stick. She stated afterwards that the testimony given by her was what she had seen, but that she had talked over the testimony with her brother."

Francis Green was called but his testimony amounted to nothing. This concluded the evidence in the case, and the bench ordered the case continued over until to-day, when arguments will be heard.

THURSDAY, NOV. 10, 1892.

Well, we're ticked.

Strictly speaking, we are not in it.

Democracy, for a season, is on top.

We now to the verdict of the people.

I told you so, can be heard on all sides.

Garrett county did her part and did it nobly.

It's a hard dose but we'll have to take the medicine.

Wonder if the Democrats carried the election in the planet Mars.

And now since the election is over let us get down to work for the good of the whole country.

The smoke nuisance in Pittsburg will be stopped, if the Democrats get full control of the country, because free trade will close all the factories—Somerset County Star.

They've got control.

What the Editor Gets.

The following from an exchange, contains truth in large chunks; but all the same, if an editor is fool enough to do everything for nothing that the exchange mentions, he deserves to "get left."

When a child is born into the world, the mother is presented with a gets about $10 for attending at the important event. The editor heralds the advent of the stranger and gets a charge for making a mistake as to the sex or date of the arrival.

After a while the child becomes a man, the mother is called to perform the marriage ceremony and walks off with a $10 bill in his pocket for his trouble. The editor is again called upon, and chronicles this event by drawing on his imagination to make the bride and groom the most respectable people in the country. His only pay is to be asked for a few "samples" of his paper to send to some absent friends.

In time the once baby, once happy groom, but now a man, advanced in years is brought down by death. Again the physician is called in and in due time presents his bill, the undertaker is present and officiates at the funeral, and in time wants $100 for performing the last rites, while the editor is expected to complete the drama by holding up the shroud as a model gentleman, and one who at present is flying up the golden stairs. The probabilities are as the same time the funeral is over, the groom and the dead man have been so infernally stingy that he has staked his wife and children and had never contributed one cent to the support of his local paper.

What does the editor get? He gets left.

The Secret of Roadbuilding.

There is only one secret in the building of a good, substantial road, and that is a solid rock foundation, made water tight to prevent undermining. When our country roads are made on this principle we shall have roads that will last as long as the earth is peopled.

But our country roads are made on quite a different principle. First, the road is removed from the roadbed, so called, is rounded off. It is then styled a finished road. If the spring rains are not too heavy the road will last a year. In most instances, however, only three or four months' wear and tear are necessary to convert it into a quagmire during a short spell of rainy weather, and a dirt road after a few days of sunshine. The next year the road must be made over and regarded at an expense about equal to that of the construction of a new one—Goldwater's Magazine.

W. M. Jenkins, Esq., of Blaine, was in town on Thursday last and told THE REPUBLICAN that he recently sold 212 head of sheep to S. C. Beachy and will last year was the kind of stock that should be raised for profit in Garrett county.

THE DEMOCRATS CARRY THE DAY.

These were the Choice of the Republicans but the Democrats were in the Majority.

GARRETT COUNTY.

Although the Republicans are not "in it" the People of old Garrett Stood Firmly by their Colors.

It is true there has been a decrease in two of the Republican districts in the county but this has been nearly offset by gains in the Democratic districts. Mr. Wellington was defeated by a majority of 549.

NEW YORK.
 The new system of voting developed the largest vote in 1888. In Indiana at the time the polls closed the indications pointed to the largest vote ever polled in the State. The weather was beautiful and each party appears to have put forth its greatest efforts to get out the vote. Notwithstanding the intense interest manifested in the election appears to have passed off with unusual freedom from disturbance and excitement.

In receiving and compiling the returns the vote by precincts, will be compared with that of 1890, while the comparison by counties will be upon the vote of 1888. The various claims are made by the Democrats and the indications are that their majority in New York State is between 20,000 and 25,000.

INDIANA.
 Republicans concede the Democrats a gain over the vote of 1888. In Indiana at the time the polls closed the indications pointed to the largest vote ever polled in the State. The weather was beautiful and each party appears to have put forth its greatest efforts to get out the vote. Notwithstanding the intense interest manifested in the election appears to have passed off with unusual freedom from disturbance and excitement.

On this basis, therefore, the Republicans will have to gain an average of seven votes to the precinct to carry the State. The presidential and State ticket, which the law requires to be continued, is very long and the world will be slow. It will probably be late, therefore, before there is anything tangible upon which to base an estimate. Should the result in the State be very close as now seems probable, the result may not be known before Thursday.

New Hampshire is Republican by an increased majority. The State was carried in 1888 by Mr. Harrison by 32,337 plurality.

Massachusetts is Republican by an increased majority. The State was carried in 1888 by Mr. Harrison by 32,337 plurality.

Massachusetts is Republican by an increased majority. The State was carried in 1888 by Mr. Harrison by 32,337 plurality.

ILLINOIS.
 Illinois voted for governor and a full State ticket, two Congressmen at large and twenty Congressmen by districts, a legislature and twenty-four presidential electors. The Republican candidate for Governor is Governor Joseph W. Pate, the present incumbent, and the Democratic candidate is John P. Altgeld, the Prohibition and People's parties not figuring significantly in the contest.

The drift of sentiment is that Harrison had laid down the State ticket, and that the Republican State ticket is elected by a decreased plurality.

PENNSYLVANIA.
 In addition to 32 presidential electors Pennsylvania elects a judge of the supreme court, two Congressmen at large, 28 members of Congress, 25 state senators and 204 members of the state house of representatives.

Pennsylvania went Republican by 83,000.

OHIO.
 Ohio voted for twenty-three presidential electors, one Congressmen at large, also for twenty-one representatives in Congress. On the State ticket there were four parties in the field, the Republicans, Democrats, People's and Prohibitionists. State officers elected are secretary of state, two judges of the supreme court, one member of the board of public works and one clerk of the supreme court. The vote on the Populist and Prohibition tickets were an unimportant factor in this election. The leading candidates of the two great parties were S. M. Taylor, Republican and W. A. Taylor, Democrat, for secretary of state. No legislature was elected. Comparisons should be made with the vote for McKinley, for governor, in 1891, when he carried the state by a plurality of 21,511 in a total of 803,228. Indications are that the vote reached 850,000. There were last year 2,800 precincts. The number this year will probably be about 2,850.

This state gave the Republican electors a majority of 25,000.

COLORADO.
 The clear cold weather brought out an unusually heavy vote in the whole State. There were six votes in the field, the Republicans, Democrats, People's Free Coinage Democratic, Prohibition and two tickets known as the Democratic ticket.

Connecticut is doubtful and has five tickets in the field. In 1888 Cleveland's plurality was 536. New Hampshire is safely Republican by a decreased majority.

Massachusetts is Republican by an increased majority. The State was carried in 1888 by Mr. Harrison by 32,337 plurality.

Massachusetts is Republican by an increased majority. The State was carried in 1888 by Mr. Harrison by 32,337 plurality.

MINNESOTA.
 Minnesota voted for presidential electors, seven congressmen, state officers and members of the lower house of legislature. The senate holds over and stands Republican 25, Democrats 15, Alliance 13, Independent Republican 1. A successor will be elected to Senator C. J. Davis in January, and he will be the Republican candidate for Governor. The Prohibition and People's parties not figuring significantly in the contest.

Death of Clarence H. Tillson.
 At his home in Deer Park, Md., at Friday morning, Oct. 28th, in the 30th year of his age, our friend and teacher, Clarence H. Tillson, son of the late Col. E. C. Tillson, departed this life. Mr. Tillson had been ill of typhoid fever for a short time, and had sufficiently recovered as to be considered out of danger, but a reaction suddenly took place and in a few hours his spirit had winged its flight into the great unknown, leaving a loving wife and four children with a host of friends to mourn over the cold clay. Mr. Tillson was a prominent citizen of the above place and was quite well known here, as was attested by the large crowd from this place who attended the funeral services on Sunday afternoon following his death. He was a member of Skeelsville Lodge, No. 123, I. O. O. F., and Garrett Lodge No. 113, K. of P. (of which he was Chancellor) Commander of the time of his death. THE LADY MANAGERS.
 Their Third Session Held Recently

The third session of the board of lady managers of the World's Fair convened at Chicago, October 18th, with a full attendance. The report of the president given in her address, clear, concise and forcible style, contained a statement of the business accomplished at headquarters during the past year on account of the work done by the committees of foreign women appointed to cooperate with the board, and a synopsis of the work to be done by the board during its session in 1893.

The values of one foreign committee represent not only royalty and the influence of the government, include also many women who have risen to the position which they occupy by their own unaided talents, who, without titles or wealth to assist them, are recommended by their evident ability to carry on the important lines of work entrusted to their hands. The powerful organization thus secured extends around the whole world, and stands with perfect solidity for the purpose of serving the interests of our sex, and making industrial conditions easier for them.

Such an organization has never before existed of women for women. That this work is needed is considered by the patriotic answers from some of the countries who have declined the invitation to cooperate with us. For instance a letter received from the Government of Tunis States that a commission of women cannot be found in that country, because local prejudice will not allow the native women to take part in public affairs. The Syrian correspondents write that it will be impossible to secure official appointment of a committee of women in that country, as custom prevents women from taking hold of such work, and the Government will lend no aid, but that an effort will be made to send a small exhibit unofficially. It seems incredible that the Government of these countries would be willing to make ad-

While our building is smaller and less conspicuous in comparison with others, its scholarly character, beautiful proportions, refined and reserved details hold their own even when compared with the most magnificent creations of other great architects represented on the Exposition grounds. It is remarkable as being the creation of a young girl.

MARION, THE SWAMP FOX

THE BOLD CAREER OF SOUTH CAROLINA'S GREAT PARTISAN.

He Took Refuge in the Swamps When the Patriot Armies Had Been Driven from the State and Fought on His Own Hook.

(Copyright, 1901, by American Press Association. Book rights reserved.)

WAMP FOX, the unknown South Carolina's famous Revolutionary soldier, the one who "fought Joe" and "Uncle Billy," organized in an incident and was taken up by the populace as being a good fit. Romance and tradition have extended the fame of those wonderful exploits of Marion in regions of bog and brier which drew from his baffled enemy, Tarleton, the expression, "As for this swamp fox, the devil himself couldn't catch him," and it is the widely credited stories of those exploits are not true in every detail, or are too highly colored, they are characteristic and deal with a strong and picturesque side of the life of one of the most sublime and daring heroes of the south.

Marion at a certain stage of his career was a "Swamp Fox" and conducted an irregular warfare, but his methods were suited to the region of his campaigns and to the nature of his enemy. In point of fact he passed but an insignificant portion of his services in independent warfare, and was almost constantly acting in the rear of the ranks of the Revolutionary army.

Before the Revolution Marion distinguished himself as a soldier, and in the Cherokee war virtually won a battle by leading a force of 30 men to storm the key point of the Indian position. After that he served in the provincial congress, and in the first regiment of Revolutionary volunteers organized in his district was elected captain. In the desperate battles around Charleston and Savannah and in the campaigns of the south, from 1775 to 1779, he won promotion step by step until he became colonel and was for a time second in command to Gen. Lincoln, the American leader in the south.

By a fortuitous accident in Charleston before the British lines closed around it, he broke one of his legs and went away to his home in the interior, and so escaped capture when the city fell, in May, 1780. Other military disasters soon followed the surrender of Charleston, and in a few weeks there was not an armed body of Americans in the field in South Carolina. Meanwhile Marion had recovered from his hurt, and Governor Rutledge placed him in command of a district that was rising to arms against British oppression. The oppression was not imaginary, but real; it was not the routine of laws passed away over the sea, but the hand of tyranny felt daily at home. The king's officers, after prevailing upon the inhabitants by peaceful proclamations to lay down their arms as patriots, demanded that they take them up again as British soldiers and fight against their brethren. The people of a large district known as Williamsburgh, hearing that Marion was under way to head in uprising, boldly refused to obey the king's military and secretly organized four companies under the title of "Marion's brigade."

It was this force, afterward increased or depleted according to luck or necessity, that Marion handled with disturbing effect on the British during the summer of the central river region now as an ambush, now as a fair. With these men, dispersed in crises of grave danger and summoned to arms again at the moment of opportunity, Marion cut off supplies from the foreign armies in South Carolina, broke up the bands of Tory adherents and the brutal rule, captured scouting parties and dispirited the enemy that conquest of the south didn't include the subjugation of the people. Marion's brigade undoubtedly gave the British ample cause to estimate it as a band of outlaws, at least simple from a British point of view. The men were not uniformed and were armed with rude weapons, their sabers being wrought out of saws taken from mills lying in the enemy's hands. Marion's strategy was that of a guerrilla, and he was not a regular soldier, but a leader of patriots, and his recruits were not drilled in the receipt of some supplies at a British post. The warfare he waged was embittered by the activity of the Tory inhabitants, who, backed by the king's forces, were guilty of needless cruelties toward all patriots and their families. Marion's brother was brutally murdered by Tories who captured him, yet the great patriot was slow to retaliate for Tory excesses. Incess of his later campaigns, long after his brother had been murdered and the Tories had laid waste the homes of patriots who exposed the names of the enemy, he descended to severity. Tory outrages from the vengeance of his cohorts. While waiting to meet with Light Horse Harry Lee, a British force fell into his hands, and Marion, without drama, learned that some of Lee's men were hanging from the gallows. Marion's strategy for vengeance was to lead to the scene of execution and in hand, saved the life of one man who was about to be strung up, and threatened to kill the principals in the affair should they attempt further reprisals of that nature.

The turning point in Marion's career was his retirement to Snow's Island, after several bouts with the enemy that taught them to respect the "Swamp Fox" and be always alert and active while within his reach. Snow's Island was a fortress surrounded by water and swamps, offering shelter and bearing provisions and live stock. Marion destroyed all the bridges, obstructed roads and paths, removed all boats and craft from the rivers in the vicinity and isolated his camp completely. His position was on the lower Peele, opposite the chain of British forts on the line of the Santee river that covered Charleston on the north. From this stronghold his hand seldom forth, directed by scouting parties that kept watch upon the movements of the British, and harassed and annoyed the enemy more than an army would have done.

The British at length attempted to break up "Mr. Marion," as he was known in their official dispatches. Col. Tarleton, the leader of the southern Tories, tried to pursue the band after one of their wild incursions with the British lines. He failed, and two parties were sent out from the forts on the Santee line, one led by Col. Watson and the other by Doyle. Watson started in March, 1781, with 300 regulars and Tories and marched from Fort Watson on the Santee, in the direction of Snow's Island. Marion had exact knowledge of Watson's progress, and by a swift march met him in the swamps between the Santee and Black rivers. A spirited fight took place, and Watson's advance body of Tory cavalry was driven back upon the infantry supports. Marion then retired before Watson, frequently laying an ambush for the British, and at Black River made ready for a decisive combat.

A bridge on Watson's route was thrown down and a body of riflemen was placed in the low swampy border on the east bank. Watson boldly opened with field pieces from the high ground on the west bank. But Marion's sharpshooters cut down the British riflemen on sight and a forlorn hope party did not trail to within the range of Watson's cannon. The loss of his leader and of all the men who rallied around him, Watson declared that he "had never seen such shooting in his life." Finally he gave up in despair and sent a letter to Marion imploring him to go back to regular methods of warfare and fight in open field. Marion took no notice of this, but pushed his daring swamp fighters across the stream up to the very outskirts of the British camp, drove them from place to place, and at last got them into a corner where Watson was glutted with his own impudent promises for the wounded to pass on to the main British lines. Before the British escaped they were compelled to fight for the roadway. Watson's horse was killed under him and he saved his head by a narrow chance. This was at Summit bridge, on the road to Georgetown, on the lower Peele. The failure of an unimpeachable party to do the work set on by Marion alone saved Watson from destruction at that time.

By a fortuitous accident in Charleston before the British lines closed around it, he broke one of his legs and went away to his home in the interior, and so escaped capture when the city fell, in May, 1780. Other military disasters soon followed the surrender of Charleston, and in a few weeks there was not an armed body of Americans in the field in South Carolina. Educational.

To the editor of the Republican.

I have been very much gratified to notice from time to time the deep interest manifested by your paper in school matters. This has prompted me to suggest that you open an educational column and invite the teachers to discuss some topic along this line. It would surely tend to awaken a deeper interest in our schools and at the same time be instructive. I believe that through this medium we will be enabled to elevate public sentiment in favor of progressive work and interest all upon new and important subjects. Therefore feeling satisfied that our suggestion will meet your hearty approval we venture to contribute a short article on a subject that we think is of vital importance to our schools, viz:

SUPPLEMENTARY READING.

If the purpose of education is to make children intelligent and to cultivate in them a love of study and of books, the introduction of supplementary reading matter into our schools must be regarded favorably. It is natural for pupils to desire reading books when they become interested, but how can we expect them to take an interest in reading when they are held down for years "getting through" from a series of cat and dog readers. Have expected to get our boys and girls interested we must give them variety in reading. My experience is that the great majority of our young ladies and gentlemen are poorly posted in general literature. No task for reading. Fellow teachers, what is your experience? I have reached this conclusion: That it is the duty of our school commissioners to furnish each school with supplementary reading matter, also that they require every applicant for a teacher's certificate to pass an examination in literature. VISITING AN EARLY HOME.

An American Woman's Rather Curious Experience in Old England.

A woman of English ancestry and birth but who is American bred, has cherished for years the hope of some time revisiting the home of her infancy, and in particular of entering the house where she was born. Although it had long passed from the family and no relatives remained in the village where it stands, her father had so often described its site and appearance that she felt she could find it without other clue.

At length, after long waiting, the dream of a life approached actuality, and a steamer bore the happy woman away in search of ancestral surroundings. Tending London, she scarcely stopped for rest before pursuing her journey. The next day found her in the little village where she had first seen the light, and, after registering at the one hotel alone and not knowing a person in the place, she started down the street upon which should be the object of her search.

She had only the old, repeated stories of a life approached actuality, and a steamer bore the happy woman away in search of ancestral surroundings. Tending London, she scarcely stopped for rest before pursuing her journey. The next day found her in the little village where she had first seen the light, and, after registering at the one hotel alone and not knowing a person in the place, she started down the street upon which should be the object of her search.

The Bee Hive is exhibiting some rare pieces of hand-painted imported chinaware at prices within the reach of all who desire to make a gift to their friends at Christmas time.

The State's appropriation of $45,000 for the support of the various military organizations is now done, and arrangements for its disbursement have been made.

The Windsor Knitting Mills, located at Hagerstown, after being in operation one year, will close Saturday next for an indefinite period. Sixty young girls will be thrown out of employment.

Dr. A. L. Wagner has located in Oakland and will practice both in town or country. Calls promptly answered either day or night. Office, one door west of St. Paul's M. E. church. 8-11

Garrett Council, No. 35, Jr. O. U. A. M. will attend the Oakland Ev. Lutheran church in a holy next Sunday morning. The sermon to the juniors will be delivered by Rev. Wm. L. Leisher.

I offer in exchange for a suckling colt one of those superior mowing machines. Call on or address, H. WEBER, Oakland.

There is an old saying that on whatever day of the month the first snow falls there will be that many snows during the winter. Snow first fell on the 9th of November, and we are therefore to infer that there will only be nine snows this winter.

On last Tuesday Mr. YATES, who brought to THE REPUBLICAN office two cars of corn measuring respectively 14 and 15 inches long, and 4 inches in circumference. The corn was raised by Robert Turner, Esq., of Weston, Nebraska, who had 40 acres of it.

The reconstruction of roads is getting to be serious. A new, long, permanent highway, passing south of each family, according to our population. What in the world they do with them is something the proof of this office. He says as they can't eat them they must drink them.

On last Wednesday morning about 4 o'clock fire was discovered in C. T. West's large saw mill just east of Swanton. The fire had gained such headway when the discovery was made that it was utterly impossible to save the mill or any of the cut timber stacked near it. It is supposed that the fire originated between the stacks of lumber from a fire built by a tramp. The loss is placed at $2,500. The mill will be rebuilt.

The reader of newspapers should never let the advertising columns escape their eyes. In nine cases out of ten the reader of advertisements is fully repaid for his newspaper outlay by important points picked up in the advertising columns of a newspaper which simply represents the business men who are in the field to stay.

Through the indefatigable efforts of Mrs. Leisher and her efficient helpers the Business Men's Jubilee will be ready to be given to the public on the time appointed—Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. Doors open at 6:30. Admission, 25c. for adults; 15c. for children under 12 years. Tickets on sale at the door.

WANTED.—Three live men to sell the Singer Sewing Machine. One on Accident, one at Friendville and one at Aurora.

For further particulars address, SINGER MFG. CO., Grafton, W. Va. or E. WILLIAMS, Oakland, Md. 33-41

The engine attached to train No. 2, (westbound,) on Tuesday morning left the rails at Harford's switch, 4 miles west of Newburg, and rolled down the embankment. Nearly all the cars of the train left the track but fortunately no one was injured. The escape of the engine and fireman from instant death is marvellous.

Revs. J. W. Finkbinder and C. A. Britt have consented to be present and will assist at the corner stone laying of the new Lutheran church "Thanksgiving" Day at 4:30 p. m. They will speak at more lengthly meeting in the old Lutheran church at 7:30 p. m. All the friends and public generally are invited to be present.

Pursuant to notice by his excellency Governor Broth and by his excellency President Harrison and in accordance with custom and order in rotation of churches, union Thanksgiving service will this year be held in Garrett Memorial church at 11 a. m., Thursday next, Rev. Wm. L. Leisher, Ev. Lutheran pastor, preaching the sermon.

For the past twelve years, says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold. There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventative and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by druggists.

The proportions of the human figure are six times the length of the right foot; the face, from the highest point of the forehead, where the hair begins, to the end of the chin, is one-tenth of the whole stature; the hand, from wrist to the end of the middle finger, is also one-tenth of the total height; from the crown to the nape of the neck, is one-twelfth of the stature.

W. C. Shaffer expects to be ready to resume work at Pritchard's gallery on Third street next Tuesday. He was compelled for obvious reasons to close the gallery for a short time. Mr. Shaffer has a new suit of the very finest and most improved style. The Democratic brethren had better have their pictures taken while they have such happy smiles on their faces because the smiles will never be there again.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. If given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the only remedy with thousands of mothers who have croupy children.

There are no dangers in giving this Remedy to large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. So rest better for sale by druggists.

Garrett is offering one car of corn at 65 cents each at car, one car feed at $1.40 per hundred pounds; one car best family flour at $4.50.

Large stock, boots and shoes, hats and caps, and the best stock of dress goods that ever came to the county which will be sold at lowest possible prices. Call and examine goods and prices. We are offering 20c. per pound for prime jar, tub or keg butter and want five thousand pounds dry picked chickens and turkeys with head and feet on and entrails in for Thanksgiving.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has contracted with the Pullman Company for the construction of a large number of passenger coaches, to be used at first for World's Fair travel. These will be the equal of any coaches in use on any of the great railway lines in the United States, and will be greatly superior to most of the coaches in the regular service of any line.

The new return postal card is out and is now on sale at the post-offices of the country. It is a folded card of about double the size of the large postal cards and sells for two cents. A person who wishes to write another person and desires an answer at the sender's expense buys a return postal card and writes his message on one side and posts it. The receiver tears off the message and writes a reply on the other part of the card. It is handy and a saving in unimportant matters.

A point worth noting in the recent report of the Adjutant-General of the army is that out of the 9,847 accepted recruits for the last year 5,652 were natives of this country, against 3,195 of foreign birth. A popular misapprehension may be removed by this observing that such a ratio of the men who enlisted are Americans by birth. The remainder, too, are taking a short cut to citizenship, since the laws give special privileges in naturalization to those who serve honorably in the army.

The best plaster—Dampson a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

Here is a stark story from Germany. For several years a pair of storks built their nest annually in the village of the Great Stork. The name of the place and the date on the leg of the male bird, in order to be certain that the same bird returned each year. Last spring the stork came back to its customary place, the bearer of two rings. The second one bore the inscription: "India sends greetings to Germany."

A few days ago, while Mrs. John W. Purnell, who lives on a farm near Snow Hill, was airing one of the rooms in her house which had not been used for several years, she was startled by the sudden appearance of eight or ten large black snakes lazily gliding about the room. Her screams brought Dr. Purnell and a hired man to her assistance, who killed five of the reptiles, but the others escaped and crawled back of the mantel-piece, which has since been removed and the other snakes dispatched. The snakes ranged from 18 inches to four feet in length.

Last week THE REPUBLICAN contained an article from a prominent educator of Garrett county advocating the discussion of educational matters through the columns of this journal and also suggesting that we open an educational department for the teachers of the county.

THE REPUBLICAN has always been an advocate of all matters looking toward the betterment of our public school system and with pleasure we open our columns to whatever the teachers or public have to say on this most important subject. We hope the teachers will lay hold on this question and send us contributions.

The discovery has been made that on one side of the new quarter dollar there are thirteen separate representations of the number thirteen. It was probably the intention of the designer of the new quarter to have thirteen to suit thirteen times, but there are few people who have noticed this fact. There are 13 stars, 13 letters in the word held in the eagle's beak, 13 unequal feathers in each wing, 13 parallel lines in the shield, 13 horizontal bars, 13 arrow heads in one foot, and 13 letters in the words, "quarter dollar." The next time you get a quarter of the new series hunt them up.

The proceedings of the 73d annual convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland is on our table—a neat pamphlet of 96 pages. The clerical roll numbers 92, lay delegates, 59. The retiring president, Rev. W. E. Parson, D. D., presented a lengthy report of the past year's work and touches on all the important matters brought before the synod.

The school ma'am is the guiding star of the republic. She takes the little bantling fresh from the home nest, full of pouts and passions, ungovernable little wretch, whose own mother often admits that she sends him to school to get rid of him. The school ma'am takes whole car loads of these little anarchists and puts them in a way to become useful citizens. At what expense of patient toil and soul weariness? Do you imagine she is ever compensated by the salary received?

While hunting in the mountains last Thursday afternoon George Gates, of Fairhouse, was shot and instantly killed. Gates secreted himself in a brush pile and began calling like a turkey, a common decoy trick among hunters. A man named Dills, who was also out shooting, heard the supposed turkey call and carefully stalked the cover from whence it came. He approached to within a few rods of the heap of brush, and locating the sound as accurately as possible, fired a load of buckshot into the brush. Several of the shot penetrated Gates' neck and killed him where he lay. The dead man was a well known contractor.

Mr. Moore, the postmaster at Bradshaw, Va., after reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, concluded to try a small bottle of it. He says: "I used it in two cases for colic and three for diarrhoea with perfect satisfaction. I have handled and used a great deal of patent medicine but never tried any that gave as good results as this." For sale by druggists.

Visitors to the World's Fair will have an opportunity to judge of the merits of some of the inventions of Washington county, and has two years yet to serve. His being crippled makes it impossible for him to do the regular prison work, and he has perfected a number of inventions in his spare time. Three of these—a lock which is used in the prison, an electric lamp and an electric socket—have been patented for Hudson by Mr. Robert S. Wiesenfeld and Warden Weyer. Mr. Wiesenfeld has also secured space at the Columbian Exposition for a display of Hudson's electric lamps, which will be entered in competition with the others on exhibition.

Hudson says he has twenty-two inventions that he will patent from time to time, and he hopes to derive a revenue from them that will keep him in easy circumstances after his term expires. He asserts that he would not sell his electric socket patent for his liberty and $10,000.

The campaign which came to an end last week seems to have been more than usually fruitful in absurd and grotesque wagers. The wheelbarrow bet, though old, still has its admirers, and Mr. Harrison's defeat has been the means of procuring rides in this uncomfortable vehicle for a large number of jubilant Democrats, and of testing the muscular ability of their political opponents. In Chicago, with genuine Western originality, they varied the usual program, and on Friday day Miss Alice Paul, secretary of the National Woman's Suffrage Association and president of the Columbia Bicycle Club, trooped down Broadway with Mr. James S. Buchanan, wearing two pairs of pants, a wheelbarrow. Miss Paul is a lady who has a great deal more of a lady than ever after this, as she has clearly demonstrated her ability to support a wheelbarrow. Her opponent, who wears her hand down to her knees, has a strong suspicion that she will be able to outstep him and win the gutter of life at she is to wheel him down the boulevard.

I have two first class new bug-gies I will sell on time to suit purchaser rather than store them away till spring. A. D. NAYLOR.

I have handled and used a great deal of patent medicine but never tried any that gave as good results as this." For sale by druggists.

On last Sunday, according to previous arrangement and the ordinary custom, Garrett Council No. 35, Jr. O. U. M., assembled at their council chamber and marched to the Oakland Ev. Lutheran church where they listened to a sermon delivered by Rev. W. L. Leisher. The text was from the 19th Psalm, 7th verse. The sermon was a good one and the Juniors paid respectful attention during its delivery.

A Zulu chief, when you enter his hovel, remains silent for some moments, and seems quite unconscious of your presence. Although he says, in a tone of grave dignity, "I see you," (I see you,) to which you reply in the same way, "The longer he takes to 'see you' the greater man you are supposed to be, and until you are 'seen' you must keep silence and speak as much as possible not to be there at all.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. If given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. There is no danger in giving this Remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

WANTED.—A respectable, middle-aged woman in a private family for Bayard, to do cooking and help with washing and ironing. Must have good recommendation. Good wages will be given. Answer by letter to Mrs. W. I. Brown, Bayard, Grant county, W. Va. 39-41

Some four years ago an Illinois editor tested the virtue of the Positively Cough Remedy to take a paper and not pay for it. He obtained judgment against each for half of them then came up and made oath they had no more money than the law allowed them to keep. He had sent to jail for libel. He was a plucky editor and knew his rights. He will be paid in the future.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventative and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by druggists.

While out driving a few days ago, Chas. Holderbann's little mare was attacked by a vicious bull dog, which sprang at her nose as she was quietly trotting along. The little animal was equal to the occasion, however, and when the brute sprang at her, she reared and brought both forefeet down upon the dog's head, crushing it as if it were paper. The brute's death was instantaneous and the little mare pursued the even tenor of her way as if nothing unusual had occurred.—Somerset Democrat.

The best plaster.—Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

The Business Men's Jubilee.

On Tuesday, according to arrangements, Offutt's Hall was the scene of a carnival in which nearly every business man in Oakland was represented by some young lady.

The carnival was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Oakland Ev. Lutheran church and was given by them for the benefit of the new church now in course of erection.

To say the affair was a success is putting it mildly.

Every one of the participants acquitted themselves admirably which reflects great credit upon those at the head of the arrangement.

The first of the program was a doll drill by twelve little girls who executed the numerous attitudes and went through the intricate marches in a commendable manner.

Miss Margaret Smeeth represented the furniture firm of Stutzler & Boiden.

Miss Annie Grant, in a suitable costume of white and wheat represented Pillsbury's flour.

The builder, Mr. E. M. Spadden, was represented by Miss Grace Lord in a costume of long curled pine shavings over a black dress.

The law firm of Peddicord & Peddicord was represented by Miss Nettie Michaels.

Col. A. G. Sturgis, the old reliable druggist, was represented by Miss Savilla Leathers.

F. Felty, the cash merchant, was represented by Miss Jennie Porter.

The costume worn by Miss Nettie Kepner, representing West's livery, was deserving of more than a passing notice.

The Oakland Mills, operated by G. M. Mason, was shown off in great style by Miss Annie Kepler.

State's Attorney Humill had as a representative Miss Virgie Hinebaugh.

Felty & Co.—Miss Belle Brown, who wore over a black dress, a profusion of green goods—vegetables—fruits, etc.

S. E. Boyer & Co.—Miss Jennie Delawder who was dressed in a becoming costume.

Miss Fannie Johnson represented A. Hinebaugh's livery stable. She was dressed in a costume of furs and bells.

J. W. Leathers' saddlery business was shown off by Miss May Palmer in a becoming costume.

The tin man, G. A. Shirer, had a good representative in the person of Miss Susan Legge.

Drs. McComas and Hinebaugh were represented by Miss Martha Hinebaugh who proved to the audience with what dispatch these two rising young physicians can effect a cure.

The next was a violin selection with organ accompaniment by Misses Daisy and Annie Grant. These two little misses are naturally gifted musicians and performed their pieces with great credit.

S. Townshead, the dentist, was very vividly represented both in speech and optical observance by Miss Ellen Hayden.

F. G. Hyde, the inimitable jeweler and all around solid citizen, had a representative in the person of Miss Nellie Sturgis.

Miss Alice Kepner represented the mercantile firm of Smeeth Bros'. Her costume was immense and was commented upon by all for its grace and style—of thirty-five years ago.

The family paper—THE REPUBLICAN—was represented by Miss Sadie Spedden.

H. J. Mayers' holiday goods were displayed to good effect by Miss Maud Anderson.

The hardware firm of J. M. Davis & Son had a representative in the person of Miss Edith Townshead, who displayed fine cutlery and hardware in good taste.

The old firm of S. L. Townshead & Son had a representative in the person of Miss Annie Townshead who was dressed in a traveling costume.

Geo. O. Miller & Co., the Tailors' and dress makers, were presented by Miss Nellie Hinebaugh.

The starched old merchant, G. W. Legge, was represented by Miss Rosa Hinebaugh.

G. W. Chary, the Railroad street tenorial artist, was represented by Miss Nellie Butler, who was dressed in a gown of red, white and blue.

O. Hart & Son, represented by Miss Nina Stemple.

The Democrat was represented by Miss Nettie Anderson. The joke she spun at the expense of Henry Felty was one of the hits of the evening.

The violin selection and organ accompaniment here introduced by the Misses Grant was rendered very nicely.

The Glades Hotel was represented by Miss May Palmer and the Commercial by Miss Bessie Boyer. This also was an enlivening feature of the evening.

Song, "Anchored," rendered by Miss Sadie Spedden in a full, clear and strong voice, was greeted by prolonged applause. She acquitted herself admirably as she always does.

H. Weber & Sons, the florists, were represented by Miss Nellie Michaels.

was a black dress which was artistically covered with the choicest cut roses, lilies and carnations.

John Yellowly, the blacksmith, was represented by Miss May Longbridge.

G. L. Longbridge, the shoemaker, was represented by Miss Lizette Leary.

D. E. Offutt's immense store was represented by Misses Annie Grant and Florence Palmer. "Mr. Offutt is a brick."

The bakery of R. Frieze had as a representative Miss Edna Arnold.

Scott's Baltimore Store was very nicely represented by Miss Nellie Longbridge.

Chisholm's coal yard had a striking representative in the person of Samuel Butler.

The last but by no means least was the solid firm of Hamill & Little, who was represented by Mr. Grant Hayden.

At the close of the regular program Mr. John Shumaker told the people not to forget to call on Shaffer, the photographer.

Song, "Good-night," was rendered by petite Miss Elizabeth Hardigan, which closed the evening performance.

The net receipts of the evening was $65 which will be applied to the building fund of St. Mark's Ev. Lutheran church.

The Democrats' Treason.

The Democrats of Oakland and vicinity made great preparations to celebrate their return to power.

The widely advertised affair came off Saturday night. The turnout consisted of about fifty men on horse back, the speakers in a carriage, and the Oakland and Terra Alta bands and of course the usual quota of small boys.

No doubt the affair would have been much better had the weather permitted but Saturday night was the stormiest on the calendar so far this winter.

The procession when formed on Water street, had in its rank a number of transparencies but the wind and snow soon made them cumbersome and they were dumped into the ditch.

The horns attempted to play but the horns froze up solid—the consequence was music was furnished by the shouts of those in the parade.

The Democrats certainly did show love of party by turning out in such weather and for it Republicans give them due credit.

Some of the residences along the line of march were handsomely decorated and showed off to a good advantage.

After the parade had disbanded the "interfied" again assembled at Offutt's hall where speeches were delivered by Messrs. G. S. Hamill, T. J. Peddicord, C. M. Miller and Dr. E. H. Bartlett.

Married.

CEDRON, ILL.—On Nov. 15, 1892, by the Rev. G. W. Kaplan, at the Commercial Hotel, Oakland, Mr. John W. Croston and Miss Mary E. Lee, both of West Virginia.

Frederick, Md.—On last Saturday, by the Rev. W. L. Leisher, Mr. Edward Peters to Miss Annie E. Young.

On Thursday a local teachers' association met at the public school building in Oakland, Wm. Hinebaugh, secretary and ex-officio president, presiding, was made president, the president, A. S. Townshead, Jr., H. H. Senter, the only subject discussed was "school discipline." The institute will meet every two weeks, and will doubtless be of great service in the cause of public education in this community. The subject for discussion next meeting will be "school discipline," by R. R. Sumner; best methods in primary work through 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th grades. First grade introduced by Mr. Toste; 2d grade by Miss Jennie Porter; 4th grade by Miss Mamie Weber.

Sang Run.
The hour for play has arrived and while our school-mates are spending that time in relaxation we will try to write a few items from this place, but, Mr. Editor, we will not feel chagrined if you deem them more suitable for the waste basket than to appear in your valuable paper, as this is our first attempt at writing items.

The protracted effort, conducted by Rev. Knotts at this place, which commenced Nov. 7th, closed Nov. 17th. Rev. Knotts delivered some of his most excellent sermons during this meeting.

Rev. F. G. Ford, a former pastor of this charge, preached a grand sermon here Nov. 17th to a large and attentive congregation.

Our school is being successfully taught by Miss Ida Albright. She has 10 scholars enrolled.

Miss Della Savage is again teaching the Hayes Run school and having success.

The ladies of this place have organized a King's Daughters' Society, and we hope in the near future we can have a King's Sons' Society. We think it elevating to belong to a Christian society and heartily commend them.

Mr. Marshall Savage, of Oakland, was visiting relatives here a few days last week.

Mr. J. R. Kimmell spent last Saturday and Sunday with friends here.

Miss Allie Custer, one of Sang Run's charming and much respected ladies was married to Mr. Willie Friend, son of Rev. H. E. Friend, Nov. 9th. We extend best wishes for their future happiness.

We fear we shall soon lose two of our most interesting girls as Mr. K— has become very friendly, while Mr. F— is getting Savage.

SCHOOL BOYS

Very disagreeable weather at present.

G. L. Broadwater contemplates visiting New Germany soon.

Mr. C. W. Merrill, the ticket agent at Westernport, is visiting his parents.

J. W. McIntyre is working for the Cogage Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Metz, of Mt. Pleasant, are visiting their relatives.

Quite a crowd of our young folks attended the party at Ben Barner's. They report having a good time.

Rev. John Green will preach at this place Nov. 27, in Gregg's school house. All are invited to come.

Mrs. E. Merrill visited at Peter Layton's one day last week.

Mr. John Brennenman and Miss Rachel Gregg contemplate going to Washington in the near future. We presume Elias Merrill will give us a turkey roast this fall.

Charles Barins and Miss Ida McIntyre intend to spend the holidays at Beaver, Pa.

Misses Ida and Effie Merrill expect to open a dressmaking and millinery store.

H. J. Knox purchased a fine cow some time ago.

Misses Laura and Minnie Broadwater talk of visiting their brother in Westernport soon.

G. H. Michael purchased a large flock of turkeys of M. W. Broadwater last week.

Britten Kildow and Mrs. C. Stanzza Clippine, of Piedmont, were the guests of J. H. Gregg's Sunday last.

Good by to the good old Republicans; they are all going up Salt river.

Mountain Lake Park.

Last week I did Merchant Garthright injustice by saying that his cash receipts on a certain day last week were $1,000. I should have said $1,200. Quite a difference. Last Saturday he shipped over a ton of turkeys and chickens, and it was a disagreeable day at that.

Ed Smouse has moved to Oak Hall and will have the care of it this winter.

The death of her brother called Mrs. Alderson to Virginia last week.

Thanksgiving will be appropriately observed. Services are to be held at the hall. Rev. Rudisill is preparing a program.

Pat. Murphy is happy over the gift of a fat turkey. He is very thankful. Who wouldn't be?

Neighbors Bowman and Howell butchered Tuesday last. Half a dozen dogs and two beavers to be taken up is the result.

Garthright "booted" this neighborhood very thoroughly last Saturday. The most thorough "booting" it ever had. He was not mad but on the other hand in excellent humor. He had the help of his clerks in the work. It came about in this way: a demand for boots; he sold 31 pairs.

The cheerful ring of sleigh bells was heard on our avenues last week. There was fun and pleasure.

The weather is and has been grand winter weather. Just the kind for Thanksgiving times.

A reading circle is to be organized in the near future.

Mountain Lake Park is getting to be one of the best trading posts in Garrett county. One day last week Garthright bought 1,400 pounds of butter, nearly 3,000 pounds of poultry, etc. The demand in the summer draws farmers this way, and when winter comes they continue to visit us.

The business of the railroad company for the past twelve months is considerably in advance over the preceding twelve months. The growth of the Park means much for Garrett county.

The county owes a debt to J. M. Davis it can never pay. Had it not been for him it is doubtful if we would ever have had a Mountain Lake Park. His faith in the future of this mountain region led him to make the effort which gave us this summer resort. Through his efforts the Mt. Lake Park Association was formed. He has been abundant in labors to improve the Park and give it the prosperity it has enjoyed.

HENLOCK.

DO YOU WANT TO ADOPT A BABY?

Maybe you think this is a new business, teaching babies on application; it has been done here, however, but never have these babies been so near the original sample as this one. Everyone will exclaim, "Well, that's the sweetest baby I ever saw!" This little black-and-white engraving can give you but a faint idea of the exquisite original.

"I'M A DAISY."
which we propose to send to you, transportation paid. The little darling rests against a pillow, and is in the act of drawing off its pink sock, the mate of which has been pulled off and flung aside with a triumphant air. The flesh tones are perfect, and the eyes follow you, no matter where you stand. The exquisite reproduction of this greatest painting of the baby life are to be given to those who subscribe to Demorest's Family Magazine for 1892. The reproductions cannot be sold from the original, which cost $100, and are the same size (11x12 inches). The baby is life size, and absolutely lifelike. We have also in preparation, for present to our subscribers during 1892, other great pictures by such artists as Percy Moran, Maud Humphrey, Louis Deschamps, and others of world-wide renown. Take only two examples of what we will deliver the next year, "A Child of the Future," and "A White House Child," by the wife of President Harrison, and you will see what our publisher, Demorest's Family Magazine, has in store for you. The magazine for 1892 will possess a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value. It is a magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations and subject matter, that will keep everyone posted on all the topics of the day, and all the facts and figures of interest about the household, business, and the world. For the whole family read with pleasure. It is not a fashion magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and we give you, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription at once, only one dollar will result, and over $25 in value. Address the publisher, J. Demorest & Co., 15 East 14th St., New York. Magazine, and 10 cents for a specimen copy.

Christian Endeavor prayer meeting topic for the week ending Dec. 4. Every day mercies. Acts 4:17, Dent, 28:8-8.

Parties trying to introduce new enough remedies, should know that the people will have Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Cheap John keeps sleds, drums, violins, banjos, doll carriages, tree ornaments—in fact everything in the toy line.

We have had some cold weather but not enough to freeze ice to a thickness that will make it profitable to store it.

A visit to Cheap John's will convince you that he has the best and largest stock of toys and fancy goods in Oakland.

Messrs. Dr. Henry W. McComae, John Legge, Louis Walters and J. B. Morrison rode the Jr. O. U. A. M. goat Tuesday night.

Probably Scherr's woolen mill will be moved from near Oakland to Keyser and there consolidated with the knitting factory.

To induce the public generally to use the electric light the company will "wire in" lights from now until Jan. 1st, 1893, for $1 each.

I suffered for two weeks with neuralgia, and Salvation Oil gave me immediate relief. Mrs. Wm. C. Bald, Mosher st., Balto. Md.

Why pay from $4 to $5 for a life-size crayon portrait when you can secure one free by dealing with S. P. Specht? Call and see sample.

At Cheap John's you can get toilet cases, smokers' sets, 500 dolls and the largest stock of toys that has been in Oakland for twenty years.

Dr. W. L. Davidson will give one of his illustrated lectures at the M. E. church on Dec. 15. We bespeak a crowded house for the doctor.

This office has the best assortment of printing materials in this section of the country. We do stylish work at reasonable prices. Give us a trial.

Seeding a crop of wheat on the farm built by the late John W. McComae. It is pleasant to take a drive to the farm, and see the fine crops of wheat and corn.

We cannot publish letters unless the name of the writer accompanies the same. Therefore "Tom Brown's" letter from Glade Valley does not appear in this issue.

Dr. A. L. Wagner has located in Oakland and will practice both in town or country. Calls promptly answered either day or night. Office, one door west of St. Paul's M. E. church. 8-1yr

The piles of bark on Liberty street are growing beautifully less. When it is all cleared up the town authorities should use the power vested in them and not allow the street blocked again.

In the second monthly report of St. John's College Messrs. Elwood Offutt and C. H. Shaffer, two Garrett county boys, received honorable mention for the progress they had made in their studies.

A funeral on bicycles lately took place in an English town. The deceased was captain of a bicycle club, and just before his death requested that his body should be conveyed to the cemetery on bicycles.

I offer in exchange for a suckling colt one of those superior mowing machines.

Call on or address, H. WEBER, Oakland.

Garthright is closing out his stock of over coats, ladies' coats, 50 pairs men's boots and 30 men's suits at first cost. Will take six months notes for sums of $10 and over if well secured and drawing 6 per cent. interest. 39-21

Mr. W. E. Bird has tendered his resignation as engineer at the electric plant, made necessary by the bad effect light has on his eyes. His place will be filled on Dec. 1st by Abraham Lawton, who formerly had charge of the station.

A Southern paper says Miles Orton, who was a red-hot Harrison man, bet his circus with a Democrat in Chattanooga, Tenn., on Harrison's election—the Democrat rode Orton's late elephant in the Democratic parade in Chattanooga.

Gen. Raum, Commissioner of Pensions, submitted his estimates to the Treasury Department Monday. The estimates for appropriations for the fiscal year 1894 are $165,000,000, and the estimates for deficiency in appropriations for the fiscal year 1893 are $10,508,621.

Editor Thomas, of the Dawsonville Advertiser, writes his delinquent subscribers to come and settle up, as he "needs corn and fodder." Here is one weekly editor, says the Atlanta Constitution, who is certainly rich enough to support a horse. He should go on record.

Saturday morning residents of East Hollidaysburg, Pa., were thrown into great excitement by the appearance of a big black bear, which came sniffing around the back doors of several residences. Upon being pursued by a number of men, armed with guns, it scampered off to Brush Mountain.

Married—On Nov. 29, 1892, by the Rev. George W. Kepler, at the Smithman House, Oakland, Mr. John W. Kimball of Garrett county Md., and Miss Sarah Agnes Hoag, of Garrett county, Md. The attendants at this marriage were Miss Belle Chisholm and Mr. Jos. Kiser.

This is the way Sol S. Beachy, of Keyser, Md., sizes it up: "If we may judge the plentifulness of eggs by the crowing of the roosters, eggs will be cheap and plentiful by March 4th, 1893, when the hens will leave their old nests up Salt river and cackle the song, free—free trade!"—Somerset Co. Star.

H. J. Mayers, the Oakland druggist, has one of the largest Christmas stocks ever seen in Oakland. His store is a real palace of pretty things for young and old. Toys and picture books by the hundred. Go and see him before you buy elsewhere. Look at his ad. in this paper.

WANTED—A respectable, middle-aged woman in a private family near Bayard, to do cooking and help with washing and ironing. Must have good recommendation. Good wages will be given. Answer by letter to Mrs. W. I. Brown, Bayard, Grant county, W. Va. 39-41*

The supreme secretary, of the American Legion of Honor, has forwarded a draft for five thousand dollars to Mrs. Annie E. Veitch, widow of the late Col. John W. Veitch, who was a member of Patrons Council No. 387 at Oakland. The order is denouncing here, and a number of new members are being received.

Mr. Charles T. West, of Swanton, is preparing to rebuild his mill, which was burned a few weeks ago. It is now believed that the fire was the work of an incendiary, as Mr. West's grist mill was broken open on the same night. About fifteen hundred dollars worth of lumber was burned with the saw mill, which made the loss quite heavy.

Mr. Moore, the postmaster at Bradshaw, Va., after reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, concluded to try a small bottle of it. He says: "I used it in two cases for colic and three for diarrhoea with perfect satisfaction. I have handled and used a great deal of patent medicine but never tried any that gave as good results as this." For sale by druggists.

WANTED.—Three live men to sell the Singer Sewing Machine. One at Accident, one at Friendsville and one at Aurora.

For further particulars address, SINGER MFG. CO., Grafton, W. Va.

or E. WILLIAMS, Oakland, Md. 37-11

At the close of the services in M. E. church on Wednesday night, the pastor, Rev. G. W. Kepler, on behalf of some of the members of the congregation, presented Mr. W. H. Hagans, leader of the choir, with a very handsome hymnal in recognition of his services as musical director. Mr. and Mrs. Hagans have rendered very efficient service in conducting the musical exercises of the church.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventative and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by druggists.

The ways and means committee of the Chicago World's Fair has granted to the Tige Hotel Company, of Chicago, the privilege of running the twenty restaurants that will be located on the fair grounds. The largest restaurant will accommodate 11,000 persons at one same time, and altogether 45,000 persons can be seated at one time. The prices of one class are to be high and of the other moderate. The company is to give 25 per cent of its gross receipts to the fair for the privileges.

Solid and plated table silverware and watches. Solid and filled gold watches. Emblems of orders, pins, charms and rings with diamond and other fine settings. A profusion of gold chains and other jewelry. Limitations of old English, French and Italian clocks—warranted all of the best quality and made at prices to defy competition.

S. E. FLOWERS, Oakland, Md. 39-3m

The best plaster,—Dampson a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. If given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. There is no danger in giving this Remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

Mr. Henry M. Jaungnickle, the veteran violinist virtuoso of Baltimore, died Monday afternoon at his residence, No. 661 West Saratoga street, in his seventy-third year after a protracted illness, of Bright's disease. He was taken very ill last spring, but rallied sufficiently to continue his professional engagements during the summer in the orchestra at Deer Park Hotel. Since September, however, he has been confined to his room. Mr. Jaungnickle was one of the most prominent musicians in the city. He had the post of first violinist for more than thirty years at nearly every orchestral concert given there during that time. He was held in high regard for his kindly disposition and was esteemed for his worth as an artist.

The comet, in its flight through space, seems to have done lots of mischief during the period of its proximity to earth. All sorts of curious tales are reported and attributed to the baleful influence of the fiery wanderer. A special dispatch from Chattanooga, Tenn., gives the following: "The comet has strangely stirred the feelings of many negroes in this section, and people are taking advantage of it to play on their credulity. It is reported that a strange freak had been born at Crab Orchard, Lee county, Va. The child, according to report, was born with a full set of teeth and long hair, and only lived a few minutes, but said plainly, 'Time here is short,' then closed its eyes and died. The negroes are much frightened at this reported prodigy, and interpret it, coming along with the comet, as proof of terrible disaster."

The receivers of the American Fraternal Circle have nearly completed the preparation of their first account distributing the benefit and relief, and reserve funds of the order. It is expected that the account will be filed in the court in two weeks. It will declare a dividend of seventy per cent. on all assessments paid on or prior to February 9 last and called for and payable under the by-laws of the order. Sick benefits and partial payments received by members will be deducted from their dividends. At the time of filing the account each member will receive a statement of the amount allowed. The account will remain in court for thirty days subject to exception and correction. The fund will be distributed among 19,000 members. The assessments paid subsequent to February 9, and known as the pendent life fund, were distributed by the receivers on the 6th of last October.

Fish Commissioner Browning has completed his official report to the Governor covering the operations of his department since he entered upon his duties in March last. The report says Mr. Browning distributed 26,500,000 of young shad, which is the largest distribution made in any single year. A very interesting part of the report refers to the leasing of 45 acres of land and the construction of a lake and hatching establishment for the propagation of trout at the Narrows of Deep Creek, in Garrett county. The land has been leased for a period of fifteen years, with the privilege of purchasing at the end of the term. The lake is about a mile and a half long, and will afford fine trout fishing for citizens of the State who wish to avail themselves of the privilege. It will be carefully guarded as State property.

Commissioner Sudler, of the Eastern Shore, visited the location of this hatching establishment and heartily endorsed the enterprise. It is certainly a very valuable acquisition, and should the commission desire to dispose of it for the State it would readily bring several times the original cost.

Ladies' Jackets. Just opened, a new lot of ladies' jackets. Newmarkets worth $8 at $3.50. M. L. SCOTT, Thanksgiving Day. On last Thursday the people of Oakland enjoyed an old time winter holiday. Business was pretty generally suspended and the bank and public offices were closed. In the morning a union Thanksgiving service was held in Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. L. Leisher, pastor of the Oakland Evangelical Lutheran church. Revival services were held in St. Paul's M. E. church at night, and Rev. Finkbinder preached in the Presbyterian church in the evening.

In the afternoon Rev. Mr. Finkbinder, of Cumberland, assisted by Rev. Dr. Alexander, of Oakland, laid the corner stone of the new Lutheran church.

A number of crack rifle shots had a target match in the afternoon. A fine four prong bow, valued at twenty dollars, was the prize contested for. There were twenty contestants, each of whom had three shots string measure. Edward H. Bartlett, Jr., made the best record, and won the prize. He made a string of one inch and an eighth.

Mr. Truman Casteel, a prosperous farmer and one of the county commissioners for Garrett county, entertained about fifty of his friends at his hospitable residence near Oakland where a magnificent Thanksgiving dinner was served.

The festivities of the day were concluded by a ball at the Glades Hotel where many of the young people danced until midnight to the strains of delightful music furnished by Prof. Daisy, of Cumberland. Prominently among those present were Misses Emma Boucher, Mary Boucher, Annie Weber, Lizzie Weber, Sadie Spedden, Elsie Fay, Nettie Michaels, Sophia Cornelius, Katie Cornelius, Carrie Browning, Hattie Bartlett, Carrie Bartlett, Sallie Jarboe, Belle Jarboe, Jennie Porter, Mrs. E. H. Sincell, Mrs. H. C. Sincell, Mrs. F. G. Hyde, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. E. H. Bartlett, Messrs. D. E. Offutt, Jr., Chas. Tower, P. J. Bouchier, H. C. Sincell, William Weber, Fred Wallace, E. H. Bartlett, Jr., William Offutt, Gns. Bolden, Fred Felty and Dr. E. H. Bartlett. The dressing of the ladies was very handsome and the gentlemen were in evening toilets. The affair was a very pleasant one.

A Stranger's Mishap. A man from far away Poland named Adam Droesnesky, met with a serious accident on the B. & O. railroad track Tuesday morning last, near Bloomington. Droesnesky had not been very long in this country having come from a province in Poland, where he left seven motherless children. He worked for some time in a stone quarry at Oakland, for Mr. Merwin McKing, but at the time of the accident he was on his way to seek employment at the first tunnel above Bloomington, and as so often happens, got out of the way of one train only to get in the way of another approaching from an opposite direction. In this case it was helper engine No. 576 that came suddenly and swiftly around a curve and caught the unfortunate man on the track and crushed his right foot terribly under its wheels.

The unfortunate man was taken to Piedmont as soon as possible, and every attention that charity and medical skill could devise was rendered by Dr. Shney and Agent Fuller, of the railroad company. Father Wieder was also called to see the injured man, and gave the consolation of the church.

After a consultation it was decided to amputate the foot, and the operation was performed by Dr. Shney, assisted by Dr. Parsons and Kallbaugh. Later in the day he was brought to this city and placed in a ward in the home and Infirmary, where he now lies. His condition is very serious, but there was every hope of his recovery yesterday. Father Clark, of St. Patrick's church, has been assiduous in his attention to the unfortunate stranger.—Cumb. News.

Garthright is closing out his stock of over coats, ladies' coats, 30 pairs men's boots and 20 men's suits at first cost. Will take six months notes for sums of $10 and over if well secured and drawing 6 per cent. interest. 39-21

The Oakland band is in a most flourishing condition. Guess the Demmies think it is a kind of high-toned institution. But nevertheless it gets there. We say like the Accident boys—"This is no $10 band."—Oakland or Oracle.

The shrewd business man will now prepare his holiday advertisement. People have a habit of going to the heaviest advertisers to do their buying. The merchant who is close-fisted with the printer is usually close-fisted with his customers.

W. L. Davidson, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will give one of his illustrated lectures entitled "Italy," in St. Paul's M. E. church Oakland, on Thursday, Dec. 15. Those who have ever attended one of his lectures need not be told of their merits. They speak for themselves.

Garthright will pay the highest cash price for dry picked midwestern poultry with head and feet on, delivered by 16 to 21st of Dec. Will take small quantity fall dressed poultry on or before 23d. Have the best horse nail made at 10c by the box. Closing out all ladies' wraps at less than cost.

For a sore throat there is nothing better than a flannel bandage dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It will nearly always effect a cure in one night's time. This remedy is also a favorite for rheumatism and has cured many very severe cases. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

H. J. Mayers, the Oakland druggist, has one of the largest Christmas stocks ever seen in Oakland. His store is a real place of pretty things for young and old. Toys and picture books by the hundred. Go and see him before you buy elsewhere. Look at his ad. in this paper.

Mr. J. C. Boswell, one of the best known and most respected citizens of Brownwood, Texas, suffered with diarrhea for a long time and tried many different remedies without benefit, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used; that relieved him at once. For sale by druggists.

WANTED—A respectable, middle-aged woman in a private family near Bayard, to do cooking and help with washing and ironing. Must have good recommendation. Good wages will be given. Answer by letter to Mrs. W. I. Brown, Bayard, Grant county, W. Va. 39-41*

The venerable Stephen Morgan, of Palace Valley, is still able to kill his fall pork, with a knife that his grandfather, a celebrated and historic Indian fighter, used in killing two Indians in Pioneer days. The relic is highly prized by the members of the family and nothing would induce the old gentleman to part with his valuable trophy.

John Collins, who after serving thirty days in jail for assault and battery, was released by Sheriff Jamison on Friday morning. The first thing Collins did was to hunt up Justice Gonder and abuse him roundly for committing him. Collins was promptly committed for contempt and the sheriff took charge of him again. Marsh! Don't monkey with the court.

Miss Katie McComas, aged eleven, youngest daughter of Hon. Louis E. McComas, is lying very ill at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hamrick, near Hagerstown. She has always been in delicate health, but recently grew much worse. Her condition was critical on Saturday, but Sunday afternoon she was reported a shade better. Her vitality is sustained only by the use of pure oxygen.

The authorities at Mountain Lake Park expect to organize an ice company, and utilize the lake on the grounds for that purpose. Some extensive alterations will be made in the shape and size of the lake, and a plentiful supply of brook trout placed in it. A new boathouse will be erected and a number of new boats built and kept at the lake for hire.

The county commissioners of Somerset county, under the authority of an act of the last Legislature, have determined to issue 100 bonds, each of the sum of $500 and each payable in forty years and bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually and cash-bearing date on the 1st day of April, 1893. The purpose of the bonds is to improve the public roads.

Solid and plated table silverware, and watches. Solid and filled gold watches. Emblems of orders, pins, charms and rings with diamond and other fine settings. When on a visit to Iowa, Mr. K. Dalton, of Luray, Russell county, Kansas, called at the laboratory of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, to show them his six year old boy, whose life had been saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it having cured him of a very severe attack of croup. Mr. Dalton is certain that it saved his boy's life and is enthusiastic in his praise of the Remedy. For sale by druggists.

The Pennsylvania railroad management at an early date will test the system of lighting the tracks by electricity. The plan will be placed in operation between Philadelphia and Bryn Mawr, 20 miles out. If it proves a success the main line will be equipped with electric lights for the entire distance between Jersey City and Pittsburg. The system may also be extended to the Western lines.—Ex.

Courtesy is something which every one should bring into his daily life. It should be used in all dealings between man and man whether of a business or social nature. It will smooth over rough places, allay angry feelings and make a pleasant atmosphere surround all places where it is exhibited. Uniform courtesy to all is one of the most distinctive marks of a gentleman.

A recent Reading, Pa., dispatch says: "It is reported here that the officials of the B. & O. and Reading railroad companies have decided to run through express trains between New York and Chicago via Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg and Gettysburg and Hagerstown. Connection will be made with the B. & O. at Cherry Run, which is 277 miles from New York. This route is seventy-nine miles shorter between New York and the West than via Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

The annual report of Secretary Rusk, of the Agricultural Department, contains a table showing the number of cattle inspected in the several states by herds, the post mortem examinations made, etc. This table contains the following figures for Maryland: Number of herds inspected, 20,627; number of cattle inspected, 206,152; number of post mortems, 33,048; number of cattle tagged, 33,746; number of diseased on post mortems, 1,720; number of premises disinfected, 320; number of diseased cattle purchased, 1,974; number of exposed cattle purchased, 2,530.

Miss Dollie Watson, of Denver, Col., believes that she has swallowed six dynamite caps and fears that they will explode and cause her to start on an involuntary journey through space. According to her story, Jacob Whittier, with whom she had a quarrel, seized her and forced down her throat six pills, which he asserted her contained dynamite. Dollie's landlady instantly insisted upon her leaving the house, and gave her a pair of felt slippers to go down stairs with which to prevent the dynamite from exploding. Her friends avoid her as if she had some contagious disease. When she told the story in Justice Libberts Court the audience fled in a hurry, and one deputy sheriff in his eagerness to get out smashed a window.

The general passenger departments of the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania railroad companies have already contracted for the transportation to Washington of between 175,000 and 200,000 persons for the inauguration of President Cleveland. When it is considered that the Richmond and Danville, Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western and Atlantic Coast Line companies will carry fully as many it will be readily seen that the hotels and boarding house facilities of Washington will be taxed to their utmost limit at that time. All the railroads entering in that city will have many new tracks laid wherever it is possible to find room in the vicinity of the city.

Mr. J. P. Blaise, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaise had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaise sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaise regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by druggists.

It may be a rather late date to comment upon the outrage to one of the highest rights of American citizenship, which occurred presumably through negligence at the recent election by which men who had been legally registered, but whose names were not placed on the books, through the negligence of the officer of registration, which was no doubt caused by a superabundance of liquid spirits were necessarily refused to be allowed to vote. The trite saying, "There's no use crying over spilt milk," is doubtless true, but it is also said that an "ounce of preventative is worth a pound of cure," and so we would suggest to the local Democracy, it would do well to add to the list of qualifications necessary to those who would be successful aspirants for public offices, the following: sobriety, integrity and attention to duty. We will also add, what is known in common parlance as a "pointer." We want an officer of registration, who will not make a saloon his headquarters while engaging in the duties of his office. (A very fitting place, indeed, for "young America," to take his initiatory step to the full citizenship.) We want an officer of registration who will be at his appointed place to attend to his business and not go to a picnic a half a mile away, on a "drunk" during the time appointed in which to register.—Grantville Cor. Meyersdale Commercial.

Asher Glade.
Will you please find room in your valuable columns for a few items from our place.
Nice winter weather at present. Health good, but we hear that the grippe is on its way again.
We see Umbel & Sons have assumed work on their saw mill. G. B. Frazee, of Frazee's, has closed his school a few days early on account of sickness.
Our school at the Glade is going along in the usual program under the management of Mr. Barnhouse. For a recommendation of Mr. Barnhouse, as to you may inquire at Asher's and Sand Spring schools which have been for eight winters.
Butchering is about over for season. The largest parker in community was killed by John Thomas which netted about hundred and ninety pounds.
J. B. Thomas and wife had their infant child yesterday.
We understand that the store of Savage & Co. at Sand Spring will change hands in April.
The store of Isaac Myers & Son at Markleysburg, Pa., is now by Messrs. Hiram and M. G. bel of the same place.

Kearney.
Not seeing any news item the columns of THE REVIEW from this place, will write lines before starting up Saturday.
We live out here and did not intend making the voyage, so a late start as all of the boats in use we had to hurry some our opponents but they say they want them again in four days.
James Hardinger has cut timber where his saw mill set up a barn bill for J. O. T. son.
Criss Kabs moved his saw from Little Mountains last week and will set it up near M. S. vey's. Uncle Criss is a high we wish him good luck.
B. W. Harvey, Esq., was guest of W. E. Harvey Sunday.
We anticipate a wedding in section shortly.
Jas. D. Harvey is doing a business at present and is a floor at $4 per barrel.
Stock of all kind is well and there is some of the best stock in this vicinity as blooded animals are brought the South Branch and with grass and the best of stock the salt is fine cattle.

William Wilson, of near B. ington, was visiting friends relatives in this vicinity last week. He is nearly 85 years old and quite spry yet.

DO YOU WANT TO ADOPT A BABY?

Maybe you think this is a new business, reading out before an application, it has been done before, however, but never have those furnished been so near the original samples this one. Everyone will exclaim, "Well, that's the sweetest baby I ever saw!" This little black and white engraving can give you but a faint idea of the exquisite original.

which we propose to send to you, transportation paid. The little darling rests against a pillow, and is in the act of drawing off its pink sock, the mate of which has been pulled off and hung aside with a triumphant coo. The flesh tints are perfect, and the eyes follow you, no matter where you stand. The exquisite reproductions of this greatest painting of Ida Waugh the most celebrated of modern painters of baby life are to be given to those who subscribe to Demorest's Family Magazine for 1893. The reproductions cannot be told from the original, which cost $30, and are the same size 17x22 inches. The baby is life size, and absolutely lifelike. We have also in preparation, to present to our subscribers during 1893, other great pictures by such artists as J. M. W. Turner, David Teniers, Louis Deschamps, and others of world-wide renown. Take only two examples of what we will bring the best year. "A Girl of Flanders," and "A White Horse Collet" by the wife of President Harrison, and you will see what our promises mean.

Those who subscribe for Demorest's Family Magazine for 1893 will possess a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides a Magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations and subject matter, that will keep everyone posted on all the topics of the day, and all the facts and different items of interest about the household, besides furnishing interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family; and while Demorest's is not a fashion Magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and we give you, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription at once, only $2, and you will really get over $55 in value. Address the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St., New York. If you are unacquainted with the Magazine, send 10 cents for a specimen copy.

LIFE.

If life were one dance in a torch lit hall, it would be as gay as a summer day. But music ceases and lights die out, and what of the darkness of night without it?
If life were but love and lady gay, No armor to wear and no riding away, it would be as bright as a wedding night. But morning comes and Honor calls, And oh! the silence of widowed halls!
One rare brief moment they fight no more, The sailor is home from the distant shore, Away so long and rest but a song, Begun by a bride in the dead man's ears, And lost in the tempest or shock of wars.
—Douglas Sladen in Lippincott's.

Effect on the Liver of Cycling.
The act of pedaling the cycle instantly quickens the circulation in the feet and legs, and in the course of a quarter or half an hour sends a perfect torrent of blood through the veins of the legs and the pelvis into the portal vein, which spreads itself out in the liver from the lower side. In other words, the effect of cycling upon the liver is the same as that of flooding a still and stagnant lake with immovable muddy streams after a heavy rainfall. The waste of the water in the lake is lessened, and the outflow at its lower extremity is increased tenfold.

It is proved that this function which is performed by the liver by the cycling, is also performed by the liver by the pedaling of the bicycle. In the bicycle, the pedaling of the bicycle is the same as that of flooding a still and stagnant lake with immovable muddy streams after a heavy rainfall. The waste of the water in the lake is lessened, and the outflow at its lower extremity is increased tenfold.

Not that the effect of cycling is to remove the waste from the liver, but the compensation for the loss of the waste is generally overcome by an increase of normal physiological activity, and the cure remains permanent so long as the exercise is persevered with.—Hospital.

War Among Frogs.
Many of the citizens of Vermont will remember to have seen on one dollar bills of the Windham County State bank a vignette representing frogs fighting. This was engraved to commemorate what is known as the Battle of Bullfrogs.

Many years ago, when the town of Windham was newly settled, there was a very dry season. There are two large ponds in Windham, separated by a considerable strip of land. Each of these ponds was inhabited by a large number of frogs. The smaller pond dried up, and its inhabitants started in a body for the lower and larger pond. They were met in the intervening space by a party from the larger pond, and a fierce and long continued battle ensued between the rival communities.

The hideous clamor of the frogs during this encounter attracted the attention of several farmers, who witnessed the strange spectacle of bullfrogs engaged in a fierce and deadly battle. The contest lasted twelve hours, and nearly all the inhabitants of the little town witnessed it. The war is now one of the traditions of the place.—Youth's Companion.

This is the season that the dead-beat is particularly industrious with his wits trying to swindle the man who has been his benefactor. About the most abominable creature in existence is the worthless beat.

James Painter shot an immense wild cat near town Wednesday morning and brought to the depot just as No. 6 came in. Of course there was a ripple of excitement among the passengers who got off the train to see the animal.

Mrs. Annie E. Veitch, widow of the late Col. John W. Veitch, has received a draft for two thousand dollars from the Knights of Honor, of which order the deceased was a member in good standing at the time of his death.

WANTED.—Three live men to sell the Singer Sewing Machine. One at Accident, one at Friendsville and one at Aurora.

For further particulars address, SINGER MFG. CO., Grafton, W. Va.

or E. WILLIAMS, Oakland, Md.

One of the strange things in Paris is a club composed entirely of deaf-and-dumb men. The servants, too, cannot hear nor speak. The president of the club is an old man who fought in the Indian wars in America, and whose tongue was cut off by an Indian who once took him captive.

Under the collateral inheritance tax law, on the official valuation of $72,000,000 the estate of Jay Gould will pay to the State about $700,000. If paid within six months the law allows a rebate of five per cent., or $35,000. The New York city comptroller's fees for collecting the tax will be about $10,000.

WANTED.—A respectable, middle-aged woman in a private family near Bayard, to do cooking and help with washing and ironing. Must have good recommendation. Good wages will be given. Answer by letter to Mrs. W. I. Brown, Bayard, Grant county, W. Va.

Mr. J. C. Boswell, one of the best known and most respected citizens of Brownwood, Texas, suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and tried many different remedies without benefit, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used; that relieved him at once. For sale by druggists.

For a sore throat there is nothing better than a flannel bandage dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It will nearly always effect a cure in one night's time. This remedy is also a favorite for rheumatism and has cured many very severe cases. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

William Tucker, of Sussex county, Va., on December 2, died from over-feeding. The evening before he ate one gallon of venison hash, half a gallon of coffee and crackers mixed together, and half a gallon of water and crackers, a pound of dry sugar and a lot of pork and bread.

HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Movements of Prominent Persons Known to the Readers of "The Republican."

Fred Felty was on a business trip east since our last issue.

P. S. Hyde, Esq., of Piedmont, was in Oakland Saturday.

Wm. H. Biggs, Esq., of near the Park, called to see us Tuesday.

J. C. Shaw, Esq., of Grantsville, was in town Saturday and made us a call.

Peter P. Lohr, Esq., of Bittinger, was in Oakland on business yesterday.

We acknowledge a call from Wm. Wright, Esq., of Altamont, on Tuesday.

Cornelius Bowzer, of Bittinger, and Andrew Pysell, of near Deer Park, were among our callers on Saturday.

Sanford Thompson and family have removed from Corinth to Frostburg.

Miss Rena Robinson and daughter left Oakland on last Thursday for Baltimore.

John T. Sinclair returned from Ohio Monday where he had been to see a physician.

Miss Carrie Browning, of near Oakland, is visiting friends at Elkins, W. Va.

Deputy Sheriff Dorsey E. Forman, of Terra Alta, was in Oakland on Friday.

Mrs. Howard Eckles and two children who were visiting relatives in and near Terra Alta, returned to Oakland Monday.

Sheriff Jamison and Attorney T. J. Peddicord were in Kingwood on business last week.

Mr. Ed McMillan, of Accident, is a student of pharmacy in Col. Sturgis' drug store.

Gilmer Hamill, of Oakland, States Attorney for Garrett county, was in the city yesterday.—News.

Miss Margaret Chrystal departed for Baltimore Tuesday morning where she will spend the winter with friends.

Chas. S. Davis, Esq., the hardware man, spent last week in Pittsburgh on business. He returned to Oakland Saturday night.

Misses Lucinda Hinebaugh and Jennie Johnson, who are attending school in Hagerstown, will arrive home to-day to spend their holiday vacation.

W. U. Jones, Esq., of Deer Park, who was ill a long time with typhoid fever, favored us with a visit yesterday. Mr. Jones has about recovered his usual health.

Many farmers will slaughter their hogs for family use this month. If the hogs are fed within twelve hours of the killing the food will be wasted and the meat will be more liable to sour, and the distended intestines more difficult to remove. The same in a measure applies to drink as well.

Miss Kittie, the youngest daughter of Hon. Louis E. and Leah McComas, died at half-past four o'clock Saturday morning, December 10, at Springfield, the residence of her grandfather, C. W. Humrichouse, Esq., near Williamsport, Md. She is spoken of as both beautiful and bright, and passed away at the interesting age of thirteen years.

It is asserted that there is more joy in a printing office over one sinner who pays in advance and abuses the editor on every occasion than over the ninety and nine who borrow the paper and sing its praises without contributing a cent to keep it out of the poor house. Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth, and obtain the material for fencing it on time.

The large frame hotel which stands on the hill overlooking German, West Virginia, and which was for many years widely known as a pleasant summer resort called Fort Pendleton Hotel, was burned to the ground about midday on Saturday last. The building was owned by the heirs of Mrs. Deakens, and at the time of the fire was under the management of Mrs. Deakens' daughter, Mrs. Jas. A. Bayard. Most of the furniture was saved, and the building was fully insured. The cause of the fire has not been stated.

Garthright has just received 1 ear corn, 1 ear corn, 1 ear corn, 1 ear meal; all to be sold at rock bottom prices. Also 1 ear grade flour to sell at $1.40 per bushel—good enough for bread and makes the best feed for cows, horses and hogs that can be had; 1 ear family flour to sell at $4.25; 1 ear family to sell at $4.50 and 1 ear Pillsbury's best to sell at $5.25, cash or trade.

A swindle worked in the following manner is noted in an exchange: A stranger goes around insuring property, and delivers a handsome policy. If the farmer's building ever burns he never knows that he has been swindled, but if it does he has to go to look around for his money he finds that there is not, nor never was any such company. The agent pockets the premium and that is the last you ever hear of him or his company.

Capt. James A. Hayden and Howard Eckles, Esq., of Oakland have entered into a partnership for the purpose of carrying on a general mercantile business at Mt. Lake Park. They have purchased two lots at the corner of Deer Park avenue and H street and will erect a two-story building thereon as soon as possible. The building will be 22x45 feet with a warehouse in the rear. They will keep such stock as is usually found in a store of the kind.

The great powers of continental Europe have it now within their power to call twenty million of soldiers into the field within a month's time after a declaration of war. With such a host in the field, and the greatly increased power of destruction in the fire arms of the day, a war in 1893 would mean human butchery on a scale unparalleled in the history of the ages. And yet we boast of our Christian civilization.

The theatre-going people of Oakland will be the recipients of a genuine treat to-morrow evening in witnessing the first appearance in our town of Mr. Edwin S. McKim in his own play "Fritz among the Indians." Mr. McKim is a brilliant success in German comedy. His support includes the best talent to be obtained for money. The performance is strictly moral, guaranteed not to offend the most fastidious of our patrons.

A force of men are at work cleaning up the ruins of Richardson Bros. & Co.'s furniture works at Keyser, which was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last, and already the foundation is being laid for the rebuilding of the factory. The new building will be entirely of brick and iron and much larger than the old one, thereby increasing their facilities for manufacturing a complete line of furniture. They expect to be in operation in two months.

Grand Lecturer Dukehart, of Baltimore, visited Oakland Masonic Lodge Thursday night and instructed the officer and members in the ancient traditions of the order. After the work was over the members of the craft were "called from labor to refreshment" at the Glades Hotel, where mine host, Bartlett, served a banquet in regular Glades Hotel style. The affair was greatly enjoyed by the brotherhood, and they separated congratulating each other upon the pleasant time they had spent together.

Next week will be the last opportunity for us to sell Christmas goods for another year and we want you all to come and take advantage of the low prices we are selling at. We don't want to carry over a dollar's worth of Xmas goods, so come and see our toilet cases, albums, books, dolls, Japanese china, etc., etc. Also our new lot of ladies' coats, men's clothing and overcoats—all at rock bottom prices. Don't you want a lot of French candy at 8 cts. per pound?—Offutt's is the place.

On Monday Governor Brown received the photographs of buildings and views of Annapolis taken for exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition. They include a view of Annapolis from Horn Point, the old oak tree under which the plot to burn the Peggy Stewart was concocted, interior and exterior views of the State-house, Governor's Mansion, the State Treasury, St. John's College and St. Mary's Church. The photographs will be arranged in a frame 10 by 4 feet, with the view of Annapolis in the centre.

Last Friday night "Crook Crest," the handsome home of Mrs. Glen L. George Crook, was the place of a festive scene. Mrs. Crook had issued a number of invitations to the young people of Oakland to a reception given by her in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sincler. About a dozen couples responded and gathered there to spend a pleasant evening in social converse and games of various kinds. The refreshments were served at eleven o'clock in the dining room and consisted of everything good to eat. At twelve o'clock good nights were said to the hostess and that evening passed into one of pleasant remembrance.

The family and friends of Hon. P. Hamill, of Oakland, feel very much wounded and aggrieved by the statement in the Cumberland News that the Judge is "violently insane." The statement is a grave error, somebody has made a grievous misstatement. I know the publication is incorrect because Judge Hamill occupied his pew in church, said his son, on Sunday last and was as far as anybody could see in his usual health. On yesterday he was on the streets as usual exchanging greetings with his many friends and neighbors. Judge Hamill is not in robust health but he is no more "violently insane" than any other citizen of Oakland.—Mail.

An impressive ceremony was observed at the raising of Turkey's flag over the Sultan's building at the World's Fair. A lamb without a blemish, picked from a flock of 5000, was brought to the scene, and, after a prayer, one of the Turks gashed its neck. Another Turk thrust his hand into the wound and sprinkled the blood upon the foundation of the Turkish pavilion. Then the red flag of the Ottoman Empire was raised to the top of the staff. The two high priests called aloud in Turkish, "God give long life to the Sultan and to the President of the United States." This was repeated three times by all the Turks present. A lunch in the tent of the Sultan followed.—Ex.

Mr. J. P. Blaise, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaise had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaise sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaise regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by druggists.

Toys, Toys! Just received at S. P. Specht's a large assortment of toys.

Dissolution Notice. This is to give notice that the firm of Spedden & Bolden doing a general contracting and building business has this day been dissolved, Mr. Bolden retiring who will receive and settle all accounts.

M. L. SCOTT,

Baltimore Store.

Ready for Christmas.

Probably not for many years have the merchants of Oakland had as large stock of Christmas goods for sale as they have in this year of our Lord, 1892. The displays are varied and it is certainly a very easy matter to please the most fastidious of our citizens.

The intended purchaser of Christmas goods can go into any of our large stores and find almost everything the heart can desire.

Of course these larger establishments do not deal very extensively in the toy line but you can go to the stores where these articles are the stock in trade and find things to set the babies (young and old) wild.

There is no use to go out of town for your Christmas novelties.

Improve the Towns.

The Piedmont Herald in its last issue calls attention to certain industrial matter which Marylanders need particularly to reflect upon. Piedmont is a small railway town in West Virginia, near the line of Garrett county, in Maryland, and the conditions there existing do not differ at all from those in other towns within our own state.

Our contemporary's article was inspired by improvements which were recently made in the Piedmont Machine Works. These improvements are taken as indication of industrial advancement, and the Herald calls upon the citizens of the town to rally to the support of certain enterprises which are languishing for funds, and to lift the company operating them out of the mire. The company is a home concern, all its stock having been subscribed in Piedmont, and the argument is advanced that more of the stock should be bought in so that the plant—a manufacturing one—may be enlarged and the works put to their full capacity.

The point to be urged is that one of the most prominent concerns in Piedmont is owned and operated by its own people. They have been enterprising enough to foresee advantages, to organize effort and to develop a profitable industry in their own town.

It is this spirit of enterprise which we would see transferred to every town in Maryland. A few of them already have it, but many similar places in our state are sound asleep, so far as any appreciation of what ought to be done to build up home industry is concerned. As we view the matter, it is not so much capital from abroad that is needed as it is an aggregation of home savings, and the organization of a company to utilize what money and labor may be on the ground. That is the first step in the progress of any town. It is not often that foreign capitalists thrust their wealth upon a community too indolent or too penurious to help itself.

This lesson the Maryland towns need to learn, and then a wave of material progress will roll over the state such as was never seen before. —Baltimore Herald.

LOCAL NEWS.

Gratification is to be had for colored people to Brazil. John M. Brown, the colored county clerk of Shawnee county, Kas., is president of the association. Eleven years ago he headed the exodus of seventy thousand negroes to Kansas. He claims that the climate is most favorable, and that there is now a large colored population in a country which will support millions. The government of Brazil favors the scheme. Brown believes that tens and even hundreds of thousands will go from the cotton states.

All arrangements have been completed for the transfer of the old Peare mansion on Smallwood and Fayette streets to Mrs. Lily M. Hoff, who will shortly open a first-class boarding house there. Mrs. Hoff is from Oakland, and was proprietress of "The Rest," a fashionable hotel and boarding house at that summer resort. The new place will be conducted in first-class style and will be opened for the reception of boarders as soon as possible. Mrs. Hoff takes possession to-day. The mansion was formerly occupied by the Misses McCulloh, who sometime ago conducted a boarding house there. —Chamberland News of last Thursday.

Owen Sturgeon, who was serving a nine months' sentence in the jail here for an assault on Will and Tom Brown at Friendsville last spring, was released from jail some time during Sunday night by an unknown person who entered the sheriff's house and passed through the hall leading to the jail door. Evidently the person knew all the combinations to the jail locks for he opened the jail door and passed into the corridor containing the cells. Sturgeon was in cell No. 2, the door of which was unlocked and he (Sturgeon) released. Then the two passed out through the sheriff's house. One other prisoner, Dan Banks, who is also confined in the jail heard the men but was afraid to give an alarm.

The Columbia Daily Calendar remains the only valuable daily pad calendar. The calendar for '93 is of the same general design as that of previous years, consisting of 366 leaves, one for every day in the year, and a calendar for the entire year. The day of the week, of the month, and of the year are given, and on each leaf is a short sermon on the "Gospel of Outdoors, Health, and Happiness," with valuable hints on practical road making. The leaves are so arranged that there will be no stub left, and each one can be referred to at any time during the year. The pad is upon a metallic stand of ivory black, arranged so as to rest upon the desk at a convenient angle. The pad matter, which in the aggregate is enough to make a book, is all fresh and new, and is of more pertinent value than that of any previous calendar. The calendar is issued by the Pope Mfg. Co., of Boston, New York, and Chicago.

A prominent physician of Baltimore county compels his children to go shoeless and sockless winter and summer until they reach ten or twelve years of age. This is not done from cruelty or as a punishment, but in order that the children may grow up healthy and hearty. The experiment is said to work well.

Suit has been entered in the United States Circuit Court at Baltimore against the South Fork Fishing Club by James Jenkins for $25,000 damages for injuries received in the Johnstown flood. This is the first suit ever entered directly against the South Fork Club for its connection with the flood, and is regarded as a test suit.

The jury in the case of the Cooley family, charged with receiving stolen goods, rendered a verdict at Uniontown, Pa., Saturday, acquitting Lute Cooley, the father, and convicting Mrs. Cooley and the three children, Haddle, Lida and Russell. In the case of John and Pastorious and his daughter Lida, known as "The Queen of the Cooleys," a verdict of receiving stolen goods was returned.

A few days ago an account of the finding of the dead body of a man in the woods near Elkton, Md., was widely published. A Mrs. Robinson, of Washington City, went on and identified the remains as those of her missing husband. She then went to Baltimore to arrange for the interment of the remains, and while there met her supposed dead husband in the street, and the funeral arrangements were abandoned.

In Cochon, a town on the coast of Travancore, a state in India, there is a small body of Jews who are called white Jews, because their skin is fair and their hair light. They were once very numerous along this coast, but in Cochon, where they have a quarter all to themselves, there are now only some 200 of them. They have dwelt here for hundreds of years as a distinct race and claimed to be descendants of the Jews who fled from Jerusalem after its destruction by the Romans (A. D. 70).

With Saturday last the boating season on the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, which has its source in Cumberland, closed. On Friday next the water will be drawn out. The season has been the most successful the boatmen have had for years. About 200 boats have been constantly running, and over 270,000 tons of coal have been shipped. The water way is reported in good repair all along the line, and will probably be reopened during the month of March.

Had it not been for the passage of the Saturday half-holiday bill notes falling due next Saturday, Sunday or Monday would have been payable and protestable on Saturday. Under the half-holiday law a note falling on any Saturday may be paid on Saturday, but if not paid, the note is not protestable until the next regular day.

Christmas day, December 25, falls on next Sunday and we celebrate the legal holiday on the following Monday. Therefore, a note due on Saturday will not be protestable until Tuesday, December 27. If a note falling on Saturday will not be protestable until the following Tuesday, it seems clear that a note falling due on the Sunday and Monday following Saturday would not be protestable until Tuesday.

Interment at St. Thomas's church Garrison Forest, on Tuesday, 13th instant, at 12:30 p. m.—Baltimore Sun, December 12.

Mrs. Maynard was the mother of Mrs. Chas. Howard, who has a cottage in the East end and has been coming here for the summer for the past quarter of a century.

Christmas and the Maturity of Notes.

Attorney-General Poe stated yesterday that he is of the opinion that all promissory notes falling due next Saturday, Sunday or Monday will not be protestable until Tuesday, December 27. Mr. Poe said:

"Had it not been for the passage of the Saturday half-holiday bill notes falling due next Saturday, Sunday or Monday would have been payable and protestable on Saturday. Under the half-holiday law a note falling on any Saturday may be paid on Saturday, but if not paid, the note is not protestable until the next regular day."

Mountain Lake Park.
Twenty-six cottages occupied this winter.
W. H. Gilbert, of Piedmont, is putting porches to his cottage on G street.

Over 1500 feet of 8-foot board walk has been made from the depot up into the Park.

Prof. Sanner, one of the best teachers in Garrett county, is teaching our public school.

Miss Ella Johnson, of Piedmont, is visiting Mrs. Howe at Fallon cottage. Miss Johnson will start for Texas in a few days where she will spend the winter with her sister.

M. R. Johnson, of Tazewell, Kas., visited the Park on the 14th.

C. W. Baldwin, A. M., president of the Mountain Lake Park Association, spent part of Thursday at the Park.

W. H. Gilbert, of Piedmont, was at the Park a few days ago superintending the improvements being made on his house.

W. L. Davidson, D. D., superintendent of instruction of the Mountain Chautauque, spent Thursday looking around the Park.

Briarland Seminary is giving excellent satisfaction to its patrons. Mrs. Swan is an excellent teacher. The seminary deserves a large patronage.

Miss Rose Howe is spending the winter in the Park with her mother. She is attending the seminary.

Plans and specifications of several cottages are in the hands of contractors. Next spring will see a busy time at the Park. Additions will be put to several cottages.

The indications are that next summer will witness the largest patronage the Park has ever enjoyed. The attractions will be the very best.

The forty-seven room addition to the Mountain Lake Hotel is progressing nicely. The building is being lathed, and by early spring will be ready for plastering. The capacity of the hotel will be doubled. Large, airy rooms with beautiful and pleasant surroundings will attract guests to this popular hotel.

The reception room and commodious office will add greatly to the comfort and pleasure of guests. The large porches, hot and cold baths, the large open fire places, wide halls, and easy stairways will be appreciated by the patrons of the hotel. The old building will be weather-boarded, painted and generally overhauled. The hotel parks, embracing about eight acres of ground, will be put in pleasing shape.

Dear Park.
Not having seen any items from this place in the columns of your valuable paper for some time I concluded that your previous correspondents must have forgotten you. So I hope the following will be of some interest to you and your readers.

The recent rains have kept the roads in very bad condition and has made travel very disagreeable but despite this trade has been usually good judging from the celebrity of our merchants.

The Union Sunday school will hold their Christmas entertainment on Friday evening, Dec. 23, and the Methodists on the next time—Christmas Eve. A grand time is anticipated at each entertainment.

Rev. E. J. Meese is away visiting friends and relatives in Lancaster.

Miss Annette Baldwin left this morning on a visit to Elk Garden and thence to Hyndman, Pa. We wish her a pleasant and enjoyable trip.

F. J. Crooks, of Keyser, W. Va., representing Bear Sons Grocery

Co., Wheeling, was in town to-day and drove to your city in company with Mayor S. P. Specht.

At a regular meeting of the Union Sunday school the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Frank Thrasher, sup't; F. L. Warrick, asst. sup't; S. P. Specht, sec'y and treas. Other officers and teachers to serve as usual.

Wm. H. Bishop, telegraph operator at Altamont, was in town Sunday to see his best girl.

S. P. Specht has the nicest line of goods in town and judging from his increasing trade (probably due to his locals in your paper) we are inclined to believe that Sammy is our leading merchant.

Mrs. F. H. Thrasher paid your city a visit Monday.

Mr. Glatfelter, of Accident, was in town Monday on business. We are informed that he has purchased the farm of Jos. Bowser near here.

Once more the earth is robed in whiteness and the tintinnulation of the merry sleigh bells is a gentle reminder that winter is here once more to stay. We presume our young folks will take in their coating as usual of which they are particularly fond.

Will close for this time by wishing you and all your readers a very merry Xmas and a happy New Year. Sozo don't.

Columbian Stamps.

The United States government is now having prepared, ready for issue next January, a complete new set of postage stamps, commemorative of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus. They will be called the "Columbian issue." They are designed and made by the American Bank Note Company, of New York, and will be the finest issue ever made by any government.

The issue will be unique and will be placed on sale at the various postoffices only during the year 1893, and then withdrawn from general use.

The Postmaster General and the President are heartily in favor of this issue, as it is expected to give the government a very large revenue through the purchase of these stamps by stamp collectors. These stamps will also be unique souvenirs of the great fair in Chicago, and will go into every nook and corner of the civilized world. A more thorough advertisement of the event could not be devised.

The design will be artistic. That for the one cent stamp, "Columbus in Sight of Land," after the painting by William H. Powell. This reproduction is inclosed in a circle. On the left of it is represented an Indian woman with her child, and on the right an Indian man, with head dress feathers, each figure in a sitting posture. Color, Antwerp blue.

For the two cent, "Landing of Columbus," after the painting by Vanderlyn in the rotunda of the capitol at Washington. Color, purple maroon.

There will be 3, 4, 5, 6, 10, 15, 30 and 50 cent stamps and $1, $2, $3, $4 and $5 ones made.

What Good Roads Would Mean.
They would make an evening drive a pleasure instead of a vexation, as it is now.

They would do away with the absurd poll tax and supervisor system in places where it is still in use.

They would be, in short, the best possible investment to the taxpayer if built and cared for by the national government and paid for by a national tax.

ANDREW SHARTZNER,
Oakland, Md., Dec. 7, 1892.

On last Friday night at Corinth a minor named Gillies, (who was drunk,) went into the Oakland Coal and Coke Company's store and began to use language we do not usually find in moral books. He was told to keep quiet but persisted in his abusive until the manager of the store struck him above the eye with a poker which effectually closed his mouth for the time being at least. We have not learned whether any arrests were made.

Garthright is selling ginsams from 5 to 12 cents per yard; muslin from 5 to 10 cents per yard; dress goods 12 1/2 cents to 81 cents per yard; blankets, from 75 cents to $5 per pair, and for spot cash Pillsbury's best flour $5.25; Leader $4.25; Riverdale $4.20 per barrel—all grades guaranteed. Low grade flour for feed $1.30 per cwt. All parties knowing themselves indebted to me must settle either by cash or note on or before Jan. 15, 1893, otherwise they will settle with an officer.

Alta Lodge K. of H. No. 574, has elected the following officers to serve for one year: Dictator, T. J. Peddicord; vice dictator, James O. Cleveland; assistant dictator, Dr. J. Lee McComas; reporter, E. H. Bartlett; financial reporter, Col. A. G. Sturgiss; treasurer, Geo. M. Mason; chaplain, Rev. J. M. Davis; guide, David Little; guardian, M. L. Scott; sentinel, John Compton; just dictator, Dr. S. Townsend; trustees, J. M. Davis, Dr. E. H. Bartlett and M. L. Scott; representative to Grand Lodge, Thomas J. Peddicord.

John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia is fifty-one years of age, and his income exceeds a million dollars a year. He began life a very poor boy, and earned his first money by turning five hundred bricks a day, before and after school, at two cents a day. Later he clerked in Philadelphia for one dollar and twenty-five cents a week, and walked eight miles a day to and from the store. Now his store covers fourteen acres of ground, and his charities reach hundreds of thousands of dollars. He organized a Sunday school years ago in one room, and now he superintends the same school, which has grown into one of three thousand scholars, the largest in the world.

Mr. J. P. Blaze, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaze had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaze sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a small dose before going to bed. He awoke in the morning feeling better, and the next day was able to resume his journey. Mr. Blaze regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by druggists.

Christmas in Oakland.

Christmas services were held in all the churches Sunday. At St. Peter's Roman Catholic church there was high mass at 5:30 a. m., and low mass immediately after. High mass at 10:30 a. m. Father Mattingly preached on both occasions. The music was very fine.

The Christmas holiday was inaugurated at the Evangelical Lutheran church with an entertainment on Christmas Eve. There was an elaborate program, including music vocal and instrumental, addresses, essays, declamations, dialogues and recitations, in which the children, teachers and officers of the Sunday school participated.

The Sunday school of Memorial Presbyterian church, had two large Christmas trees Monday night. An interesting program was rendered. A large number of gifts were distributed to the children who thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

At St. Paul's M. E. church there was a magnificent Sunday school entertainment, under the management of assistant superintendent, F. A. Thayer. An address was delivered by Rev. J. M. Davis, superintendent of the school. There were recitations and dialogues by the children and lots of good music by the church and Sunday-school choirs. There were two immense trees heavily laden with substantial gifts for the teachers and older scholars, and an abundance of toys and sweets for the younger children. The occasion was a joyous one, and was in entire harmony with the happiness and delight which were everywhere manifest.

Killed in Dobbin.

Friday was the whistle of the lumber mills of the J. L. Rumbarger Lumber Company were blowing the hour of twelve o'clock, Charles Blake, more generally known as "Uncle Charley," while attending to his duties as engineer, fell into the engine and was instantly killed.

"Uncle Charley" leaves a wife and five children—four sons and one daughter. The oldest son, William, who at one time was employed by the West Virginia Central Railroad Company as brakeman, but now has a position as conductor on some Western road, had just come home to spend the holidays with his parents. Mrs. Lizzie Hawkins, his only daughter, is a widow, having lost her husband and two children within the last year; these with "Uncle Charley," making four deaths in the family in the short space of one year.

"Uncle Charley" was universally respected and loved by all who knew him. A kind husband and a loving father. Having no means of his own, he was a true friend to the retired men, and they have received many tokens of respect as they passed by and free by his home. This sad event has cast a gloom over the entire community in which he lived, and the family have the heart-felt sympathy of everyone in their sad bereavement.

The Delaware Triangle.

It is said in a dispatch from London published Monday, that the inhabitants of the "triangle" object to being transferred from Delaware to Pennsylvania. They are steadily determined to maintain their rights as citizens of Delaware and have posted up warnings against trespassing, designed to stop the agents of Pennsylvania from marking the line by a stone. The inhabitants of the triangle are few in number, as the territory is in extent but five hundred acres or so, and their pluck and courage are to be admired. One gentleman from the triangle, we believe, has from time to time been a member of the Delaware Legislature, and it is said, was called by his facetious colleagues, "the gentleman from Pennsylvania."

Land-grabbing is not a new industry in Pennsylvania. It will be remembered that all that portion of the State south of a line drawn east from the southern portion of Philadelphia was included in Lord Baltimore's grant, but Penn was to much for him. Brave old Colonel Cressap was sent by Lord Baltimore to the banks of the Susquehanna to defend his territory from Penn's officers. He was captured and exhibited in Philadelphia as "the Maryland monster." He remarked as he went through the streets that Philadelphia was certainly the largest town in Maryland.

The triangle was formed from the failure of the lines of the three States to come together at the northeastern corner of Maryland. The Delaware circle leaving the Maryland line some little distance from its northern extremity. It has long been regarded as a no-man's land, except by the people who lived on it, and for this reason has been selected as the place for fighting several duels.

A recent commission awarded the disputed territory to Pennsylvania and it was supposed that the matter was ended. But the inhabitants of the triangle, it seems, consider that they have certain inalienable rights which cannot be invaded by commissions. The country will await developments.

Maryland Penitentiary.

Governor Brown has received an advance copy of the annual report of the Maryland Penitentiary Board for the year ended November 30, 1892. The total receipts from all sources during the year were $81,360.71, and the expenses were $77,663.84, leaving a surplus on hand at the close of the fiscal year of $3,696.87.

The convicts earned $10,208.51 by overwork. There were 632 inmates in the institution November 30, 1891. During the year 202 new convicts were received as follows: White men, 121; white women, 1; colored men, 147; colored women, 33. In the same time 290 were discharged—292 by expiration of sentence, 33 by executive pardon, 26 died and 3 were removed to the insane hospital. November 30, 1892, there were 1,000 convicts in the institution, 747 white men, 253 colored men and 53 colored women, a total of 1,053.

In twenty-six years the heaviest receipts of the penitentiary were in 1875, when the amount was $100,049.02.

S. T. Davis has the only complete line of candies, fruits, nuts, dates, and oysters in the county.

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.

The Oakland public school closed on Friday for the holidays.

The last three days were devoted to examination through the different grades. In Miss Thayer's room six pupils were promoted to the next higher grade. In Miss Bessie Brownling's room two were promoted. In Miss Weber's room the examination was thorough and rigid and has not yet been completed. In Miss Porter's grade the work is very satisfactory and the grade advancing rapidly. In the principal's room the following questions were given to the sixth grade. The correct answers were as follows: 1. The solidity of two balls are 180 cu. in. and 175 cu. in. the diameter of one is 17 in.; what is the diameter of the other? 2. What number multiplied by 2.7 of itself makes 504? 3. What integer is that whose square root is 5 times its cube root? 4. What integer multiplied by the next greater integer 1332? 5. For what sum must I draw a note in bank to realize $1200 at 6 mo. time, money being worth 6 per cent? 6. Twenty years ago Mary was 4 as old as her grandmother, but 4 years ago she was only 4 as old, how old is each at present?

The following pupils made full time during the term: Dora Martin, Della Kibbow, Daisy Glaze, Marie Ross, Marie Dyer, Blanche Nelson, John Glaze, George Legge, Ed Kibbow, Robert Shier, James Allen, Robert Nelson, Willie Allen, Wallace Boyer, Thomas Gander, Harry Chambers, Bayard Nethkin, John Rice, John Collins, David Collins, Percy Brady, Emma Yellowley, Samuel Allen Currie Veach, Lee Mason, Grace Votring, Carl White, Walter Johns and Agnes Nelson.

TEACHER'S LOCAL INSTITUTE—DISTRICT NO. 5.

The teacher's local institute that met at Accident, Dec. 17, was in every respect a success. The discussions were all very good and interesting. The teachers present were: Jonas Speicher, Harvey Speicher, W. A. Moffett, Gertie Hone, H. E. Kahl, Lizzie Kahl, Jno. P. Miller, Lillie Boyer, J. L. Englehart, and W. T. McMillan.

At the request of the teachers in and about Johnston the institute decided to hold their next meeting at that place on Saturday, Jan. 7, 1893, at 2 o'clock, p. m.

Following is the program: Discussion—How to gain the attention of inattentive scholars.—Arthur Dewitt, Calvin Cuppett, Renbon Frantz and Lily Boyer.

How would you teach reading to beginners?—H. K. Friend, W. T. McMillan, Ida DeWitt and Howard Nethkin.

School Discipline.—S. K. Welch, Samuel Ralston and Sue Beckman. Methods of teaching Grammar to primary classes.—W. A. Moffett, James Friend, J. L. Englehart and Louis Stanton.

Query box.
The Institute adjourned at 4 p. m.
